

University of Nevada 4 :: :: Red Sox 14 Col. Roosevelt Lectures In the Gym Next Monday

Ex-President to Lecture

Former U. S. President to Visit Reno

During his short stay in Reno Col. Roosevelt will lecture at the University of Nevada gymnasium. April 3rd is the date of arrival for this noted writer, speaker and diplomat.

Colonel Roosevelt lectured at the University of California Wednesday, March 22d, on the topic "Higher Education." The audience at this lecture consisted of 8000 people, the largest audience ever assembled in the Hearst Greek Theater.

Elaborate plans have been formulated for Colonel Roosevelt's reception while in Reno. Some of the students expect to see a great deal of college spirit evinced at this assembly. One student in talking to a Sagebrush reporter said, "We ought to decorate the gym and practice college yells for Mr. Roosevelt."

F. L. Peterson Writes

Nevada is making a great showing at the Pacific Land and Produce Exposition now being held at Los Angeles. The exhibits from Nevada are head and shoulders above the exhibits of any other state represented at the big show according to reports from the southern city.

Nevada has two separate exhibits at the exposition; one from western Nevada with Frank L. Peterson of the University Experiment Station in charge and the other from Clark county in charge of James G. Givens.

A letter received from Mr. Peterson by the Gazette gives some interesting information relative to the exposition in general and the Nevada exhibits in particular. In part, it is as follows:

"On account of the lack of space I was unable to show but about half of what I had prepared, but we are head and shoulders above in quality.

"The Nevada exhibit of potatoes, apples, and onions have received more favorable comment than I can keep track of. The three varieties of potatoes shown are from the Peckham Bros. ranch and consists of the Early Reds, Burbank, and Peckham's Peerless. The Los Angeles natives say that they have never seen such potatoes on their markets and that I must have selected them very carefully and they would scarcely believe when I told them that with the exception of the Burbank the potatoes were selected from but about two sacks of their respective variety.

"The onions shown are from the ranch of Warren G. Rice, Sparks, and are the only onions in the show. People say: 'Why I never knew Nevada grew onions, and when I tell them that Nevada feeds the Pacific coast onions they open their eyes. Needless to say that the apples from the Lewers ranch, the York Imperials, the Ben Davis and Newton Pippins are in a class by themselves, their only competitors being a miscellaneous assortment of odds and ends from Klamath Falls, Ore.

"Clark county exhibit is charge of James G. Givens has a show that in all respects except, perhaps as to alfalfa and grain (both green) does not have to take the dust of the Imperial variety. The four bunches of asparagus from Clark county is the only asparagus shown. It has a show case full of green lettuce, onions, beets, cabbage, cauliflower, radishes, edible 18 days from from planting, stalks of spinach over fourteen inches long and as tender as can be, turnips weighing about two pounds, cotton, etc. People in passing say, 'Well that beats me, just think of Nevada that they all call a desert."

"The show is coast wide and includes Oregon, California, Nevada, Utah, Arizona and New Mexico. Of course California predominates with representatives of her varied industries and of which she should be proud. The exhibits show the various fruits, oranges and lemons predominating, cotton and silk, in the raw state and being weaved into cloth at the auditorium, miniature oil wells pump oil, the wine industry is shown in all its phases, and the poultry show is worth going some distance to see. Arizona has small bottles of olive oil and fine cured olives for distribution, and a candy made from a cactus with spines, a most delicious confection this writer doth truly subscribe.

"It is impossible to describe the show in detail, its stupendous, and would tire you. I am writing this to tell you that as far as our exhibits are concerned, Nevada has nothing to fear and by being represented at this, the Second Land Show, countless people have been awakened to our agricultural conditions—the range being from 'spuds to cotton.'"

Goodwin Doten '03 Died Sunday Evening

One of the saddest deaths that ever occurred in Reno was reported last Monday morning when Prof. Doten found his sister, Goodwin Doten dead in her room. The reason for Miss Doten's unexpected death is thought to be that of despondency. The only note left by her contained the desire to have Mr. Unsworth officiate at the funeral under the auspices of the Delta Rho girls.

