

The Rookie

Position: Right Fielder
Acquired: 1994 fr. Casino Top Brass
Born: Roseville, Calif.
Age: 40
Bats: Bottom of order
Stance: Extreme right in box

Profile of John "The Rookie" Ensign. Habit of sliding headfirst may cause comments like "I don't read hardly any of the bills" and "Social Security was a terrible idea." Strikes out often with votes against clean air and water, school lunches, Medicare. Quick to claim credit for team victories, such as stopping the meals tax on casino workers. Inexplicably stayed in locker room in 1997 during key vote to fund Nevada highways. Sometimes switches stance on key issues like raising the minimum wage. Hugging the party line in extreme right often puts him out of position on good bills.

The Veteran

Position: Catcher
Acquired: 1986 fr. U.S. House
Born: Searchlight, Nev.
Age: 58
Bats: Clean-up
Stance: Open

Profile of Harry "The Veteran" Reid. Stops high heaters, like feds pitching Nevada as the nation's nuclear waste dump. Calls brilliant games for outnumbered Nevada delegation in Washington. Power hitter. Delivers in the clutch through seniority, positions in Senate leadership and on major committees like Appropriations. Homered for Nevada by getting a billion dollars to improve highways and a $50 million commitment for Lake Tahoe. As a top leader in the Senate, develops strategy for passing major legislation America needs.

Let's Make the Best Choice for Nevada

Rep. John Ensign's decision to quit the House Reps after just four years to challenge Nevada Senators' veteran Harry Reid for his spot in the line-up puts us team owners in a box. We can only sign one to a no-cut contract through 2004. Fortunately, their career records tell us what to do. Why trade a seasoned veteran for an untested rookie? For Nevada's sake, let's make the best choice. Harry Reid.

What the Writers Say

"Senator Reid is someone who does heavy lifting within the institution.... He's a serious member who has demonstrated that he's willing to take responsibility for difficult matters."

(Las Vegas Sun, 9/19/94)

"In Parade Magazine, columnist Walter Scott says Capitol Hill insiders named six senators who have the grit and guts of Harry Truman. Reid was one of the six. That's a high honor."

(Reno Gazette Journal, 7/20/94; Parade Magazine, 6/26/94)
