VARSAITY WINS TRACK MEET

For the first time since 1903 the track team of the University of Nevada has entered a meet. Saturday they took the team from St. Mary's College, Oakland, into camp to the tune of 70 to 52.

Without a doubt the meeting held last Saturday was the best ever witnessed in Reno. It was a fight clear through to the last for the necessary points to name the winning team.

The meet was full of the spectacular. The fights for places in many of the races were pretty. In more than one case competing runners breasted the tape so close together that the timers could scarcely note the time between the two.

Two of the records of the track were broken at the meet.

Pennell clipped 1-5 of a second off the high hurdle record by doing them in 16 4-5, and Bringham did the same to the 440 yard dash, establishing 51 seconds as his time for the event.

Gisin and Vlught of the St. Mary's team were the stars for the visitors. They won 22 of the 52 points that their team made.

Vlught won the mile and a half with ease. Randall had thirteen points to his credit, Pennell was a close second with 12, and Bringham piled up ten for the U. of N.

The mile run, the first event, was held promptly at 2 o'clock and was won easily by Vlught, the St. Mary entry.

Ogilvie of Nevada came in second four seconds behind the winner and was closely followed by his teammate, Trabert.

In the 100 yard dash that followed Bringham and Hylton were off with the gun and ran the complete course before they discovered that the St. Mary man had not started. Under ordinary conditions the race would have been declared won by Nevada, but in order to prevent argument and discussion, a second start was made, Randall crossing the tape first, leading Gisin of St. Mary's by a close second. Hylton came in third. Bringham failed to start.

The team proved weak in the hammer throw and submitted but one entry, Hilton, for this event. Wheaton won the throw easily by casting the weight 115 feet, 6 inches. Walker of St. Mary came second and the lone Nevada entry secured the third point.

Wins by a Fraction
Gisin, the fleet-footed Oakland athlete, won the 220 yard hurdle race by three-fifths of a second over Hancock. McPhail finished third. The runners had the wind in their faces and with this disadvantage failed to make good time.

The 440 yard dash was one of the most spectacular events of the day and was easily won by Bringham, who experienced no trouble in smashing the track record by covering the course in 51 seconds flat. Bringham brought the bleachers to their feet when he romped home the winner. Stolz and Doran of St. Mary's finished second and third respectively.

Bacon, the only entry for the pole vault, secured first place in this event by crossing the bar at 9 feet and 6 inches. Walker, one of the St. Mary entrants, sprained his ankle in vaulting.

Gisin secured second honors in the event, while the third place went to Walker.

The 120 Hurdles
Gisin of St. Mary's and Pennell of Nevada furnished the excitement in the 120 yard high hurdle event. Both runners covered the distance in record-breaking time and were neck and neck throughout the race, finishing in a dead heat and breaking the track record. Their time was 16 4-5 seconds. Gisin was disqualified, however, for he upset four hurdles and the honors went to Pennell.

McPhail and Wheaton covered the course on the first heat and the former made the distance in 19.7 seconds. He was awarded second place and Wheaton annexed the third point for St. Mary's.

Walker of St. Mary's, who had sprained his ankle in the pole vault, had the injured limb dressed on the field and entered the shot put. Although competing under difficulties he had no trouble in winning the first place, casting the weight 38 feet, 6 1-2 inches. Wheaton, St. Mary's, finished second and Stolz of the visitors was third.

Vlught, the champion distance man of the visitors, who won the mile event, captured the half mile run. This race provided plenty of excitement for the bleachers, for Cowgill closely contested every foot of the way. He finished strong two seconds after Vlught crossed the tape. The most exciting part of the race was the contest between Parsons and Reagan for third place. Both runners were neck and neck at the stretch, but Parsons finished with a lead of barely twelve inches.

The 220 Yard

The varsity experienced no trouble in winning the first and second places in the high jump. Pennell and Smythe tied for the first place with 5 feet 4 inches, while Thornton of St. Mary's was unable to cross the bar after it had been raised from the 5 foot, 2 inch mark.

