The Cadet Ball

ALL EXPECTATIONS FULFILLED LAST TUESDAY

The long-awaited date of the Military Ball came at last on Tuesday. The gym. was quite military-like with its numerous pleasingly arranged flags. The tents and camp fires and stacks of rifles in forested corners were added realism of soldier life. From the flag-draped rostrum, the University Cadet band rendered music that brought praises from everyone. It was Leader Bennett and his band who made dancing in such a crowd not only possible but enjoyable.

In these delightfully suggestive surroundings the U. of N. cadets all in uniform, and their friends began the dance at 9 o'clock. Governor T. L. Oddie and Mrs. Layman headed the longest promenade the gym. has ever seen. Commandant McClure and Major Henderson and all the other commissioned officers were there lending dignity to the occasion. Everything considered the Military Ball was the biggest social success of the year. The boys promised a materially good time, but this event surpassed all their most seemingly unattainable promises. If George Washington only knew he would be proud that his birthday was so well remembered and honored.

Dramatic Club Active

"The Russian Honeymoon" Is the Play

Within one month the Dramatic Club, with Miss Howe as leading lady and coach, will present an altogether new and fascinating play, known as "The Russian Honeymoon."

This pretty comedy was played one entire season at the Madison Square theatre, New York City. It was staged with an excellent cast and its popularity was confirmed by large audiences proclaiming its unqualified success. The "Critic" said of it: "Of all the pretty plays which have been seen on the board of the Madison Square theatre, 'A Russian Honeymoon' is the prettiest."

The site of the play is in a province on the borders of Russia and Poland. The rising curtain discloses the interior of the house of Ivan the Shoemaker. The Samovar burns on the table. The lamp burns under the Virgin's picture. A wolfskin is nailed to the wall. High above the stove, covered with sheepskins, lounges a peasant idly smoking, while others drink around the table during the hour of recreation. Outside the snow is falling in thick flakes; inside the log fire is roaring lustily. Wedding bells are chiming; men and maidens clad in gay peasant garments are marching in procession to the church.

Gustave, Count Woroffski, has married Poleska de Ternstein only to find that early in the honeymoon she develops such traits of temper and pride as will render their married life insufferable, unless he can find some means to subdue her. He accordingly goes before her to an estate, lately bequeathed to her by inheritance, where he enters the service of a shoemaker, Ivan, under the assumed name of Alexis Petrovitch, and awaits the coming of his wife. Upon her arrival he tells her that he is Alexis, a serf, having married her on a false pretense, and she being his wife, is a serf too. He sets her to sew and spin and tries to tame her. She, however, manages to send an appeal to the Count's sister for protection, and the second act closes with the arrest of Alexis by his own guards. The third act shows a drawing room in the chateau Wowffski, where the baroness has summoned Poleska to state her wrongs. Poleska obtains from the Baroness an order of separation, and, having obtained it, repents, declares that though her husband is a serf she cannot leave him. Finally she sees Gustave appear in his true character, and is folded in his arm. Love has conquered pride.

Miss Howe as well as every one in the cast is very enthusiastic over the play. Since the play is to be coached by Miss Howe, who made "Higbee of Harvard" such a success, we expect something unusual in this production.

A PITIABLE SITUATION

Grief Is Sure to Come From It.

Last week the library was a popular place, and especially on Tuesday. Several of the students were greatly interested in a certain four-page paper. These papers were wrapped, addressed and placed in private mail boxes in the U. N. library. And yet several of these S-u-b-s-e-r-i-b-e-r-s were determined to read these papers.

We are unable to account for this state of affairs, but to anyone who does not understand it appears as if there are several of our more prominent students who are ashamed to become subscribers or else intend to deprive their college paper of the support it justly deserves.

Basket Ball Next Friday

University Plays University of Pacific

The first basket-ball game of the season will be played in the gymnasium next Friday night, March 3rd, when the 'varsity girls play the University of Pacific. It will be remembered that these teams met about a year ago in the gym. when the University of Pacific went down to defeat with a score of 36 to 12.

The game bids fair to be an even more exciting one this year for the University of Pacific girls have had much to encourage them along the line of basket-ball this year in the shape of a new gym. Our team also is very much stronger this season.

Now, students of the University of Nevada, the team cannot do everything. They need the support of every one of you. Come, and by your cheering show the girls that you are behind them. Last year it will be remembered, the rooting was conspicuous by its absence. This year make it conspicuous by its presence. Come out and get in practice for the California game, which comes a week later. The girls have their game so well in hand now that all they need is the feeling that their college is with them to win both games.

