NOTED EDITOR AT UNIVERSITY

W. R. INGALLS SPEAKS AT GENERAL ASSEMBLY

An interesting and instructive program awaited the large audience at general assembly last Friday morning. Dr. Mack's lecture on the "Prevention of Infectious Diseases" was good and well delivered. It contained truths of sanitation that every person should know.

The lecturer took up in detail modern methods for preventing microbe transmission. Methods for the prevention of infectious diseases were described whose application, if our saying it will be pardoned, could be advantageously made without leaving the campus of this university. Those who have occasion to pass between Lincoln and the dining hall will vouch for the truth of this statement.

Dr. Mack's lecture was followed by a solo, "The Missive of the Rose," by Ray Hancock of the freshman class. The song was so enthusiastically applauded that he young singer returned to the platform and pleased all with "Go Home and Tell Your Mother."

This number was followed with a short talk by Dr. W. R. Ingalls, editor of the Engineering and Mining Journal. Mr. Ingalls brings to the west and particularly Nevada, the feeling and interest displayed by many eastern men of his type. Dr. Ingalls expressed himself as being highly pleased at what the university of Nevada has to offer. His address in brief is as follows:

"When President Stubbs surprised me this morning by telling me to say something today I told him that it would almost be impossible for me to say anything impromptu except upon mining subjects, that being the subject most prominent in my mind. When I stand before you and see so many young ladies I feel rather diffident, as far as I am aware the ladies have not yet entered the mining profession, but I presume the day is not far off when they will have entered that profession as they have many others.

"One of the thoughts in my mind is the marvelous development of the west. It is in fact only a short time since the development of this great western country began. I think it may date with the opening of the Comstock in 1859, about the same time the pioneers were making their way westward with the scribe, "Pike's Peak or Bust." It is only a little more than fifty years ago since this great development began. The attention of the prospectors then was naturally directed to the gold and silver ores from which the precious metal should be extracted, other ores were discarded as rebellious or base ores. At the time the miners came into the country by the stage coach or the ox train, and it was not until the completion of the Central Pacific railroad in 1869 that the miner was able to work those ores. About that time a rather significant geological discovery was made at White Pine. It was found that ores occurring in limestone were rather high in silver. This geological discovery at White Pine led the prospectors back to Eureka with the result of the opening of enormous ore deposits there. From that time prospectors have paid attention to the occurrence of ore in limestone. In the development of the mines of the west a great many mistakes were made and a great many foolish things were done, but I do not think that the west would have made its great progress had these mistakes not been made.

Freshies and Sophs to Play Rugby

DATE WILL BE NOVEMBER 4TH

War is brewing once more, the babies declare that they will start something unless the sophs do. It's all about that football game, too.

For many years it has been customary for the two lower classes to bury the hatchet with a football game. This year they are promising a contest that will be a real one. Both teams are out every night now and from the heated discussions overheard lately this year's game will be well worth seeing.

With many varsity players on each team it is only the most keen judges that will be able to pick the winner. Watch for this game.

PROF. TRUE BUYS STOCK

On Tuesday of last week, Professor True of the agricultural department added to the livestock equipment of the university by the purchase of three registered Jersey heifers from George A. Smith of Corcoran, California, and a bull calf of the same breed from the herd of N. H. Locke & Sons, Lockford. These animals are choicely bred and were among the best in the respective herds from which they came. All are from an ancestry prize winners, and the pedigrees include animals holding world's records for the production of butter as well. Hereafter, Holsteins have been the only dairy breed in the university herds. The present purchase was made from the proceeds of the agricultural department's winnings at the last California State Fair.

Mr. Thomas caters to the college public.

