Student Body Meeting Friday at 11:00

Regent's Son is Victim of Burns

AFTER FOUR WEEKS OF SUFFERING, END COMES; COMPLICATIONS RESPONSIBLE

James Munroe Codd, seven years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Codd of 863 North Sierra street, died yesterday afternoon at three o'clock, after a fight against death which had lasted about ten days. Death was caused by complications which had set in as a result of burns the child had received a month ago from gasoline.

Dr. J. E. Pickard had been in almost constant attendance upon the child for several days, seeking to counteract the effect of poisoning from the burns which had covered nearly two-thirds of the lad's entire body. Pneumonia, developing from a cold, complicated the difficulties which confronted the physicians and made recovery impossible.

Practice Game Won by Y.M.C.A.

Y. M. C. A. HAS A SLIGHT LEAD OVER SECOND TEAM AT END OF SPRINTERS' CONTEST

Last Saturday the seconds and supposed Y. M. C. A. teams met in a rugby game, which ended with the Y. M. C. A. on the long end of a rather even score. The Y. M. C. A. was made up mostly of varsity men, but the second team held them down well and broke up most of the combination work of their opponents.

Thruout the game everybody was chatting with his neighbor, sometimes with the referee, which made a rather unsatisfactory contest out of what should have been an interesting game. For the second team Stuart and Donovan showed up well, while Fogel, on the Y. M. C. A., got away for several good runs. That trip to Sacramento is a good incentive for hard work, and the seconds are playing together better each night.

You can always get something to your liking at D. W. C. Co.'s fountain. —Adv't.

Debate Held Last Tuesday

FIRST FORMAL DEBATE OF YEAR ENDS INTERESTING PROGRAM OF DEBATERS' SOCIETY

Last Tuesday evening, November 10, at 7:30 the Debating Society held one of its pleasantest and most interesting meetings of this year. The carefully planned program proved to be instructive and at the same time interesting. Miss Fuss, '17, rendered very beautifully "The Rosary" by Nevin. She was followed by Miss Dorothy Hempton, who told us in a very charming way of the "Compulsory Military Training in Australia" as it appeared to her. Her talk was especially interesting, since at the present time England is drawing heavily upon her Australian recruits to enable her to keep up in the present European war. Last but not least was the first formal debate of the year. The question was, "Resolved, that the unicameral form of legislature should be adopted in every state of the United States." Miss McCormack, '16, and Miss Winger, '15, thru able arguments, won the debate on the affirmative, while Mr. Lasher and Mr. Pfaling, '15, handled the negative. The judges of the debate were Leonard Fowler, Mr. Feemster and Miss Wygal. H. W. Hill and A. E. Hill acted as time-keepers. The program was completed with a few encouraging words from Mr. Fowler, who congratulated the society on its well-delivered program, its enthusiasm and its good start as one of the college activities.

Following a recess of several minutes the business of the evening was taken up. Mr. Cazier, the business manager, said that he had heard from Stanford regarding an intercollegiate debate with that college. We received no encouragement whatever, since Stanford has already all the debates scheduled that it can handle.

The committee on a play has left the final decision to Mr. Turner, and as yet nothing definite is arranged.

Under new business came the election of a vice-president. Various unforeseen circumstances have prevented Mr. Somers from holding that position. In his stead Miss McCormack has been elected.

The club now has an enrollment of thirty-seven. We would enjoy adding the names of any who care to join to our list. You will find the meetings pleasant and instructive. The next meeting will be Nov. 24. Come. R. M. S., '17.

Welder Received by E. E. Dept.

A first-class electric welder of the latest type has been received by the electrical laboratory and promises interesting results. These welders are being used universally in up-to-date shops nowadays and are useful for many things. The whole machine is mounted on a truck, so that instead of having to move the work the welder can be wheeled into position and operations commenced.

A flat, compound-wound, direct-current generator is direct connected to a suitable motor, with a controlling panel and the necessary holders for the arcs and electrodes. Very high temperatures can be obtained, and a perfect joining is assured when welding reasonably sized pieces of metal.

League Schedule Is Announced

GAME WITH NEVADA'S STRONGEST OPPONENTS SCHEDULED ON THE HOME FLOOR

While in San Francisco during the last week Graduate Manager Ross attended the meeting of the Intercollegiate Basket-ball League, of which Nevada is a member, and secured several important concessions which were desired last year. This season Nevada is to play her two hardest games on her home court—St. Mary's on January 30 and Stanford on February 13—which makes Nevada's chances at the championship much brighter.

