Nevada Girls Suffer Defeat

Team Returning Says San Jose Trip Best Ever.—Score 36 to 21

The basketball game with San Jose is over, and the girls are home after a splendid trip. Although defeated, the team made a creditable showing, in spite of several contingencies which arose. In the first place, the lineup of the team was changed at the last moment, due to the fact that San Jose played with seven players instead of six, and furthermore, that our coach, Mr. Ross, was unable to accompany the team. The score at the end of the first half stood 15-2 in favor of San Jose. During the intermission, however, the lineup was changed and when the next half began Nevada's fighting spirit showed itself. Our girls played hard and fast, but San Jose's clever work in passing surpassed ours, and their forwards threw some clever goals, making the score at the finish 36-21 with San Jose well in the lead.

Urging their whole team on, about 330 Normal girls sang songs during the entire game which made our girls a trifle nervous at first.

Both teams were entertained at a delightful luncheon given by the Allenian Society of the State Normal. During the course solos were sung by two of the society's members, and afterwards the girls danced.

Different members of the Normal basketball team entertained our girls and in all of the girls' homes we were rovally treated. Miss Sameth chaperoned the following: Lena Hauss, Lillian Davey, Elda Orr, Francis Smith, Ethel Brown, Dorothy Bird, Betty Reilly, Lysle Rushby, Sylvia

Student Council Speaker Big Hit—Carson Trip—Mackay Day

There was another good, live student body meeting Friday morning. Things were started in the right manner by President Lewers, who gave a short, pithy speech concerning the Carson trip. President Lewers assured the members of A. S. U. N. that he believed that this trip to. Carson would do the University a great deal of good. The president had spent Thursday in the capital and while there had made some arrangements for the entertainment of the student visitors.

"Carson is cordial," said President Lewers, "and her people are looking forward to your visit with a great deal of pleasure. I believe that this trip will be of great benefit to all of you, and, though it incurs some expense, I urge that everyone make the effort to attend.

"Carson contains many features, both instructive and interesting. I spoke to Speaker Brandon, who is an old Nevada man, and he was very cordial in his invitation to have you visit the Assembly. In my visit to the Assembly I could not but be impressed by the businesslike manner in which the work was being carried on-a reflection of the ability of the presiding officer.

'At the Federal building I talked with Mr. Tremont, who is the register of the U.S. land office. Mr. Tremont said that the building would be thrown open to our students and that he would personally be glad to show you through it. On the second story of this building are located the U.S District Court room and the chambers of Judge Farrington, who is a friend of yours.

EX-CAPTAIN REAY MACKAY

Praise for the Nevada rugby team and its captain, Reay Mackay, is included with considerable criticism of American rugby football methods in ed to adhere to the strict rulings of the English rugby union. This was no doubt due to the personal influence of the captain, Reay Mackay, an Australian and a brother-in-law of Mr. R. L. (Snowy) Baker.

"He is a thorough sportsman, who desires his team to play Rugby union football in the style and spirit in which it is intended to be played. Prior to the main contest, America vs. Australia, we had a satisfactory understanding about the matter of substitutes, but in the other games the custom was most irregular.

"The diversified rulings of the referees completely puzzled our team. There was no uniformity about their decisions as far as the knockon, fair catch or advantage rules are concerned and the players never knew what to expect.

"Each coach has a staff of trainers, who rush on the field armed with bucket and sponge, and alleviate distress by inserting the sponge in the injured player's mouth and mopping him with water. This occurred in the early games, but owing to the waste of time we suggested that it be disapproved and the practice was less frequent toward the end of the tour. The amount expended by a team in cotton wool bandages and plaster exceeds the total annual expenses of the Metropolitan Rugby union.

How Time Was Wasted "Another method by which time was wasted was in place kicking for goal. A player would rake in the soil after the manner of a child building castles of sand on our beaches, and make a mound on which the ball was placed. Frequently as much as eight minutes were frittered away in this manner.

