Engineers Club Reorganizes

A meeting of the Engineers' Club was held last Wednesday evening in the Mining Building and the attendance at this meeting was unusually large. The meeting was held for the purpose of electing officers for the present year. Professor Young, of the Mining Department, acted as chairman and after calling the meeting to order, stated briefly the purpose of the meeting, and told of the founding of the society and the idea of the founder in organizing it.

The Engineers' Club was first organized in this institution with the idea of bringing the members of the various engineering schools into closer touch with each other and to become better acquainted with the different branches of the engineering profession. Matters of common interest to all engineers were studied and discussed at the meetings, and in so far as possible men of note in their several professions were invited to address the club. The club began with rather an elaborate organization but this was changed from year to year and finally assumed its present form. The officers are a president and secretary-treasurer. The affairs of the club are carried on by an executive committee, consisting of the two officers and a third member. This third member is chosen by the president and it has been customary to invite one of the members of the faculty to act in this capacity.

The membership of the club consists primarily of the students and faculty of the engineering colleges, but any other persons who are interested are cordially invited to attend the meetings and to take part in the discussions.

After telling of the history and objects of the society, and offering a few suggestions, Prof. Young called for nominations for officers, and after close ballot, M. D. Anderson was elected president and T. P. Walker as secretary-treasurer. The meeting was then turned over to the newly-elected president, and he invited Prof. Scrumham of the Electrical and Mechanical Department to act as the third member of the Executive Committee.

After some discussion, it was decided to hold the regular meeting of the club on the first Wednesday evening of each month, unless notice to the contrary is given, and any extra meetings will be held at the call of the president.

It will be the object of the Executive Committee this year to obtain as speakers prominent men who are authorities in their particular profession. Already steps have been taken to secure addresses by several well-known engineers and it is expected that the meetings of the Engineering Club will be of great interest and benefit to all who attend.

COOK ARRESTED

The dining hall cook and one of his helpers in the kitchen have been arrested, charged with the robbery of Manzanita Hall, which occurred several weeks ago.

The Story of the Game

By a score of 5 to 3 Nevada University defeated the University of the Pacific yesterday afternoon on the Mackay field. The game was exciting from a spectator's standpoint, but with better team work it is believed Nevada could have put up a much better score. The opposition had strong men, but they excelled more in defense than offense.

The scoring was made in the first half. Pacific with a rush at the start carried the ball down the field and kicked it for a touch in goal, counting a try. They failed to convert, leaving the score 3-0. Nevada plucked up courage, and with good passing the ball was finally placed in Bringham's hands for a try. Charles converted. Score, 5-3.

The second half was even and no score was made by either side. Nevada was frequently penalized for picking the ball out of scrum, but on the exchange of kicks did not lose much. Nevada's chief trouble seemed to be in not following up the play fast enough. The forwards did most of the work, the backs being a trifle slow. Menardi in dribbling,

ENGINEERS' CLUB—NOTICE

The regular monthly meeting of the Engineers' Club will be postponed from Wednesday evening, October 4th, to some evening the following week. This postponement is due to the fact that Mr. H. P. Gillett, who will address the club at its next meeting, will not be able to be in Reno until after the 8th of October. The exact date of his address will be announced later.

M. D. ANDERSON,
President.

T. P. WALKER, Secretary.

BELLE ISLE TO HAVE SELECT DANCING PARTIES

Through the columns of the Sagebrush, Mr. M. F. Woods, lessee and manager of the skating rink and dancing pavilion at Belle Isle, wishes to announce to the students that he intends to give a series of select dances during the winter months, and extends a cordial invitation to all. The first dance for which invitations are now out, will take place Wednesday night, October 9. These dances are to be strictly invitation affairs, except to the University students, to whom Mr. Woods wishes to extend a joint invitation.

Bringham in running and Charles in spectacular hurdling were much in evidence.

The Control Of Stream Flow

Dr. Samuel Fortier, chief of irrigation investigations, United States department of agriculture, was on the campus on an official visit to the Nevada agent of irrigation investigations, F. L. Peterson, Wednesday and Friday. Dr. Fortier is on his way from British Columbia, where he had spent the last three months at the urgent request of the Dominion of Canada in straightening out their hydrographic survey and establishing a bureau of irrigation investigation. He stated that British Columbia is a wonderful country and is only in the commencement of its prosperity and development.

Dr. Fortier stated that irrigation by pumping is receiving a considerable amount of attention by the western irrigator, where the possibilities of storage and surface supply is deficient and that in order for Mr. Peterson to become familiar with the most advanced practices in pumping he has arranged to place him in the field in Southern California to study during the coming winter season.