Randall, who had been resting since winning the 100 yard dash, covered 20 feet, 2 1-2 inches in the broad jump, and set a mark that was not beaten. Pennell was second with 19 feet, 11 inches, while Gisin of St. Mary's was awarded the third place.

The first, second and third places were secured by the Nevada entries in the 220 yard dash. This event was run against the wind. Bringham captured the first place from Randall by several inches, while Hylton exerted every effort to win the third point from one of the visitors. The last ten yards was covered with Hylton and his opponent running even, but with a final and well timed burst of speed the Elko county student finished in third place.

The Two Mile

The two mile was a real test of endurance, and Reynolds, University of Nevada, who finished fourth in the mile event, won easily. Kelly started out to set an easy pace and he was not disturbed until after the third lap. Reynolds then forged to the front.

Reynolds continued to detach himself from the field and by the time the fifth lap was completed he had a good 50 yard lead. In the sixth lap Ogilvie forged ahead of Kelly and Newberger.

Newberger left Kelly and tacked on to Ogilvie, who was fresh, having trailed the other runners for the first five laps. In the seventh lap Newberger was forced to fall behind and at the finish Reynolds had a clear field.

Ogilvie started sprinting at the stretch, and had the course extended another 50 yards he would have bested Reynolds. Ogilvie finished fresh and smiling. Newberger finished third.

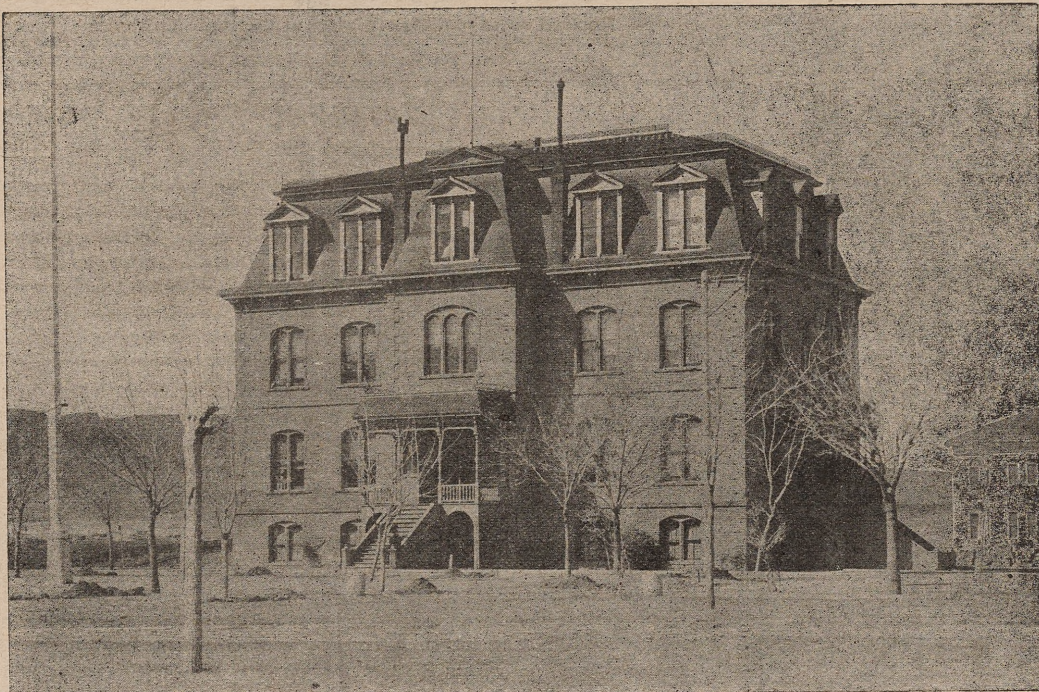

The Relay Race

The half mile relay race, the last event of the day, was full of excitement from the start and was won by St. Mary's by a bare six inches. Randall and Doran of St. Mary's started the race and at the end of their 220 yard run, Doran was leading by about two yards.

