

NO RECITATIONS ON NEXT FRIDAY

Anniversary of Founding of University Will Be Observed Next Friday

The University authorities have declared next Friday as a holiday on account of its being the anniversary of the opening day of the University. No recitations will be held on that day, but the regular general assembly will not be dispensed with. Those who have charge of the celebration have arranged for a number of addresses at the assembly hour. The list of speakers has not been definitely decided, but it will include a number of the alumni, and other prominent people of the town. The addresses will be the only event to occur in the morning.

A football game will be the feature of the celebration in the afternoon. The second eleven and the team from the Reno High School will probably contest for honors on the University gridiron. The program for the entire day has not yet been determined by the committee, but it will include a number of other interesting features.

The day will be observed by the University for the first time this year, but it is intended to make the celebration of this day an annual event in future years. No definite name has been selected for the day. The following have been suggested as suitable: Founder's Day, Alumni Day and University Day. It is expected that a large number of the alumni will assist in the observation of the day.

SENIORS MAY HAVE TO DRILL NEXT YEAR

During the past few months the proposition of having the students drill during their Senior year in college has been agitated by a number of people connected with the University, and the question has been placed in the hands of a Faculty committee for consideration. The committee is now discussing the advisability of the proposed change, and expect to hand in a report the latter part of this week. The ruling of the faculty on this question will not affect the present Senior class.

The advantages and disadvantages of the innovation will be discussed thoroughly before the members of the committee decide on any definite plan of action.

New Song Books.

A number of Nevada song books have been put in the dining room in order that all the students may join in singing the college airs at mealtime. A few books containing all college songs have been purchased by the men of Lincoln Hall, and are at hand in the parlor. The Nevada song books are the gift of Supt. R. Brown.

Interesting Game

The score of 54 to 0 in two short halves tells the story of yesterday's contest between the first and second teams of the University. The game was played in the State Park, and was fast and interesting. The second eleven made their downs only twice, and could inflict no damage on their adversaries. Magee made a place kick in the first half against the wind. The features of the game were the long runs and the abundance of touch-downs. Magee was injured while running in a punt, and had to retire. J. Hart and Bonnifield had their ankles sprained during the same half. The following was the lineup:

Second Eleven—Westall R. E.; Griswold R. T.; Henry R. G.; Jacobs C.; StClair, Ryan L. G.; Leavitt, Dolan L. T.; Leidy L. E.; Parker Lonkey Q; Kline Powers R. H.; Bonnifield Miller L. H. Scott F. B., J. M. Ezell, timekeeper J. Davis and J. M. Spenser linemen; H. M. Standerwick referee.

Took Geology Trip.

The Senior mining students took the first geology trip of the year to Verdi yesterday morning. Prof. G. D. Louderback had charge of the class, and the whole day was spent examining the geological formations in that vicinity.

Stringent Rule Is Passed

The Senior and Junior classes decided at a meeting held last week that no underclassman or prep could wear cordury trousers, and a notice to that effect has been posted on the different bulletin boards. In order not to inconvenience those who had purchased that regalia the upperclassmen have purchased all cordurys belonging to underclassmen. No one except Seniors will be permitted to wear sombreros. The rule regarding cordurys was not in force last year.

Thirteen Men Excused

Thirteen football men have been excused from drill until the football season is over. They will, however, engage during that hour in signal practice. In former years the football men have been excused but have not used the hour for signal work. The object is to learn signals for both old and new formations.

Men's Glee Club

A men's Glee Club of ten voices is being organized, through the efforts of W. Borden and Curry Jameson. Lester Merrill will again direct the club as soon as it is in working order.

ANNUAL T H P O HAY RIDE LAST FRIDAY

The annual hay ride of the T. H. P. O. fraternity was enjoyed last Friday evening by the members of the fraternity and their ladies. Two hay wagons were brought into use for the occasion, and the jolly crowd rode out to Huffaker's where dancing was indulged in until twelve o'clock. Mrs. Sauer's orchestra of Reno furnished the Music and several enjoyable hours were passed by the lovers of the light fantastic. On the way out to Huffaker's the still night air was broken by the giving of college yells, and the singing of different class songs.