In bringing the two teams here Nevada pays all expenses and receives $50 from each visiting team. When playing in California Nevada receives $50 a game and also has her expenses paid. This is a much better arrangement than last season, when five games were played in six days, keeping the team on the jump all the time.

The fall schedule of games follows: January 23—St. Ignatius versus the College of the Pacific, at San Jose.

January 30—St. Mary's versus Nevada, at Reno; College of the Pacific versus Stanford, at San Jose; St. Ignatius versus California at Berkeley.

February 6—College of the Pacific versus St. Mary's at Oakland.

February 10—St. Mary's versus California, at Oakland; St. Ignatius versus Stanford, at San Francisco.

February 13—Stanford versus Nevada, at Reno; College of the Pacific versus California at Berkeley; St. Ignatius versus St. Mary's at San Francisco.

February 18—California versus Nevada at Berkeley.

February 19—St. Ignatius versus Nevada, at San Francisco.

February 20—College of the Pacific versus Nevada, at San Jose; St. Mary's versus Stanford, at Palo Alto.

February 27—California versus Stanford, at Palo Alto.

No games are to be played during

Rally Plans Are Announced

SHOWS TO BE GIVEN IN TWO THEATERS; PREX HENDRICKS WILL SPEAK

Once more our big-game season rolls around, and plans for the major contest of our rugby season are being perfected. Next Monday evening a downtown rally is to be held—band, red fire and all the fixin's of Nevada pep that make for a successful get-together. Both the Grand and Majestic have been secured for the night, and a football show worthy of the name will be staged in each. A couple of pictures will be run off, the Glee Club will harmonize, the new Mandolin Club will be seen for positively the first time, and then a few speeches will be heard. Talks by President Hendricks, Harry Sheldon and Si Ross are expected, and possibly a few of the alumni who are spotted in the audience. The gym is to be the meeting place at 7 o'clock, from where the procession will march down town, trailing the band.

Mrs. Norcross Passes Away

NEVADA GRADUATE, AFTER A SHORT ILLNESS, PASSES AWAY

Death, coming so suddenly and with so little warning that physicians still are perplexed, last Friday claimed Mrs. C. A. Norcross, formerly of Reno, wife of the State Commissioner of Agriculture, Irrigation and Publicity, now of Carson City.

Mrs. Norcross, who was widely known here and thruout the State because of her prominence in women's club work, had been ill a week, but her condition was not considered serious. On Friday afternoon she suddenly became worse, and Reno physicians were summoned. When these arrived, however, they were unable to diagnose the case at once and were still attempting to discover the cause of Mrs. Norcross' sudden relapse when death came, at 12:30 A. M.

Mrs. Norcross was a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority, having graduated from the University of Nevada with the class of 1895. Many of her sorority friends attended the funeral services in Carson City.

Mine Extension is Planned

EXTENSION OF THE UNIVERSITY'S MINING DEPARTMENT IS DISCUSSED; MANAGERS O K IT

While Professor Lincoln was in Tonopah recently the matter of establishing a mining high school in that place suggested itself to him and is only waiting the approval of the regents and President Hendricks to be established.

There are now about a hundred and fifty miners in Tonopah who are taking a correspondence course in mining and its branches, and it is to these that such a school would appeal. The Tonopah mine managers heartily favor the idea, for they know the difficulty

Art Exhibits Being Shipped

SHIPMENTS OF NEVADA ART DEPARTMENT FOR EXPOSITION READY

The work of the art department in furnishing an exhibit for the Panama-Pacific Exposition is now practically complete, and shipments of the medallions and various other relief work is soon to begin. It was on the recommendation of Mrs. Howe, traveling supervisor for one of the largest art houses in the country, that the exposition officials chose Nevada as one of the exhibitors. Mrs. Howe represents the Prang art course, the texts of which are used by most standard schools. All expenses of shipment must be paid by the art department, together with suitable mounting and frames. Photographs of all work must be sent in advance, so that appropriate backgrounds for the relief work can be arranged. The methods used in making and the educational purpose of the work are to be printed and exhibited with the work.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION IS ISSUED BY THE GOVERNOR

State of Nevada, Executive Chamber, Carson City, Nevada.
Whereas, the President of the United States has designated Thursday, November 26, 1914, as Thanksgiving Day, in pursuance of a custom begun by the pilgrim fathers at Plymouth in 1621, and

Whereas, with our country at peace, our State prosperous and our people free from the horrors of war which is ravaging Europe, and with hope and good cheer animating us all,

Now, therefore, I, Tasker L. Oddie, Governor of the State of Nevada, by authority in me vested do hereby proclaim Thursday, November 26, 1914, as Thanksgiving Day, to be observed as a legal holiday thruout the State in token of our thankfulness for the gifts of peace, prosperity and happiness bestowed upon us by the goodness of Providence.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State to be affixed, at the Capitol, in Carson City, this 9th day of November, 1914.