In his trip of inspection to the evaporation experiments carried on at the experiment station he expressed himself as greatly pleased with the work. Dr. Fortier used to live in the West and expresses himself as a great admirer of Reno's climate, and says that in the University of Nevada and grounds, the citizens of the state have reason to be prouder than many states of much greater population.

A Summary Of N. A. C. At California Fair

In the California State Fair of 1912 recently held at Sacramento, the University of Nevada College of Agriculture had the distinction of having sixty-six of its animals win thirteen gold medals and eighty-three ribbons in competition with the best that the Pacific Coast affords. In the division of the ribbons, thirteen were championships—one out of every five animals shown; forty-one, or sixty-two per cent of the animals were firsts; sixteen seconds, and thirteen thirds, and in addition, enough cash prizes to more than pay the cost of making the show. In comparison with the 1912 winnings it is interesting to note that in 1910 the University of Nevada animals won eleven medals and forty-eight ribbons, and in 1911 twelve medals and seventy-five ribbons.

The classes shown were Holstein, Friesian and Jersey in the dairy breeds; Aberdeen, Angus and Herefords in the beef breeds; Cheviots, Southdowns, Shropshires, Hampshires, Dorset Horned and Rambouillet sheep; Berkshire and Poland China swine; Shorthorn, cross bred and pure bred Hereford fat steers.

The Holstein cow, Stafford Mercedes Aggie Tuebie, was perhaps the most popular animal on the grounds. Crowds of admiring people were around her stall all the time, commenting upon her ability to produce eighty-pounds, or ten gallons of milk per day. The day before the fair many friends and admirers among the calf and when he found his legs and his voice he proceeded to give the Nevada skyrocket yell and every other one in the list, and shared considerable of the attention given his mother. A Hollander who manages a large dairy in the San Joaquin offered Prof. True $300 for the calf, but it was not accepted.

The University of Nevada opened the shown Monday morning by winning a blue ribbon on the Holstein bill Tuebie Pieterje Colantha Lad. The good work was kept up throughout the show and the University's twenty-one months' old Holstein heifer, Tuebie Pieterje Carren Fidesa closed the show by winning the butter fat contest for cows under three years old, beating her nearest rival, another Holstein, 588 of a pound of fat, and the next rival, a Jersey, by 569 of a pound. This last winning netted the University $50 and a silver cup, offered by the Holstein Association of America.

The Aberdeen Angus cattle had many friends and admirers among the breeders and visitors. The yearling bull Glenmere Prince, weighing 1550 pounds, caused many to stop and take another look and ask questions. Glenmere was junior champion of the show. In the Herefords, the cow Pearl, presented to the University two years ago by Mr. J. H. Cazier of Wells, Nevada, was found the blue ribbon senior champion cow under three years. In the fat steers the Shorthorn Whitlaw I, was second in the pure bred classes and second in the free for all pure bred steers.

In the sheep classes, eight gold medals and thirty-one blue ribbons largely told the story. To enumerate each breed and their winning would take more space than we are allotted. In the Shropshire classes the University broke into the Bishop Bros.' winnings to a greater extent than had ever been done before by any other breeder. The Rambouillets obtained from the University of Illinois made their debut as the first registered sheep of their kind at the fair. Competition in the Southdowns and Dorsets was harder than last year.

The spell of hot weather experienced during the fair week took its toll in the swine sections. The University of Nevada's 600 pound two-year old Berkshire board Grand Master Lee's Son died a day before his class was judged and made a hole in the Nevada exhibit of Berks. Grand Master Lee, 875 pounds, twice grand champion of the breed met his defeat and was second in the aged class.

All the animals were returned last Tuesday and are at their quarters at the Fair Grounds, three blocks east of the University. Many people who did not know of their being have wended their way to the farm and visited them.

The Sophomores of the College of Agriculture taken to Sacramento to assist in the preparing and showing of the animals in the ring were: Dewar, Hylton, Evans, Menardi, Dudleyson, Sinal and Cazier. All report having learned considerable and that that the trip was immensely profitable to them.

The Scrub Rugby Game

The game Saturday morning between Reno High School and a bunch of college scrubs could hardly be called a rugby game, it was more in the nature of a disease. The college men were continually going to the side line to get some "condish," otherwise known as wind, and there was hardly ever more than eleven men playing at one time on the college side. When the game was finished no one knew the score, but somehow the opinion prevailed that we made the most impression with our style of rugby suits and therefore were entitled to win.

