Nevada Exhibit At State Fair

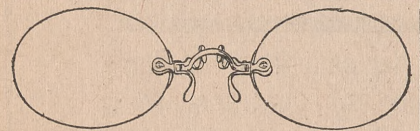

During fair week the university agricultural exhibit drew expressions of admiration from friends and strangers alike. Although the university stock did not complete with the privately owned herds, all were exhibited and made a favorable impression in comparison with the prize winners. The sheep and beef cattle especially, in the opinion of disinterested judges, would have won for the university all prizes in those classes.

Prof. Wilson, of the animal husbandry department, took charge of the judging of all the live stock exhibited. To the ordinary eye, all the stock looked alike, but to those judging, little trouble was experienced in selecting the winners. The aggie students were given a good deal of practical work in judging stock, and several turned in tally sheets which corresponded surprisingly well with the judges'. Quite a few engineering students started in leading positions in the daily parade at the fair grounds which became quite a feature.

At Belle isle pavilion Prof. Knight supervised the farm products exhibit. Grain and other products from all parts of the state were exhibited, speaking in silent praise of the resources of the so-called "desert state."

At Belle Isle four counties of the state and a number of individuals were represented with exhibits. The university was well represented in this department of the state fair, as they were in the livestock end. In the judging of the farm crops Dean Knight of the agricultural school acted and passed judgment on the largest collection of farm products ever exhibited at a Nevada state fair. Prof. V. E. Scott of the dairy department judged all dairy products. The mineral exhibits were judged by Prof. Palmer.

The collection of farm products, belonging to the university were not shown, but are being kept in first class condition for exhibition at San Diego and San Francisco next year. Prof. Knight and Dean Scragham expect to have one of the finest exhibits of farm, mining and mechanical products ever collected for exhibition purposes, and are going right ahead with the work, as the delay over an appropriation to carry on the work shortened their time for preparing the exhibit.

Comments From The Reno Press

THE NEWSPAPERS OF RENO REMARK EDITORIALY UPON THE UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA.

In a recent editorial in the Reno Journal, printed below, a democratic policy at the University of Nevada was advocated, and also the formation of a society of students who have attained distinction along lines of study.

Fortunately, the University of Nevada has both, although neither have been advanced as far as they might be in setting forth the Nevada policy and spirit. A student entering Nevada finds a democratic atmosphere, and after remaining there for a short time finds that his success and popularity in college does not depend on his financial standing, or his former associates, but absolutely on his own personality and qualifications.

If he attains distinction in his work in the university, he is given an invitation to join one of the leading honor fraternities of the United States. The following was taken from the Reno Journal:

In the great universities of the east there is a steadily progressing movement for what might be termed democratization. It is in the direction of breaking up little exclusive coteries of students who herd together because of imagined distinctions on the score of wealth, family or social pretensions. Princeton university students have been thrown together on a common basis of association, lodging and eating, and now Harvard is completing a great "commons" which will effectually prevent students separating into groups and creating a system of caste.

This nation excluded the idea of aristocracy from its very foundation and the theory has been maintained through the years. The infection has crept in slowly to the universities of higher learning, but now there is a healthy reaction and a moving back to democracy.

In Nevada, fortunately, the state university has but one dormitory, or hall, for the young women and but one for the young men. This fact has been a strong influence in keeping snobbishness out of the university. It has not been the only influence, for the spirit of the people is more democratic in the west than elsewhere, but it has been a good influence.

While the universities of the east are struggling to restore democracy in their precincts, the west should make greater strides along those lines. Starting on the basis of social equality, the idea of pre-eminence according to service should be fostered. There is one allowable and commendable aristocracy and that is the aristocracy of service, the aristocracy of achievement and education. This aristocracy should be fostered and there should be a singling out, to a greater extent than heretofore of those students who excel in learning and in achievement. There is manifested already along the lines of athletic prowess, but it should also be manifested in lines of learning and ability. The University of Nevada needs to be more distinctive—more of a living influence in the state, and this can best be brought about by inculcating in the minds of the students the new for service to the state and service toward the practical utilization of education in the state.

Arts and Science Club Meets

FACULTY CLUB OF COLLEGE HOLDS MEETING AND ELECTS OFFICERS

Last Friday evening the Liberal Arts club of the College of Arts and Sciences met and drew up plans for the year. The organization decided to hold their meeting the last Thursday of each month. They may from time to time join the Faculty Science club in holding a meeting of mutual interest as was the case when Mr. Cedric Beebe addressed both organizations. Besides the discussion of the club's activities officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, A. E. Hill; vice president, S. Feemster; secretary, Miss Day.