EDITORIAL

Now that elections are over and the world is once more recovered from the throes of the political campaign, Sagebrush takes this opportunity to break its silence on political subjects which has heretofore been maintained. It is the policy of this paper, and should be of every paper representing a state university, to keep clean of all political discussion. However, when an unwarranted attack is made upon that University by any individual, whether he occupy the exalted position of long-term State Senator from Washoe county or any other position entrusted to him by the county voters, he must realize that any statements credited to him should bear the stamp of approval of at least a fraction of his constituents. The following intellectual gems are selected at random from a pamphlet issued October 26, 1914, by Washoe county's representative in the State Senate and justify the prevalent belief that the inmates of a certain State institution near Reno were allowed to vote for and help elect their ideal.

In the following treatise the Senator touches on athletics in a very learned manner. It is headed "A Few Words to the University Boys":

"A few words to the boys who are attending the State University which is the light of the world and the salt of the earth:

"Let your light so shine on this earth that men will see your good deeds. Let the Mackay Field go to ruin. Let it grow up to weeds. Let it be a hiss and a by-word as you pass it by and say: 'Behold, the Mackay Field has become the garden of Babylon—wiped out with the bosom of destruction.' You cannot serve two masters. You will love one and hate the other. Which do you love, your books or the Mackay Field? For days, weeks and months before the ball game comes off your whole heart and soul is taken up in it and your book is forgotten. What you gain one month you lose the month before the game comes off. A young man or woman should let nothing trouble them the last years of their schooling. One day in the ball field is one month lost to his learning. Put your whole heart and soul to your learning and get out into the world and make homes. Don't go to school until you grow gray-headed . . ."

And then, to scare out future football aspirants, he predicts: "The football is and will be the cause of many a poor young lispng tongue to moulder in the grave."

How Friend Senator figures that the "lispng young tongues" are going to get a chance to moulder in the grave beats me. Sticking your tongue out at an opponent is a new play in local rugby circles, and any player so ungentlemanly as to do such a thing deserves to have it moulder underground. Other penalties have been arranged for breaches of etiquette during the game, but for dramatic effect the Senator's suggestion is a jewel.

As for the idea that studies are forgotten for the cursed football game: Nay, Senator, once again you speak whereof you know little. We respectfully refer you to the scholarship committee of the University of Nevada, who will tell you that, with practically no exception, Nevada football players lead in their studies as well as in sports. It should be remembered that a mind without a body suited to its demands is of little use, and a sickly body never did engender pure, noble thoughts. Conversely, a sickly, anemic mind is seldom connected with a healthy, athletic body.

To the University of Nevada girls the Senator addresses softer words of wisdom. A matrimonial agency seems to be flitting about the writer's mind, but no mention is made of it.

"A few words to the girls attending the University—and all girls who are this dark world's light:

"Were it not for you this world would go back into darkness where it was six thousand years ago. Let those marble seats that overlook the Mackay Field go to ruin. Let them pile up with sand and gravel, and put your whole heart and soul into your learning, and get out into the world and make homes for yourselves. It seems to me that the time is not far away when the young girls will be driven into the world as lambs among wolves, but fear not; you will have many friends. I am a little opposed to young girls graduating from the University, for the reason that there are few of them who marry. They drift out into the country and go to teaching school. I saw an account back East where five hundred girls graduated from a university, and but sixty of them married, and the four hundred and forty didn't marry. They drift out into the world teaching school. Time passes very quickly, and soon the silver hairs begin to mingle among the gold. Then they are not wanted in marriage. My advice ought to be good to boys and girls—more so to the boys, for they are more apt to go astray. I am free from liquor, gambling, tobacco, swearing. My body is free from all these plagues. I have traveled the path of life fairly, and my stripes should be few. Boys, tie those words about your necks; write them down in the table of your hearts. They will be greater than fine gold or precious pearls to you—not in the world to come, but in these present days in which you are living."