Although the High team is very light, they have a bunch of good fighters, and here's hoping that Coach Bringham's men are victorious against Alameda next Saturday.

CLASSES NOTICE
 On page 67, Section 11 of Scholarships, Gifts and Prizes, of the University of Nevada Register, appears the following:

A prize of twenty dollars is offered for 1912-13 by a member of the Alumni Association to the undergraduate class in the University which excels in the singing of college songs. The contest is to be held in the spring under the direction of a committee appointed by the classes; judges to be appointed from town citizens not connected with the University.

H. G. Snyder, superintendent of the West mine, the largest iron mine in the state, was a visitor at the Mining Building from Fallsade during the week. Mr. Snyder was very much pleased with the building and the equipment.

S. S. Arentz general superintendent of the Nevada-Douglas Copper Co., at Ludwig, has twice this year telegraphed to this institution for men. Both an ore sampler and a mine surveyor were needed, but we were only able to fill the latter position.

Dr. Samuel Fortier, chief of the irrigation investigation in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, was on the campus Thursday and Friday. Dr. Fortier is making his annual inspection tour of the co-operative stations and stopped here to look over the affairs of the local one.

NO PEP AT NORTHWESTERN
EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 24.—Football trainers at the Northwestern University are alarmed over the apparent lack of interest among the student body in the team and the consequent lack of material on the field. The greatest number of men that has appeared for practice at any one time thus far, is sixteen.

"Unless more men come out, we will have no second team for the regulars to line up against," said Coach Hammell last night, "and there will be no competition among the men for places on the team. There always has been difficulty in getting out a sufficient number of men, but this year conditions are the worst yet. The men who have reported are good, but they must have men to play against."

ATHLETICS

The team that is to represent the Reno High School Saturday is now getting into shape. The forward division will be the strong part of the team, as it is composed of a bunch "full of fight," and all will be in good condition by Saturday. The back field will not be as strong as the forwards, but a good game can be expected from them.

Saturday morning a team of Varsity men came out and gave the High School some practice. A great deal of good was gained by this, although the Varsity men rolled up a large score. It brought out the weak points of the team, and Coach Bringham will do his best to remedy the faults. The forwards worked fine, plenty of "heave and fight." Fogle, Glass and Layman did good work in the back field, but they are "booked" to do better Saturday.

Wednesday evening the Freshmen team is going to give the High School another practice game, which is fully appreciated.

The more work the High School has, the better the results will be Saturday.

Alameda has one of the strongest teams on the Pacific Coast, and it will be well worth the price of admission to see that team in action against the "fighting fifteen" of Reno High UNIVERSITY!

University, we ask your support at this game. We have undergone great expense to bring the Alameda team here, and we need your help. We support you at every game, and now all we ask is your hearty support at this one game.

If you are out late call at the Owl for lunch.

B. A. A. MEETING

On Monday, September 23, the second B. A. A. meeting was called to order by President Bryant. The main topic being the arranging of the Alameda game. The president appointed the following committee: Laden, Littlejohn, Glass, Laveaga, Hood and Bryant, who will attend to the reception and entertainment of the Alameda team.

The association decided on having a dance Saturday evening at the McKinley Park school in honor of the Alameda team. The admission is to be fifty cents, and no "stags will be admitted. Those who attend can be assured of a god time before the evening ends.

The reception committee met and decided to take the Alameda team around the city and vicinity until 12 o'clock, when they will be taken to the homes of the Reno High students.

The Reno High school is going to give the visiting team the best time possible, as they certainly did the same to us last year.

RAMBLER MEETING

Saturday evening, September 28, the Rambler Club met at the Y. M. C. A. building. The club has now seventeen active members and the meeting was most successfully carried on. The club is composed of High School and University students, and a most successful year is looked for. The following members were elected to the offices of the club: President, John Lemberger; vice-president, R. Laveaga; secretary, D. Bryant; treasurer, W. Melarky; business manager, R. Cafferetta. Dean Bryant was also elected captain of the basketball team.

HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

At last the High School has entered into something besides athletics and social events, for now a High School orchestra is being started, under the direction of Mr. Pierce, one of the teachers. The members are faithfully practicing and will soon be able to render many selections. Among the members are Mr. Billingham, Henry, Johnson, Delos, Scott, Miss Wagner, Miss Hartung, Brown and many others.