The seven best players have been chosen from those who have come out for practice this year. The line-up is as follows: Forwards, May Porter, Martha Noble; guards, Leila White, "Bee" Bray; centers, Dora Nelson, Frances Smith, Grace Mahan.

The officials are: Umpires, Miss Jeanette Cameron, Miss Bess Evans; scorekeeper, Prof. Haseman; timekeeper, Prof. Thompson; doorkeepers, Prof. Knight, Mr. Ross; linesmen, Chas. Helphenstine, Melvin Jepson.

The game will be called promptly at 8 o'clock. After the game a social dance will be given in honor of the visiting team.

Sigma Alpha Party

Fraternity House Party Proves a Huge Success

Tuesday evening the Sigma Alpha house presented a very brilliant and festive air with its hundreds of hearts and cupid's hung in honor of St. Valentine. The Sigmas and their friends were gathered in the pretty parlors to enjoy one of their proverbial good times. The first part of the evening was given over to cards. Then stunts were in order. Everyone received a nut to crack and everyone willingly and artistically obeyed the message his nut contained. Thus the Klemeyer-Hobbins divorce case was entered. Judge Rowe, a trifle biased, but willing to uphold Nevada's laws, heard the case and after listening to the charges presented by the Hobbins' attorney, Settlemyer, and the refutation by Lawyer Carville, he decided that the divorce was not in order.

The Sigmas next produced the famous Arzula, whom they had succeeded in bringing back to Reno. Since her last appearance here she has grown taller, darker and more masculine-like and in fact, she bears a remarkable resemblance to Frank Breeding. However, she has lost none of her spiritual power for she succeeded in answering many questions of wondrous magnitude. She solved for Clinton Sparks the ever-present question, "Shall I make a successful engineer?" It was a hard moment's thought before she answered, "Yes, but not on the Harriman line."

Before Arzula left she presented each girl with a souvenir, cartoon-valentine of herself, as others see her. These were extremely applicable and brought much commendation to the artist, Frank Wilkins. At the same time the Sigmas were presented with two valentines, one the Sigmas in 1911, the other the Sigmas in 1920.

When the merriment had subsided, a delicious supper was served. It was after midnight when the guests departed, singing praises to the boys. The patronesses were: Mrs. Layman, Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. Webster, and Mrs. Evans. The young people who enjoyed the evening were the Misses Nell Morrow, Gladys Jones, Corinne Zacharias, Helen Hobbins, Leila White, Marie de Flon, Grace McVicar, Christina Schoer, Alice Van Leer, Emma Reincken, Neva Hawcroft, Matilda

Jepson, Margaret Langwith, Alma McNeilly, Pearl Stinson, Amy Arkell and Rowena Evans and the Messrs. Albert Rowe, Frank Breeding, Joe Wilson, Wm. Settlemyer, Frank Wilkins, Ed Klemeyer, Neil McVicar, Raymond Robb, Clinton Sparks, Alyn Carville, Sol Cazier, Randall Layman, Harold Layman, Clark Webster, John Lusk, Ward Lusk and Edgar Pearson.

U. N. ORCHESTRA

The University orchestra will meet again next Wednesday at 7 p. m. Practice will last till 8 p. m. Everybody show up promptly.

The orchestra hopes to do some good work within the next few weeks. The orchestra has been asked to play at Assembly, and they are practicing several very pretty selections, so that they may take advantage of the invitation in the near future.

T. H. P. O. Party

Fraternity Holds Annual Party on Saturday

Saturday night witnessed the annual party of the T. H. P. O. fraternity. The occasion was a joyful one, indeed. The alumni members of the order were there in force, happy once again to enjoy their college days with their college brothers.

Century Club hall was the scene of the affair. The walls were resplendent with college pennants and tastefully draped with black and white, the colors of the fraternity.

Promptly at 8 o'clock the fun began. Until 11 o'clock the dancing continued. The music was perfect, the floor, like glass, the punch "moreish."

At this hour the company adjourned to the dining-room, where dainty refreshments awaited. Here they listened to a talk by Professor N. E. Wilson, which was indeed a treat.

At a very late hour the company departed, all voting the T. H. P. O.'s roval entertainers.

BASEBALL TO BEGIN NEXT SATURDAY

Blue and White Suits to Grab Bags

The baseball prospects for this season are very bright. Although practice was hindered by the snow storm the squad is planning on a hard week's work before their first game next Saturday.

The following is the schedule up to date. Several games are not arranged as yet:

Nevada vs. Carson, at Mackay field, March 4th.

Nevada vs. Stanford, at Palo Alto, March 9th.