DEPARTMENT WILL GIVE SCHOLARSHIP

On day last week the department of agriculture received a good fat check from the California State Fair association for the amount of premiums won at the recent fair. The amount included the $100 special prize won in competition with the University of California and California Polytechnic School for the best display of livestock by an educational institution. This one hundred dollars, Professor True says, is to be used for scholarships for agricultural students. The matter has not been acted upon formally by the board of regents, so the conditions have not yet been decided upon, but the president of the university has given his consent to this use of the money. There are a number of boys in the State working this year to save money that they may enter the agricultural school next year, and it for the aid of such that this money is to be used. Ordinarily scholarships are the gifts of friends of an institution. We think it is something new for an institution to secure scholarships for its students through intercollegiate competition.

MILITARY SCHEDULE FOR THIS WEEK

GENERAL ORDERS NO. 14

The following schedule of drills is announced for the week commencing October 23:

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, extended order by battalion.

Thursday, battalion review and inspection. Blue uniforms.

All cadets desiring to use the target range at times other than the drill hour can arrange hours with the commandant. The range can be used Saturdays, Sundays or any week day afternoon.

BY ORDER OF THE COMMANDANT

University Pond Is Completed

All wide-awake students and passersby on the campus have been aware that ever since school opened there has been more or less dirt flying along Ninth street. The old students will scarcely recognize the place when they survey our new pond.

Last summer the concrete walls were placed between the columns of the bridge and the grading is now nearly completed to form the dam of the new and larger pond. The bank toward the street when completed will have a one in slope, and this will be capable of being sown to grass.

The contract for the work is held by the Reno Construction company, and the money has been furnished—at this writing—by unknown friends of the university.

The students are highly pleased with this improvement towards beautifying our campus. This pond is not, and has not been, merely for beauty. It serves regularly every winter as a skating pond and in the summer, at times, as a swimming hole. But some of its more important uses have been neglected in the last few years.

In this time not a single freshman has been "ditched" or a single dummy floated upon its surface.

What happens on the pond in the summer is hard to say, but it is certain that the new pond, with its shrubby banks, will offer many a quiet, moonlight cruise for quieners in their Hiawatha ships of state. In fact, at present, it is rumored that a company is being formed to rent canoes on this pond to queeners only, and so the pond will thus serve as an antitype to the famous courts of town.

The water will most likely be turned into the pond at the end of the month.

RENO HIGH DEFEATED BY SECOND TEAM

Last Wednesday afternoon the second team of the university played a game of rugby with Reno High. The game was an interesting one throughout and full of fight and brilliant plays.

In the first few minutes of play Reno High forced the ball almost to the second team's goal line, but a determined stand and a dribbling rush by the forwards carried the ball out of danger for the time being. The Varsity second team gradually carried the ball toward their opponents goal line and Percival, wing forward for the second team, dove over the line for a try. Pennell failed to convert.

A few moments later Crozier made another try for the university players but this also was unconverted. During the remainder of the half the ball went back and forth but at half time was in neutral territory.

The second half was played in semi-darkness and it was difficult at times for the players to keep track of the ball. Webster went over for a try about the middle of the half but it was not converted.

From a ruck play, Ferris received the ball and plowed his way through almost the entire Reno team, running forty yards to a try directly between the goal posts. The try was converted. Score 14-0.

Reno High School showed a marked improvement in playing since their game with Alameda High and should give an excellent account of themselves when they make the trip below.

The Varsity second team players appeared to be overanxious to score and as a result did not do as well as was expected of them. Fumbles were frequent and in some cases proved costly although no scores were made against them.

Sophomore Hop November Third

President Webster of the sophomores called the first meeting of that class last Wednesday evening to discuss ways and means for the "hop." The meeting was well attended and, by a unanimous vote, the evening of November 3rd was chosen as the date for the big time.

After general plans had been briefly gone over the following committees were appointed by the president: Printing—Farrer, McPhail Webster. Decorations—Cazier, Barber, Cowgill and the Misses Mahan and Measham. Refreshments—Misses Van Lear and Noble, and Judson Kelley. Music—Harriman, Smyth and Pennell.

A discussion as to the advisability of charging "downtown" people an admission fee of one dollar livened up matters for a few moments. Finally, by a standing vote, the class decided in favor of the charge being made.