Trophies Planned For The Library

EMBLEMS OF NEVADA'S ATHLETIC PROWESS WILL BE GIVEN ADEQUATE DISPLAY.

Last year some agitation was given the question of making a better presentation of the cups and trophies that Nevada teams have won in their past athletic contests. It seems, at the present time, as though the endeavors of those, who would like to see a better exhibition of the trophies will be rewarded. A request for the appropriation is now on file and Librarian Layman has promised to give the case a suitable place in the building. Professor Haseman and Athletic Director Elliott of last year were instrumental in arousing the interest for a better display last year. The change will be warmly received and if present plans mature will be made about Christmas time. At present the trophies are in the training quarters where they are seen by only a few people.

Newspaper Files For the Library

FRIEND OF THE UNIVERSITY MAKES DONATION OF MATERIAL ON SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR

During the past week Librarian Layman has received from a friend of the university a complete file of newspaper accounts of the Spanish-American war. The box in which they are packed has not yet been opened and complete details of the collection are lacking. The articles studied in the light of history will no doubt be interesting in so far as they show the accuracy of newspaper accounts of great struggles. Studied comparatively with the accounts now being published in the daily presses they will give the student a calm judgment of the reliability of the rumors and a good viewpoint of war.

Federated Women Student Loan

THE ASSOCIATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS OF THE STATE HELP WORTHY STUDENTS.

One of the features of the convention of the Federation of Women's clubs of the state was the entertainment they staged at the Majestic theater Saturday evening. The student loan fund is an effort which the women are giving their earnest attention the following clipping from the report of Miss Van:

Miss Vanderleith's financial statement disclosed that during the year the fund had received $262.50 in donations and receipts from entertainments. Students had paid in $110. During the year $365 had been loaned to students and $1000 had been deposited at interest in a Carson bank. The fund now has on hand $287.72 in cash besides the amount on interest, and $420 due from students.

Miss Vanderleith's report in part follows:

"Our student loan fund aims to help every deserving girl and boy in the state to complete their education. During our first year the fund assisted two worthy girls. One of them has repaid her loan from an increased salary, and the other is at work teaching and earnestly repaying as she is able. Eleven applications were received during this, our second year; two from California, which were referred to their own state federation; one graduated from our state university last June; five now are students at the state university, and the other three applicants soon will be at work in school.

"That you may judge of the good work your loan fund is doing, let me quote from a few letters from students:

"It pleases me very much to write you again. I am also very glad, indeed to tell you that I have a position and will get $70 a month. I shall pay as much as I possibly can on my loan for I could not bear to have some other student miss the fine chance given me through the use of the fund, just because of me. It is good to know that life is just full of chances to do nice things." Another writes: "It gives me pleasure to enclose my last payment on my loan. I certainly appreciate having had the use of it, and I shall try and show my appreciation by adding something to the fund in the future." And another says: "Thank you a thousand times. I hope you will never have cause to be sorry you made me a loan. I am already planning to repay it. I am anxious to return it so some one else can have the use of it."

We want students to feel that a loan is not charity. We want them to feel it is a business way of contracting for a honorable loan with which to prepare themselves to do their share of the world's work with the greatest possible efficiency. Our second year has been filled with positive good service, but the receipts for the cause from the clubs have not been what they should have been. Let us beware of losing enthusiasm. Nothing great was ever accomplished without it. If our task grows more difficult, let us work a little harder. And so, in conclusion, may your chairman suggest that next year every club woman help in the work by contributing $1. Let us give it, as has been said, as though

Station Equipped Research Work

CHEMICAL LABORATORY OF EXPERIMENT STATION PLACED UPON A HIGH PLANE

Dr. C. A. Jacobson, head of this department, informs us that his laboratory has recently been equipped with a number of important pieces of apparatus which he has been in great need of since the beginning of his investigations. Due credit is to be given to Prof. S. B. Doten, newly elected director of the station, who has taken a liberal attitude in the matter of equipping the different departments and putting them on a higher working basis. He new equipment procured for the chemical department has been gathered, principally from European centers, and, fortunately enough, every order placed abroad was delivered in this country before the war broke out, and the last shipment reached here only a week ago. It may well be said that with the present equipment of chemicals and apparatus, this laboratory assumes a range among the foremost in the experiment stations of the country, especially with reference to bio-chemical research.

