Two University of Nevada School of Medicine graduate students were prize winners during the annual meeting of the Western Pharmacology Society held in Incline Village.

Out of approximately 40 student presenters, only five were chosen to receive prizes for the quality of their research presentations. One student winner came from Mexico, one from Canada, one from the University of California, San Francisco, and two from Nevada: Dawn Duval and Del Rae Eckman, both students in the Department of Cellular and Molecular Pharmacology and Physiology graduate program.

Duval works in the laboratory of Ruth Billings, Ph.D., associate professor of surgery and pharmacology; and Eckman works in the laboratory of Kathleen D. Keef, Ph.D., associate professor of physiology.

As prize winners, Duval and Eckman will have all their expenses paid to the International Congress of Pharmacology meeting, which will be held in Montreal, Canada in 1994.
