LINCOLN MEMORIUM FEBRUARY ELEVENTH

Freshmen vs. Reno High

RENO HIGH IS JUST BEHIND 1914

On Saturday night the Freshmen played basket ball, and playing it was, because the Reno High was just as good a team.

The score, 35-34, in favor of the Freshies does not tell the story. The High School team showed a great lead in the first part of the game by scoring 13 points before the Freshmen had passed one in.

The Freshmen came back and at the end of the first half the score was 19 to 17 in favor of the High School team.

The second half was a much faster half and hard fought, as the score shows. However the two teams were in the game to win, as the score went from one to the other until time was called, leaving the score 35-34 in favor of the first-year varsity men. The lineup was as follows:

Freshmen — Pennell, c.; Harbaugh (Capt.) and Smythe, g.; Webster, f.; McPhail, f.

Reno High — McCubbin, c.; McCubbin, g.; McKinley (Capt.), f.; Heward, g.; Worn, f.

Pennell of the Freshman team did some excellent goal-tossing, making in all 28 points out of 35. Lee McCubbin did very effective work as guard for R. H. S. The two teams were very evenly matched for sie and speed. For speed like that is seldom seen on the gym floor.

Following the game the orchestra took charge and dispensed music to a gay party of merry dancers.

Memorium Services

LINCOLN MEMORIUM SERVICES NEXT SATURDAY

Nevada Solons to Be Present to Inspect the University Buildings and Grounds

The memorium services to be held next Saturday afternoon in the University gymnasium will be the most appropriate yet held under the auspices of the University. The program is as yet incomplete, but thus far we can state the following:

Selection by the Cadet Band. Address, by President Stubbs. Talk, by August J. Frolich, speaker of the Assembly.

The Life of Lincoln, by Samuel Belford of Ely.

Selection, by Cadet Band. Talk, by Gilbert C. Ross, president of the Senate.

Address, by chairman of the Board of Regents.

Selection, by the Cadet Band. Following the program the legislators will be shown the Mackay athletic field and training quarters.

The Cadet Battalion will parade at 10:30 a. m. on the lawn in front of the Mackay building. Previous to this in the morning the legislators will be taken through all the university buildings and inspecting the various needs of the university.

As yet no plans have been made for a social evening on Saturday, but the faculty is planning on a reception to be given in the gym. We sincerely hope that this plan will materialize and give the students a chance to meet the men who are making laws for all of us.

Agriculture in Nevada

An Alumnus Gives His Views of the Most Promising Occupation of Today

Agriculture is the fundamental foundation on which all mining, manufacturing and commerce depend. Of course no complex civilization could exist without these industries but agriculture is essential for any civilization. The naturally growing fruits, and other products of the forest and plain, the wild game, the fish of the streams and seas are everywhere found to support only a roving and more or less savage population. Agriculture makes it possible for thousands to live where previously only a few individuals managed to obtain a scanty existence. As agriculture is still more improved a greater number of people will be able to live within the same area without warring over the means of existence. James J. Hill in 1908 said that "a prosperous agricultural interest is to a nation what good digestion is to a man."

Improvement in agriculture, then, means the improvement of civilized existence, not alone for the farmer but of all the world at large, and now that increased communication and commercial intercourse has brought all peoples of the earth nearer together it becomes doubly necessary that the farmers should bring to bear the same intelligence to carry on their work to the best advantage that other trades and professions bring to bear on theirs.

In order to equip the farmers of the future it is necessary to offer instruction of the highest type and supplement the instruction therein given with practical work on a farm, where, working with plants and animals at first hand, watching their growth and development, working out the different problems in rural engineering, etc., corresponds to the assaying laboratory of the mining student, the machine shops of the mechanical student, the microscope of the biological student or the kitchen of the Domestic Science class.

