

Anchorage resident is med school graduate in Nevada

Lynne D. Williams, medical school information
May 21, 1991

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Anchorage resident Griffith "Griff" C. Steiner is among the 41 members of the Class of 1991 at the University of Nevada School of Medicine. On Friday, May 17, Dr. Steiner received his academic hood, the symbol of his acceptance into the profession of medicine, from his father, Griffith R. Steiner, D.D.S.

During the school's Award Ceremony on May 16, Steiner was presented with the Nevada Area Health Education Center Student Award and the Don Mello Award for Community Service. While attending medical school, he served as president of the freshman and sophomore classes, president of the Executive Council, and was a member of the American Medical Association and American Medical Students Association. Dr. Steiner will do his ophthalmology residency training at the University of Louisville, KY.

Dr. Steiner is a graduate of West Anchorage High School and earned his undergraduate degree in sociology from Stanford University. He the son of Dr. Griff Steiner and Maribeth Steiner of Anchorage.