Dear Dad:

I finally got a chance to get your bills typed up and gave them to Miss Fletcher (Allen's Chief Clerk). She said that she saw John Brooks some two or three days ago regarding the balances in the two funds. According to her data, John segregated the amounts ~~was~~ incorrectly (and admitted it) so that the balances were not correct tho the total of the two was. Consequently, the entire Meyer's bill was placed against the Cabin Fund and 50¢ of your stamp reimbursement also. The result is the same - that is, 50¢ is cut from your reimbursement bill; 50¢ charged against the Cabin Fund; and the rest the same. Both balances are consequently closed.

I find after all that the table (inclosed) can fairly easily be run off on this machine rather than making single copies on the very wide carriage typewriter. The reason for the former failure was due to an attempt to run a solid line of dots as an "eye guide" rather than the grouping of dots as has been done. However, two tables have been completed on the large sheets (I am keeping one). If you wish more than two copies, I shall probably find time soon to throw out a set on the small sheets (as I think I can easily do it to about 2 hours to 2½ hours.)

The expected "jam" came today and we have been hitting a fairly hard pace. So, if there is no serious objection, I will not be home this week-end because I am awfully anxious to complete the diary in time to give one or two copies away before Christmas if possible. I am especially anxious to give one to Marie Hunter (and it is almost too late now).

By the way - I really do not know exactly where Marie is now. My last letter addressed to the Childrens Hospital, Pittsburgh was returned as unclaimed. Probably the family will forward my next letter, tho, if it is mailed to Renova.

Ches Taylor hasn't anything more definite in mind now than before. I told him of the engineer in Reno (what was his name?) that is making good without an office. Ches may be kept in the Office here, tho, for some little time, for according to the paper, the Associate Editor of the Elko Free Press is to be the Deputy "and no other changes are expected until the ropes are learned." That possibly will mean that Tom Lotts will move - and he is the Republican in the Office!

Well, if I don't get a telephone call to come home, I'll stay here and work.

Donald
