Theta Jinks; Men Invited

Sorority Departs From a Time Honored Custom

The invitations for the Theta Jinks are out and contrary to Jinks traditions of former years the boys are invited too. It is going to be a grand masquerade the girls say, where goblins will be frolicking in every dark corner and witches playing entrancing music on their broomsticks to the dancers. Everyone must come in costume, in masks and alone, so that when they receive their fortunes from out a fiery cauldron, fate only will guide them to their affinities.

Seniors are licensed to act like Freshmen and Freshmen to follow their natural inclinations, since it will be Halloween and a masquerade, and only the blackest of sorcerers will know the persons hiding behind their masks.

It will be the first large college party of the year and the Thetas hope to make it a great success.

It is requested that everyone present their invitations at the door.

Democratic Club At University

Students Are Becoming Interested in Live Issues

With the organization of a students', or better yet, a College Man's Wilson Club, the students of the U. of N. are becoming what is often spoken of as alive to the issue. The men who are starting the club have absolutely no ax to grind and they are very much interested in the outcome of the November election.

It is highly probable that on the next return of Senator Newlands of this State, that the organizer, Mr. MacDonald, will attempt to have the well-known Senator speak to the college men and explain to them the cause and effect of Democracy as it now stands. The club is scheduled to hold meetings weekly and the members are already beginning to have an active interest in the cause.

The first regular meeting will be announced on the Morrill bulletin board in the next two or three days.

If you are out late call at the Owl for lunch.

SETTLEMAYER INJURED

Bill Settlemyer received a painful injury in the St. Mary's game Saturday afternoon. In a mix-up in which Bill was the possessor of the ball, two men fell across his right leg, wrenching it so severely that the plucky middle hooker was forced to leave the game. Since then, the injured member has been bound with splints so as to hold it in position. The "Fighting Dutchman" expects to get back into the game before the season is over.

NEVADA DEFEATS ST. MARY'S HEAVIEST VICTORY OF SEASON

23-3 measures the game fairly well as it has been known at the University of Nevada.

The first half opened with the visitors kicking, and Nevada defending the north goal line with a brisk wind at her back. The visitors kicked deep into the Nevada backfield and Sheehy returned to long touch in dangerous ground of the visitors. In a few minutes the ball was heeled to the St. Mary's and fumbled and Curtin, the fast back of the Royal Blue team went over for the first try, which Bringham easily converted. The visitors came back fighting and took the ball into Nevada's territory for a few short minutes and the only time during the half that the Nevada goal was in danger.

A dribbling rush instigated by Harriman and Mackey, the captain of the team, again relieved the strain and the ball went back to neutral territory. Where scrum started a little back-field playing and the ball again went down toward the visitors' goal. lower the standard of the open game

The single score made by St. Mary's was run out by Roth, the speedy wing who took a fumbled ball from one of his mates and ran an easy 25 yards to place it over the line near the touch, where goal kicking was almost impossible. The visitors as a rule played hard ball and are to be commended on the way they kept after the leather, but in the same breath they deserve a fair amount of criticism for their holding and foul tactics that they brought into play in the second half. In fact, there were two men put out of the game for foul play during the second half. These things mar the pleasure for the players and tend to

MAN FROM ELKO COUNTY ROBS MANZANITA HALL OF TREASURE

Yes, Martha Noble is married. It was the prettiest little piece of head-work or team work that has been pulled off here for some time, too; the St. Mary's game notwithstanding. Martha did it without anyone in all Manzanita knowing about it, and that is going some.

This is how it happened. Martha has an aunt in Sparks, whom she often goes to visit. Well, Friday night Martha was supposed to have gone on one of those little visits to the S. P. city, but she didn't really go. (We will pardon the little fib, now that it is all over.) Instead of going to Sparks, the young lady left Friday evening for San Francisco, and, on Saturday night in that city she was married to Mr. Forest Castle. The happy couple arrived in Reno Monday morning and straightway made for Manzanita—but they kept their secret well, but to a very few was the confidence extended. But we must return to Martha and tell some more about the way in which her friends were fooled. School work did not lag for a moment. In all of the excitement, Martha kept all of her lessons right up to the usual high standard. There was an "ex" in Psychology Friday morning, and for it Martha "boned" most conscientiously, and went to class and took it. And just think, she knew she was going to be married Saturday night. Girls, can you beat that?

