FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Lewis B. Morrow, M.D., has been appointed interim chairman and professor of medicine for the Department of Internal Medicine at the University of Nevada School of Medicine. He is moving quickly to rebuild that department by hiring outstanding physicians and strengthening the department's operations. In addition to Dr. Morrow's academic achievements and administrative skills, he provides endocrinology and diabetes expertise for his patients. He earned his medical degree, with honors, from the University of Rochester School of Medicine, completed residency training in internal medicine and was a clinical and research fellow at the Yale-New Haven Medical Center in Connecticut.

Gilbert M. Nyamuswa, M.D., and Jonathan D. Wechsler, D.O., are general internists who have accepted positions with Dr. Morrow as assistant professors of clinical medicine.

Dr. Nyamuswa completed his residency training at Harlem Hospital Center with the College of Physicians & Surgeons, Columbia University and completed fellowship training with New York University Medical Center and Johns Hopkins School of Medicine.

Dr. Wechsler earned his doctor of osteopathic medicine at New York College of Osteopathic Medicine, and completed an internal medicine residency at Cleveland Clinic Foundation. Before accepting the School of Medicine position, he was the director of consultative elective for the internal medicine residency program at The Medical Center of Central Massachusetts.

Roy G. Henderson, M.D., and Richard W. Jones, M.D., have been appointed assistant professors with the Department of Family and Community Medicine. In addition to educating residents and students, they will be seeing patients at the Family Practice Center.

Dr. Henderson earned his medical degree from the Charles Drew Postgraduate Medical School/UCLA. He completed residency training at Valley Medical Center in Fresno, Calif. Dr. Henderson also completed a primary care sports medicine fellowship at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Dayton, Ohio, and a faculty development fellowship at St. Margaret Memorial Hospital in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dr. Jones is an alumnus of the University of Nevada School of Medicine and completed residency training in Las Vegas. Dr. Jones was chosen as the Glaxo-Wellcome Family Practice Resident Scholar in 1995 and won the Richard C. Inskip, M.D., Family Practice Award in 1993.

Jeffrey T. Liu, M.D., has been appointed assistant professor with the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology. Dr. Liu is an alumnus of the University of Nevada School of Medicine and completed residency training in Las Vegas. He will provide general obstetric and gynecologic care in a private office with Jeffrey A. Wrightson, M.D., department chairman, and Leslie L. Zak, M.D., assistant professor.