The class wishes to be thoroughly understood on the "hill" in regard to this matter. It has always been the custom for the under class dances to be invitational and free. The class of '14 believes the free part to be a wornout custom. Reno society people and dancers welcome these class dances on the "hill" and have their "bids" promised long before the date of the party is even fixed. Many of them come in their own crowd, dance with their own crowd and make no effort to mix or meet with the students.

While the sophomores do not wish to be understood as begrudging these people or anyone else a good time. Reno people are always welcome to any of the university affairs. The class, however, does take the position that downtown people should be willing to pay for their own good time; that the expense should not be borne by a few students.

Invitations will be issued as usual, but the invitations will notify the fortunate ones of the charge.

"Barbs" Enjoy Dance

MANAGER POMEROY TALKS

Last Saturday evening one of the best dances of the season took place in the gym. Good music, a jolly crowd, and a happy team made the varsity folk more than jovial.

Nor were our guests absent either, for the "Barbs" were there "en masse." Many of the players were accompanied by their wives until a late hour.

Manager Pomeroy Talks

During an intermission, J. F. Pomeroy, manager for the Barbarian team, spoke to those present on behalf of the "Frisco" boys, he said in part:

"We are glad we're here. We always like to come to Nevada.

"When our committee had to pick a team for this trip we all wanted to come. They decided to bring 18 men, then agreed upon 20, and when we got to Reno there were 28 of us. We cannot congratulate your team too much; they play wonderfully well. We didn't expect to have any difficulty in winning, but from results we can not say that we had an easy time of it, in fact we played as strong a team as any this season.

"Before I sit down I want to say that we are more than pleased with your co-eds and will from now on have more than one excuse for playing in Reno."

DR. JACOBSON IN EUROPE

Dr. C. A. Jacobson, of the department of chemistry at U. of N., is at present doing laboratory work at the University of Austria.

Mrs. Jacobson is with her husband at Cracow, Austria, where he will remain for several months.

From Cracow he will go to Berlin, Paris and London, before his return to the Occident.

BLUE & WHITE WIN FROM VISITORS

SCORE ELEVEN TO FIVE IN FAST HARD GAME

BY "THE PRINCE"

Saturday witnessed the best game the varsity has played this year, and from a spectator's viewpoint, it was a decidedly interesting contest.

The Nevada boys, though they knew that they were up against a hard proposition, as the Barbarians had played California off their feet the previous Saturday, and were beaten but 14 to 3, went onto the field, brimming over with their usual confidence, and from the outset although no score was registered in the first half, it seemed but a matter of time when Nevada would score. There were several opportunities in the first half, which might have resulted in tries, but the invariable bad luck that has clung to us the season through, was as persistent as ever, and we notched—nothing. And this, despite the fact that the "Barbs" were on the defensive all of the half.

The first try, about the middle of the second half, resulted through Mackay straying away from his team mates, and finding the ball going towards his own goal. He had no option but to keep it moving in that direction, and just when he would have lost it, Knight appeared on the scene, and grabbing the leather, dived over the line with it. Charles took a rather difficult try at goal but failed.

Nevada evidently made up her mind that a few more tries were necessary, for the play came back to the center of the field, and Bob Bringham secured the ball. It has always been my idea that if Bringham got moving once and was not tackled low, he could not be stopped, and so it appeared on Saturday, for he went through his opponents as though they were not there at all. It was a pretty run, with several obstacles in the way which Bob either avoided or shook off, without trouble, for fully half the length of the field, and a stream of Barbs following in his wake, who had the chance as the dog that chases the Overland Limited, when it is making up time between stops. Though Bringham simplified matters to the finest point by placing the ball directly behind the goal posts, Charles, for some inexplicable reason, failed to raise the score to 8. Nevada, 6; Barbarians, 0.