This is the first time that anything of this sort has been started, and all the school will readily boost it.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

Again the High School will have their literary programs. A most successful year is looked for, as there is a great deal of talent at present in the school. The students of the three upper classes are divided into two sections, giving programs alternately.

This year there is to be a contested program at the end of the school term.

The best talent in one society will meet the best of the other. A prize is to be awarded to the society doing the best work. A set of judges will be chosen, who will decide the winning side.

THE TEAM LEAVES FOR CALIFORNIA THURSDAY EVENING

The Nevada football team leaves for Berkeley next Thursday evening. There is lots we would like to say to encourage the boys in that game, but we can't, so we are going to keep still. You know, fellows, just like you did last Saturday, that every o. of us is behind you.

READ CUB ON DITCHING

Dear Hank:

Well, the U. of P. is at it again. U. of P. doesn't stand for the San Jose contingent for they are high and dry on the lonely isle. There's great slumbers tonight in the shade of our weeping willow tree. U. of P. stands for Universe of Pep, and it was this last U. of P. that the U. of N. tried to down last Friday night. There was something the matter with that rally. Every one of the speakers remarked it, and not to himself, either, but to the assembled multitude as Ed Lunsford said. There was something wrong, Hank, and if it were in me to put my index digit on the sore spot, bleemy kid, it would be there row. That finger is groping, though, and it's you who is going to know the manner of its wanderings.

Let's go back to the week before. In my humble opinion, there is where something was wrong. There were the makings of a rally that night. There was enthusiasm all over—in and out. Every college man was an aboriginee. He was one of a gang, and you know what a gang can do. The town was astounded—never before had it seen such a zealous yell leader—never before had the band played so well—never before had the crazy collegians made so much amusement. They were astounded, I say, and more—they were interested.

When a freshman dropped the match that was to cap the climax of a brilliant evening, there was a crowd on the Plaza that could whip the Japs, and the Varsity team together. But they were there to be shown, they had heard all the noise they wanted to, not a single one of them cared for for any more foolishness, much less did any one relish the sight of a fifteen donkey being beat around the fire. That's all they got, though! Not a word from a down-town person, no whoop-er-up speech like we always have. It was only with difficulty that Mackay got up and made a bare announcement. There was one vital fault.

The other fault was right up here in our own little family. We had a roll call just before the donkey was started off—and a roll call is the only proper system when numbers are as we have them—but wat's good in a roll call if it holds no moral.

The purpose of such a roll call should be to find good meat for our half-starved minnows. Fat chance the minnows had at this roll call. Why, I know a fellow who was queening, and wouldn't even think of it—three fellows worked the study gag—and it was a Friday night, too. In all there were nearly ten men who had no tenable excuse, and they were all upper classmen, too. Those fellows should have had enough guts to go in the ditch anyhow, to be an example to those who are easily impressed, and to show that their intentions were of the best.

We have it all now, Hank. The townspeople refused to be buncoed, at this last rally and the underclassmen wanted to be shown. We'll show them. The majority of the school is against the welcher and the piker. He's the man we're after now. We've got a fast yell leader. He's a leader with a bean, and an ear for suggestions. We're back of him every minute and the biggest part of "we" is the underclassman. The next rally will find out why the townspeople didn't show, and why Varsity men held back. The next one will be a big one, and a sad one for some. Study is all right, but rallies are everything. Scholarships will buy about as much on a rally night as the dining hall stoop could. Am I right? or am I a human crab?

Anyway you like it, Hank. Good night. CUB.

Sol Levy Boosts The Schools

Friday night was the occasion of another big, rousing football rally. This time it was a boost for the Nevada-U. of P. game, and it succeeded. The procession, which consisted of the big truck belonging to the Reno Brewing Company, with the band, and a private touring car loaded with the speakers of the evening, which started from the hill at about 7:30. In this manner the boosters paraded through the principal streets of the city. Often the machines would stop upon the street corners for a short band concert, and Senator Boggs would rid himself of one of those little speeches for which he is justly famous, and which have caused him many a night of anxious worry and sweating toil to prepare. The procession finally came to a stop on the Plaza and here, after the rendering of several lively pieces by the band, the speaking began.

Captain Mackay, chairman of the evening, was the first to occupy the platform. He gave a short speech in which he told the object of the meeting, and then amid the cheers of his audience, he introduced the "friend of the students," Sol Levy.

Mr. Levy's speech was a good one. He told the townspeople of the value of the University to the people and to the city of Reno. He told them how and why the University needed their support and deserved it. He ended with an enthusiastic appeal for Nevada athletics and resumed his seat in a hurricane of applause.