During the past year the following instruments have been installed in this department: A Buechner hydraulic press, made in Mannheim, Germany, and used for extracting vegetable juices from plants.

The machine works on a two plunger system, one of which operates by means of a glycerine filled cylinder, thereby causing greater compression. The press has the power of developing a pressure of three hundred kilograms per square centimeter, which, translated to non-scientific units is the enormous pressure of 4259 pounds to the square inch.

A new piece of apparatus was manufactured on the campus by Carl Horn to the specifications drawn up by Dr. Jacobson. This is a Kjeldahl distillator and is the only one of its kind in this country. The Ohio agricultural experiment station has one on a somewhat similar principle. The special features of the Nevada apparatus that commends it to chemists are the facts that the distillation flasks and the receivers may be operated from the same side and that the apparatus is so compact that twelve dis-

U. C. Defeats Our Next Rivals

Varsity Downs Olympic Club 13 to 3; Freshmen Defeat Palo Alto 49 to 0.

The games of Rugby on California field at Berkeley Saturday afternoon brought victory to the California varsity and freshmen fifteens. The blue and gold varsity downed the Olympic club by the score of 13 to 3, and the freshmen overwhelmed Palo Alto high school, 49 to 0.

The clubmen might have held the varsity to eight points, but for their own carelessness at once instance and the super-aggressive play of Captain McKim of California at the same moment. Gibbs, California fullback, had booted the ball to the corner of the field at the Olympic goal line and while the defending backs were waiting for the leather to roll over the line, that they might touch it down, McKim drove in at full speed and pounced on the ball under the legs of the astonished defenders.

Hawkes, Olympic club center three-quarters, came nearest to scoring a try for his team. He broke away from the field in the first half, with only Fullback Gibbs between himself and the California goal. Gibbs and Giannelli brought him to earth, however, and an instant later the Olympics were given a free kick, a California player having tackled off-side. George Montgomery placed the ball between the posts for three points for the club team.

Canfield opened the scoring for California in the first half by eluding the entire Olympic backfield for a try. "Brud" Montgomery converted and the tally stood at 5 to 0. Montgomery's placement for the winged O followed soon after and the half ended with the score: California 5, Olympic club 3.

McKim's sensational try opened the scoring in the second half and Montgomery's conversion netted California five more points.

The action in the second half was confined largely to Olympic club territory. One passing rush brought results to California, the ball traveling from Montgomery to Canfield to Sharpe and to Gianelli, who scored. The angle proved too difficult for conversion and the game ended, California 13, Olympic 3.

The team representing Palo Alto high school against the freshmen was not of the same lineup as that which made it one of the strongest prep school teams in the state last season. The Palo Alto fifteen of yesterday afternoon could offer practically no resistance to the powerful attack of the blue and gold freshmen. The latter scored three times in the first half and ten times in the second. Hicks scored four tries, Brooks two, Tilden two and Rule, Reith, Hoffman, Leggett and Harper one each.

The teams took the field yesterday as follows:

STANFORD SECOND TEAM DEFEATS SANTA CLARA

The second varsity squad of Stanford downed the second varsity of Santa Clara college today, 8 to 4.

STANFORD OVERWHELMS ALUMNI RUGBY PLAYERS

The Stanford varsity Rugby fifteen swamped the Stanford-California alumni team Saturday afternoon by the overwhelming score of 61 to 8. The game was nothing more than a good workout for the varsity.

Jim Wylie, who has been on the sick list for the past week, added considerable strength to scrum and was responsible for the greater part of the scoring in the first half. During the first period the alumni players showed great strength while playing on the defensive, but were unable to stop the fast passing rushes of the varsity backs.

In the first half "Cy" Davidson took the ball on a dribbling rush and crossed the Stanford goal line for the first try for the alumni. The second score for the alumni came in the last fifteen minutes of play in the second half, when Momson carried the ball across the line.

Lachmund opened the scoring for the varsity in the second half by running fifty yards through a broken field. Charlie Austin converted. A dribbling rush allowed Captain "Deke" Gard to score the second try. After receiving the ball on a long passing rush, Patterson made the last score for the varsity. "Ric" Templeton converted.