Hope was running high now, and it was not long before McPhail got the ball, and was over the line, clear of opponents, and Charles redeemed his previous error by notching a goal, and making the score 11-0. The ball was well on the way to the northern goal again, when Sheehy secured it, and through failing to take his bearings,

MAY BE NUMBER OF STUDENTS GAMES

AGRICULTURAL STUDENTS CHALLENGE OTHERS

The agricultural students are more than anxious to show everybody that they can play rugby. Consequently they have challenged the other departments to a game of rugby in this manner.

"We the students of the agricultural department at the U. of N. do challenge the students of the mechanical and electrical department, or the mining and civil engineering students to a game of rugby to be played on the Mackay field on or before Nov. 4, 1911.

"The entries in this battle to put up a bonus that the losing team shall furnish a dinner to the winners. This dinner shall not cost less than $2 per man."

made a cross kick, very much forward, in place of kicking to touch. Meyers of the Barbs was out there, all alone, and needing the exercise to warm up a little, he picked the ball up, and not noticing any one around, he levanted for the south poles. He has quite a dash of speed and in a very short time was placing the ball behind the posts for the Barbs' first and only try. Brown, the Barbarian captain, converted an easy one. Score, Nevada, 11; Barbarians, 5.

The savages made a determined attack to get through the Nevada line again, but it was useless. The varsity boys seemed to be getting more on edge as time went on, and though they were defending, when the final whistle blew, it was merely a temporary respite they were taking, before scoring a nother try. In no game this year has Nevada played as she did on Saturday. There was not passenger on the team—every one worked his way and with a will, too.

It is no use to single out any individual member for extra praise—every one has lots of praise coming to him, and no one, more than any other. The fellows got in and did their utmost, and they did it well. It must have been gratifying to Elly Bennett, to be able to arrive at the conclusion that, after all, he had not been wasting the season on a bunch of dubs, and yet, perhaps, a little mortifying to him, that his charges had not got into their stride earlier in the season. However, should he elect to run for reposition of coach for next year he need not anticipate any opposition, and he will have material to work on from the start that will make California twist some when they run into the combination.

As the season is over, I would like to remark on the consistency of Blair Menardi and Harvey McPhail throughout the football year. The former, as a half-back, saved his side many a time, where others might have made a mistake. Menardi was infallible, and his cry of "get around me, forwards," when he would be on the ground, trying to see whether the ball or he took up the greater part of the earth's surface, was heard as often last Saturday as it was in any game this year. McPhail was never found wanting, and was as much in evidence against the Barbs as the next man. He had hard luck in not scoring in the first half, from a pass from Menardi, who did a sneak on the blind side of the scrum, but it is too much to expect one to be perfect all the time. Now watch the farmers get into the game. Further particulars next issue.

NEW STONE FOR MECHANICAL BUILDING

On Friday last the first shipment of stone for the new electrical building arrived in Reno, and teams were immediately set to hauling it to the site of the building on the university quad. The stone, which comes from Bedford, Indiana, has been en route for some time, but owing to the congested condition of the railroads in the middle west it has been almost impossible to get the stone through to its destination.

When the first stone was unloaded it was found to be stone for the cornice of the building instead of for the base, hence work on the building will be delayed for a short time until the base stone arrives, and this is expected within a few days.

All other material for the building is now on the ground and the work will be rushed through so that the building will be ready for occupancy not later than the first of the spring semester.

Quick service, sanitation and first-class meals are mottos at the Owl.

ABOUT DRILL

Well, the voting is over. The students are still undecided as to what they want.

In the voting at the assembly last Friday a large majority voted down the hour of drill and physical training, at 3:30 p. m. We believe that this large majority did not have a definite idea as to what they wanted.

In more than 60 per cent of the western universities and colleges, where military drill is carried on, this hour is adhered to. Educators agree that the modern student must have recreation.

They further agree that this recreation should come after the day's classes.

This again points to 3:30 as the logical drill hour. Many of the men students claim that they cannot profitably wear their uniforms in laboratories.

To offset this argument we can state that the uniform is the cheapest suit that can be had. And, again, the dress uniforms are worn as a rule only one day during the week.