Now, we are going to say a little about the lucky groom, and then we will say some more about Martha. Mr. Forest Castle is one of Elko county's prominent young men. He is in the United States Forest Service, as supervisor of the government reserve in that district. His headquarters are at Lamolle. Those who do not know him can judge him from this little fact, i.e., that many boxes of fine apples and other good things to eat have found their way to a certain second deck room in Manzanita since this semester began.

Martha Noble was a member of this year's Junior class. Her life here at college has been one long line of successes. In classes, she has always won the respect of her professors; the list of honor students bears her name. In athletics, Martha's record is a most enviable one. She is twice a winner of the N in girl's basketball, and last term—her Sophomore year—she was captain of the team. As a member of the Class of '14, she was one of those always to be relied upon when there was something to be done. Martha is the possessor of the friendship of every one of her classmates, and through these columns the Juniors

Profitable Trip To Great Camps

The Junior and Senior students of the Mackay School of Mines returned Monday evening from their trip to the Comstock and vicinity. This trip is part of the required work in the mining course and is taken annually. The trip this year was, on the whole, one of the best excursions of the kind the students of the mining department have ever taken together. The following are the students who availed themselves of the opportunity: Reynolds, Boyes Thompson, Grayson, Delahyde, Bradner, Rowland, Hoskings, Smithers and Stebbings. The excursion was made under the personal supervision of Prof. George J. Young.

The following is an outline of the trip by days:

Thursday, October 10th—The class left Reno on the V. & T. train at 8:30 in the morning. Getting off at Mound House, the rest of the day was occupied in the inspection of the work being done at the Gypsum plant. A great deal of practical knowledge was gained from an inspection of the plant, aerial tram and quarry. The class took the evening train from Mound House and arrived in Virginia City at 6:30.

Friday—The morning was occupied by a trip through the Ophir, Mexican and Sierra Nevada workings. The class spent half a day looking through the underground workings of these mines. In the afternoon the work being done upon the Chollar Croppings was examined.

Saturday—Saturday was occupied in the greater part by the examination of mills. The new Mexican mill, the Union shaft, the Butters plant and the Mohte Christo mine were all visited.

Sunday—The brand new Ophir mill, the latest one to be erected in Virginia City, was visited in the morning. The remainder of the day was taken up by a hike across the hills to Sutro. The return to Virginia was made through the tunnel and out through the C. & C. shaft.

Monday—The Yellow Jacket mill, in lower Gold Hill was visited and examined. On the return to Virginia City the class stopped for the purpose of making an examination of the work being done and the equipment of the Ward shaft.

By favors shown to the prospective mining engineers on this trip, the Mackay School of Mines is under great obligation to the mining men of Virginia City. Courtesies were extended by Superintendent T. F. Mc-

Carson High School Notes

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Lively interest is being taken in the preliminaries of the tennis tournament which has been going on the whole week. The games have all been boys' and girls' singles. At present Belle McMillan '13, has won the greatest number of sets among the girls, and Ralph Twaddle among the boys. The finals will be pulled off on Tuesday.

A fine big tennis champion pennant in the school colors of blue and white is the prize for the winning room.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The girls have had their first basketball practice. A large number were present, and from the looks of the material, we have great hopes for the team this year.

LITERARY SOCIETY

The High School is awaiting the next literary society program. The students of the Sophomore English class have promised us a scene from "The Merchant of Venice." From the regularity of the attendance at rehearsals we judge the performance will be a great success.

The two Junior and Senior German classes will provide the music. Several German songs will be rendered.

CLUB MEETING

The first meeting of the College Women's Outlook Club was held Tuesday afternoon, October 15th. All those present, both students and faculty, declare it was the liveliest and most enjoyable meeting ever held. It even surpassed those of last year. Miss Edwina O'Brien and Miss Edith Howe recited several selections. A paper was read by Miss Sophie Blum on the athletic and social life at Bryn-Mawr. After the program, refreshments were served. At the regular meetings during the year, the work and accomplishments of other women's colleges will be discussed. Hereafter all women students will not be able to attend. Each charter member will have the privilege of inviting two friends of regular college rank. This was decided by the members, because, as a rule, too many attend to be accommodated. The next regular meeting will be the second Tuesday in November.

Dr. and Mrs. Church Entertain Last Thursday evening Dr. and Mrs. Church were host and hostess at an informal dinner at their Reno home. Those who enjoyed their hospitality were Prof. and Mrs. George J. Young and Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Hill.

Do you remember the gala appearance of the dining hall while the Barbs were here. What's the matter with having it that way all the time? If each student would donate a pennant or picture how the walls would look; If each class should donate a pennant for each of the four years it is here, how rapidly the collection would accumulate.