Hylton relieved Randall, while Gisin took second relay for St. Mary's. Gisin added several feet to his lead when he was succeeded by French. McPhail opposed French and lessened the distance, although when Bringham started on the last lap Stolz had a fairly good lead. Bringham ran a splendid race, but was unable to overcome the lead of his opponent. Barely six inches separated the runners when the tape was crossed.

The officials of the meet were as follows: Referee, P. B. Kennedy; starter, E. R. Mackay; track judges, Henderson, Powers and McClure; field judges, Haseman, Cash Smith and Hickey; time keepers, M. B. Kennedy, Elwood Bane and Lacy; clerk of course and assistant, Hovey and Honor Fraternity Coming to U. of N.

On Friday evening of this week the Nevada Chapter of the Phi Kappa Phi honor fraternity will be installed at the University of Nevada.

The chapter comes to the university through the efforts of President J. E. Stubbs and several members of the faculty.

The members of the faculty who have petitioned for a chapter of this fraternity are very hopeful of the success it is to have and the good that it is to be at Nevada.

The principles and purposes of Phi Kappa Phi are very similar to those of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi. The advantage it has over the latter is that students from all schools in the college are eligible for membership. The organization was designed principally for universities with engineering as well as liberal arts schools.

Eligibility to membership in Phi Kappa Phi is based wholly on scholarship. Any student within a year of graduation with an honor record may be elected into the fraternity. Alumni, also, who had a high standing in the university at the time of his graduation, may become members of the fraternity.

There is, therefore, no doubt that the fraternity will aid very materially in promoting scholarship and also in keeping our alumni in close touch with their Alma Mater. It is, indeed, very fortunate for the university that the fraternity is to be installed yet this year, as the honor students of the present senior class will be elected to membership.

Phi Kappa Phi is not an old institution, comparatively speaking, but it has had a marked success in all the colleges where it has thus far operated.

A student by being elected into this fraternity is granted the highest prize for his scholarship and his conscientious efforts that the university can give. An alumnus prizes, above all things, the badge of an honor fraternity. He is proud of himself and of his Alma Mater. He feels that he has acquired something during his college course and also that the university has recognized his efforts and has faith in his making good in after life.

The installation will be held Friday night. Prof. L. M. Pammel, professor of botany at Iowa State College, will be present to perform the ceremonies at the installation of the chapter.

After the ceremonies there will be a big banquet to finish the evening.

A large number of the faculty including President Stubbs and Vice President Lewers petitioned for the fraternity. They are very enthusiastic in its organization.

Glee Club to Visit Carson

The University of Nevada Glee Club is a live organization. Two weeks ago they made a trip to Virginia City and took that town by storm. This week they are to visit the capital, Carson City.

The trip is to be made on Tuesday of this week. It is planned to have a dance after the concert.

The Glee Club will be assisted in their concert at Carson by Miss Stewart of that city, and it promises to be one of the best that has been given by the club. Efforts are being made to get a number of the students to attend this affair. Provided that fifty or more sign up for tickets a special motor will be chartered for the occasion.

If you wish to go on this trip hand your name to Prof. Haseman or some members of the Glee Club.

EDITORIAL

This edition of the Sagebrush is the Prep edition and has been almost entirely gotten up by them, with the assistance of the regular staff. Its editor, Mr. Varney, and manager, Mr. Steinbitt, have worked hard and faithfully to make this edition a credit to all the readers, and we leave the criticism in the hands of the readers to decide as to the effectiveness of their efforts. A great deal of credit is due those who have so generously contributed articles and time to make this paper a success.

HISTORY OF THE U. OF N. HIGH SCHOOL

The organization of the U. of N. high school marked a distinct step forward in the development of the educational system of the state. Its passing with the close of this school year likewise serves to mark another step in advance.

Conditions which it served to meet have been outlined, for within the last ten years the number of high schools in the state has increased three-fold, and these are now fully prepared to meet the entrance requirements of the university.

In 1902, when the prep school was organized, there were very few high schools in the state, and not all of these offered complete and varied courses. Many students came to college deficient in entrance requirements necessitating elementary courses in mathematics, science and languages in the freshman year.

In the words of the first high school register, "The school was organized to secure adequate preparation for the university, and to offer the advantages of a thorough high school training to the many young people who live in remote sections of the state where there are no high schools."