Nevada vs. California, at Berkeley, March 11th.

Nevada vs. Boston Red Sox, at Mackay field, March 27th.

The Boston Red Sox is a famous team, and will be in Reno for several days, and the game with them will no doubt be the hardest of the season.

The stores in Reno are planning upon a half holiday on the 27th, in order to attend this baseball game.

The team will be selected next Saturday and the men, fourteen of them, who go to California, will be made known then.

ENGINEERS' CLUB

There will be a meeting of the U. N. Engineers' Club on Wednesday, March 1, 1911. Mr. Goodale, a well-known engineer will lecture on "Patent Surveying."

THE STATE UNIVERSITY VS. THE STATE PRISON

Many people are not aware of the immense expense of running a State university; neither are they aware of the expense of maintaining the State prison. The following tables will give the reader an idea of the expense of running the University of Nevada for the years 1909 and 1910. The second table is an estimate of the expenses to maintain the university for the years 1911 and 1912. The third table contains the expenditures for the State prison in 1909 and 1910. MAJESTIC THEATRE

Next Saturday should be a notable one at the Majestic theatre. There has been secured from Liebler & Co., the most famous of their stars of this year, Miss Gertrude Elliott, in "The Dawn of a Tomorrow." Ever since local theatregoers read of the wonderful success Miss Elliott made in New York, Chicago and Boston, there has been a keen desire to see this clever and beautiful player, who is the one supreme topic of the theatrical year. The call for her is most insistent everywhere. Miss Elliott is under the Liebler & Co.'s management, who have given "The Dawn of a Tomorrow" an exceedingly clever cast and a remarkably fine stage setting.

Total $397,000.00
 In the compilation of these figures we use the report of the State Controller.

In conclusion we would like to ask just one question.

Which department is the investment better for the State of Nevada—the State Prison or the University of Nevada? In other words, can this State better afford to protect and educate the youth of Nevada or to neglect them for the care of criminals? WHICH IS IT?

ALUMNI NOTES

Do you subscribe? If not—why not?
 The Military Ball brought back a great many of the former students, among whom were L. T. Kendrick, E. G. Folsom, R. B. Hardy, John Hamlin, Joe Tay' or "Pick" DeLonchaut, Tom (Doc) Gibson, Reay Mackay, Clyde McKenzie and Ernie Mack.

Many students were happily surprised last Tuesday when they saw Mr. and Mrs. Lorin W. Kemp on the hill. Mr. Kemp is at present in charge of assaying at one of the big mines in Grass Valley, Cal. Mrs. Kemp (nee Millar) was prominent in the Theta Epsilon sorority while she was in college. Lorin Kemp was a star player on the '08 Rugby team. He was also a member of the Sigma Alpha fraternity.

In order to become better acquainted with the students at Harvard, President Lowell is having Sunday afternoon receptions.

THE SUNDERLAND STORE

"THE STORE WITH A REPUTATION"

Food and Drug Adulteration

A reading of the food and drug laws of the different states and of the national government discloses the fact that the object in enacting the laws is twofold, namely, to prevent the manufacture and sale of foods that are poisonous, harmful or deleterious or that contain ingredients that are poisonous, harmful or deleterious, but to permit the sale of food products, even though they are adulterated, providing they are harmless and contain no harmful ingredients and that they are branded or labeled so as not to be misleading in any particular whatever.

Taking up the subject of labeling we have found in our work not only labels that were actually false, but also those which contain curious wording, devised by manufacturers and dealers who are unwilling to conform to the truth any closer than they are actually compelled to do, and that will barely enable them to escape prosecution, and yet will deceive the public as ingeniously as if there were no food and drug law in existence.

Among the glaring instances of what is ingeniously contrived phraseology for evading the law are a few examples, such as Jelly powder, labeled in some inconspicuous place not upon the principal label "Flavored and Color Simulated." The correct label would be "Imitation" immediately preceding the name of the flavor in equal sized type and immediately followed by the words "Artificially Colored." In flavoring extracts the word "Synthetic" instead of the word "Imitation," and again the word "Artificial" as applied, for instance, to strawberry extract. Man cannot make an artificial strawberry flavor, but can make an imitation strawberry and the flavor thereof.

Terpeness lemon and orange extracts should contain not less than 0.2 per cent by weight of citral derived from oil of lemon. The same percentage of citral derived from lemon grass has been successfully substituted therefor.

