Mrs. John Sparks,

Reno, Nevada, U.S.A.

Dear Aunt, - I shall not attempt to eulogize, my poor words could not do justice to a theme so worthy, to the memory of one so noble. May it comfort you to know that by my sorrow I can better understand your loss and your great affliction. To thee, a loving husband, - to me, a benefactor. Thus, it was not alone by our relation that he was indebted to me. May you live to see his abilities, his strength of character, manifested in the second generation. Forgive a cruel world its wrongs, which time will redress. These injustices - the grave explains.

Affectionately,

Your nephew,

Edull