This action also made it possible to raise the entrance requirements from twelve to fifteen units, much sooner than would have been advisable without such a preparatory course in connection with the college.

Prof. S. B. Doten was the first principal of the newly organized preparatory school. He made as complete a course as possible with the resources at hand—two general three-year courses including English, history, mathematics, science and languages.

The commercial course, in charge of Professor Robt. Lewers, was in no sense inferior to the other three-year courses.

The number of students at this time was about seventy. Prof. Doten held the principalship three years, when he was transferred to the station staff and Prof. H. H. Howe of Carson was appointed to fill the vacancy.

Professor Howe who came from the Carson City schools where he had been principal for nearly thirty-five years, proceeded to make prep a leader among the secondary schools of the state.

Before long he had almost realized his desire. The school began to participate in athletic contests with other high schools, the enrollment reaching 125, and in 1909 the regular four-year course was inaugurated. Professor Howe was held in great esteem by his associates and students, and it was with deep grief that they received the news of his death on May 31, 1910.

Prof. R. C. Thompson was then made principal of the school. He had come from Boise, Idaho, a few years previous, to take charge of the department of Latin and Greek. Professor Thompson, being a progressive man as well as a capable and inspiring teacher, earnestly took up the work begun by Professor Howe, and in his first year had prep in the lead of the high schools of the state.

The registration reached 124, the teaching force had been increased to five, new courses were added, two active literary societies replaced the old Crescent club, a strong student body organization was formed, and the school secured admission to the academic league.

A direct result of this renewed interest and activity in student affairs was the winning of the state basketball championship during the season of 1911, and of first honors in the academic declamation contest of the same year.

During its ten years of existence, besides affording may of the state's young people their only opportunity for secondary education, the U. N. High school has wholly or in part, prepared more than a hundred students for the university; it has sent out over the state a band of alumni loyal to the college, and has contributed in no slight degree toward laying the foundation for our "New Nevada."

state. His was one of the regular trips that the members of the faculty take in the spring of the year to the commend the graduates for entrance to the university without examination.

Prof. Adams reported that the schools

Inspection Held Last Thursday

Last Thursday the annual inspection of the Cadet Battalion was held on the Mackay field. The inspecting officer was Captain Simmons of the general staff of the U. S. A. The companies formed at 9 o'clock and after an inspection of the respective captains of the companies proceeded to the field.

The ceremony of review and inspection was the first one gone through with. With the inspecting officer and the commandant in the review, and inspection were President J. E.
Stubbs, Governor T. L. Oddie, Regents
Codd and Williams.

The ceremony was executed to the satisfaction of the army officer. He said that there was no need of having the cadets go through the others. The band was then taken off the field and the drill by battalion was in order.

The drill that was seen on the field
that day is a credit to the college.
It is the best that has been done for a long time. It a sight well worth seeing. After a turn at battalion drill the individual companies were given a chance to show all that they knew, and how well they were drilled. Each one strived to out do the other and win the flag for next year. Each company made some minor mistakes.

Following the competitive drill the cadets were treated to some extended order on the hills back of the university grounds. They had a good chance here to show the inspecting officer how well they knew their tactics. It was well past the noon hour when the companies were dismissed.

When the commandant reached the gym after the companies had been dismissed he was greeted by a skyrocket from the cadets.

President Stubbs and Major Bruce were cheered heartily. The commandant announced the competitive drill had been called a draw. The judge were not able to decide which was the better drilled of the two companies. The flag company next year will be the one having the first captain, in rank.

Lieutenant McClure was very well pleased with the showing the battalion made that day.

Life Is Dull in the Far West

John Thatcher was finishing his dinner and coming to the end of his argument at the same time, "Life is dull," he summed up.

"Life is one big adventure," said
quaint little Frenell opposite him,
and I can prove it."

Big Thatcher elegantly flipped the ash from the end of his cigar and shrugged his shoulders as if to dismiss the argument.