Any flavoring extract made from essential oils containing less than the government standard oil should be labeled "Adulterated," and if colored, "Artificially Colored." They cannot be called imitation lemon for you cannot any more imitate lemon by adding water to the menstruum than you can by adding water to milk and call it an imitation. Where an extract of lemon is made from citral derived from lemon grass or from other sources with no oil of lemon, it might be called an imitation lemon, but under no conditions could it be properly called a compound or blend. Such other qualifications as "6 per cent Bean" or any qualifying phrase that cannot be plainly understood by the public should be prohibited, for after all what legitimate excuse can there be for the manufacture or sale of an extract made from an essential oil containing less than the required amount as fixed by definite standards? The consumer certainly can get no more flavor out of an extract than is put into it, and in an adulterated extract of that kind he is paying for two bottles and possibly four, the same with labels, wrappers, corks, cartons, paper packages, packing cases, freight, salesman's time collections, exchange and other matters, getting the same amount of lemon flavor that he would get in one bottle containing the standard required. This is not true, however, in regard to vanilla extract, or the imitation fruit flavors, as in all of those cases a most excellent imitation or substitute for the article can be and is made. The fact that synthetic vanillin cannot be determined by a chemist from that obtained from the vanilla bean is well known, and it is only when the manufacturer errs in putting in too much and bringing down his alcohol content or in using an artificial color that we can detect the presence of synthetic vanillin. Another example, prepared mustard containing tumeric where tumeric is only mentioned as one of the ingredients in an obscure place upon the label. The principal label should certainly state the words "Artificially colored." That is all the tumeric is added for.

WOMEN TO ASK FOR RIGHT TO VOTE

Some of the Co-eds Are Becoming Interested

Last Monday a delegation of Reno suffragettes migrated to Carson City to ask for their equal right against the sterner sex. The Equal Suffrage League of Nevada is working toward the right end and has for its exponents many of the most prominent women of the State.

The following is an argument in favor of Women's Suffrage:

An Argument in Favor of Equal Suffrage

I believe in the franchise for women because in my study of history and economics, and in my observation of the world round about me, I learn that a great industrial revolution is taking place. I learn that the invention of machinery and the progress of the division and specialization of labor has turned the world topsy-turvy so far as the old notions of the sphere of man and the sphere of woman are concerned, as well as in the ideals of education for the sexes. It is not because women have willed it for themselves that they are today found in large numbers in the professional and industrial world instead of the home as of yore. It is not because men have willed it for them. It is because that something which we call Providence, or the Spirit of Progress, or Evolution,—as you please—those forces which are working together for the betterment of the world—have brought the present out of the past in a natural way. The readjustment of human affairs to meet these new conditions has been going on naturally and with comparatively little friction in the social and economic world, because here women already had a foothold. But in the political world a barrier had for generations been raised against woman's natural progress and, rather than storm that barrier, she submitted to the political system without a murmur. The time has now come in this twentieth century when the problem must be met. No longer can the forces of progress be dammed up behind this political barrier.

It may seem anomalous that men are heading the movement for woman suffrage today. It is a most natural thing, and it is not due to a feeling of chivalry, either. Whether conscious of the cause or no, they are suffering more than the women from the unnatural conditions which exist today under our social, economic, and political system. Blindly, perhaps, but yet with unerring instinct, they are choosing to apply the only remedy which gives promise of a cure. Blindly also the women are holding out their hands for the panacea. But the light is dawning and the change is coming whether we will it or no. The hands on the clock which marks the progress of the world's development cannot be turned backwards. The revolution is already finished. "Revolutions run their course in the hearts and minds of men where battalions cannot enter, and they are ended

THEODORE ROOSEVELT TO COME TO RENO

On April 3d, 1911, Theodore Roosevelt, who was President of the United States in 1902-08, will lecture in the City Park on South Virginia street.

Mr. Roosevelt is coming to Reno at the invitation of Rev. Adams of the Baptist church, which is conducting a course of lectures this year. This last lecture to be held in open air before all the people of Reno and surrounding towns, will no doubt draw a large crowd. As yet the program is incomplete, but we heartily believe that the University Cadet Band might be allowed the honor of playing the national songs and a college rooting section break the monotony with Wah-Zah-Rab-Nevada!

COLONEL ROOSEVELT TO LECTURE AT U. OF N.

During his visit in Reno early in April ex-President Roosevelt will deliver a lecture to the students and faculty in General Assembly on April 3, 1911. The topic of his lecture is not yet decided, but promises to be one of general educational interest. General Assembly will be a regular feature in the Spring months as Dr. Stubbs announces that several when they have given to a community something for it to protect against the world."

