FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Dean Robert M. Daugherty, M.D., Ph.D., has scheduled an annual trip to rural communities in southern Nevada, Jan. 11 - 13. During these trips, Dean Daugherty and faculty members from the University of Nevada School of Medicine meet with community leaders and members of the medical community to assess community needs and plan school programs that might meet those needs. This year, possible agenda items for discussion were sent to the communities so they could choose the ones most applicable. Then faculty members who were most qualified to address those issues were tapped to be a part of the trip.

Some of the subjects offered for possible discussion during this trip are trauma, emergency medical protocols, the family practice program, geriatrics, genetics (children), psychiatry and health education.

The team also visits local high schools to encourage students to consider choosing medicine as their profession.

An itinerary for this year's trip is on the back of this release. Media representatives are welcome at all meetings. Please call Lynne Williams at 784-1605 for details.
