FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Medical School Offers Science Teacher Programs

The University of Nevada School of Medicine Summer Science Seminar, July 6 – 17, 1998, takes place at the Reno campus and focuses on biomedical sciences. The program has been developed closely with teachers from Clark County and Washoe County School Districts and is funded by both districts and the Howard Hughes Medical Institute.

Design of the curriculum has focused on fostering an interdisciplinary, team approach to science curriculum development and implementation. In addition, the program updates teachers on the latest developments in the biomedical sciences and the national and state science standards. Teachers will receive funding for travel, housing, and food, as well as discounted graduate credits or free in-service credits.

Features of the program include:

- |                                |                              |