Those who took part in the Hay Ride were: L. D. Skinner, C. W. Stark, J. V. Comerford, J. W. Wright, J. S. Case, G. E. Hoffman, H. L. Updike, J. A. Smiley, F. B. Stewart, P. R. Evans, J. D. Leavitt, C. Jameson, J. M. Ezell, W. J. O'Brien, L. Kline, J. M. Rhodes, C. A. Hart, G. R. Leidy, T. F. O'Brien, A. H. Westall, J. P. Arnot, M. B. Kennedy, W. E. Weddle, J. A. Champagne, Silas Ross, S. Southworth, H. Bonnifield, Fred Freeman, Misses Ross, Coll, Wilson, Pearl Miller, Marsh, Snapp, Isabel Miller, Souchereau, Ivory, Knemeyer, Freeman, O'Neil, Rand, Nickerson Bryant, Crammer, Houlahan, Folsom, Hunnewell, Overman, Webb, Morse, Barker, Hand, Rousch, Graham, Parker. Prof. and Mrs. J. R. Johnson acted as chaperones.

Nought Six Arranges Scholarships

J. S. Case, H. L. Jones and Miss Irene Peterson, the committee appointed by the Senior class to determine what should be done with the $75 scholarship won by the class last year, determined upon three methods of disposing of the money. They are as follows: (1) that the money be divided equally among the three students having the best standings; (2) that the money be devoted to some class project, and not toward the payment of class debts; (3) that it be given to the faculty to be used in paying for the gift of the class to the University. The suggestions will be considered at the next meeting

Alumni on Campus.

C. W. Stark, H. B. Bulmer, W. A. Pearson and F. D. Bradley of the class of 1905 were visiting their friends on the campus last week.

G. F. West '04, of the firm of Drips and West, mining engineers in Rhyolite, one of the promising southern gold camps, was a visitor on the campus last week.

UNIVERSITY WILL HAVE NEW LIBRARY

Artemisia Staff

Those who will assist in getting out the 1906 Artemisia have already begun work on the college annual. It is the intention of those who have charge of the book to have a large part of the work completed by Christmas. The front page drawings will be finished this semester. Local talent will be used whenever possible, although in certain cases it will be necessary to utilize outside talent.

The size shape and character of the book has been decided upon. The book will be 9 1/4 inches long by 7 1/2 inches wide. The pictures of the fraternities will be taken before February 15 1906. If the intention of the management is carried out the book will appear about May 20th next year.

A josh box will be put up in Morrill Hall shortly by the josh editor and it will be opened every month. All who wish to assist the Artemisia staff should hand in any grinds that they have knowledge of.

The following constitute the staff: D. M. McDonald Editor in Chief; L. D. Skinner, Business Manager; J. S. Case and D. H. Updike, assistants; W. J. O'Brien, Josh editor; Alwine Siefoff, Irene Peterson and Ada Morse, Literary Department. Miss Catherine Butler, an instructor in the Hopkins school of Art, will draw several of the front page drawings.

President Stubbs Departs

Dr. J. E. Stubbs departed last Friday evening for Pacific Grove, Cal., to visit his family for a short time after attending to all the business matters that had demanded his attention at the University. He will pass through Reno early next week on his way east where he expects to spend the remainder of his vacation with his relatives in Ohio.

Interesting Locals.

Arthur McCain was called home in Halleck last week by the serious illness of his mother.

Miss Florence Fuss left for her home in Lovelocks last week and does not expect to return because she thinks that university life is too strenuous.

The Philomathean Literary society which has flourished in the University for a number of years past is now numbered among the has-beens. Miss Bertha Knemeyer, one of the few who took an interest in the club last year, has tried to collect a quorum for the election of officers, but her efforts have proven fruitless.

John McElroy '03, "Heine" Heitmuller and Claude Kern, old California players, and McFadden, an old Stanford, will don a Reliance uniform in the football game next Saturday afternoon.

Henry C. Cutting '93 Has Donated $1,000 toward Construction of New Library

Plans are now under way for the construction of a library at the University costing $50,000. The announcement was made by President Stubbs last Friday, and several of the plans were given out to the public for the first time. The faculty has been considering this subject for several years, and the site of structure has already been determined.

H. C. Cutting '93, a member of the first graduating class at the University, has subscribed $1,000 toward the erection of the building. The money will be raised by public subscription, and it is believed that no difficulties will be experienced in securing the desired amount.

The library is located in the basement of Morrill Hall, and the University has been handicapped for several years past by lack of commodious quarters. Many facilities have been lacking in the old library.