"Life is dull, and there is no use arguing, Frenell. Here I am equipped with every trait that goes to make up an adventure and I have attained the age of thirty-five without even one big excitement. I don't see why you are so highly pleased with yourself—you are older than I, and your life is a whole lot duller."

Frenell became exasperated. "My life is not dull; on the contrary, it rivals any of the Arabian Nights or O. Henry's best heroes in its infinite variety; but I don't tell what happens to me. For instance, that blackened area about my left eye and that piece of plaster on the knuckle of my right hand—do you know how I got them? No, you don't!"

"Probably you ran into the door
when you went home last night," Thatcher suggested sneeringly.

"As a matter of fact, I didn't go home last night, and I wasn't drunk, either, as your manner would imply.
No, I met with a marvelous, incredible adventure. I will tell it to you, and, if you find it amusing enough, you will admit that your argument is all wrong. Huh—kill you?"

"Of course," yawned Thatcher, but fire away, and mind, if you disap-point me I will eat you alive. I am tired of tales of ordinary brawls and slumming trips to the Barbary Coast."

Frenell swallowed his wrath and

Seniors Begin at Receptions

The Senior girls were the fortunate guests at a charming supper given Friday evening by Miss Bardenwerper and Miss De Laguna.

The pretty home of these popular instructors was a beautifully decorated place with flowers, lilacs, sweet peas and lilies, making the reception hall and parlor a bower of sweetness.
Roses formed the table decoration—
in idea carried out by the clever place cards, which were done in black and gold, the class colors, with a different rose quotation on each. Every girl was given a cluster of rose buds.

The menu consisted of many of those good things that only Miss Bardenwerper can prepare, and the girls did ample justice to the delicacies. It was the first time this year that all the girls had been together in a social way and the lively chatter, exchanging of experiences since "Freshie" days; vacation plans and plans for the coming year, made the supper a very merry one.

After supper Miss de Laguna brought out her extensive collection of pictures picked up on her European travels, and the girls fully appreciated the treat.

The party broke up about 8 o'clock and all went home, pronouncing Miss Bardenwerper, Miss De Laguna and Miss Weir, who assisted them, royal entertainers.

BOYS' ATHLETICS

Athletics is the standard by which a school can be judged without further injury as to its standing. The school that stands high in athletics is sure to stand high in scholarship and attendance. Our school is one of which we are justly proud because of its clean and triumphant record in athletic lines.

Though defeats are recorded against us do not conceive the opinion that the "prep spirit" was ever beaten as it is, like that of our college, ever burning. It was here when we came and will go on through life with us, a lesson that can never be forgotten.

The history of prep athletics goes far back in years, but only the late will be here set forth. The season of 1910-11 found the preps at work on a football team, but they labored at a disadvantage as the best men went over to the college. The practice was short and not as strict as it should have been. The result was a game played before preparations were complete and a defeat, but not a bad one, as the victors, R. H. S. showed the marks of their victory. The score was 13-0 in their favor. This game ended the season, as it was late and basketball demanded attention.

"The boys' basketball team was a winner from the start. They met and defeated team after team, and were never once in danger of getting the short end of the score. The first game was played with Sparks High, the score being 37 to 4 in the preps' favor.

Next to taste defeat was Elko, at 44 to 12; Susanville at 7 to 6 on a muddy field, and again Susanville at 76 to 12. Then Elko took their second bitter pill, of dimensions 14-49, while the U. of N. faculty made a very creditable showing when they scored 22 to the preps' 33.

The final game with Reno High was then played. A silver cup and the state championship was the stake. The preps won easily at 42 to 29. This team has the name of being the best ever organized in the state. Their score for the season showed a total of 288 points against their adversaries' 99. Practically all of their success was due to the excellent coaching of Prof. S. E. Ross.

When track began we realized that the men who were able to win the meet for us had been disqualified by previously taking part in college athletics. Work was started on the new material with good results, practically all of our entrees taking points in the academic meet.

The 1911-12 season again found the preps with a yearning for football and again saw the best players line up with the college team. The old habit of playing a game before preparing for it asserted itself and the preps lined up against the better disciplined R. H. S. team with lots of zeal but no knowledge of the game. The Reno High boys managed to get off with 8 points and many bruises, while the preps hung onto 3 points and fewer bruises. This game closed the season and the preps took up basketball.