Miss Doten was professor of Latin in the Reno High School since 1906, where she leaves a host of dear friends. Miss Doten graduated from Reno High in 1898, from the University of Nevada in 1903 with highest honors.

During her attendance at U. of N. Miss Doten organized the Delta Rho Sorority of which she was a charter member. She also held many class honors and was literary editor of the Artemesia for two years, and associate editor of the Student Record for four years. The Artemesia says, "The sweetest lady this side of Heaven."

EVOLUTION COURSE

The lecture on Tuesday, March 28, will be on "Stellar and Inorganic Evolution," and on Thursday, March 30, the subject will be "The Ancestry of Man."

Bean Eaters Have Gone

In Fast Game Nevada Makes Four Runs

The Boston Red Sox team No. 2 came, saw and went away. They did not shut out our boys as they have many teams in California. The score does not tell the story because Knight walked only two men while Karker walked five.

The Red Sox made two runs in the first inning when "Spike" Henderson stopped the sprint in by three clever field catches.

In the third Nevada gathered three sprints with the score 3-2 in our favor until the second half of the sixth when the visitors made four runs on long field hits and good base runs. Score 6-3 in favor of Red Sox.

In the seventh and eighth innings the Red Sox took advantage of the field and played for left field off the third base line but Crews picked up several before they bounced to be passed to second and put two down.

The first of the eighth the Bean-eaters grabbed five runs off two long hits in left field with sacrifice hits to the box.

The Blue and White boys took over another run in the seventh making a total of four runs to the visitors eleven.

It was in this inning that Carrigan, the Red Sox catcher, received a splintered thumb from a foul ball behind Crews.

The eighth inning brought in one run for Perry, leaving a score of 12 to 4 in their favor.

The beginning of the ninth brought two more for the visitors while the Nevada boys made four hits but no runs.

McClintock made a two-sack hit and Myers put him to third. The game ended her with the score 14 to 4.

Poultry Club Organized

Poultry enthusiasts of Reno and vicinity held a meeting for the permanent organization of a poultry association at the Commercial club rooms Friday evening. Many interested fanciers and producers of market eggs or fowls were invited and urged to attend this

At a previous meeting held at the university some two weeks ago a committee on constitution and by-laws was appointed and this committee, consisting of W. D. Heaton, L. D. A. Prince and C. W. Darling, will report at this time.

It is the plan of the backers of this movement to hold its first poultry show in Reno early in the fall and to make this an annual event of such importance that it will draw exhibits from the whole coast and be coastwide in its influence.

The amount of money that Nevada has been sending out of the state in return for poultry products is something enormous and this association proposes to boost the poultry interests of the state in such a way as to increase home production and stop some of this money.

U. of N. to Start Football

Most of Last Fall's Squad Agree to Practice

A prominent All-American rugby football man, also a four-star man, is now touring England.

After witnessing one of the gigantic struggles between two of England's big teams, he has written his fellow athletes in California that the best football team which might be aggregated on the Pacific coast could be easily "put away" by any one of a dozen English fifteen. He writes: "They are too much class for Americans."

A careful consideration and comparison of the individual players of both American and English teams will prove that the American is every bit as heady as the Englishman. He is on the average a little faster man and a little larger man, and in most instances a better trained and harder fighter than his English brother. But he is an infant in rugby experience. He has not mastered the fine points of the game. The English star can in most every instance look back on a lifetime of experience. He has been taught the rudiments of the rugby game by his father and grandfather. He may have played in several big matches side by side with his father. In this respect he learns the game in somewhat the same way that a son learns the trade of his father.

Our American rugby athletes have not been slow to recognize their handicap. At present our players must gain their total knowledge of the game from three or four years' experience. A prospective tour of England for the All-American team of 1911 has awakened our universities to see the necessity of better training. Already Stanford and California have a large squad on the gridiron each day for spring practice. Nevada is in the lead. At present we have a squad of twenty men signed for practice. The work will be light, consisting chiefly of dribbling, kicking for touch, passing rushes, and the lineouts. With the close of baseball season this week, we will have enough men on the field for two full teams. Nevada is truly fortunate in having the best rugby turf and training quarters on the Pacific coast. We also have an All-American to coach us in our spring training. No doubt we will have our share of men on the All-American team of the 1911 season.

