

Literary Paper Will Make Its Appearance

The necessary movement which will raise college journalism in the University to the plane attained by other colleges will be started when a literary monthly will be numbered among the college publications. James M. Ezell '07 will be editor of the magazine and George R. Leidy, formerly editor of the Crescent, will look after the business end of the new venture.

The editor has not selected his staff, nor has he arranged any of the minor details connected with the new project. Numerous plans have been under consideration, and the acceptance of the final plans will be deferred until a later date.

The new paper will appear monthly, and will contain about thirty pages including advertising. Editorial comment on student affairs, short stories by the leading literary students, and interesting articles will compose the principal features of the sheet. The nature of the news published will not conflict with the field now occupied by the Student Record.

If the plans of the originators are fulfilled, the literary monthly will make its initial appearance at the beginning of the new year.

Geo. R. Leidy will shortly begin soliciting advertising from the business men of the town and believes that they will show the proper spirit in patronizing the magazine.

James M. Ezell who will direct the destiny of the paper has been connected with college journalism for a number of years. He was managing editor of the Record last year.

SENIORS HAVE MERRY TIME

Misses Alwine Sielaff and Irene Peterson Entertain Senior Class

Thirty members of the Senior class gathered last Friday evening at the home of Miss Alwine Sielaff on Maple street, and enjoyed one of the real social events of the season. Misses Sielaff and Peterson were the hostesses for the occasion, and all the arrangements were carried out in a manner that would do credit to those who had the affair in charge.

The first event on the program was a guessing contest, the naming of animals, birds, cities, etc., being a feature. The contest was very exciting, and H. L. Jones and Miss Bertha Knemeyer were declared winners. Mr. Jones received a view of the University campus, and Miss Knemeyer was awarded a box of University stationery as evidence of their skill.

The conducting of a continued story through piano selections was the next feature. Miss Peterson officiated at the piano. The guests were supposed to select the answer from the number sounded on the piano. This event proved to be interesting and entertaining.

Two vocal selections, "Over the Bannister" and "Lullaby" were appropriately rendered by Miss Ada Morse. Misses Ethel Marzen and Mabel Snapp and Messers C. Jameson, G. A. Hoffman, L. E. Elliott, W. McMaaman and J. S. Case also exhibited their talents in the vocal line.

The next contest was the most original of the evening. The name of each member of the class was represented by a unique expression and the selection of appropriate names aroused considerable interest.

Refreshments were served after the close of the different games, and the guests surely did justice to that portion of the program.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR BENEFIT OF A. A.

An entertainment will be given in the Methodist church next Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Athletic Association of the University of Nevada. Cyrus Newton Brownlee, who has attained fame and distinction as a humorist in different sections of the country, will be the speaker on that occasion. J. S. Case '06 and F. B. Stewart '07 have charge of the affair and the proceeds will be turned into the general fund of the athletic treasury.

New Captain.

J. D. Leavitt '07 was elected captain of the second eleven yesterday to succeed J. D. Scott, who handed in his resignation. The selection was unanimous and meets with the approval of all concerned.

Three Senior Girls Awarded Scholarship

The faculty committee consisting of Drs. J. E. Church and Geo. D. Louderback and Professor Robert Lewers, which has been considering the Senior scholarship for the past two weeks, decided yesterday that Beulah Hershizer, Bertha Knemeyer and Alwine Sielaff were entitled to an equal division of the $75 prize. The award was made to the fortunate students only after a thorough investigation of the standings of the different members as the general averages of some of the stars of the class were very close.

The winners of the scholarship have been prominent in student activities during their college career. Miss Hershizer is prominent in Y. W. C. A. circles, and is a member of the Theta Epsilon sorority. Miss Knemeyer is president of the Senior class and manager of the basket ball team and is a member of the Delta Rho sorority. Miss Sielaff is president of the English club, and a member of the 1906 Artemisia staff. The report which was handed in yesterday to H. L. Jones, chairman of the Senior committee, is as follows:

To Committee Senior Class: On awarding the Senior Prize.

In compliance with your request, the faculty have appointed as a committee to award the prize won by the Senior class, Professors Church, Louderback and Lewers.

The committee reports that the three members having the highest standings are Miss Hershizer, 92 6-10; Miss Knemeyer, 90 9-10; Miss Sielaff 88 1/2.

NATIVE CLOVER OF COUNTRY

This is Title of New Book By Dr. P. B. Kennedy Which Will Appear in March

"The Native Clover of the United States" is the title of a new book which will appear about March 1st from the University of Nevada. Dr. P. B. Kennedy is the author of the work and he has been assisted by Miss Laura McDermott, a senior in the botanical department. The original work she has conducted will be presented as part requirement for her graduating thesis.