When the preps reported for basketball practice not one member of the previous year's champion team was to be seen, so it was a question of drilling the game into the new men.

This was done only after untiring efforts on the part of Coach Ross. The team met their first adversary in the Elko High team but failed to annex the top score. In a return game Elko again won by the close score of 23-22.

The game was the most interesting ever witnessed in the gymnasium and the outcome was in doubt until the final whistle. Later, games were played with the Mercuries, Goldfield and Tonopah. Many more games were at hand but had to be passed by as the team was stale and furthermore the men were taking up track work. Track, this year, has a very promising outlook with all the men working hard and conscientiously. The new material promises well, while the old is all dependable.

Good time has been made in the sprints and distances, while the hurdles and high jump are indisputably prep events. The field events also promise to add much to our score. With more hard and earnest practice the prep aggregation will make a strong bid for first place in the coming academic meet.

The prep basketball season of 1911-12 was not as successful as last year's season. The material was all new with the exception of two players, so that working the new team up was rather difficult.

The squad began practice in November, but very little was accomplished before the holidays. Then the girls doubled their efforts and practiced hard and faithfully.

In the state tournament the preps played against Elko, and lost with a score of 6 to 8.

The following week out team went to Elko, for the only game played off our own court. They had improved their play through the games of the tournament, and their fighting spirit had been aroused by their defeat. But the Elko court was so different from ours and the baskets so difficult to throw, that in spite of a hard fight we lost again, the score being 5 to 10.

The following were awarded the 7-inch block P for basket ball: Alice Young, Captain Isabelle Rising, Marjorie Clark, Genevieve McCormack, Grace McVicar and Doris Taylor.

cents to take on home and to call up past remembrances. The entire staff is at work now preparing to get out at least an eight-page paper. There will be an engineering department to include all the pictures of the new mechanical building and to show to the many visitors what there is in the way of an engineering course at the U. of N.

The Agricultural department is preparing to make up at least four pages and at the same time to show to the skeptical readers that farming is not quite so bad as it might be. There will be several cuts showing that the Aggies are not the most worthless lads in the college and that they can at least make a good showing in a picture.

Although there are not as many students in the Agricultural department as there are some other departments there is surely as many that are as live as in any other department, and they can boast a larger increase than any other department for the past two years.

FRIVOLOUS

Miss R. (a Freshman in English)—I can't see how a farmer can ever become a citizen for he lives in the state. I should think he could only become a statesman. He would have to live in the city to become a citizen. (Then some say women know how to vote).

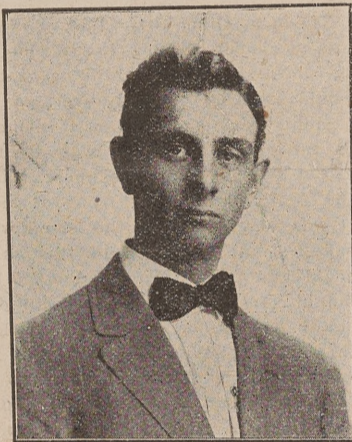

SENIOR PARTY

Pre-eminent among the pleasant social affairs of this semester was the Senior party given by Miss Erma Keith at her home last Friday evening.

The house was decorated beautifully with flowers and college pennants.

The evening was spent most pleasantly in playing unique games intermingled here and there with music.

A most dainty little dinner was served around a bright table where the color scheme was carried out perfectly. The cakes, candies, and ices all being in the class colors, black and gold.

Those who had the pleasure of Miss Keith's charming hospitality were, Miss Grace Harris, Miss Neva Hawcroft, Miss Loyd, Mr. Alvin Fuss, Mr. Walter Jepson, Mr. Keith, Mr. Horatio Sandlin, Mr. Roy Varney, Mr. Claude Wheeler.