For the first time in the history of the institution the College of Agriculture is asking aid from the Legislature. A University farm as a supplement to the agricultural course has been asked for. It is an imperative need. Without it effective work cannot be done. Time there was when but one or two students took agricultural work. In 1908 there were seven, in 1909 there were 14 and this semester there are 17. Would you attempt to teach chemistry without a laboratory? Hardly. Surveying without actual field work? Not yet. When the University is properly equipped with a farm and equipment you will want to look out for the "tall uncut."

The University of Nevada largely owes its maintenance to the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts through the appropriations of the Federal government under the Morrill act approved by President Lincoln July 2, 1862, which provided that each State shall receive 30,000 acres of public land for each Senator and Member of the House of Representatives, the proceeds of which shall be devoted to the "endowment, support and maintenance of at least one college where the leading objects shall be, without excluding other scientific and classical subjects, and including military tactics, to teach such branches of learning as are related to agriculture and the mechanic arts, in such manner as the Legislature shall provide, in order to promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes."

On account of the aid received from the Federal government the State has not found it necessary to raise large sums of money by taxation for the support of its

U. OF N. TO BE ADVERTISED

President Stubbs Suggests Novel Scheme Which Is Readily Adopted by the Southern Pacific

Many of us have noticed without even dreaming of its purpose, the large bulletin board on Commercial Row, near the railroad tracks. This same large bulletin board is to be a great boost to the University of Nevada.

The space on this bulletin board is to be divided between the University and the Reno city schools.

Pictures of all the campus buildings will be arranged artistically on one-half of the bulletin under the heading "The University of Nevada." On the other half of the board the Reno schools will be pictured and described.

Above all this will be painted in distinct form

"Reno as an Educational Center"

This is truly a great step in the right direction and will mean a great deal to the casual traveler who may see the U. of N. from the train and become interested in the metropolis of Nevada.

Dr. Stubbs originated this scheme, which is just now materializing. The Reno Commercial Club is planning on sending out descriptive literature to all inquirers about Reno, Nevada, and the University of Nevada.

SENIOR CLASS MEETING

1911 Selects Farce for Commencement Week, and F. P. Dann Will Coach the Thespians

On January 31, 1911, the Senior class met to discuss plans for the coming farce. Their plans are proving out very well so far, and all indications point to the farce as a good production.

Unlike many Senior classes this one intends to begin practice immediately and thus avoid the rush at the end of their last semester.

As yet no cast has been selected but under the direction of F. P. Dann the best material in the class will hold a corner on the positions.

"The College Widow" is the name of the play which is so well adapted to college students. The portrayal of real college life under cover of a love plot is the main theme of the play selected by this year's graduates.

JUNIOR PROM THE BEST EVER

The Junior Promenade is now a matter of history, and its date, February 3rd, is one that we shall have no difficulty in remembering. The Juniors, although always original, surprised even their admirers with the perfection of every detail of their class dance.

The gymnasium was transformed by its countless numbers of waving black and gold pennants. At the close of the dance the strings of pennants were lowered and each dancer carried one away as a souvenir. The moonlight dances were lighted by a real green moon.

The music, furnished by Hale's orchestra, was irresistible. One could not help but dance and laugh to its enticing strains.

The simple and delicious refreshments were enjoyed by everyone. But these details of imperfections are not what made the Prom a success. The success was measured by the throngs of light-hearted co-eds and admiring boys.

At 9 o'clock promptly the grand march, headed by Nat Wilson and Miss Ethel Thompson, presidents of the Sophomore and Junior classes, respectively, wound its way around the gym. This is the first time in the history of the university that two class presidents headed the grand march. Artistic programs were given out by Mrs. Layman and Mrs. Fletcher during the promenade. Then on with the dance, let joy be unconfined! All too soon the lingering notes of Home Sweet Home found the happy dancers praising the efforts of the Mackay pioneer class.

The Reno Traction Company also lent their aid to making the Prom successful by running a special car from the University immediately after the dance.