Having disposed of the girls so calmly, our friend turns his attention to the question of pure liquor, of which he knew so little in the preceding paragraph. By the way, how does the Senator know the thrilling sensations he so ably describes? Speaking of pure food, he says:

"Why don't they look after pure liquor? I have seen a person put five or six gallons of water into a vessel, then take a small phial three inches long and about half an inch in diameter and pour it into the water and bottle it, and it was set on a shelf, and when a man called for a drink he got that. When he took the first drink soon after he felt like climbing a hemlock tree forty feet high. When he took the second drink he was ready to paint the town red, and when he took the third drink he was in the cooler killing snakes. I am opposed to giving $5000 a year for pure food unless those who have charge of it can produce the goods. I am just as anxious to have pure food and water as any one, but I think the pure-food commission is $10,000 lost to the taxpayers every two years."

Surely pure liquor is a live question of the day.

There is not one office in the State that is filled properly, or a commission to which he is not opposed.

For fear the advertising manager will try to collect space rates on a longer article, and not because of a scarcity of ridiculous statements from the Senator's pamphlet, we shall stop. Truly our senatorial friend has a fluent pen—too much so for his present position.

TESTS

Tests and quizzes. "No, I can't go; I've got to study for a quiz," is heard these days.

"Aw, cut the quiz," is the answer. Students hate tests and wonder of what use they are. Do not the professors know how huch their students know? Is that what tests are for, to aid the professors? True, it is not pleasant to sit and write for an hour, but the amount of extra work should not be considered when compared with the value of a test, not as a basis of classification, but as a drill for the student. If a student fails in a test it is better for him to find out immediately how little he knows than to find it out later. The foundation must be there, and a quiz shows the student how good his foundation is. A test compels a student to classify his knowledge and is an excellent medium to compel him to form clear-cut ideas and express these ideas in suitable language, one of the chief aims of education.

The general sentiment toward tests and examinations shows a disposition to evade them and to wish to pass whether qualified or not. It shows an indifference which makes students follow a course with the idea that the highest aim of college work is to get through and obtain a diploma.—The Volante.

We make our own oyster cocktails. D. W. C. Co.—Advt.

Quarantine Ordered By State Board

STATEMENT ISSUED BY NEVADA STATE QUARANTINE BOARD

On Nov. 13 the Governor, by proclamation, declared a quarantine prohibiting the shipment of cattle, sheep and swine and the movement of livestock cars into Nevada from points east of the eastern boundary of Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico, on account of the outbreak of foot and mouth disease.

On Nov. 16 he issued another proclamation prohibiting the shipment of such live stock or the movement of stock cars from points east of the eastern boundary of Nevada, either into the State or from passing thru it. While other live stock than cattle, sheep and swine are not referred to in the proclamation, the movement of stock cars into Nevada being prohibited will absolutely prevent all livestock traffic of every kind from beyond our eastern border. Utah and Colorado have quarantined against live stock from all points outside their borders. This morning's dispatches state that the disease has broken out in Montana, and that State was placed under federal quarantine on Nov. 15, as the disease spreads very rapidly and is so highly contagious that the situation is acute and the most drastic measures are needed to control it. Our live-stock men are fully aware of the danger in the present situation and are insisting upon the most rigid regulations to protect our herds. Montana makes the fourteenth State that is now under federal quarantine. No permits will be issued for the entrance of live stock into Nevada from Eastern points until the federal authorities are certain that they have the disease under control. This is necessary to prevent, if possible, the spread of this disease into Nevada herds. It is hoped that these drastic measures will not be needed for long, that the danger may soon abate and that after a brief time we may be able to resume gradually normal live-stock shipments.

DR. W. B. MACK,
For State Quarantine Board.

THE DEFEATED CANDIDATE

I see the light in the polling places as it gleams thru the rain and the mist, and over me comes a feeling that my soul can not resist—a feeling of sadness and longing, a feeling that gives me pain. I feel like three ten-cent pieces, or a man who has just missed a train.

Come, read to me some poem, some simple and heartfelt lay; most any old thing will suit me that will take the taste away. Not returns from the outlying precincts, for they get worse and worse; they sound to me like tolling bells and suggest a political hearse. The horse laugh of the exultant victors disturb my troubled breast. I seem like a punctured tire, and tonight I long to rest. Tell me of some other who has been buried in the wreck; it soothes me to know that others have got it in the neck.

It comforts me to know that others have been cast upon the dump, and that the undersigned, yours truly, is not the only chump.