The Sagebrush believes that if the students will reconsider their decision they will agree upon this hour for drill and physical culture.

The faculty will no doubt accede to this if they will see this matter in the same light as the students do.

lady with the well-known star Virginia Harned last season. She will be supported by a most excellent company in the new production.

The part of Patricia O'Brien is especially well adapted to her pleasing style and personality.

After a run of nearly two years at the Hudson theatre, New York, and equally long runs in Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia and other eastern cities, the play itself needs no comment as it is one of the most successful comedies produced in recent years.

Manager Aylesworth is sending out an excellent company and scenic equipment with his attraction this season and the tour includes all the principal cities on the coast and through the middle west. Theatre-goers of Reno are promised the best attraction of the season in the presentation of the "Chorus Lady" at the Majestic.

Manager Aylesworth has decided to play his attraction during the Reno engagement at the Majestic at special prices, 25c to $1.00 (no higher)

FRESHMEN BEWARE

Have you heard the latest thing about attending class meetings? It seems as if the freshmen girls have adopted a new fad in regard to this matter; but one which is not apt to be popular in that it breaks up the meetings. But if anyone desires to take up the freshmen example all he has to do is to walk or run out of class meetings if any subject should be brought up which does not interest him. Now when a meeting has been called it is the duty of each and every individual to attend said meeting and to stay there until it is adjourned, or he may leave by obtaining permission from the President, otherwise no one has the right to leave and it is the duty of the President to see that no one does leave the meeting unless the required permission has been given. Freshies read and heed this in order that you may not get yourself into trouble.

PERSONALS

New drill regulations have been issued by the war department and the cadet battalion has been kept busy becoming familiar with the new order of things. There are many radical changes in the new regulations, but on the whole things have been very much simplified and the cadets seem to like the changes. The commandant has expressed his gratification at the way the battalion has progressed.

Target practice was started last Monday on the U. N. R. A. rifle range, and practice will be continued throughout the next two weeks. Some excellent scores are being made, considering that this is the first time this year that the men have tried to puncture the bull's-eye.

Word has been received that Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Helphenstine are now settled in their new home in Chico.

Miss Bertha Jones can say "My Elbow" with good grace now.

Miss Frances Price has been ill for the past week.

The first English I exes have taken place during the past week end.

CORRESPONDENCE STATIONERY

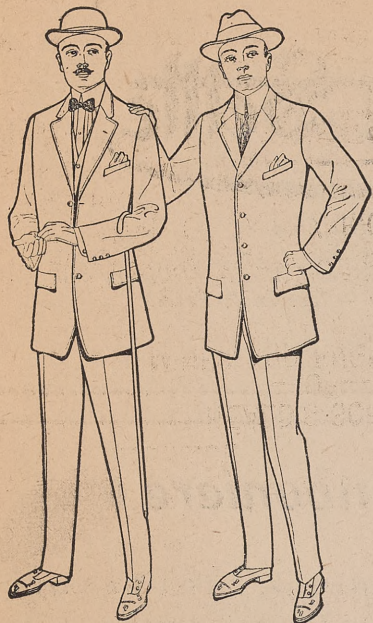

When you open your friend's letter just stop and think how much better it looks if it is written on a fine linen finish sheet and with an up-to-date envelope. It is the first thing to leave the impression that the letter will be a pleasing one.

Give your letters that same tone by using a high-grade paper for correspondence.

ORCHESTRA GETS REAL TREAT

Last Monday evening Miss Helen Higgins and her mother invited the university orchestra to their home on Granite street for their rehearsal. After the orchestra had practiced for a couple of hours and were preparing to go home, Mrs. Higgins and her daughter surprised the talented ones with a table set with all the gastronomic delights of students. The repast was enjoyed to its utmost by the following persons, who carried home with them the kindest regards for their charming hostesses:

Gene Williams, Earl Piggott, August Frohlic, Leland Clafin, Raymond Robb, Gilbert Tyler, Leonard Gilcrease, and Misses Grace Harris and Helen Higgins.