Mr. Cutting, who has started the ball rolling for the new library, achieved his great success in Tonopah. Going there when the camp boasted of only a few houses, he succeeded by perseverance and thorough application to duty in accumulating a fortune estimated from one to two million dollars.

Miss Mollie Scott, Normal '02 is now principal of the public schools at Wells, Nevada.

EXAMINED FOOTPRINTS AT CARSON

Prof. J. E. Church in company with Dr. Bruguiere has been investigating the footprints in the State Prison at Carson, and has reached a conclusion as to whether the footprints are bona fide relics of historic times. They believe that the mammals who left their impressions in the solid rock traversed that region when it was the shore of a receding sea. These impressions were made permanent by the drifting sands and fitted into matrices of the footprints, thus preventing erosion from destroying them.

In Irrigation Department.

B. A. Etcheverry, formerly head of the department of Civil Engineering at the University, is now connected with the irrigation department of the University of California.

At Teacher's Institute.

J. F. Abel '01, J. V. Comerford '03, Anna Woodward '04, Allen Ede '04, Katherine Hand '05, Oberline Souchereau '05, and Elizabeth Cooke '05, have been attending the sessions of the Teacher's Institute during the past week.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER, 1905

Logic vs. Logic

The Reno Evening Gazette, in a reply to the editorial in the Student Record charging the editor of the former paper with inconsistency on a vital subject, says the logic of the college paper is bad.

In taking up this subject again, and in annoying and disturbing the now nearly healed injury to the University, an injury dealt by the Gazette, our purpose is not primarily to establish our point, viz: the inconsistency of the Editor of the Gazette, but because this blow at the welfare of the University is not the first one dealt by the Evening paper, because it is not the first time that paper has seized upon an "untoward university incident" with a certain news value, because it was a university affair and has wrung sensation and color from it, to a limit almost bordering on ridiculous, because it is not the first time it has lost sight of the fact that the harm this or that article will do the University far outweighs the value it will have as a news item, and because the Editor of the Gazette says that under the same circumstances he will publish a similar story, it will not be the last time. Therefore we desire to advertise the fact to the friends of the University and to all those who may peruse the columns of this paper that little faith should be put in these sensational, prejudiced and unfair reports, and that they should "not attach odium to the University" because of them.

It may be also that we possess the college man's proverbial love of an argument and his eagerness when once his opponent is worsted in debate, to drive home the telling blows which sound the death knell to the opposing argument, and, in this case, our affirmative rebuttal showing that the Gazette's argument regarding its consistency, that it makes all the difference in the world whose bull is gored, is weak, void, nihil.

The reply of the Gazette to the Student Record is in brief: that even if its Editor had been guilty of inconsistency is not always the virtue that it is held to be in some places; that his article concerning the University episode was published dispassionately, without comment, and without an effort at high coloring; that the circumstances concerning the Bulkeley affair at the University of California were different than the circumstances connected with the affair in question, and that his only object in this affair was to help the University.

In some places consistency may not be a virtue, but it is particularly a virtue in others. We read in the fifth period of the industrial history of England, when the capitalists and parliament were urging forward and subscribing funds to the movement for the emancipation of slaves in America and when at the same time this self-same parliament was grinding the english factory worker to a condition of affairs worse than the American negro. There we say consistency would have been a virtue.

In the present case consistency is most decidedly a virtue. A prominent newspaper man sitting at the head of one of the State's most important journals is very zealous toward the welfare of his alma mater, and wroth at the press which attacks it, and yet through his own paper, and for the welfare of the University of the state to which he has but lately come a stranger he has no regard, and makes on that University, as we will presently show, similar unfair and prejudiced attacks.

The Editor of the Gazette says the story was written dispassionately and without an effort at high coloring. To dispute this we submit the facts to our readers. The truth of this affair is as follows:

A new student at the University, being unacquainted with the rules and regulations, played in a gambling resort in this city. He lost $5.00 of his own money. The next day in company with a well known friend he went on a personal visit to Sacramento. But again he broke the University rules in that he did not get permission to go. He returned to Reno a first class passenger in four days. These are the facts the Gazette enlarged upon. They are an infringement upon the University rules, it is true, but the fact that among 75 or a 100 new students, who have come to the University and have taken upon themselves the responsibility of good conduct that one should shift that responsibility is not strange.