I have squandered time and money, all my cash and something more, but the fact that I am not in it is the thing that makes me sore. There's the crowd that smoked my two-f's and also took my V; they filled me up with hot air, but they didn't vote for me. Let me get away from the sound of the counting; I have heard all I want to hear. I will get me out into the gloaming and silently drop a tear. I will go and drown my sorrows where I can not hear them gloat, and before morning dawneth I may be full'n a goat. I will imagine I hear music, and the cares that infest this day shall fold their tents like the Arabs and as silently steal away.

Life is full of sorrow. I have found this out of late, but the real man of sorrow is the busted candidate.

"When Dreams Come True"

RICHARD TABER

Joseph Santley, a young actor-dancer who has established himself as one of our most popular musical comedy stars, will be seen in the Philip Bartholomae - Silvio Hein success, "When Dreams Come True," at the Majestic Theater soon.

"When Dreams Come True" is a musical comedy of cleanliness, youth and wholesome romance, three very desirable fundamentals in any form of stage entertainment. Its story relates the adventures of a young American boy whose father has cut off his allowance because of the son's escapades with a dancer in Paris. Having pawned everything available to purchase a ticket for America, the boy is compelled to return home by way of the steerage. On the trip across he sees a beautiful young girl on one of the upper decks. Later, on shore, he encounters the same girl and falls desperately in love with her. After many annoying experiences with three or four other girls whom his father has chosen for him, he liberates himself from parental dominance and is free to marry his "dream girl" of the ocean liner.

As Kean Hedges Mr. Santley is seen to better advantage than in any of the roles in which he formerly appeared, and in this connection it must be remembered that this talented boy has been on the stage since childhood. His remarkable record as a melodrama hero has stood him in good stead as a musical comedy star.

During Santley's engagement here he will have the support of an unusually representative company, which includes Cathryn Rowe Palmer, Mignon McGibeny, Ruth Randall, Ada Sterling, Josephine Kernell, Richard Taber, Edward Hume, Clyde Hunnewell, Frank Russell, Otto Schrader and that very talented Russian violinist, Saranoff. These, in addition to a chorus of thirty-four boys and girls who fairly radiate youth. In fact, Mr. Bartholomae always may be depended upon to furnish companies of young people, and "When Dreams Come True" is no way an exception.

The music of "When Dreams Come True" is by Silvio Hein, composer of many attractive scores for the musical comedy stage.

that it ought to be put in. The article was then adopted section by section. Again the secretary brought the motion up, but was ruled out of order by the chair. After the adoption of the sixth section the secretary again moved that this clause be inserted, and it was seconded by many. After some discussion the chair called for a vote by acclamation, and the motion passed. There being no call for a standing vote, the matter went on. The above is an authorized statement of the committee which drafted the constitution. There are seven possible candidates for the presidency in the primary election, which will be held next Friday. The case will probably be an exciting one, and electioneering for the various candidates is under way.

Both girls' and boys' basket-ball is rapidly progressing. The girls' team will meet Lovelock in the high-school gym Saturday, Nov. 21. No line-ups have been announced as yet.

MATTERS PERTAINING TO BIG GAME TO BE DISCUSSED NEXT FRIDAY

There is to be a special meeting of the A. S. U. N. next Friday at eleven o'clock for the purpose of arranging various details for the big game on Thanksgiving Day. Yell Leader Borchert has important announcements to make regarding the rally Monday evening and also desires to outline various rooting stunts. The charge for students at the big game is to be decided, and various advertising plans which have been submitted will be acted upon. There is also to be yell and song practice this afternoon at 4:30, during the varsity and second-team game. Everybody be there and get the kinks out of your vocal cords.

Constitution for Associated Students is Adopted.

In an assembly held last Thursday morning the constitution for the Associated Students of Reno High School was adopted. Only two important changes were made in the meeting. These were the changing of the size of the various letters and the limiting of the presidency of the new association to a boy.

A rumor has gone about that this last-mentioned section was slipped in before any one was aware of the fact. There is absolutely no truth in this statement. The committee had vetoed the placing in of any such clause, but at the first reading of the article in which the section later was placed it was rejected. During the discussion of the rejection the secretary stated

George Ade Play True to Life

Thursday night is college night at the Majestic. George Ade's comedy, "Dear Old College Days," is the spiciest bit of college fun Reno will meet for some little time. The portrayal of peppy college prowess by real college people will be a revelation. Professional actors are not necessary, for people who actually live the parts are in abundance.