Roosevelt Praises Rugby

In an interview with several U. C. men he prefers rugby, and in reference said:

"I do wish I could see the rugby football played here. I admit that I'm not especially qualified to speak for football just now, as none of my offspring has distinguished himself at the game, though one of my sons had his nosebroken once and his collarbone several times.

"Now, as President Wheeler has told you, I don't believe in mollycoddles, but neither do I believe in the rough game of football as it is played in the east. I wish the game there were a little less homicidal. I wish the eastern teams would get in touch with the game as it is played here and substitute it for their own. I want to see the game kept up and I am not in sympathy with the old ladies of both sexes who want football abolished. I am glad to see that the game here is—how shall I say it?—not safe, but more fraught with hazard than the average war."

BASKETBALL BANQUET

Last Saturday evening the home of Miss Grace Mahan on High street was the scene of a very pretty and enjoyable affair, when the U. of N. basketball girls gathered to partake of the delicious banquet prepared by Mrs. White, Mrs. Koppe and Mrs. Mahan.

Covers were laid for fifteen. The table was beautifully decorated with ferns and violets. Dainty place cards marked each place. Many toasts were given and responded to.

After the banquet a short business meeting was held at which Miss Mary Porter was unanimously re-elected captain for the coming year.

On behalf of the team the captain with fitting remarks presented Miss Meighan, the coach, with a beautiful souvenir spoon.

The rest of the evening was spent singing college songs and having a good time in general. Miss Hattie White was voted a very successful manager.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

The next meeting of the executive committee will be held in the committee room of the training quarters at 7:30 on Thursday, March 30, 1911.

By order chairman, M. E. Jepson; I. C. Schuler, secretary.

W. L. Karney, '04, Receives Gov. Oddie's Appointment

During the recent political fight in this state's government where in the water rights of Nevada were at stake, Gov. Oddie appointed Mr. Karney as State Engineer.

This position is one of the most responsible in the State government and for which Mr. Karney is very well fitted.

Since his graduation Mr. Karney has held many position in the mining world of Nevada. "Bill" Karney was one of the most popular students ever on the hill. He played end on the 1903 American football team. His baseball career is one that will be remembered by all those who knew him. Three-baggers were his long suit. Mr. Karney was one of the most prominent members of the T. H. P. O. Fraternity while in the U. of N.

ARE THE CAMPUS WALKS ORNAMENTS

It seems from all appearances that several students and some of the faculty are ignoring the sidewalks of brick and concrete that connect all of the buildings on the campus. The lawns are for ornaments and nothing else. At least that is the way we regard them and that is what they were constructed for.

Many students, especially the young ladies, walk on the lawns in preference to the sidewalks. The reason for this may be a desire to use a short cut. But a lawn and a walk will never be synonymous whether careless people believe it or not. A rigid and just rule could be adopted by the students making any student who takes a short cut liable for a fine payable to the student body.

The upper classmen make this rule each fall for the under classmen. Have they forgotten their rule or have they merely overlooked it for a short time.

All members of the Faculty and Student Body are asked to contribute items of news and stories to the Sagebrush. No names will be printed but the writer's name must accompany each article.

All matter to be printed should be in by Friday evening of each week.

NEW MECHANICAL BUILDING PLANNED

Electrical Department to be in New Quarters

Last week saw the planning of the new electrical building at the U. of N. Stakes are set and the general plans are completed. The front elevator plans are now complete and will be on exhibition this week in the daughting room.

The plans and specifications for this new building are in the hands of Messrs. Bliss and Faville of San Francisco.

This new building will be constructed of brick and cement and will be placed between the present mechanical building and the Mackay School of Mines.