Preparing for Military Ball

All the committees are hard at work. The commandant has a twinkle in his eye; everyone is waiting expectantly for the great event. One great, grand and gorgeous spectacle is the way the show bills would describe it. Governor Oddie is invited with all his staff. The members of that sedate body, the Nevada Legislature, will be there with their wives and ladies. Cadet major, captains, lieutenants, sergeants, corporals and privates will add their respective amount of brilliancy to the scene. Blue uniforms, gold braid, brass buttons and pretty girls—all, will flash upon that splendid night.

The music. How can we imagine that music? The University Cadet Band of 25 pieces is working overtime to be ready for the great occasion. Bennett says they surely will be there with the noise.

You will hardly know the old gym that night, so wonderfully will it be bedecked. Spike Henderson has charge of this end of the performance and we will leave it to him.

Remember the date: February 21, 1911. Cadets wear your uniforms.

Mayers Introduces Bill

Assemblyman F. B. Mayers of Washoe county introduced a bill on January 23d which is now before the Senate for their passage. This bill is entitled "An Act concerning and fixing standard weights and measures, and to provide fines for their violation."

This bill is one that will mean a great deal to Nevada and to purchasers of all commodities, food-stuffs or anything sold in bulk or packages.

The Act if passed will cause the director of the Agricultural Experiment Station to be official sealer of weights and measures with the power to appoint assistants, as he may see fit. The actual demonstration and testing will be carried on under the Food and Drugs department of the Experiment Station, Professor Dinsmore, Miles Kennedy and Silas Ross will carry on the testing and issue reports of their results.

This bill is complete in every respect in that it provides standards of weights for all articles sold in packages or in bulk. Measures are determined that correspond with the standards of other states and the government regulations.

Sec. 12. A standard loaf of bread sold or offered for sale in this State shall weigh one pound.

All dairy products, fruits, vegetables and grain sold in the State will be regulated according to the standards of this law.

NEXT SOCIAL

The U. of N. Social Club will give their first social of 1911 on next Friday evening in the University gymnasium at 8 o'clock. The music promises to be excellent and the management is planning for a large attendance at this first social of 1911. The date again: Friday, February 10, 1911.

Editorial

The Nevada Legislature will be in Reno on January 11, 1911, for the purpose of inspecting and enjoying the advantages of our University. The students of the U. of N. owe their Alma Mater a debt which can be very appropriately paid next Saturday. Let us suggest the means.

Every student should make it a point to show one or more of these strangers through the buildings and explain the department as best they can. Such personal interest in our University is the very best way for the "Nevada spirit" that cannot be defeated to be imparted to our guests, the legislators.

They are our guests because the University invited them. Some of these men will probably never have another chance to see and understand what work is being carried on by the various departments of our institution.

For this reason it is our duty to entertain them as best we may. We owe this to ourselves, to the University, and to our guests, so let every one plan to be present on the campus Saturday, February 11, 1911. Make up your mind to help make the 1911 University Day an epoch in the history of the University of Nevada.

Boost once! Boost twice!
Boost whenever you get half a chance!

Agriculture in Nevada

State University. All in all, the University receives from the government for the teaching of agriculture and the mechanic arts annually over $45,000, which constitutes nearly three-quarters of its support. Up to the present time the State of Nevada has not met the generosity of the Federal government and the asking for a University farm is not much out of place at this time. If the Legislature grants this request it will place Nevada on par with other institutions.

The permanent development of the State of Nevada must come from the development of its agricultural resources and industries and hand in hand with this goes agricultural education.

We must look for the future welfare of the State to its agricultural possibilities. The soil is the only resource that renews itself after having produced value. We hear of the wonderful production of precious metals in Nevada in 1910 of over $30,000,000, yet this is scarcely a look in to what the dairy cows alone of Wisconsin produced during the same time in butter, milk and cheese, $79,000,000,000. Nevada's agricultural possibilities are not so much in putting more land under cultivation, as is the popular clamor, but the better cultivation of the area now cropped, by the replacing of the countless hay ranches by cattle ranches, feeding the hay on the ranch, that is otherwise shipped away and thereby saving one-third of the value of the crops in the form of fertilizer. These are problems for graduates of agricultural colleges to solve.