Come, for instance, and see Hungry Henningsen and Giant Fake do a specialty song and dance with Sybil Hartung. Come and see the tango as she is tangoed, and hear live, new songs as they should be sung. Hear the Block N chorus, a collection from the Block N society, selected particularly for their voices and good looks. Come and see Jackson play the "I should worry" college boy, and make love to the fair co-eds without even a blush. See Agnes Walker as Bilikins the butler do the butlering stunt to a fare-yewell, and then hear a real yell leader's song as rendered by Shanvay Davis.

Need more be mentioned? Need we speak of Mrs. Turner as the widow of the late Colonel Bradley from Honolulu, where the pineapples grow, and do more than suggest what a widow she will make? And then of Tom Walker, who will take her off as the false aunt and at the same time make violent love to Marion Weck, who is Nell Aylsworth? All these seeming impossibilities are to take place, and that right soon, for but a couple of days yet remain.

The show is given for the benefit of the Twentieth Century Club and will be repeated in Carson City shortly after its production here. The seat sale is now in progress.

To be neat, modest, and yet confident and aggressive.

To keep the mind on clean, useful thoughts.

To spend a little less than is earned.

To be happy and yet never self-satisfied.

Last Saturday evening the T. H. P. O. fraternity were hosts at their fraternity home in honor of their pledgings. A banquet was served, and later the young men with their young lady escorts were found wending their way to the Wilson studio, where several hours were spent in dancing. The members of the fraternity are Messrs. Joe McDonald, Earl Swain, Robert Allen, Harold McQuiston, John Sinai, William Stickney, Frank Fake, Ira Kent, John Quigley, Robert Parks, Harvey McPhail, Chester Bacon, Tom Walker and Richard Sheehy, while the pledgings are Messrs. Wallace McPhail, Frank Harriman, Joe Allen, Howard Cameron, Ed Caffrey, Laurence Sullivan and Carl Springmeyer.

SOCIAL SERVICE TEA

The home of Mrs. R. L. Fulton was the scene of a very pretty tea given last Friday by the University girls, Young Women's Christian Association. The hours were three to six, and throughout the time the spacious rooms were crowded. Cut flowers were used as decoration in the parlors and dining-room. Mrs. Layman and Mrs. Frank Humphrey poured tea, while a number of University girls served. A long and excellent musical program was rendered throughout the afternoon, adding much to the pleasure of the guests. A silver offering was received on behalf of the Christmas charities of the social service committee, and quite a sum was realized.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES FOR WEEK

REGULAR MEETING WEDNESDAY

The social service committee will have charge of the regular meeting this week, and a number of the members on their committee will take part. The meeting is, as usual, on Wednesday at 4:30.

TEA IN GIRLS' REST ROOM THIS THURSDAY

The social committee of the Y. W. C. A. invites all the women students and faculty to a tea in the girls' rest room Thursday afternoon from three to five o'clock. This is the first of these teas, which were given last year by the committee, that has been given this year. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

CABINET HOUSE PARTY

We were eleven, and what a jolly time we had under the hospitable roof of Mrs. Salt. The occasion was a house party where we might enjoy together each other's gay repartee and songs, and in the morning cook our own breakfast and then have the fun of cleaning up. Those who enjoyed the time were Mrs. Salt and Miss Wygal and the cabinet, composed of Carna Damm, Lysle Rushby, Madge Meade, Vera Lemon, Eva Walker, Laurena Marzen, Gertrude Shade, Elsie Farrar, Dorothy Bird, Ethel Brown and Jessie Hylton.

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas, there has been removed by death from the family of Regent A. A. Codd the cheer and joy of a much-beloved son, therefore be it Resolved that we express to Regent A. A. Codd, to Mrs. Codd and all beloved friends and relatives the condolence and deep sympathy of the University of Nevada.

Lovelock High Notes

Dedication

The Humboldt County High School at Lovelock has entered upon a new era in its history. Shortly after the organization of the two high schools in the county bonds were voted for the erection of a building for the Winnemucca school, and the building was occupied two years ago. In the fall of 1912 a $20,000 issue of bonds was authorized for the construction of a schoolhouse to accommodate the Lovelock pupils. The contract was let and work begun last spring, and on the 16th of October last the county Board of Education met and accepted the structure. A week later the building was formally dedicated.

