FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Anchorage resident Douglas Ray Debenham was among 40 new physicians graduated with the Class of 1994 from the University of Nevada School of Medicine. Dr. Debenham is the son of Shirle and Lila Mae Debenham of Anchorage. Dr. Debenham received his academic hood from Dr. David A. Debenham of St. George, Utah at the school's Hooding Ceremony in May. He will complete a one-year internal medicine residency at Nevada's medical school and then will do a radiology/oncology residency at University Hospitals of Cleveland.

While attending medical school, Dr. Debenham was a member of the Family Medicine Interest Group, the American Medical Student Association and the American Medical Association.