"The onlookers are very keen, and bestowed their applause with equity. In the intervarsity games they display great rivalry.

"Their methods of managing a crowd are not as up-to-date as in Sydney. After the Stanford-California game it took us 21/2 hours to acccmplish what should have been done in about 50 minutes. Of course, the football authorities are not to blame for this. The fault lies with the Southern Pacific railway company. "It would be advisable to take more players next time. As many would be required for an American as for an English trip."-Gazette.

The ladies of the Faculty Club met on last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. A. Codd. Thirtyeight members of the club attended the meeting and all pronounced it one of the best ever.

the report of Dr. Otto Bohrsmann. manager of the Australian Waratah rugby team during tis fall tour of the coast. The report has been filed with the New South Wales Rugby union. Extracts from the report of interest to coast rugby players are reprinted from the San Francisco Call:

"Rules regarding the replacing of players are entirely ignored. The contestants are so imbued with the fact that their side must win, that they prepare most assiduously. Training with them is a religion. In the old American game, if a participant were so injured as to militate against the success of the side, or even if the coach considered he was below form, he would be called off immediately. This practice still survives. At the opening of a match, 15 players will walk onto the field, and a number of reserves, numbering from 10 to 30. will take up positions on the side seats. It has been stated on reliable authority that the record number which has represented one side in a match was 91; that it, more than six different teams have participated as one combination.

"This irregular substitution caused much embarrassment to us. In one game where we were beaten by point the opposing halfback and wing three-quarter were replaced within 2 minutes of 'no side,' after other sub stitutes had been furnished at half time. Naturally, the well trained, fresh players at such a critical period turned the scale in favor of the home team.

Compliment to Mackay "At Nevada the authorities were amenable to our desires, and consent-

LETTER FROM AUSTIN A letter from Dan Bruce, who is employed in the mill of the Maricopa Mines company at Austin, Nevada, to Prof. Young, contains some interesting information for mining students and also assures us that the three '12 men employed in that camp are making good. A brief extract from the letter follows:

"Austin is a nice place to work and as there are several people here whom I have known before. I feel quite at home. I like my work here, too. Don Cameron has made himself a valuable man for the company. He is mine and mill foreman-really has the duties of superintendent. Spike Henderson is assayer. The mill was designed and constructed under H. B. Menardi's supervision and he has been in charge until about two months ago. The mill has a fifty-ton capacity."

Henry Wolfson's Speech

When all other business had been transacted, Henry Wolfson, recently of the College of New York City, arose and asked for the privilege of the floor. In a clear, concise and masterly speech, Wolfson pointed out some of the defects of our present system of student body government, compared it with the more progressive systems now in vogue in other colleges and concluded by moving that a committee be appointed to investigate the matter of student body government in other colleges and to submit a plan suited to the needs of Nevada, before the close of this semester, to the A. S. U. N. The motion was promptly seconded and carried and hearty applause rewarded the spetaker as he resumed his seat. Henry Wolfson and Bob Farrer have been appointed as the members of this committee

Stanford Prof. Receives Honor

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal. March 1.-Prof. A. F. Rogers of the Mineralogy Department of Leland Stanford, has just received notice of his election to membership in the Mineralogical Society of Great Britain, the leading organization of its kind in the English-speaking world. Only three other men in this country have been similarly honored. Prof. Rogers is the author of many scientific articles and has been a frequent contributor to the magazines. He has recently published a text book for college use, "Introduction to the Study of Minerals."

I. M. Ikahoshi, '13, a Japanese student in the Economics Department, received the annual Berwick Peace Prize recently for the best argument for international peace. Three other speakers also presented addresses for international conciliation. The other speakers were G. Holcombe, '11; P. D. Nowell, '13, and A. F. Coyle, '15. Ikahoshi advocated the removal of the tariff by nations and the extensive use of an international language as means to peace.-New York Times.