The book will contain about four hundred pages and one hundred and twenty illustrations of different types of clover. A number of the drawings were made by Louise Bryant '08. Miss Katherine Lewers, an instructor in drawing, is designing the rest of the illustrations.

Dr. Kennedy has secured a number of valuable specimens from the Universities of Wyoming, New Mexico and Kansas which has greatly facilitated the work of investigation. Edward L. Greene, formerly of the University of California but now head of the National Herbarium at Washington, D. C., has forwarded a number of rare specimens. After Dr. Kennedy has completed his investigations at the herbarium at the University of Wyoming, and the Smithsonian Institute, he will have examined every species of the clover family in the United States.

Y. W. C. A. GIVES DRAMATIC SHOW

Mrs. J. A. Reid Managed Very Successful Affair Yesterday Afternoon.

The Dramatic Review given yesterday afternoon in the parlor of Lincoln Hall under the auspices of Mrs. J. A. Reid proved to be interesting and instructive. The affair was given for the benefit of the Y. W. C. A. and over $30 was taken in at the door. The students and faculty were clearly in evidence, and the people of Reno were there in large numbers.

The representation of the Shakespearean and modern dramas in various ways was the feature of the entertainment. Several classical selections were rendered during the afternoon.

For the modest sum of fifteen cents a person was permitted to view the different attractions and also to partake of the light refreshments provided by the young ladies.

GENEROUS OFFER BY RAILROAD COMPANY

The Southern Pacific company has offered special rates to students who expect to witness the football game between Nevada and California next Saturday. If sixty students signify their intention of making the trip, a special car will be chartered for the occasion, and a rate of $5.00 for the round trip will be given. All students who wish to take advantage of this generous offer should hand in their names to football manager Taylor, D. M. McDonald or J. D. Scott.

WILL EXAMINE RARE SPECIMENS

Dr. P. B. Kennedy Will Conduct Research Work at Smithsonian Institute.

Dr. P. B. Kennedy, of the Botanical department, will leave for the East next Thursday, and expects to be absent about a month. The primary purpose of his trip will be to examine a number of rare specimens of the clover family at the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, D. C., in connection with some research work which he has been conducting for some time past. He will also attend a number of conventions during his sojourn in the East.

The herbarium at the University of Wyoming will be visited on his way East, and Dr. Kennedy expects to spend some time there examining clover specimens. On November 9 and 10 he will be a delegate to the Farmer's Institute Workers which convenes at Washington, D. C. The annual session of the Association of Experiment Stations will be held in the same city on November 14, and 15, and Dr. Kennedy will represent the University at the conference. The Smithsonian Institute will next demand his attention, and he intends to spend ten days there investigating rare specimens of clover which can be obtained no where else in the world. On his return he will visit a college chum who is professor of Botany at the University of Chicago.

Only a few more left. Parties wishing to secure this beautiful book had best call at once.

TALKED ABOUT CREDIT SYSTEM

Rev. C. L. Mears Gave Interesting Lecture at General Assembly Friday

In assembly last Friday morning the Rev. C. L. Mears, pastor of the Congregational Church, gave an address entitled "Honor the Basis of Credit." His lecture was based on his personal experiences at the head of the credit department in a large wholesale store. He said that credit is the thing that counts and that success in business is coming to be regarded not so much a matter of dollars as of honor and integrity. He dwelt upon how much these qualities are worth to some men in point of money value. He gave as a definition of honor, a high respect for one's self and for the rights of others, and to show what a footing business men place upon honor, he cited the following questions "Who are the applicant's associates?" "Does he live beyond his means?" Then he spoke upon the subject of honor in college athletics and said the reason that so many men of dignity approve of college sports is because they have a high code of honor. He expressed his belief that although we are stenuous and ambitious we have a growing sense of honor. As some of those of the present day who have stood for highest honor, he mentioned Queen Victoria and President Roosevelt.

Scope Widened.

The scope of college journalism will be increased within the next few months when a literary monthly is scheduled to make its appearance. Certain students in the University are identified with the movement, and have already laid plans for the size and character of the magazine.

The need of an organ where students possessing literary ability can give evidence of talent in that line is plainly evident in the University. There is plenty of literary students at the University, and the success of the magazine from this standpoint is assured. The only hindrance to the establishment of a magazine would be a financial one.

The nature of the news which the magazine would publish would not conflict with the news appearing in the college paper, but it would fill a long felt want. College journalism would be raised to a standard equal to that attained by the larger colleges of the country, and the students would be benefited by the change.

Would Be Great Improvement

The introduction of a musical feature into the regular General Assembly program would add much to its attractiveness. A musical selection at the opening and close of the convocation would prove a great drawing card, and would result in an increased attendance. In the larger colleges of the country the idea has been recognized for years, and has always been an important part of the program. The objections to the proposed innovation do not appear prominent. Why not introduce that feature into our assembly and note whether it will prove successful?