Rooms and halls were thrown open to visitors on the afternoon of the 23d, and a large portion of the population of Lovelock took advantage of the opportunity to inspect the new temple of learning. In the evening an audience of several hundred gathered in the spacious auditorium and listened to addresses by Regent O'Brien and President Hendrick of the University, H. W. Duncan, secretary of the county Board of Education, and State Superintendent John Edwards Bray. Saturday evening a dance given by the pupils brought the celebration to a close.

The building is in the mission style of architecture, has a large auditorium which can be used for basket-ball when necessary, possesses business and domestic science rooms, laboratory, classrooms and office, and is furnished and decorated in modern and convenient style. The townspeople and visitors from outside as well have expressed their delight at the completeness of the educational service which the new building offers the youth of the community, and pupils feel it a pleasure to work in a home so well adapted to their needs.

Basket-Ball

Lovelock has teams of both boys and girls and anticipates a successful season. In Winnemucca, on the 17th of October, the boys lost to the home team by the close score of 23 to 24, and on the same day the girls lost, 12 to 15. The Fallon boys and girls played in Lovelock on November 6, their boys winning by the one-sided score of 32 to 20. The Lovelock girls evened the honors, however, by defeating the visitors, 34 to 10. Both teams are seeking games with schools within reasonable distance, and a number of contests are already arranged. An exchange with Elko has been provided for and invitations issued to Sparks and Reno High.

Mackay Ordered to Join English

ONE OF NEVADA'S FORMER FOOTBALL STARS IS SUMMONED TO BRITISH DEFENSE

Eric Reay Mackay, a former star rugby player of the University of Nevada, now superintendent of the Los Banos (California) division of the vast Miller & Lux estate, has been ordered to report to the War Office in London for service with the British army, according to advices received by friends in Reno. Mackay is a native of Australia, but no longer owes allegiance to the British flag, having taken out citizenship papers in this country several years ago. In announcing that he had been ordered to join the British forces, Mackay stated that he did not intend to join the European conflict.

Mackay has enjoyed an interesting career. For years he was a veritable citizen of the world, a soldier of fortune. He emigrated to Nevada several years ago and attended the University of Nevada, where he specialized in agriculture. He was one of the best rugby football players on the Pacific Coast and was captain of the team one year. Incidentally he was first president of the University Block N society and a member of Sigma Alpha fraternity. After leaving the University he managed the McKissick estate in Reno and California. Leaving this city, his services were secured by the Miller & Lux Company, and but a few weeks ago he was promoted to the superintendency of the Los Banos division of that large company.

During his South African campaign Mackay was attached to General French's division. At the time he enlisted Mackay was but nineteen years of age. Within a few months he was promoted to a first lieutenant, and before he reached his twentieth birthday he was wearing a captain's shoulder bars. He was wounded several times during the campaign and participated in a number of engagements.

At the outset of his military career Mackay was detailed as dispatch bearer for General French. In this capacity he experienced more than his share of narrow escapes, his duties requiring the delivering of dispatches to other commands, and frequently his path lay directly through the country in the possession of the Boers.

Mackay took part in the famous advance of Lord Roberts that outflanked Cronje at Magersfontein. He was present when Kimberly was relieved, assisted in the destruction of the Boer army at Paardenbuck and the capture of Bloemfontein. He was likewise present with General Plummer in the advance on Pietersburg. This advance has been described as one of the bloodiest campaigns in the South African trouble.

Through his associations with General French, Mackay continues to be a warm admirer of the new head of the British forces in the field in Europe.

It was while leading his cavalry troops in action against a Boer battery that Mackay received several bullets in various parts of his body. This, however, did not deter him from continuing to fight, and after a short period in the hospital he resumed his place at the head of his troops.

"I have a pal managing the Blossom ranch at Red Bluff, Cal., who was with me in South Africa, where we both stopped several bullets," wrote Mackay. "He is like I am—married to the United States, and won't divorce Uncle Sam."

Nevada Men Attend Meeting

PRESIDENT HENDRICK TO TALK TO EDUCATORS AT GARDNERVILLE

President A. W. Hendrick of the University, Dean Knight and Professors Lewers, Turner and Wilson will attend the educational meet of the Parents-Teachers' Association of the county of Douglas, at Gardnerville, on next Saturday night. Each member of the party will address the parents and teachers upon educational subjects interesting to the county and the State in general. President Hendrick also will tell of the results to be achieved from his trip to the East, where he is attending a conference of college presidents at Washington.