The College of Agriculture made a showing of pure bred animals at the California State Fair in 1910, winning 47 ribbons, one silver and 11 gold medals. The classes of stock shown were Holstein cattle, which won five out of six possible championship awards, Berkshire swine, Dorset Horned, Hampshire, Shropshire, Southdown and Cheviot sheep, and fat wethers. Now that San Francisco is assured of the Panama-Pacific exposition, and we have a nucleus of prize animals, give the University a farm and equipment and in 1915 a show will be made that will make them sit up and take notice. Give the aggies half a chance and they will "make good."

SOPHOMORE BASKET-BALL TEAM

Second-Year Men to Play Several Games This Month

The 1913 basket-ball team is expecting to play several games with Carson City High, Reno High and the U. of N. Freshman teams. Delahide, Wilson, Heward, Menardi, Collins and Settlemeyer are practicing each week regularly. So far but three games are certain—Carson High, Reno High and U. of N. Freshmen.

The last of the series will be that with the first-year men. The Freshmen are practicing whenever possible and threaten to "white-wash" their friends—the Sopas.

This is the only chance the Freshies have of retaliating the second-year men for last semester's pranks or crimes, and they expect to do it right.

On February 11, the Sophomore team will go to Carson City along with the Reno High School girls' team. This game will be one race from whistle to whistle, because Carson High holds the state championship for 1910 and thus far in 1911.

Stanford Bars Fresh. Athletics

Our Neighbor College Steps on the Plan of Allowing Freshmen to Compete in Athletic Contests

We print here an editorial and several statements by the various athletic captains of Stanford University, who have just been dealt a fierce blow toward making athletics subordinate to everything else in college and become merely a means of recreation or pleasure. The Daily Palo Alto says: The action of the Academic Council in recommending the abolition of Freshman Intercollegiate athletics seems inconsistent with the faculty policy favoring a general participation in athletics, and unreasonable in view of the present existing conditions. We know no more effective measure to discourage general participation than to keep the men primarily benefited by it—the Freshmen—out of the game. The faculty by their latest action are working directly against the ideal for which they have been striving.

Scholarship statistics show that the Freshmen athletes are not in need of an abolition of exercise as a stimulus for study. The fact that the scholarship average of the last Freshman rugby fifteen was higher than the general average of the student body as a whole, shows that participation rather than non-participation in athletics is the better stimulus. Thirteen per cent of the student body was deficient in scholarship last year, while only 8 per cent of the Freshmen were deficient. None of the six Freshmen who have made the varsity the past two years are deficient in a single subject. It would seem that intercollegiate participation insofar as it has made these men good scholars has "brought them into proper relation with university affairs." Even admitting that scholarship standing is higher during non-participation it would seem fairer to consider the comparative average with all students of the university.

Although it is stated that this action is not directed toward the abolition of all intercollegiate athletics, it is nevertheless a very effective step in that direction. Freshman intercollegiate athletics are the necessary incentive to keep alive intercollegiate affairs. Abolish them and it will be difficult to recruit the varsity teams. It is difficult to get a man out for athletics who does not enter in his Freshman year. Once entered he becomes a devotee during his whole college career. The impossibility of making a varsity team is even more of a damper on general participation than the abolition of the Freshman games. There have been twice as many Freshmen out the past two years than in preceding years and the scholarship average of the university is 50 per cent higher.

The faculty argument of greatest weight is that regarding the distraction from studies. We believe this distraction is not as serious as is thought. The few members of the team are the most serious sufferers from this and their scholarship standing proves their early convalescence. There has to be a certain amount of distraction. The trite adage "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" is very true. If we have not a Freshman game something else will take its place. Freshmen are not graduate students. Most of them are boys and Stanford makes them men. A Freshman year under the athletic guidance of a man of Presley's calibre is about the best "distraction" a man can have. To get this "distraction" he has to be a good student.