HER COMMANDMENTS

1. Thou shalt have no other girl but me.
2. Thou shalt not have the pictures of other girls in your room, nor shall thou worship other girls, for I, thy girl, am a jealous girl and will suffer no foolishness from you.
3. Thou shalt not take my name in jest.
4. Remember that, thou keep my day, the Sabbath. Six days thou labor but on the seventh shalt thou come to my house.
5. Honor my father and my mother, for I will brook no "mother-in-law" talk.
6. Thou shalt not murder; in other words thou shalt not be a lady-killer.
7. Thou shalt not flirt with other girls.
8. Thou shalt not steal (kisses) from other girls.
9. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy rival.
10. Thou shalt not covet another man's girl.

Prof. Pacey (referring to "diet" the representative assembly of the Old German Empire)—What is the German diet?

Morrow—Sauer kraut and beans. Dora says when it comes to candy give me kisses every time.

Doris—Claud, are you going to the Freshman Glee?

Claud—Yes, but I have a girl.

A TRUE STORY

The morning broke with a thick mist overshadowing everything. The already deep snow had an addition of four feet.

After breakfast I went to the barn and harnessed the horse so as to get an early start for school. Just as I was ready to leave the barn, I heard a sound like a great wind. When I stepped outside, I found that a snow slide had come straight down the canyon.

It was an unusually large one. Right opposite the house was a fir tree three feet in diameter which the snow slide had taken up by the roots.

My father went up to the mine to assure himself that none of the men had been caught on their way to work. He found them all right, and told them to quit work for the day, and then went back to the bunk house.

A small group of us discussed the slide for a time, and then I went into the house. In a few minutes, Ed. Donovan followed me, and had just stepped into the kitchen when a slide broke into the room and knocked him under the table.

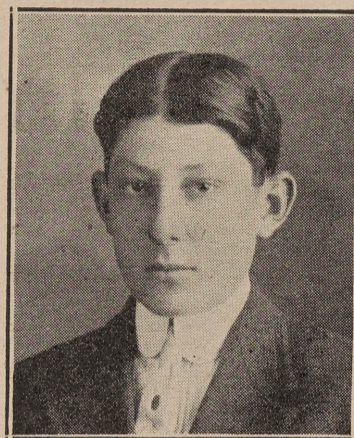

Bob Donovan and I were standing in the dining room when the slide struck. Bob went into the kitchen and dug his father out, while I went outside where I found that the slide had taken away the bunk house and barn. I saw the arms of a person sticking out of the snow, and uncovered his face so he could breathe. Then I went to the barn and tried to pull my father out, but did not succeed until Bob came and helped me. There was still one man to rescue, but we could do nothing for him until I went up to the mine and got some tools.

After we had all the men safe we rescued the horses. One of the four was so badly injured that I had to shoot him. One wagon was left in

A TRIP TO THE MOON

One rainy afternoon, as I sat by the window watching the rain spatter on the pane, I became so sleepy that I threw myself on the couch and fell asleep. It seemed that I had hardly got comfortable when an aeroplane came sailing along and lighted right outside the window. A dwarf stepped out and knocked at the door. When I admitted him he asked me if I would like to take a trip to the moon. Of course, I was only too glad to go. We got into the aeroplane and sailed clear up and up until we were up in the clouds. Still we did not stop, but passed several planets on the full speed. At last the dwarf topped the machine and we got out. As I looked around at my surroundings the dwarf and the machine had disappeared. I did not know what to do at first but soon I started on a tour of inspection.

I had not gone far before I came to Near the fountain was a cave. As I was curious, I entered it and examined the sides of it. They were rock candy. I filled my pockets with this and moved on.

As I was walking on slowly a table rose in front of me and on it was a fine dinner. Not thinking of what I had already eaten I sat down and cleared up all that was on the table.

I again moved on and in a few minutes I found myself on the edge of a precipice of chocolate candy. As I looked the candy melted under my feet and I fell down a great distance into what seemed a mud hole. I hit with a great splash but the stuff that oozed into my mouth was not mud, it was sweet. After I had cleared my eyes of it I saw it was a large pudding. It was so sticky that I could hardly move. I had just decided to eat my way out of it when I was awakened by the dinner bell.