Prof. Sanford C. Dinsmore and Miles E. Kennedy left Sunday evening for Wells. The object of the trip is to test a big platform livestock scale on the Sharp ranch, which is about fifty miles from Wells. As this is the time of the year when much livestock is being shipped both buyers and sellers are anxious to have the scales standardized.

School Orchestra Reorganized

Although not a great deal has been said this semester concerning the University Orchestra, that group of musicians has organized and is practicing faithfully. The rehearsals occur every Friday afternoon in Room 6. The orchestra is playing all of the popular airs and standard pieces and has even attempted, with a large degree of success, some of the more difficult music. It is now ready to appear in public at any time, so that the people on the campus are likely at an early date to be treated to some excellent music.

The following student of the University compose the orchestra this year: Robert Ostroff, leader, violin; Helen Higgins, violin; Eugene Williams, piano; Willie Penell and Ira Kent, cornets; Leonard Gilcrease, clarinet; Hinckley, flute; Geo. Coe, bass.

The members of the orchestra cordially invite any students who play any orchestral instruments to join the orchestra. Previous experience is not necessary.

J. G. Smith, who has been temporarily filling the position of chemist in the Co-Operative Laboratory in the Mining building, leaves for the East this week where he resumes his duties in the U. S. Bureau of Soils at Washington. His position will be filled by Mr. Cullen who will arrive in a few days.

Mrs. Ted Whited will leave this week for Los Angeles where she will spend the winter. Mrs. Whited was formerly Miss Vera Ross and was a member, prior to her leaving college, of the class of 1912.

L. W. Stebbings has taken up work in the Mackay School of Mines. Mr. Stebbings has been employed in McGill but since the strike in that camp, he has taken up mining work in the University.

A. L. St. Clair, formerly a Nevada football star and a Rhodes Scholarship man to Oxford from this University, is in Elko. While at Oxford St. Clair played Rugby on the Oxford team.

BORN—In Fallon, Nevada, to Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Gulling, a son, Mrs. Gulling was before her marriage, Miss Amy Thompson, a student prominent in college affairs at Nevada.

NEVADA DEFEATS ST. MARY'S COLLEGE

difficult angle and rebounded from one of the braces into the open field.

Score 8-0.
The visitors returned with vigor and fought every inch while Nevada's dribbling and close follow-up took the ball again into the visitors' territory. A lost ball from the Nevada scrum started the visitors backfield and Bringham intercepted the pass and scored from a forty yard run. He converted his own goal. Score 13-0.

The dribbling and return kicking by the Nevada lads put the ball over into the St. Mary's 25 and again the forwards started a clever play of dribbling to the very line, and then rucking out Curtain took a pass from Sheehy on the 5 yard line and scored beneath the goal posts about a minute before time. Bringham again converted. Score 18-0.

In the second half the visitors took a brace, with the wind at their backs, ad a bit of determination, and played much better than in the pervious period. The ball was held in Nevada territory a good part of the time, but lack of combination failed to effect a score on numerous occasions, while Nevada's defense grew stronger as the advances became more numerous. Mackay, Settlemyer, MacDonald and Harriman saved the Nevada team from a heavier score on the visitors' side by dribbling and effective tackling. Henningsen brought the bleacherites to their feet several times by starting a long dribbling rush from lineouts. In the louse, the two teams were work the Nevada team easily outplayed their visitors.

A scrum near the 25-yard line passed the ball to the halfback on St. Mary's who ran around the Nevada scrum and passed to Roth who scored the only try near the side lines.

Nevada returned the dropout and got well into the visitors' zone when MacPhail, the star of the 1910 team ran away from his opponents to score the last time for Nevada. Bringham converted this last try from a difficult angle against the wind. Score 23-3.

The remainder of the half was spent in St. Mary's territory, but the fast backs got touch with the wind and prevented the forwards from starting their dribbling that nearly always scored for Nevada. At the gun the ball was in dangerous territory for the visitors but they relieved the situation by getting a long boot to touch that stopped the game. Kennedy refereed; halves 35 and 30 minuset.

The two teams were the guests of the Block N society at a dance in the gymnasium Saturday evening. The line-up was as follows:

Nevada forwards—MacDonald, Settlemyer (Hamilton) Layman, Kniffen Mackay (Capt.), Percival (Patterson), Harriman, Henningsen (Grayson).

Nevada backs—Menardi, Sheehy, Bringham, Curtain, Webster, MacPhail, McCubbin.