The question of equal suffrage has already run its course in the hearts and minds of intelligent men and women. Already they are prepared to fight for it if need be. We trust that here in America it will not be necessary to resort to force. As for Nevada, we cannot believe that a legislature which has passed without the contest the measures giving to the masses, so far as the men are concerned, that most radical of political reforms, the right of direct legislation, will hesitate to have regard to the rights of women also.

U. N. GLEE CLUB

Renders Creditable Program at Methodist Church

Under the direction of Carl Sawvell, the program of choruses, glees, quintets and quartets, assisted by Bert Hitt, the trombone soloist, were well appreciated by an attentive audience.

The choir, consisting of 24 voices, opened the program with Parker's "King of the Forest Am I," which the audience accepted by hearty applause. The second number on the program came from the University Glee Club, with a "Soldier's Chorus" from "Faust," and "On the Chapel Steps," by Gow.

For the number of voices the Glee Club's rendition of the "Soldier's Chorus" merited the warm applause accorded them by the audience. Perhaps their college glees, such as the "New College Medley," "Two Little Flies," "The Cow With a Brindle Tail," etc., all humorous songs, caused the audience to forget troubles, rents and earthly cares, and all join in outburst of prolonged laughter. The quintet number was given a good reception, the audience demanding an encore. The male quartet, consisting of V. M. Henderson, Chas. Haseman, M. E. North, I. Judson Kelly, carried off both honors and laurels of the evening. This number was the result of prolonged training with careful dieting and road work.

Bert Hitt in his trombone numbers, showed musicianship, careful training and marked technique, producing a musical quality of tone only heard after years of constant daily practice. He is now honored with a wide reputation as one controlling a good quality of tone and master of his instrument.

ENGLISH I BANQUET

The English I gave their annual banquet Tuesday evening in the basement of Stewart Hall. The occasion was a delightful one, indeed. During the course of the banquet toasts and after-dinner speeches were listened to and enjoyed by those present and the rounds of applause and the laughter bespoke the fact that wit is not lacking in English I this year.

Miss Nellie Morrow acted as toastmaster and her clever introductions were followed by speeches by Edwina O'Brien, Myrtle Neasham, William Smyth, Donald Bradner, Philip Cowgill, Judson Kelley, Clarke Webster and Robert Farrer.

The evening was closed by the toastmaster thanking Miss Bardenwerper and her assistants and the committee, Myrtle Neasham and Philip Cowgill, for their most important services.

FACULTY SCIENCE ASSOCIATION

The Association was addressed by Dr. O. P. Johnstone, on "The Amana Colony," last Monday. The next meeting on March 6, 1911, will be addressed by Prof. H. P. Boardman, on "Wind Stress on Roof." This lecture will be accompanied by charts of the experiments carried on by him on the campus.

This work is valuable and the work carried on by Prof. Boardman and his department is of the greatest importance. Many students will be interested in knowing that the so-called "Shed" between the Chem. building and Stewart Hall is an experimental machine to test wind stress. These results have been tabulated by Prof. Boardman.

Saturday afternoon the Carson City High School gave the "green leaves" to the Freshies in a second game of basket-ball. The score was 26-14, in favor of the '14 boys.

Those who played on the 1914 team were:

STUDENT MARRIED

Miss Enid Taylor of This City the Bride of Harry Bettles

Miss Enid H. Taylor was united in marriage to Harry Bettles at 8 o'clock last Tuesday evening by Rev. W. B. Trout, pastor of the First Congregational church.

Following the ceremony, which was performed at the church parsonage, the newly married couple went to their new home at 344 Moran street, where a dainty luncheon was served.

The bride is well known in this city, having lived here for a good many years, and the groom is proprietor of a grocery store on South Center street.

Mrs. Bettles while a student at the University was very popular. We express the congratulations of all who know her and wish her the best of luck and no end of happiness.

It is very fitting and proper for a gentleman to propose to a lady but it is very seldom, except during leap year, for a lady to propose to a gentleman. Ask John L. where he annexed that diamond ring he has been wearing.

While the "Prep" boys were assembled in one of the boy's rooms the other day, "Red" Fuss, the Lovelocks orator, thought he had a deep one to spring. "Boys," said Fuss, "if I went down town having 75 cents and a seat at the Majestic cost a dollar, how would I go about to procure the necessary dollar?" The boys said they did not know. Fuss then continued, "well, here's the experience I had in getting it. I went down to Uncle Ben's, told him I would give him 75 cents for a ticket and 50 cents. He gave me the ticket and 50 cents, whereupon I went out and seeing a friend sold the ticket for 50 cents, thus obtaining the necessary dollar." Now, who was the loser? The Pawnbroker my friend, or I?"
