The track is not in the best of condition. It needs quite a little work done on it. To get good results on a track it needs to be in good condition.

The men, mostly under classmen, who did the work on the track, are out to make the team. It is now up to the rest of the men students to lend a hand and help things along.

Editor Sagebrush. Dear sir: At the annual football banquet last year, the subject of spring practice was talked over, and it seemed as though every one was very much in favor of such a proceeding.

MILITARY SCHEDULE

Monday—Juniors—Examination in School of Battalion and Ceremonies. Sophomores and Freshmen—Examination in guard duty. Tuesday—Juniors—Examination in the rest of the infantry and drill regulations.

Of course a number of football men are out for track and baseball, and naturally we would not want to encroach on either of those branches of athletics, for any recruits. My idea is that those men who are not on the track or baseball squads, may be able to find the time for football practice, and none of us have such a complete knowledge of the game, but what we can learn some more of it.

In the spring of 1909, practice was indulged in, and the result was very apparent the following fall. There is no reason why the performances of that year cannot be duplicated, for we have material enough, if the fellows will throw themselves into the game, with the idea that if they cannot make the team themselves they are at least helping someone else to make it, and at the same time are doing a signal service for their school.

Very truly yours, ERIC REAY MACKAY.

Sophs Win From Carson

On Friday evening last the University Sophomores defeated the Carson City team by the close score of 23 to 22, in one of the hardest fought games witnessed in that city in a long time.

Both teams were in great condition as was indicated by the terrific pace they withstood for the whole forty minutes' play.

At the end of the first half the score stood 18 to 8, in favor of Carson, but this did not for one minute make '14 give up hopes of winning, and when the whistle blew for the second half to begin a look of determination and fighting faces beamed forth on every Sophomore on the floor.

The ball see-sawed up and down from one danger zone to the other for a full five minutes, both sides trying desperately to make a point, until the trusty "skyrocket," Bill Smythe threw a deep one from centred field, taking the charm off the Sophomores and a few seconds later his team mates, McPhail, Pennel and Webster each succeeded in making a try. This did not discourage the Carsonites. They came back harder than ever and by the brilliant work of Whittaker, the captain, the team drew up even with the visitors.

The score now stood 21-21, with two minutes left for a winner to be named. The battle raged fiercer than ever. The people along the side lines were frantic with enthusiasm. Hats were thrown in the air, women and girls screamed and yelled, leaning and gasping with every throw of the ball until by a neat pass by Pennel to Dessar the climax ended with the Sophomores victors of the evening.

Pennel, Dresser and Smythe were the stars for the Sophomores, while Whittaker, Tucker and Day upheld the honors for the Carsonites.

RENO HIGH SCHOOL WALLOPS FRESHIES

Reno High School, 30; Freshmen, 22.

Thus the score board read at the conclusion of the High School-Freshmen basketball game Saturday.

The championship of the state gone to — Reno High, was the remark of one Freshman player, as he walked slowly and rather downcast to the dressing room.

"They seemed to have our goats from the start and we couldn't get together and stay there."

The game itself could not be called a fair exhibition of basketball. It started out slow and kept the same pace throughout.

Fumbling and exceedingly poor basket shooting by both sides were the chief features of the game.

At the end of the first half the score stood 13 to 8 in the Freshmen's favor, and it was the unanimous opinion of all that the Freshmen would still lead at the end of the game, but poor headwork, a little hard luck and the increased efforts of of high school soon reversed the scores.

Owing to the fact that no dance was given after the game the spectators were rather limited, especially the supporters of the Freshmen team, which number about fifteen. Great support of your team, Freshmen.

Y. M. C. A. MAN MAKES INTERESTING TALK

Mr. Gale Seaman, the coast secretary for colleges, spoke to a large audience on Friday evening last. Mr. Seaman has created an impression that will last at the 'varsity, and his fine talk on college life was one that none of us could afford to miss and do justice to ourselves. Mr. Seaman knows nearly all the college Y. M. C. A. men of the west and together with his wide acquaintance has a power of fascination that makes all the men (and of course many others) enjoy to hear him speak.

His topic was one of special interest at the present time due to the fact that the coast conference will take place within the next month at Pacific Grove, Cal. Here all the men from the various colleges will assemble to talk over the national questions and to do all in their power to make the Christian Association reach its proper place in the itinerary of the college world.

Mr. Seaman put special stress on the benefits and the low expenses that are the main issues that prevent more men from attending the annual conference at Pacific Grove. There is no question but that Nevada will be well represented this spring and that the Nevada students will respond to the teachings that the Y. M. C. A. has to give.

TRACK SCHEDULE IS ANNOUNCED

Last Tuesday the following schedule of meets for track and field events was placed on the bulletin boards:

Freshmen vs. Reno High March 16th.

Interclass meet March 23rd.

