As a follow up to the press release I send about our Minority High School Scholars program next week, the following are times that the students will be involved in some visually interesting activities.

Monday, June 14

From 2:15 to 3:30 the students will learn how to take blood pressure measurements, pulse rate, heart and breath sounds and examine ears and eyes.

Tuesday, June 15

From 1:30 p.m. until 2:30, students will be working by groups with basic science researchers in their labs.

Wednesday, June 16

From 2 - 4 p.m., students will be involved in an anatomy demonstration in the medical school's anatomy laboratory.

If you would like to videotape one of these sessions, please call me at 784-6003.