Following is the way the teams lined up:

Alumni—E. Wylie, Worthy, Hine, Fullmore, Moursen, Taylor, Davidson, Gladstone, forwards; Harmlee, half; Thoburn and Risling, five-eights; Cookson, center three-quarters; W. Urban, Sweet, wings; Hutchinson, fullback.

Varsity—Hall, Soper, Biblman, Clover, Pettingill, Gard, Blase, Wylie, forwards; Erb, half; Austin, Lachmund and Patterson, five-eights; Carroll, center three-quarters; Reese, Urban and Templeton, wings; Andrews, fullback

Referee, Molineaux. Halves, 25 minutes.

BIG "C" PAINTED BRILLIANT RED

California students awoke several mornings ago to find that the big "C," sacred to all loyal Berkeleyites, had been painted a brilliant cardinal. Immediately rumors began to circulate that Stanford men had committed the atrocious deed. But sophomore detectives soon discovered that it was the work of felonious California freshmen and hastened to remedy matters by swabbing off the odious tint, and restoring the emblem to its wonted golden hue.—Daily Palo Alto.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT NOTICES LARGE REGISTRATION AND ORDERS NEW EQUIPMENT.

Within the last two weeks Captain W. H. A. Applewhite wrote to Washington for forty new rifles. The large freshman registration has necessitated the new equipment. Dancing School Opens Saturday

Mrs. Wilson announces the opening of her fourth consecutive season of dancing at Beebe hall next Saturday evening; also the following Wednesday evening. Lessons will begin at 7:30, social at 9 o'clock.

During these evenings several of her pupils will demonstrate the new dance steps. Mrs. Wilson has but recently returned from San Francisco, where she studied with Prof. Hinman, who was elected president of the American National Association of Dancing at its last session, held at Cleveland, O. The dances taught and the methods used by Mrs. Wilson are sanctioned and used by the association.

This popular dancing teacher, as well as her many pupils are looking forward to the opening of her private ballroom which is being erected at her home on Maple street. It will be the largest and finest private ballroom in this part of the country and no doubt will be the scene of many a happy gathering during the coming season.

DELTA RHO.

Last Tuesday evening was the scene of one of the prettiest and jolliest little dances of the season. The girls of the Delta Rho sorority were the hostesses and the Riverside porch the scene. Siani and Williams helped the cause of fun with their popular strains and punch that was not sweet refreshed the dancers.

Mrs. Withers, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Layman watched the fun, in other words, were patronesses. The little dance hall over the river was filled almost to its utmost capacity and fun reigned supreme until a late hour. Reno High School Notes

COMMITTEE IS APPOINTED TO DRAFT NEW CONSTITUTION CONSOLIDATING ORGANIZATIONS.

An assembly was held in the study hall last Tuesday morning to effect the temporary organization of a student body which had previously been favorably passed upon by both the Girls' and Boys' Athletic associations. The chair appointed the following to serve as a committee to draft a constitution: Winnifred Foxworthy, Mabel Nelson, Thelma Coffin, Dorothy Higgins, David Bovee, Irving Cowels, Everett Layman and Francis Young, the latter being chairman of the committee.

RUGBY.

The first game between the second varsity and Reno high resulted in a score of 32 to 0 in favor of the second varsity. Coach McPhail of the high school squad was pleased with the showing his men made and anticipates a smaller score in the next contest.

CONCERNING THE SANTA CLARA CONTRACT.