A desire to arrange for a trip of the Home Economics worker, Miss Davis, to that district has been expressed. Miss Davis is now in the eastern part of the State, going over the same territory she covered some time ago, and she reports the progress of the various clubs she organized as very satisfactory. If Nevada has no other claim to fame the good cooks being turned out right and left under Miss Davis' instruction will fill the bill nicely and fulfill Senator Gault's prediction about the unmarried ladies.

Cassius Smith is Benedict

UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA GRADUATE RETURNS TO RENO WITH HIS BRIDE

C. C. Smith and bride arrived this morning from San Francisco and will be at home to their friends at 227 Maple street after a few days. Smith, a mining engineer and graduate of the mining school at the University of Nevada, is usually as calm as he is long, and he extends some six feet six inches in the direction of the vault of heaven, but when he went into the booth to vote on election day his nervousness caused him to spoil two ballots, and it was only after considerable argument by the election board that he was given a third try.

Immediately thereafter he rushed to the depot and a day later he was married in San Francisco to Miss Dell Hollowell of Idaho, a young lady who for several years has been teaching the youth of that State in the public schools.

The ceremony was performed Nov. 4 at Father Blennen's rectory, and Mr. and Mrs. Smith enjoyed their brief honeymoon trip to California's most attractive resorts.

If the home coming had not been unannounced a goodly throng of the friends of the young couple would have been at the train, but they vow to make good for their lack of opportunity this morning.—Reno Gazette.

Mackay during his Nevada residence was never given to the habit of discussing his South African experiences, and it was only to his warmest friends that he would occasionally relate some of his adventures. Even then it was difficult to get him to tell more than a few of his experiences. Owing to his reticence in talking of his war career it was not generally known here that he had served with distinction with the British corps.

Boyle Honored by Fraternity Mates

RECEPTION IS TENDERED GOVERNOR-ELECT AND CHARTER MEMBERS OF SIGMA ALPHA

Memories of college days were enjoyed last Friday evening by Governor-elect Emmet Boyle, who was given a reception by members of the Sigma Alpha fraternity of the University. Boyle is a charter member of this fraternity and one of the leaders in its post-graduate affairs.

Many of the members of Boyle's class were present at the reception, as were the younger members who still sit in senior and junior classrooms. Toasts to the brother member's success as the head of the government of the State were the feature of the evening, altho the general attitude of the undergraduates was that the distinction which has come to their charter member is nothing unexpected from any Nevada University graduate.

The fraternity home was elegantly decorated with pink chrysanthemums and carnations, with innumerable potted plants and ferns, in honor of the Governor-Elect and Mrs. Boyle. The reception hours were from eight to ten o'clock, and among the guests were twenty-six fraternity members, the regents and faculty of the University, the mothers of the members and the following members of the alumni: Fred DeLonchaut, Dean Bradley, J. B. O'Sullivan, A. E. Stewart, Harry Stewart, Clinton Sparks, Harold Layman, Frank Smith and a majority of the student body. An orchestra furnished music, and a bevy of young lady friends served wafers and ices. After the reception the members and a few friends enjoyed music and dancing until midnight.

Mine Extension is Planned

in the way of an ignorant worker. The high school considered would only treat the elementary ideas, but would be practical, with laboratories and instruments for the metallurgical and surveying courses.

For general university extension the agricultural department receives federal funds under the Smith-Lewer act. If the mining department could get the same aid the general plan of extension work could be greatly facilitated, so that the University authorities are now urging federal legislation to aid the mining extension work.

Mr. Tregloan, president of the board of school trustees, assisted Professor Lincoln greatly in making the rounds of the more important mines and meeting the various managers. Among those met by Professor Lincoln were Mr. Kirchen, manager of the Tonopah Ex; Fred Bradshaw of the Belmont; Charles E. Knox, president and general manager of the Montana Tonopah, and several other prominent mining men of the vicinity, who evinced great interest in the Mackay School of Mines, and especially Professor Lincoln's personal efforts to turn out practical miners instead of hand-book geologists.

Several managers were asked just what they wanted men, especially mining graduates, to know to be employed by them. The answers were clear enough and are to be embodied in future University work.

In the future the relations between the mines and the State University are to be much closer, more problems are to be worked out in the Reno laboratories and metallurgical tests will be made.

LEAGUE SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

the exposition contests, due to the lateness of the date. All the league games will be played before the first of March, when the exposition would only be opening. It is possible, according to the graduate manager, that championship games between the different leagues of California will be held at that time, but at present no definite plans for such contests have been arranged.