The Freshman rule was adopted in the east to rule out "ringers" and tramp athletes. We are not bothered with these pests here and therefore need no rule. A reconsideration of the whole matter would be welcomed by the student body.

The following are the opinions of the various captains of athletic teams at Stanford:

"It seems to me that this action will work directly against the policy the faculty has been trying to carry out in the past few years, namely, to get the largest possible number of men into athletics. With the Freshman Intercollegiate meets out of the number of Freshmen trying out for teams will be very small, as the chance of their making a team will be a fraction of what it has been. If their interest is not aroused the first year, the chance that it will be aroused later is hardly possible. I seriously doubt if a practical substitute can be found for Freshman Intercollegiate events."—K. L. Dole, '11.

"The time between 4:30 and 6 that the Freshmen spend in athletics, they won't spend in studying anyway. The men who are eligible for Freshmen teams, but are out of the question for the varsities will only spend the time in other diversions, and the good which they would have received from athletic training, and trying to make teams will be cut off from them. There will be nothing to replace it."—B. L. Ball, '11, baseball captain.

"The faculty recommendation if carried into effect will seriously retard the development of varsity crews. Men trying out for the Freshman shell do so because they are hoping to develop themselves into rowers of varsity calibre as well as to make their class eights. Dan Murphy said that a man cannot row well until he has been out for two years."—K. L. Schaupp, '12, crew captain.

High School

Miss Cherry Perkins is registered Freshman High.

Miss Emma Munk gave the second year Latin class an examination Thursday.

Pearl Harbaugh seemed somewhat disappointed because she did not weep at "East Lynne."

Adelphi Literary Society met Friday, and gave a very interesting and well attended meeting.

Mr. Henriques takes such an interest in the Greek B class that he ought to join it.

Miss Maud Goodhue was ill during the past week.

Donald has been wearing quite a happy smile. Wonder if it is because Cherry's so near?

We should send our condolences to Bertie. Persia decided not to remain a Prep.

Who says "Kid" Trabert isn't bright in Physics?

Have you all heard the new nick-names which have been given to some of the Senior High girls?

Miss Alice Young had quite an accident on the basket-ball floor Wednesday. That's the second set of curls she has lost. However, the floor was not injured.

Examinations were in full sway during the past week. Many students may be surprised when the report cards are passed out Tuesday.

Marjorie Clark is registered Freshman High. She has already shown her High School spirit by coming out to basket-ball practice.

Quite a pleasant gathering of the Chemistry Lab. class was held Friday afternoon. During the afternoon light refreshments were served by "Dixie." All students seemed to enjoy themselves.

Miss Berry was somewhat surprised Thursday because all of History D forgot to read the Declaration of Independence.

This is the way a certain student studies trig:

Give me a brook and a summer's night,

A shady nook in the moon's soft light,

A girl that is fair and sweet to see,

And—you can leave the rest to me.

Does anyone recognize this?

Last Thursday the college and Prep teams lined up for a game, as follows:

College — Bee Bray, c.; Lydia Colyer and Grace Mahan, sc.; Effie Maek and Bertha Jones, g.; May Porter and Martha Noble, goals.

Preps — Dora Nelson, c.; Hazel Johl and G. Anderson, sc.; Ethel Brown and Lula White, g.; Alice Young and Frances Smith, goals.

The score was 16 to 8 in favor of the High. If the Prep girls keep up with their practice there is no doubt about them winning the game with Elko, which is to be played the last of March.

SAN FRANCISCO LANDS THE EXPOSITION 1915 to Be Gala Year For the West

The United States Congress decided last week by a vote of 5 to 1 that San Francisco should be allotted the Panama exposition in 1915. This means that all the West is to receive a grand innovation. All the world will come to see what the West has to offer.