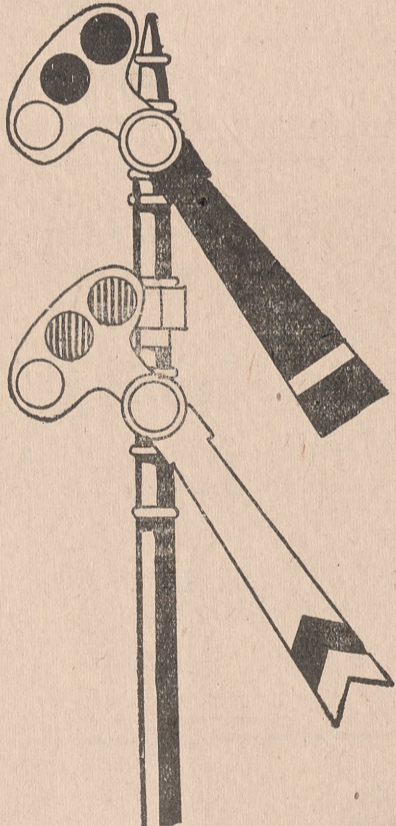

The associated students, by resolution have gone on record as seconding the action of Graduate Manager Ross in discontinuing the four-year contract. The action is undoubtedly a good thing. The contract was a loose one to begin with, and financial arrangements were not satisfactory. The cancellation of this contract need not mean the complete breaking off of relations with Santa Clara. Nevada may at some future date desire games with that institution and it is well for the student body to feel that the break in relations is due to a financial condition rather than to any animous between the two universities. The students of each institution are represented by athletic managers and should feeling over the interpretation of clauses in contracts or even feeling between the managers themselves ever come up it is always well to weigh evidence for an against very carefully. We need to be Santa Clara's friend, and Santa Clara needs Nevada friendship and any student or person who seeks to foment feeling between the student bodies of both colleges should be interrogated closely as to the grounds for his statements. A cooler judgment and disposition is needed in looking at questions between student bodies.

tillations may be carried on at the same time under one person's supervision.

The pipes are of tin and are better adapted to general work than glass or other material. The equipment is entirely of metal and will primarily be used for ammonia distillations in the determinations of nitrogen in organic substances. The department has added a new Freas electric oven having temperature control to three hundred and sixty degrees, centrifugal, which operates at three thousand revolutions per minute and is used in separatory work.

A new vacuum pump is of special interest to students, for the reason that in exact work it is far better than the water vacuum pumps heretofore used. The pump is manufactured by C. Leybold's Nachfolger at Cologne, Germany. The vacuum can be made almost a perfect one, as is shown by the fact that the mercury column can be reduced to one one-hundredth of an inch.

Another apparatus which one might spend profitable time studying is a transportable transmission apparatus. The range of action and the positions of the different shafts, countershafts and differentials can be made to take is astonishing. The rate of stirring a liquid could be regulated, the equipment left over night and the same rate of speed will be found to have been the same all the time. The apparatus was seen by Dr. Jacobson on his trip to Germany and is made in Leipsig.

A new extraction apparatus for the extraction of liquids has been purchased. This is an all glass arrangement and is very valuable. The apparatus is extremely fragile, and is hard to replace should it be broken. The particular feature in this apparatus is that while there are many such machines on the market for the extraction of solids, this is a practical one for the extraction of liquids.

Another highly technical apparatus is the wave length spectrometer, for measuring the absorption bands in colored solutions. The wave length is read off onto a recording drum on the instrument. A photometric attachment is also part of the equipment, by which the intensity of the light passing through any region of the spectrum may be measured. This machine has been perfected recently and is manufactured by the Adam Hilger company, London, and is said to be superior to any on the market.

A new form of the Currie electro-scope for determining radio activity in minerals and solutions has also been purchased. The substance under investigation is placed on an enclosed tray, the electric charge of the radio active material ionizes the air in the upper compartment, where the gold leaf is located, the collapsing of which is measured on a scale. This apparatus is made by the Societe Centrale de Produits Chimiques, in Paris. With the above additions to the laboratory, the research department is brought thoroughly up to date and the laboratory now stands among the best equipped in the country.

POPULAR SOCIETY MEMBER WEDS RENO BUSINESS MAN IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Miss Elsie Heward and Mr. Rege Meaker were married last Tuesday in San Francisco and the news came as a pleasant surprise to their many friends, who are looking forward to their return home from their honeymoon, being spent in California. Mrs. Meaker has been most popular in Reno's social and college circles being a prominent member of the Tri-Deltas and the C. C. sororities, while the groom is a prominent business man and has a host of friends.

Friday afternoon the several departments of the university were visited by delegations of the Federated Women's club. They expressed themselves with the extent of the various departments and the progress of the institution as a whole.

ENDOWMENTS.

President Thwing of Western Reserve university, announced the university was the beneficiary to the extent of about one million dollars of the will of a friend of the university who died leaving an estate of some five or six millions. The money will be devoted to the school of medicine.

Nevada university has been fortunate in the solicitous benefactions of Clarence H. Mackay and his estimable mother, and there is not the slightest disposition to minimize his contributions nor the personal solicitude with which he saw that the gifts were admirably converted into buildings, grounds and schools. However, it may be considered without a spirit of beggary whether other friends of Nevada could not be persuaded to take a similar interest in its institutions. A little inquiry and a little sentiment urging such a custom might do a world of good.