St. Mary's forwards—Hatt, Cummings, Randall, Guisto, Tognezini, Greeley (capt.) Geystel, Magee.

Backs—Townsend, Reardon, Sauer, Wilson, Roth, Stolz, Oeschger.

Prof. Thompson Addresses Y.W.C.A.

Last Wednesday afternoon Professor Thompson addressed twenty-five girls at the Y. W. C. A. meeting. His subject, "The Trail You Leave Behind You," was skillfully presented, with several humorous illustrations and some very telling instances taken from history and literature where a trail either good or bad has beautified or marred the paths of life. Professor Thompson is one of the most popular speakers the students hear and is always welcome to the association meetings.

Y. W. C. A. NOTICE

The regular Wednesday meeting of the Y. W. C. A. will be led by college girls. The "Little Red Devil" is the subject of the meeting, and as it concerns every girl on the hill, a large attendance is expected.

Drop in at The Owl Cafe any time to eat.

Reno High School Dept.

ATHLETICS

On Monday night the second team of the University and the High School met, the result being a victory for the college men by a score of 12 to 0. The High School displayed great improvement, which is due to the faithful work of our coach.

The High School is gradually developing into a better team all the while, and by the time the team leaves for the coast, conditions will surely be changed, from those existing October 5th.

As to the game, the fellows were full of fight and consequently did good work. For the college men, Sheehy, Boggs, Hancock and Patterson did good work; for the H. S. Martin, Harriman, Chism and B.

Laveaga, were in the game all the time.

CLASS GAME

On Saturday morning the Sophomores, defeated the Freshmen-Seniors in the annual class game by the score of 16-0. It was the middle classmen's game all the while, as they have a great deal of material, while the other classes had a hard time to get fifteen men. The Freshmen-Senior team had the ball in the middle classmen's territory several times, but could not take the ball over. The score, as large as it was, was not large enough to suit the middle classmen, who would have liked to have had the large end of a 100-0 score.

This week the H. S. expects to clash again with the U. of N. second team, and also with the University Freshmen. It will greatly help the High School if we can get those games, as both teams are far better than ours, and it will be necessary for the team to work all the more.

HISTORY DEBATE

On Thursday afternoon in Mr. Board's American History Class, a debate was held on the question, "Was Parliament Justified in placing a tax on the American colonies?" "Carrie Besso and Charles Gooding, of the negative, won by a large margin over Mable Latisie and James Cussick of the affirmative. Mr. Board intends to have these debates regularly from now on.

MEETING CALLED

The following meetings are to be held this week: B. A. A., Junior, Freshmen and the Rambler meeting to be held on Saturday evening.

BOYS' CITY FORMED

At the present time the Boys' Department of the Y. M. C. A. is being changed into a Boys' City. The boys are divided into three wards, and it will be the policy of the members to follow as closely as they can, the plan of the Reno City government. Two members of the young men's class are running for mayor, and a hot campaign is on between the two. This is the first time that a boys' city has been attempted, and it is hoped that it will be a huge success.

SCHOOL NOTES

Mr. Lyons, Mr. Clark and Mr. Bruner are now holding a bowling tournament at the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Lyons is now in the lead, but is closely pressed by the other two.

Mr. Bruner, Mr. Ferguson and several others took a hike to Lake Tahoe by the way of Franktown and reported a pleasant trip.

FAMILY AFFAIR

Last Thursday evening a very swell little dinner was given in the Domestic Science Department. The table, just large enough for four, was appropriately decorated for the feast, which was served in strictly family style. Those present at this little dinner were: Misses Mina Smith and Alice Van Leer and Messieurs Gignoux and Harriman.

"Talking about Fatima and hunting reminds me of a funny incident on my last fishing trip.....

"Up in the mountains... miles from anywhere... fishing in fierce luck... out of Fatimas. Hadn't had a bite or a smoke for a couple of hours—

"A hunter crushed through the brush—he was smoking a cigarette.... I got a whiff of rare fragrance—no mistaking it—Fatima!....

"I turned my head and called to him, but he didn't hear me— And just at that moment I got a bite—a corker—and my line began to run out....

"I was up against it! I simply had to get that Fatima, and I didn't want to lose my first trout... The fellow was getting away and so was the fish.... I had to choose quick!....

"....Well, what do you think.... The Fatima, of course... I laid down my rod and ran after him.... He gave me half a package.... But the trout!

"He was a rainbow— I got a glimpse of him as he broke my line, and— I give you my word—he was this long....

"No, I wasn't sorry... There were other trout, I found, but no more Fatimas, old boy, for miles....

