FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Medical School Nutritionist Becomes Fellow of Prestigious Organization

The University of Nevada School of Medicine is pleased to announce that Registered Dietician, Valentina P. Remig, Ph.D., R.D., F.A.D.A., recently became a charter fellow of the American Dietetic Association (A.D.A). As one of 121 fellows recognized nationally, she can use the designation of F.A.D.A. after her name.

Dr. Remig is an assistant professor and health liaison, University of Nevada Cooperative Extension (U.N.C.E.) and the School of Medicine. She contributes to the collaborative Health Outreach Program developing between UNCE and the School of Medicine. As a nutrition educator and gerontological nutritionist, she has particular interest in mature adults. She has been appointed as a Women Liaison Officer to the Association of American Medical Colleges, is an active member of many local and national professional organizations, and currently serves on the Executive Board of Nutrition Educators of Health Professionals practice group, ADA. As a medical school faculty member, Dr. Remig is committed to the triple mission of teaching, research and service, and is frequently invited to speak at community and professional programs emphasizing health, wellness and lifestyle issues.