Eastern universities are almost all of them richly endowed and to the west California has a remarkable list of benefactions. Nevada has productive funds amounting to $303,400, including government grants, while the University of California has a productive endowment fund of $5,022,088. The income from all sources is nearly two million dollars. Leland Stanford university has a total annual income of $800,000.

Surely Nevada, who made most of the California millionaires, must have some more friends left who for the sake of the old days and the gold days here could be prevailed to perpetuate their names and the influence of their sentiment for this state in a substantial manner.

Smile With The Editorial Staff

SPARKLETS GATHERED FROM THE LIGHTER COLUMNS.

Once there was a beautiful girl who had never looked into a mirror. Her parents, who were quite well off, had gratified most of her wishes, but had carefully guarded her against these wicked things, and had never permitted her to go anywhere where there was the slightest possibility of their being a mirror. One of them was with her constantly. So solicitous were they that they watched her night and day.

One day the beautiful girl said: "Oh, my! Today I have had the most extraordinary vision!"

Both parents, alarmed at the knowledge that in an unguarded moment they had let her stroll by herself, exclaimed:

"What was it?"

"I was down at the brook, which at one place happened to be still, and I saw in it the loveliest face I have ever seen."

At this the parents, who had been doing teamwork in deceit for so long that they worked together automatically, both exclaimed in chorus:

"Oh, yes. The brook has a way of reflecting visions from heaven."

At this the beautiful girl smiled a knowing smile, and opening her shopping bag took from it a small hand-glass, which she had obtained some time before through the mail order department of a city department store.

"You dear old fogies," she replied, "don't you know I have known it all the time?"

"Oh! Oh! Shocking! Why do you inform us of this now, and after all our solicitude?"

"I inform you now because I have just been elected a member of the local chapter of the National Young People's Society of When to Tell the Parents."

Moral.

They always know it before you think they do.

BIBLICAL PROOF

An old negro, who was the only Baptist in the neighborhood, always "stuck up for his own faith," and was ready with a reason for it, although he was unable to read a word. This was the way he "put 'em down": "Y' kin read, now, kaint you?" "Yes." "Well, I s'pose yo' read de Bible, haint you?" "Yes." "Yo' read 'bout John de Baptis', haint yo'?" "Yes." "Well, yo' never read 'bout John de Mefodis', did yo'?"

Way Fighting Men Are Fed

PLANS FOR FOOD SUPPLIES OF ARMIES ARE MADE FAR IN ADVANCE

It is useless to collect together a vast multitude of fighting men unless they can be fed, for the human machine requires fuel just as certainly as any mechanical motor. Something about the preparations that must be taken in this respect is told in the special war supplement of the Scientific American as follows:

To provide for the wants of the troops every army has one or more administrative departments charged with the procurement, custody, and distribution of certain varieties of supplies which are essential to keep the troops in health and strength, and which provide them at all times with everything that is indispensable for the furtherance of the plan of campaign.

In forming a plan of supply for a particular campaign the following points must be carefully considered: The resources of the theater of war and the facility of utilizing the same; the time of year and climate; the nature of the war, whether offensive or defensive; the length of the line of communications; the rapidity of the movements; the propinquity of the enemy; and the temper of the inhabitants.

The national country must provide the supplies for its armies. This is particularly important now, as it has been held that provisions and food-stuffs of ordinary innocent use, which are usually only conditionally contraband, may become absolutely contraband of war when actually and especially destined for the military or naval forces of a belligerent.

The right of armies to take from the country all that they require for their sustenance is indisputable, though we usually understand the expression "living upon the country" has direct application to an enemy's country. Military necessity, as understood by all civilized nations, permits the enforcement in an enemy's country of all those measures which are indispensable to facilitate and assist in the conduct of the war, and which are lawful according to the modern law and usages of war.

The preparation, therefore, must extend to an elaborate study of the resources of the home country and of a probable theater of operations. In some of the great powers this work is carried out through the co-operation of the various civil authorities whose duty it is to make instant report of any change in the supply situation in their district. Statistical data and supply maps are prepared showing:

The principal production of the country; the distribution of the available resources; the importance of the last harvest; the amount of the exports of same; the amount locally consumed; the number and kind of meat cattle; the number, motive power, daily capacity, and location of the flour mills; the number and average yield of the bakeries; the number and location of the abattoirs and meat-packing establishments; the number of draft animals; the means of transportation, railways, steamboat, and ordinary roads, and their capacity; the number of the inhabitants, urban and rural; the character of the imports and exports; the supply and character of the potable water; the fuel used and its abundance.