Y. W. C. A. Planning Things

The old saying that "there is no college spirit at U. of N." is no longer true. There is a great awakening of activity, from football to the Woman's Equal Franchise Society. One of the most striking proofs of this fact is the deep and growing interest taken in Y. W. C. A. The Association this year is larger and more active than it has ever been. All the members take a lively interest and enter into the work with enthusiasm. Since each girl is on one of the eight committees, she has her definite task to perform.

The membership committee was the first to get into action this semester. Every girl on the campus was personally invited to join the Association. A great many joined and many more are thinking seriously of doing so. When the membership campaign was over, the social committee came to the front, and invited all the members to a banquet. Between courses several excellent speeches were made, and when the party finally broke up, there was an atmosphere of good-will and fellowship which was good to feel.

After the membership and social committees had retired on their laurels, the meetings committee came into evidence. They began having interesting and inspiring meetings weekly, which thoroughly convinced the new girls of what the old girls already knew, that the Association is one of the leading organizations on the Hill, and that those who do not belong, miss a great deal. The other committees are all working, and accomplishing much, although they are not as primarily in the public eye as those mentioned.

The next big Y. W. C. A. event is the Pageant, to be given during the second week in November. This Pageant, which was written last year by the members of the National Training School, is to be given simultaneously by Associations all over the world. The Nevada girls are planning an elaborate production, the details of which will be given soon in the "Sagebrush."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES FROM TONOPAH

Our High School is better this year than it has been. We have four new teachers, making six in all. A course of stenography and book-keeping has been installed. Juniors are allowed to take French instead of German, if they choose, and Seniors have higher algebra and trigonometry. Few high schools offer students all the advantages that ours does.

The basketball courts are being cleared for both boys and girls and practice will soon start.

A number of houses have already been moved in order to make room for the new school. The school is to have eighteen rooms, including an up-to-date gymnasium. It is reported that classes will be held in the new school after the Christmas holidays.

The first issue of the school paper will be out next week.

The science classes have organized a club. They will begin work very soon, on a play that they expect to give some time before November 5. It is almost sure to be a success, and the money will go to buy slides for the stereopticon.

October 25 is parents' visiting day. There will be an exhibition of the best work of the pupils, both in the grades and high school. A large number of parents are expected to be present. Last year at the first parents' visiting day 75 were present. This year it is expected a great many more will attend.

The happy couple bade farewell to the group of friends who had gathered at the depot as No. 4 pulled out on Monday evening. In her arms, as the train sped away toward the cozy little home that awaits them in Lamoille, the bride carried a huge bouquet of white chrysanthemums—the Theta flower—the parting token of her friends.

Massey Against Nevada Commerce Court Vote

Probably no question in the present campaign has been productive of more argument than the vote of Senator Massey in regard to the Commerce Court. His stand in this particular against the interests of the people of the state of Nevada and with the reactionaries is so clearly defined and the record so straight that he has made no effort to deny it.

It appears that for ten years the people of this state have been making a fight against the back-haul charge levied by the railroads. These charges have placed an extra burden of expense upon every consumer in this state. A short and concise history of the proposition is not out of place at this time. It is as follows:

Through the medium and efforts of the railroad commission of Nevada, there has been effected a saving to the shippers and consumers of Nevada of at least $300,000 per annum by reduction in the class rates covering the movement of transcontinental freight from all eastern defined territories.

The above covers the movement of less than carload freight. Following this the commission made a strong case before the interstate commerce commission for a similar reduction in the carload rates, more properly known as commodity rates. After about three years' investigation and a full consideration of the merits, the interstate commerce commission, proceeding under the long and short haul clauses of the act to regulate commerce or what is known as the fourth section as amended July, 1910, made an order reducing the rates in substantially the same proportion as their former order reducing the class rates. Had this order become effective it would have had the effect of saving to the shippers and consumers of this state a sum approximating $500,000 per annum.

The railroads, however, refused to obey this order and through and by the intervention of the so-called commerce court secured an injunction by an ex-parte showing on questions of law and without any reference whatever to the merits of the questions involved.

The commerce court continued to show its contempt of the rights of shippers and consumers in a great number of cases which were taken before it on appeal by the railroad from the orders of the interstate commerce commission.

As shown by the annual report of the interstate commerce commission for the year ending June 1911, page 9, this court, out of the total of fifty-seven cases, rendered restraining orders for final decrees in favor of the railroads in all but seven cases, and of these seven, only three are of any material benefit to the people.