A large electrical laboratory and machine room will occupy the first floor with two offices. On the second floor there will be two large recitation rooms and two drafting rooms capable of caring for fifty draughtsmen at spacious desks. A blue-print room completes the second floor.

MISS WINN ENTERTAINS

Last Saturday afternoon Miss Luitia Winn entertained the C. C. Club at a very enjoyable affair at her home on North Virginia street. Sewing and singing made the afternoon go very quickly. At the end of the afternoon dainty refreshments were served.

Those present were: Mila Coffin, Hazel Glass, Gladys Taylor, Ruth Tibbals, Cherry Perkins, Ruth Miller, Rilla Dixon, Dorothy Bird, Josephine Williams and the hostess.

AGRICULTURISTS MEET

Last Monday night the "Aggy" Club met at Prof. Knight's at 7:30. The meeting was one of considerable interest and discussion of future plans were brought out. The program consisted of talks by Prof. True, "Sol" Cazier, Carl Milentz and "Doc" Manion. The club decided that they would like to have the issue of May 8th for "The Aggie Issue." This was agreed upon by all the members of the club and the editor of the U. of N. Sagebrush.

THE FRESHMEN GLEE

The Freshmen Class has chosen April 28th for the night of the glee. They are putting forth every effort to make the dance a grand signal, that they are fast attaining greater dignity.

The gym is going to be a thing of beauty. The Freshmen artists are conceiving vast and original plans that when carried out will out-do even the best attainments of the year.

The music is going to be particularly good. The musicians of the class are working hard to make his part of the evening a signal success.

The class is favored by having many artists among its numbers. These people are designing the programs which no doubt will be worthy souvenirs of the 1914 class.

Even the refreshments are to exceed any before this year. The Freshmen have already gained a reputation of having good things to eat.

Every member of the class is enthusiastic over the one social event of the year which entirely depends upon them. Remember the date, April 28th. Come yourself and bring your friends to the glee where dance, music, and song which flow unconfined.

STUDENT BODY MEETING

The next regular meeting of the Associated Students will be held in the gym Thursday, April 6th. The proposed amendments will be voted on at this meeting. Nominations for next year's officers will be in order at this meeting also.

All students are requested to notice the bulletin boards in the near future.

By order president, M. E. Jepson; Isabell Schuler, secretary.

REVENGE BANQUET

During the noon hour on Wednesday, March 23, the members of Mr. Paine's argumentation class enjoyed a delightful repast in the English room. Dainty refreshments in the shape of chocolate cake was well served by Miss Neasham. After the consumption of the eatables several witty toasts were given by the various members of the class.

"Revenge is Sweet," Mr. Paine; "Forsaken Am I," Rob Farrer; "Bitter Sweet," Harold Hale; "We Are Seven," Harlan Heward; "A Painful Feed," Francis Cunningham; "Carmine Pink," Paul Harbaugh, and "The Forsaken Mermaid," Allan Caville.

MOVING PICTURES USED TO INSTRUCT STUDENTS

Thursday afternoon the forestry class of the University was given a most entertaining and instructive hour by Supervisor Skeels of the service, who is delivering a series of lectures on lumbering. Mr. Skeels had secured a splendid moving picture film of the redwood belt of California and of some of the southern yellow pine forests. These films were shown at the Isis theater, through the kindness of the management, and the whole forestry class was in attendance—Kaimin.

Judging a Mining Property

I agree with Josh Billings that "it is better to be ignorant than to know so much that isn't so," and I would be the last to claim any unusual or unnatural power for the mining expert but it is certainly within reason to claim that the trained eye can see more than the untrained, that the trained mind can discover many facts that are hidden from the mind not trained, and that in mining matters can deduce from such facts rational conclusions as to the probable extent of ore bodies of which only a portion can be seen.

In making his estimate of probable ore the expert will take into consideration all the significant data at his command; is the vein increasing in size or value with depth, or is the contrary true? Has there been any change in geological conditions favorable otherwise. Is the size and condition of the ore body such that an experienced mining man of sound judgment is compelled to believe that like conditions will persist for 50, 75, 100 feet beyond what his eye can actually see? All these and kindred questions the expert will consider, and then having made up his mind as to what may safely be depended upon beyond what may actually be seen he will add to the ore in sight his estimate of probable ore.