MISS CLARA SMITH, 1914, HONOR
TUDENT, WEDS J. O.
BEATTY.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Methodist church Wednesday morning, September 23, at 8:30 o'clock, when the Rev. Harry Sheldon united in marriage Miss Clara Isabelle Smith, daughter of Mrs. R. N. Smith of Reno, and Mr. J. O. Beatty of Sparks. The wedding was a very quiet one, owing to the death of Mr. Beatty's mother; only the immediate family and friends being present. The bride wore a most becoming blue traveling suit and black hat, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Mrs. Beatty was born in Reno and attended the Reno schools, and was graduated last June from the University of Nevada with the highest honors, having been an honor student for the past three years. While in college she was most active in all college affairs, especially in the Y. W. C. A. and Delta Delta Delta sorority, of which she was the president for the past year. Mr. Beatty is a young man of sterling character and holds a responsible position with the Southern Pacific Railroad company. Both Mr. and Mrs. Beatty have a host of friends who wish them the greatest happiness. They left for California on their wedding trip and upon their return will make their home in Sparks.

Spirited Rally on Mackay Bleachers
STUDENTS SHOW APPRECIATION

CLUB GAME

Friday afternoon after classes was the time and the Mackay bleachers the place of an outburst of enthusiasm that pleased the team, the coach, the graduate manager and the bleacherites themselves. Yell Leader Borchert was particularly encouraged for up till that time his task seemed a very hard one.

Before 4:30 the bunch began to gather, so that when the old bell rang a goodly crowd was there to greet those who came "to see what it was going to be like." Prof. Haseman was there to guide the harmony and give confidence to those who were timid in trusting their voices. Everyone learned the song arranged by Miss Denny last year. The practice was sorely needed and was a great benefit. Prof. Haseman was heard to murmur, "pretty fair," as the last echo died away. Yes, it was a dandy song practice, and those who were not there are the losers, for as each one's confidence in his power to sing grew an e'spirit de corps permeated them and cementing all effort and submerging all thoughts save that one, "Nevada." The results of this song practice will be seen in the yelling and singing at the Olympic club game Saturday.

Glee Club To Oregon

N. C. O. AND RENO COMMERCIAL CLUB PLAN BOOST EXCURSION.

At a recent meeting of the Reno Commercial club, Dean Scragham of the engineering college, was made chairman of a committee on arrangements for an excursion of Reno business men to Alturas and Lakeview over the N. C. O. on October 19, 20 and 21.

The University Glee club will accompany the party, and manager Cox of the N. C. O. stated that he would furnish a private car to accommodate the boys during the trip. The expenses of the trip of the Nevada songsters will be borne 50-50 by the N. C. O. and the Reno Commercial club.

The work of the glee club under the direction of Prof Haseman on their tour of the state last year has received much favorable comment and the chance to cover a part of California and Oregon without the idea of making expenses in each town was received with much enthusiasm by the club.

Manager Cox of the N. C. O. is to be commended on his liberal policy regarding the trip.

Acting on the committee of arrangements with Prof. Scragham are August Frolich, Prof. Haseman and Mr. Cox.

DEAR MOTHER:—

I've arrived matriculated and have even displayed HUMAN tendencies.

The first thing I did on getting off the train was to get a suit of clothes; that is to say, I ORDERED a suit. No more hand-me-downs or "pay as you enter" for mine.

The clothes I'm wearing I bought, as you know, from Brown & Jones, who advertise a "famous" READY-TO-WEAR make. I've had nothing but trouble with the coat, and the pants have caused me many a grouch. Space will not permit me to mention the vest.

You know, these suits which are made up over dummies are turned out for anybody they HAPPEN to fit. The suit I've ORDERED, however, will be made to my own individual measure. You've heard the name, "INTERNATIONAL," and a good tailor here by the name of Lavoie is the agent for that celebrated Chicago tailor-ing house.

I'll have Bill (my room-mate) give me the U and D as well as the OO with that kodak and send you the picture. More anon. Love, DICK.