Alpha Beta Hold Meeting.

Home Rule for Ireland was the subject of discussion at the regular meeting of the Alpha Beta literary society last evening. Miss B. Heishizer '06 was the orator of the evening and each member of the club treated the question from the various standpoints.

Has Offered Prize

The National Municipal League of America has offered a prize of $100 known as the W. H. Baldwin prize, for the best written essay on some phase of the subject: "Relation of City to Gas and Electric Light Service." The offer is open to all American universities and thus the person who expects to win the prize, has no easy task before him. The phase of the general subject must be on some form of Municipal Government. The essay must be at least 10,000 words in length and must be handed in by March 15, 1906. All who hand in essays must sign their nom-de-plumes to the essay. In an envelope they must send in their nom-de-plume with also their real name.

Displayed Generous Spirit.

Oscar J. Smith, chairman of the Board of Regents, displayed the right kind of spirit at the annual football game between Nevada and Stanford last Saturday when he offered to give $5 for every point made by the university team with the provision that the money was to be given to the Athletic Association. He was not compelled to show his generosity as Nevada failed to record any points on her side of the score board.

Reward For Best Story.

The English Club, which is prominently identified with literary work at the University, has decided to give a prize for the best short story, criticism and poem. The prize will be in the line of a book pin or ring, and of a sort to justify conscientious endeavors. Dr. L. W. Cushman, Prof. Laura De Laguna and Miss Short have been appointed as the committee to judge the manuscripts handed in, all of which must be of a high order and possess marked literary quality.

The contest is limited to club members enabling each one to receive a prize and has an object in bringing forth of literary talent that has hitherto been unknown, and to stimulate this class of work in general.

WANTED---Young lady attending the University would like to do typewriting and stenography by the hour. Address R. care Student Record.

The regular meeting of the Conevening in Room 6, and the follow-members: "Resolved that the ten-

the Congress that the negative side had won the debate. O. W. Gris-

A committee consisting of Prof.
J. A. Reid, J. D. Scott and Beulah Heishizer who were appointed by the English Club to consider the advisability of the club giving a play have decided that owing to the nearness of the semester's end it would be wise to wait until the beginning of the next year at which time practice for a play will be commenced.

Miss Bertha Knemeyer, chairman of the membership committee also reported that she had been quiet successful in gathering the names of a number of persons who are anxious to become members.
The efforts of Miss Knemeyer are worthy of great commendations
as she has left no stone unturned

MARK TWAIN

WAS HIS TOPIC

At the last meeting of the English Club Sam Davis told of the life and most striking characteristics of Mark Twain. It was a case where a humorist spoke about the master of his flock and consequently by reason of the bond of fellowship existing between them he was able to do marked justice to the occasion. Mr. Davis, after springing several witticisms which aroused his hearers to a tumult of laughter, gave a brief sketch of Twain's early life, the most part of which was spent in Virginia City.

He told how he first began to write and said that his early writing was done in the office of a Comstock newspaper. He also stated that the famous humorist in his early life became disheartened with his work, but by the earnest efforts of Mr Goodwin, then editor of the Virginia Enterprise, who had conceived in him extraordinary talent, Twain was induced to continue with the pen. Soon afterwards his first story, the description of a coyote, appeared which met with universal success and placed its author among the foremost of humorists. Story after story then followed and his work became one of the masterpieces of the World's literature.

He said that Mark Twain's jokes were of a deep variety and cited as an example an instance when the humorist was in London. Twain had been engaged to give a series of lectures and in his first occasion was unable to cause the anticipated laughter. Upon finishing he sought the manager and proceeded to cancel his future engagements but the request was not granted and the following evening he reappeared. This time there was something doing and upon inquiry he was told that his audience was laughing at the jokes of the previous night.

Fall Styles in Clothing

Mens Suits at $11 and $14

Here is a striking illustration of the extra fine values we are able to offer in men's suits at prices which do not begin to denote their worth. This line we purchased from a manufacturer who makes Good Clothes for little Money, but who demands spot cash for his merchandise. This explains the low prices. The suits come in a large variety of stylish fabrics—fine tweeds and worsteds in swell fall patterns and shades and black Clay Worsteds and Thibets in Single or Double breastad styles. Our guarantee goes with every suit.

Men's Overcoats at $12.50

We purchased from the same manufacturer who made our $11 and $14 suits, a swell line of cravanette overcoats in lengths of from 48 to 52 inches and in medium and heavy weights. The same can be said of these overcoats as of the suits. They are good coats for little money, bought by us for spot cash, which accounts for these low prices.