Compare these facts with the double column front page article in the Gazette, headed by the largest display type which it ordinarily used for its most sensational news: "GAMBLED LOST AND RAN AWAY."

"Student at the University Plays Roulette and Leaves Town Fearing Disgrace."

Half of this heading is untrue and the other half carries with it the insinuation that some great crime has been committed by a student of the University. The opening sentence saying that the student lost all of his own money together with that given him in trust is false and insinuates a theft and embezzlement on the part of the student of the University. Below is a paragraph of the same article.

"Andy Young had never entered a gambling hall until last Monday. He would not have entered one then had he not been tempted by the alluring music that rolled through the doors of the gambling rooms. He entered the place to hear the music and was fascinated by the games. The little ivory ball in the roulette wheel caught his eye and after watching it a few moments and noticing the coin arranged neatly at the side of the dealer, he decided to try to win some of it. He had several dollars of his own in his pocket and some entrusted to him by Scott and a man named Magee, two of his fellow students. He placed a few coins on the table and for a while won. He was nervous and in the excitement began to place higher stakes on the table, but in a few moments his fortune changed and in a short time every time the little ivory ball would drop into a number the dealer would rake in his bets. His money quickly disappeared and in a short time he was without a cent.

We submit this article together with its conspicuous position in the paper and with its startling black heading, black with untruths and black with ink to the judgement of any fair minded and unbiased person, whether it is not calculated to arouse sensation and whether its color is not of a saffron hue. Here let us say that we agree with the Gazette that truth while it may smart in a few cases it will benefit and not injure generally and we have no complaint to make when any paper in a fair way states our affairs as they are. But in the above article we have proven half is false and the manner in which it is written is now up to the reader for judgement.

But we are informed that it was different in the case of the California press and the University of California. Where in lies the difference? The press of our sister state took up an unfortunate affair at the University of California. Some of the papers used the item as the basis of an attack on the University. They enlarged on the facts and they gloated in the description, with sensation and color. Why? Because it was a university affair. If it had not been such, it would have passed as third rate news. But the fact that the principals were students of the University, gave these "harpies of the press" the back ground for their picture. The Editor of the Gazette took up an unfortunate affair at the University of Nevada and as we have shown enlarged on the facts and with sensation and color painted his picture with the University as a back ground.

As to his aim in this matter we do not say, but we point out that this article was an attack on the University, a worse attack and calculated to work more inju-everything considered than was the incident we have so often referred to at the University of California. The Editor of the Gazette is cognizant of the fact that the country papers of the State of Nevada glean their news from the city dailies, and he knows also that the scissors clip where there is the most sensation and color and that it is true, though a strange fact, that there are many papers in this State that are eager to seize upon an incident unfavorable to the management of the State University, and the students and faculty of the University know that 90 per cent. of the ill will which is held by the State for her University arises through misconception due to false insinuations regarding its affairs. The Elko Free Press has stated since the appearance of this article in the Gazette, that it was too bad there as not some other place to send students to school besides Reno.

In our efforts as undergraduates of the University of Nevada to raise the standard of student activities, such as debating, football, baseball and journalism, which give our alma mater name and fame, the one drawback that confronts us on all sides is the lack of students. We know that the present industrial and commercial activity in the state, and the discovery and development of new mines have made conditions so that the opportunities for wealth offered the youth of the state are more enticing than the opportunities of a college education and that in part on this account attendance at the State University falls below what it should be. And yet we know also that every school year sees many men going beyond the borders of the state for an education.

What is the cause of this? Does the fault lie in the faculty of the University? On the Nevada faculty to-day are men who are eagerly sought after by some of the largest universities in the West, men whose records need no endorsements, who are known as the brightest men in their line west of the Rockies. At the head of the faculty, in the offices of President and Dean are men who have given the best days of their lives to the interests of the University and the State. A body of men and women more conscientious and devoted to a university can not be found in the world. Is the ill will which is borne the University in some sections of this State, then the fault of students. Undoubtedly, we as students are often guilty of things which bring reproach on our alma mater, such as the recent hazing, but the main reason, the chief fault lies at the door of the local press. Their important news concerning the University is almost always connected with scandal and sensation and evil, and this is the conception of the University which the country editors receive and which they in turn pass on their readers. We say local press because both papers in the past have been unfair in their treatment of the University. But we are referring now particularly to the Gazette, because its attitude has been particularly hostile this semester, and in support of our claim.