There will still remain the uncertain, intangible but nevertheless real value which the mine possesses as a prospect. Just as the ore in sight merges by imperceptible graduations into the ore partially in sight, so the latter merges into prospective ore. The line of demarkation cannot in the nature of the case be sharply drawn. From a commercial point of view all prospective ore, that is ore not found but which a level headed and experienced mining man would from the conditions expect to find, and for the finding of which he would be willing to spend his money in prospecting, all such ore would doubtless be looked upon by a conservative purchaser as speculative. But the really conservative purchaser does not cut a large figure in the mining business, nor have the big successes in mining often fallen to his lot. The element of chance enters more largely into mining than into almost any other line of enterprise; and when men who by nature are too conservative to take a chance will likely live longer and be happier in some other work.

To illustrate more clearly what is meant by claiming a real value for ore not yet found in a running property, let us again take a concrete example.

Suppose a prospector finds a rich piece of quartz sticking a few inches above the surface of the ground in a locality where no mines or promising prospects have previously been found. Evidently the cash value of his find is small; it may prove a piece of float broken from the main ledge or it may be a small bunch of high grade ore in a vein of otherwise barren quartz. But suppose on the other hand that in close proximity to his prospect is a paying mine, that his prospect lies in the line of the extension of the paying ore body, that its walls are identical, that all the conditions including the character of the ore, point to its being a geological part of the adjoining mine, all this evidently puts an entirely different phase on the situation, and the prospect is no longer judged by the ore actually in sight.

In estimating the prospective value of a mining property the expert will be greatly assisted if other mines in the district have been developed more extensively. If other ore bodies existing under similar conditions have persisted to great depth without loss in size or metallic content he will have by so much the greater right to look for like conditions in the property at hand; while if conditions of development in adjoining properties in like formation be unfavorable the outlook in this property will be unfavorable. Data on this subject must be carefully sertinized and conclusions cautiously drawn. It will not do for example to infer that because one vein in a district contains valuable ore that another similarly situated will also contain high values, or that even the same vein will have like values throughout, but it is a valid conclusion that similar ore bodies existing under similar conditions in the same mineral district are most likely to have a similar persistency with depth.

CALIFORNIA CONTEMPLATES SPRING RUGBY PRACTICE

The Daily Californian says: Following the custom inaugurated last year, spring football practice will be held during the present semester. Football Captain Elliott has called a meeting of all football men to be held this afternoon, at which time the plans for the spring will be outlined and the days for practice selected.

The main purpose of working the rugby players this term is to get a line on any new material in college, and secondly to keep the old men in some touch with the game. After a couple of weeks' practice it is likely that a few light games will be played. In speaking of the matter recently, Captain Elliott said:

"The benefits of spring practice were shown last year in a decided manner, and it has been thought advisable to continue the custom. Light work twice a week will be the order of things from now on. Today's meeting is called mainly for the purpose of selecting the most suitable days for work, which I think will most likely be Tuesdays and Thursdays."

"Manager Farmer has kindly consented to put the old field in such shape that there will be no broken bones, and all the men ought to get out. Later on we may play a few light games."

"I doubt very much whether much soccer football will be played this year. However, if there are a sufficient number of men who favor this form of football, teams and games will be arranged as was the case last year."

"I desire very much that every football man in college, whether a varsity player or one wholly without college experience, should attend today's meeting. It will be held in 113, California Hall, at 5 o'clock. Several old football players will speak."

RENO HIGH DEFEATS GARDNERVILLE

Yes, that game came off last Friday night before a large crowd of over enthusiastic spectators. Rooting was plentiful—so was school spirit.

The hes, hes, hes, R. H. S., rah, rah, Reno, was echoed so often that the dust flew off the rafters on the players.

Reno High with superior team work and more accurate goal tossing had a decided advantage over the Douglas county lads. However, the long dribbles and quick passes that the visitors worked were very often successful.