The University of Nevada, situated within a half day's ride of San Francisco, is easily accessible to all the tourists on their way to San Francisco. They ought to become acquainted with the resources, possibilities and educational advantages of our State. No better means of publicity could be obtained than that of having a miniature campus and buildings situated in the Nevada building. Literature of every description should be on hand and demonstrators busy all the while explaining the possibilities of our Sagebrush State to all comers.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETS

The Student Representatives Hold a Lively Meeting and Discuss Many Items

Thursday afternoon they met—we don't know where—to discuss and again pass upon this season's athletics. It got dark and the meeting adjourned without accomplishing any great amount of business.

Several back bills were presented and ordered paid by the committee.

The division of this semester's athletic dues was the chief point of discussion.

It seems that there are three college sports included in the second semester's list—basketball, baseball and track. There is no provision made for the division of the athletic funds among these sports. This is the trouble at present, which promises some interesting results in the near future.

Two girls' basket-ball games are already scheduled with California teams here in Reno. The first match is with the University of Pacific on March 4th. The second is with the University of California.

The U. of N. team also has accepted three other challenges to play in California, but no dates are set as yet. The teams thus far challenging the blue and white are U. C. Chico Normal and University of Pacific. This means two trips certain and possibly three for this year's basket-ball team.

THE DOLLAR PRINCESS

Last Monday evening saw the Majestic theatre packed to the doors with one of the most appreciative audiences yet seen in Reno. The "Dollar Princess" was the real hit of the evening. She won the echoing applause by bewitching songs, graceful dances and becoming gown. Of all the choruses ever seen in Reno this one surpassed all predecessors in number, beauty, style and class in every detail.

The U. of N. students realized the fact to the fullest extent. This realization was shown by the attendance of college students. Almost one-fourth of the theatre was occupied by University students and faculty.

Personal

Prof. Frandsen was in Carson last week.

"Dusty" Rhodes, '08, is in Reno for a short vacation.

Prof. Serugham spent several days in Carson last week.

If you miss the Military Ball you will do yourself an injustice.

The advertisers are reliable—patronize them.

Did you enjoy the "Dollar Princess?" We did.

Watch Joe Wilson about 4:30 after chemistry.

"Mother" Hubbard caught a biscuit.

Did you subscribe yet? Why not?

Prof. Knight was in Carson Monday.

Alfred Westall, '09, ("Westy" was on the hill last week.

Don't miss the memorial services next Saturday.

The Junior Prom was a howling success. You really missed something.

Don't forget University Day is February 11, 1911. Boost the U. that day.

The U. N. band has some new music. Don't miss the Military Ball.

Bess Winter, '12, is convalescing rapidly under Mrs. Porter's care.

Delwyn Dessar, '14, is ill at the U. of N. hospital. Typhoid fever has him down for a short time.

Don't forget that The Sagebrush prints all the news of the University.

Doctor Stubbs will probably submit an excuse for his absence from The Jinks.

Prof. P. Beveridge Kennedy is in London studying forestry and horticulture.

No one has ever tried to imitate what comes to Lincoln Hall by wire. Why?

Miss Gertrude Angel, a new Normal student, has taken up her quarters at Manzanita.

Don Bradner is sighing for spring days, and the lovely, green Mead.

Why were Rob Farrer and Paul Schrapps standing before Uncle Ben's at 4 o'clock in the morning?

Question: Will Albert Rowe succeed with the girl? Arzula: No, of course not!

Certain of the stiffer-pompa loured lads on the hill would make excellent brooms.

Question: What was Morris Anderson's hidden intention when he called at Manzanita on Friday?

Did you hear about those awful boys at the Jinks. They wore girls' clothes. How could they do it?

Manzanita Hall is a popular place nowadays. We don't know why. Someone explain the conundrum!

Mrs. Dessar of New York City arrived Saturday night to visit her son, who is ill at the U. N. hospital.

The past few days have renewed the old custom of queening on our campus. Several friendships have lately been renewed.