Mr. Levy was followed by Rev. Brewster Adams, another enthusiastic Nevada booster. Mr. Adams' address was on the value of noise—and noise he got when he resumed his seat. Then Attorney Huskey, and finally City Attorney Lunsford addressed the gathering. In rousing language each urged upon the people the need of their attendance, the debt Reno owes to the University, and the benefits of athletics.

Served as District Attorney of Eureka county, 1889-1890; two terms as Congressman from the State of Nevada, 1907 to 1911.

At the end of the program, the rally broke up with some more music from the band and some huskey Nevadas from Senator Boggs and his following.

Nevada Historical Society Building

Bids are now being taken and the contract will be let October 15 for the new building of the Nevada Historical society, for which the state has made an appropriation and which is to be constructed on Center street two doors from the University, where the bungalow containing the majority of the society's collections now stands.

It is expected that the building will be completed by the first of the year. Out of the appropriation of $5000 for the dual purpose of constructing the building and maintaining the society, there remains about one-half that sum for the building.

The structure is to be 30 by 60 in size, so arranged that eventually an upper deck can be constructed in the form of a balcony. There will be a basement with a heating plant. The interior will be open to the ceiling, the heavy beams upholding it being exposed.

The building has a beautiful location. It faces west and is sheltered by shade trees and shrubs. It is to be well lighted with two tiers of windows on each side and four skylights in the roof. The front will be of the mission style of architecture.

Those active in supervising the details of the work thus far are the following members of the executive council: Miss J. E. Wier, secretary; Dr. H. E. Reid, regent of the University; Dr. A. E. Herschiser; Senator A. W. Holmes. It is expected that a committee will be appointed to actually supervise the construction.

There is already a considerable collection of relics to go into the building. There are a few relics from California and the coast, but most of them are from Nevada. Such relics will be on exhibition as the pipe Mark Twain smoked; the gun he used to carry in the early days of Nevada; the picture of Nat Goodwin that sold for 50 cents; clippings of all newspaper articles during the Jeffries-Johnson fight; in fact, clippings of articles concerning all important events touching upon the developments of Reno and the state; a copy of the newspaper telling of the admission of Nevada to the Union, and at the same time telling of Lincoln's death; copies of many newspapers and periodicals of note; all manner of basketware and pottery made by Indians; and relics of ancient tribes of Indians long since forgotten.—Gazette.

THE CONTROL

There can no longer be any question of the direct influence of forests in delaying the melting of the snow and thus in retarding stream flow at the very time when the floods normally occur. It is also equally true that forests, if too dense, fail to attain their maximum efficiency as conservers of snow. On the other hand, the planting of timber screens at strategic points on exposed slopes will greatly increase their capacity to store more snow.

There are two types of reservoirs—the snow reservoir, formed by mountain cliff or forest to hold the snow in its original form, and the water reservoir below to impound the flood waters of the streams. The development of the former is the immediate and feasible task of the forester; the construction of the latter is the work of the engineer. The first type alone should normally control the mountain streams of moderate length, such as those intimately associated with the Appalachian and Western ranges. But types, if used to supplement each other, should insure the maximum control of all streams.

The above is the conclusion of an article which appears in the Scientific American Supplement for September, 7, 1912. The article is entitled: "The Conservation of Snow," and treats of the dependence of snow conservation upon forests and mountains. It is well illustrated by many photographs of the Mount Rose country. The article is the result of the labor of Dr. J. E. Church, of the Department of Meteorology of this institution.

THE LAY OF THE HEN

We have read of Maud on a summer's day,

Who raked, barefooted, the newmown hay,

We have read of the maid in the early morn

Who milked the cow of the crumpled horn;

And we have read the lays the poets sing

Of the rustling corn and the flowers of spring;

But of all the lays of either tongue or pen,

There's nothing like the lay of the farmer's hen.

SOMETHING NEW IN CAUSE AND EFFECT

President Hadley of Yale was telling that it is a better thing to have written examinations of students instead of the oral ones, which were the rule some years ago. He illustrated it thus:

A professor was examining a student who had the reputation of being more quick-witted than studious.

"You have attended the moral philosophy class, have you not?" asked the professor.

"Yes, sir."

"You probably heard lectures on various subjects. Did you ever hear one on cause and effect?"

"Yes, sir."

"Does an effect ever go before a cause?"

"Yes, sir."

"Give me an instance."

"A man wheeling a wheelbarrow."

That was the end of that examination.—Popular Magazine.