The Nevada railroad commission and the Reno Commercial Club, in behalf of the shippers and consumers of the state of Nevada, in a strong petition to our members in Congress urged the abolition of the commerce court and asked for legislation providing for direct appeal from the interstate commerce commission to the supreme court of the United States in order that the orders of the interstate commerce commission might be made final in reference to the question of fact, and be subject to review only upon questions of law by the highest tribunal in the land.

The commerce court was created at the instance of Mr. Taft and has since been vigorously defended and protected by him, even to the extent of vetoing the general approriation bill on two different occasions because it carried a provision for the abolition of the commerce court, in an attempt by Congress to pass the bill over the president's veto, the two-thirds vote necessary was not obtained because Senator Massey and other stand-patters refused to record their vote in favor of the abolition of the commerce court.

CUB PREACHES A SERMON

Campus, Oct. 22.

To you, Hank, and the dear ones around you, the greetings of the season.

For a long time now, Hank, I have been ailing with the fearful disease grenapleititis. Oh, I knew it was coming for a prophetic told me a long time ago. The manner of it was strange. In the company of a brother sufferer I was getting the delicious fruit from a convenient front yard. Our pockets filled and our mouths likewise, we started over the pickets, only to be halted by the sound of a softly modulated voice. "There goes two more bellyaches," it murmured, and then, save, for the rustle of the falling leaves, all was quiet. Verily, and of a truth, prophetic thou art a foreteller extraordinary.

For turning a man's thought to matters serious, green apples are supreme. So it has proved with me. For a week past now I have been thinking of conduct—student conduct. I have been sizing up the material here at Nevada, and from this material I'm going to draft a little sermon that may serve to fill up the space usually accorded our correspondence.

A college student should be first and foremost a live wire. He should be a distinctive interger in the affairs of his fellows—an absolutely necessary part. He must not suppose that the payment of a class assessment or an athletic fee represents his duty to his college; he cannot suppose this, for in doing so he makes himself an unimportant by-product in the faculty of college experience.

Our state appropriates money for professors, and equipment—tools with which a student may shape his life. The state can give no more—the professors can add nothing, for their commission is to teach. All evolves upon the student. Around the framework of professor and equipment he must build a social and a business world that shall satisfy his need of law, order and recreation.

In summer we say there is no school. The buildings are all here, all the equipment is as we last used it. Many of the professors come and go. Yet we say there is no school. We are right, for the student is the school.

Hank, I can't understand why some people with the brains and ability of an average man can go through school with no more interest in his surroundings than a snail inside his shell. There is business to be done in college; big business, and the smallest part of it is studying. We must have athletics, and we must have people to promote athletics; we must have rooters to boost our contests, and, we must have rallies to bring the crowds. We must have dances, and therefore, promoters of dances. We must have student law, and therefore, student lawmakers and interpreters. We must have societies. We must have a Glee Club, class organization and class spirit. With all these necessary adjuncts to student life, there are men to be found who know only queening, cigarettes and the "movies." Why any old fool can queen. The lowest crook in the world can drag on a snipe. A kindergartener can go daffy over motion pictures. It takes all the strength and brain a person has to be somebody in college.

"Is it worth while?" father asks. "I send my boy to school to learn. Why should he play football, why should he bother himself with rallies, and class activities? Those things can't teach him to run a mine." Look out, father, you're wrong. When you send a green kid just from high school to Nevada, do you want him back the same kind of a fellow, except for a smattering of book learning? If you do, you surely can't realize what a figure he cuts when we first get hold of him. Scared of everyone, from the President to the Sophomores, he takes a seat in some corner, and thinks of the folks at home. That boy doesn't need one-half as much mathematics as he does backbone. He doesn't need psychology, he needs the chance to find out that he has as much ability as the next man, and that he has a right to an opinion and a bigger right to assert it. Let him get into every activity he can, squeeze himself into; let him take all the "thank you" jobs he can get, it will do him good. In the big world, after college is past, he must know the elements of citizenship; he must have the knack of meeting men and holding his own with them. Learn them in college, and learn 'em right, I say.

Hank, if everyone in school stood firmly on his feet and shouted what he thought, we'd soon start a rumpus here that would be heard in Afghanistan. If only men would have sand enough to try to be somebody, we'd start a school that would be known.

Ha! Ha! I never thought I could do it, really I didn't. Here I've talked a deep line of dope for ten pages now, and I am as fresh as ever. Oh, I'm some philosopher, I am. Da, Da, Hank, CUB.
