MEDIA ADVISORY Statewide EMT Conference

MINDEN--A two-day conference for EMTs, paramedics and other emergency care professionals will be held May 4-5 at the Carson Valley Inn.

Emergency medical professionals, many of them volunteers, are providing more and more of the front-line health care for rural Nevada communities. This conference, organized by the University of Nevada School of Medicine Northeastern Area Health Education Center, gives paramedics and other emergency care professionals a forum to learn about and discuss the latest issues in emergency medicine. Highlights of the conference include a competition for EMS teams from all over the state. Teams will compete in a serious incident-based scenario as well as lighthearted competitions. Speakers include Carly Miller, a well-known EMS author and instructor based in Denver, as well as Nevada experts in emergency care.

Over 200 are expected to attend this fifth annual conference.