'Varsity vs. Reno Y. M. C. A., March 30th.

'VaVarsity vs. St. Mary's, Reno, April 6th.

'Varsity vs. St. Mary's, Oakland, April 27th.

Inter-collegiate conference meet, Berkeley, May 4th.

There are two trips to the coast planned: One to Oakland to hold a meet with St. Mary's, and the second to Berkeley to the conference meet held there in May.

This should be quite an incentive to get some good hard work out of the track candidates this semester.

FORMER CO-ED IS MARRIED

On last Sunday, February 18th, of this year, Miss Nell Fitzgerald, a former student of the university, was married to Mr. Lytton Stoddard of this city. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride in Petaluma, California. Only the immediate family of the bride were present at the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Stoddard are now in Reno visiting the parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stoddard, on Roverside avenue. They the receiving the congratulations of their many friends in Reno, where they are well known and very popular.

ENGLISH 1 FEED IS A DANDY

ace Greeley of American literature in his masterpiece, "The Stars of English I." His talk was almost extemporaneous. It was chuck full of the laugh-giving element which drove away the last trace of care and left merit in its Heu.

Again Toastmaster Sinai arose, made a few remarks which tickled the crowd, and then introduced "that fair artist of English I who holds the throng at her pen-point, Miss Maud Price."

Her speech was entitled, "The Agonies of the Consultation Chair." It was graphically told, and brought even Professor Paine to an appreciation of the tortures which his students have endured during a few minutes in that much-famed chair.

Next came a masterly speech entitled, "The Effects of English I Upon the Present Generation," by Miss Laura Marzen. She showed wherein the effects were injurious, and backed up her statements by living examples.

The subject was hell handled, and the tinge of humor running through it added to its appropriateness.

The toastmaster arose again and declared that he believed that all were hungry again and that operations would be suspended until further refreshments were served. He asked as a special favor that while these refreshments were being served, Prof. von Janenski entertain the assemblage by a few remarks on life abroad. The latter unwillingly submitted and gave a talk on "The French Student as a Queener," from his own actual experience. By this time the punch wa sready, and everybody was ready for it.

The next speech was by Miss Fulton, entitled, "Forewarned is Forearmed," giving her own experience with English I both before and after she became a student.

It was a candid confession of her attitude toward it all.

"A Toast to the Front Row," was delivered by George McCreerey, and brought the audience back to the class hour. It showed the humorous side of the subject which, interspersed with a few jokes and stories, made a very pleasing talk.

William Duddleson then presented his speech, "In Defense of the Agies." He showed that the "agies" were not taking that course because of its light subjects, but because it offered rare opportunities for an independent life. He invited the students of the other colleges to call the "agies" up when times got hard and they would get a crust of bread.

"The Theme of the Cross." That was the title given the last speech—the one by Miss Dorothy Bird. It was as good and thrilling as its title suggests. The theme was not crucified on a cross, but it was tried by a jury, and other terrible things happened to it. That wasn't all—something awful happened to that calm little, brown-eyed, black-haired judge.

The concluding remarks were made by Professor Paine, who gave his views and expressed his satisfaction with all that had passed.

Thus ended the English I banquet of 1912.

INTERESTING SESSION OF ENGINEERS CLUB

farms of the eastern and southern states.

The present search is being conducted along lines directed by common sense coupled with geologic knowledge.

These together point out the probability of a deposit in Nevada in the Humboldt sink. This being the lowest and last to disappear part of old Lake Lahonton, is the most reasonable place to prospect for potash. To this end a drilling outfit is now sinking a test hole in that place and has attained a depth of nearly 600 feet. In this work an ordinary well drilling apparatus of the churn drill type with an appliance for taking core samples is being used. These core samples are sent here to the laboratory for analysis.

Besides this possibility of obtaining potash there are two others that are being investigated. They are, first, the separation of potassium from its insoluble silicate compounds by chemical methods. The chief of these is orthoclase, one of the feldspars.

The other possibility lies in the extraction of potash from sea weeds of which there is an abundance along the Pacific coast.

The pulp, as it is called, is burned and the ash contains 35 per cent potash. The possibilities of either of these latter methods are great and the danger of being without potash by being cut off by Germany is very remote.

ARE PLANTING MANY TREES

Professor P. B. Kennedy and Gardner Lynch have a force of men at work on the new ground in front of the dam preparing to ground for the planting of trees and shrubs. There will be a line of trees on either side of the sidewalk on both Virginia and Ninth streets. The holes have been dug and the new soil is being hauled in and the places for the trees made the best that the wide experience of the two in charge can make them.

They are laying out many artistic flower beds at different places in the Ninth street side of the plot. This spring the whole plot will be put in lawn as will the north face of the dam above the water line. This will make that part of the campus one of the prettiest places in town and a thing which we may well be proud of.