Reno High was beaten by Gardnerville last month by a score of 31-29, and in turn beat Gardnerville in the U. N. gym by a score of 44-22.

A merry crowd of dancers, most of whom were the younger students, enjoyed a social dance to the tune of Harold Hale's fiddle. The dance broke up with every one voting the R. H. S. to be a "live bunch."

Gardnerville team comprised the following:

Forwards, Settlemyer, Brown; center, Hennangsen; guards, F. Settlemyer, Krummes; subs, Lampe and Nelson.

The Reno High lineup follows: Forwards, McKinley, Conway; center, Lloyd McCubbin; guards, Heward and Lee McCubbin.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT To Amend Article 9, Section 3

At the close of the women's basketball season the captain and coach of the team shall recommend to the executive committee those members of the team entitled to the privilege of wearing the six-inch block N. This privilege shall be granted subject to the following regulations:

1. The persons recommended must have participated in half or time equivalent to half of a women's basketball game, or they must have been on the original team entering such a game and have been prevented by injury from playing the specified time.

2. And the games in which they played must have been with the teams of the University of California and Leland Stanford Junior University.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT

It is recommended that the following be added as paragraph 10, section 2, article V of the constitution of the Associated Students of the University of Nevada:

"It shall be the duty of the captain of any team, not less than one week before any game, to hand to the executive committee, a list of names of the candidates for such team, and executive committee, on petition of twenty-five members of the associated students, to investigate and take such action as it sees fit concerning the status of any such candidate."

Many new men are out for the track this season. It is our duty to encourage the new men and help them to win the meet for us. We want another cup.

There will be an academic contest on May 12 and track meet May 13. Many entries have been made for both events and it looks as if the Preps stand a good chance of carrying away the cup this year.

At the next meeting of the H. H. Howe Society a very entertaining trial will be held. With Archie Trabert and Fred Henriques as the attorneys for the plaintiff the trial will certainly prove interesting. You are invited to come and hear a first class case.

The Prey boys are out practicing faithfully every night. They surely intend to do their best to bring us home that cup, and it is our duty to go out and watch the boys at their practice. They stood by us in basketball and we ought to stand by them in track.

A preliminary declaiming contest will take place about April 20 to try out the students for the final contest. Many entries have been made for this but a few more are wanted. Come and show what you can do. We have good speakers and debaters in our school. Let us see if we can't do something in the declaiming line as well as in other lines.

Regular meeting of students was held Tuesday morning. Edwin Krall gave a very interesting talk on the trip to Carson, while the stump speech of R. Sheehy was very entertaining and proved that we have a true wit among us.

The original story by Chester Morrow was an exceedingly clever article and was positively the best original story heard here for the past few years.

The personal experience by Mr. McCormick concluded the program and the assembly was adjourned.

Last Friday evening from 7:30 to 9 the H. H. Howe Literary Society was entertained by a very good program. The following program was given:

Declamation.....Alice Young
Current Events.....A. Atcheson
Debate.....N. Hawcroft
Affirmative—Mr. Fuss, Emma Munk.

Negative—Julia Boulanger, Ernest McLean.

Question—Resolved, That the Panama Canal should be fortified by the United States.

Speech.....Frances Smith
Personal Experience.....R. Richter
Declamation.....G. Anderson

C. W. CREEL TO ACCEPT GOVERNMENT POSITION

Cecil W. Creel "Senator" will leave his alma mater this week for Salt Lake, Utah, where his headquarters will be. This work will be in the nature of field investigation on the alfalfa weevil, a very destructive insect in alfalfa fields of Utah and Colorado.

"Senator" has been a very potent factor in college activities. He was president of the Senior class in 1910, vice president in 1910. He was president of the U. N. Agriculture Club for three semesters. Since September, 1910, Mr. Creel has been an associate editor on the U. of N. Sagebrush where his stories have been read with great deal of interest. His work on the college paper was greatly appreciated by the editors. The Sagebrush unites with his many friends in wishing him the very best of luck in the government service.