Now we come to the fact that the Gazette refused the requests of the head of the University to cut out the color and sensation which it was evident could be falsely made from the peculiar circumstances connected with this affair. The Journal realizing that the value of the item as a skeleton for a high colored, exaggerated news item paled beside the injury it would do, passed it up "a scoop" to its contemporary.

And because of these things the attitude of the California press toward the University of California and the attitude of the Gazette toward the University of Nevada are similar in proportion.

This incident is closed now for the Student Record as it probably is also for the Gazette, for in accordance with the ethics of argument the affirmative have opened, the negative have replied, and the affirmative have closed. As our last word we make reply to the editor of the Gazette who refers sarcastically to the editors of the college paper as "The seasoned journalists," no not yet seasoned but men whose initiatory efforts in newspaper work have shown them that through the realms of journalism a man can do a great good and that he can also do a great evil. The Student Record is not manned by an efficient head such as we agree directs the policy of its opponent in this argument but it is controlled by students who know when their University has been fouled and who are self-sustaining enough to protest to the umpire, in this case, the people of Nevada and demand that the foul be not recognized as a legitimate point against their Alma Mater.

However the best interests of the University will not come through strife and contention and far be it from the Student Record in order to voice a grudge or sourball to enter into contention with the Evening Paper. The Editor of the Gazette says his interests for the University are always paramount, and while it is certain the policy of his paper has not we respect his statements and lay the facts in the case to a mistaken aim.

Any paper that knocks instead boosts its State University is false to its colors and a traitor to the cause of the commonwealth. The interests of the state and the University are one and inseparable, for the aim of a University is to make the best citizens out of her students. The high positions in state and trust being filled by Nevada alumni witnesseth the fulfillment of that aim in the University of Nevada.

Let us have peace and prosperity and union with it ALL FOR THE BEST AND WITH THE BEST FOR ALL.

Large Investments.

A significant sign of the times is the large investment of the funds of educational establishments in the United States in railroad securities. Seventyfour universities, colleges and secondary schools are found to possess railroad stocks and bonds. These investments amount to $500,000,000 in round figures. Any cause that shall tend to impair their stability contains a menace to the future education of thousands of young men and women in the United States, whose energy and intelligence promise much for the general good.

YALE MAN TALKS AT ASSEMBLY

Dean P. W. Search of the English department of Yale college, addressed the students, faculty and visitors at general assembly, last Friday morning. He spoke of how success was attained through diligent study and determined effort. His talk was full of interest on account of the examples he cited.

E. E. Hardach who has been engaged in mining in South Africa for about ten years and who has just returned for a short vacation to this country, gave a brief account of the work of the Nevada men in that country. They were all doing very well, he said and should any man on graduating care to try his fortune there he would be sure of a helping hand from the older men.

Joseph Durkee who has also been in South Africa for some time made a few remarks.

H. C. Cutting '93, the first man to subscribe $1000 for the proposed new library, gave a talk about his college days here. He spoke also of a few things that were essential to success.

At the close of the assembly, Chief of Police Leper spoke some words of good advice to the young men privately.

Many teachers from all parts of the state who have been holding a teachers' institute in Reno, were in attendance.

Seriousness Would Be a Virtue

There has been a great deal of talk of late concerning a Young Men's Christian Association. It appears that most of it is mere idle jesting. This does not reflect any credit upon the men of our University, for if they are not the kind of men to support such an organization they would appear to far better advantage if they kept quiet about it.

To Guarantee these Suits to be brand new goods, cut in the late Fall Styles for 1905, that they wear well, fit well retain their shape and give the best of satisfaction in every way. Your money back or a new suit if dis-satisfied.

How Can We Afford To Do It At These Prices?

That's about a guarantee as we could give. Is it not? You who are used to paying high prices for your clothing, or else have been getting poor clothes for bigger prices than these no doubt wonder how we can do it. ITS just this way We bought these suits from a manufacturer who can afford to make good clothes for little money by demanding spot cash for his clothing. In this way he takes no risks and can sell at a very loose margin of profit. Besides we have already sold a great many of these suits and have not heard the slightest murmur against them, but lots of praise for them. That's why we feel perfectly safe in guaranteeing them as we do.

THE SUITS—They come in a large variety of stylish fabrics—fine tweeds and worsted in swell fall patterns and shades.
