

NEVADA VS. DAVIS FARM NEXT SATURDAY

Nevada Walloped by Utah Aggies On Logan Field to Tune of 26-0

EXPERIENCE AND EXTRA WEIGHT OF UTAH AGGREGATION RESULTS IN LOP-SIDED SCORE AFTER SPIRITLESS GAME.

TEAM WEAKENED BY INJURIES

HALF OF FIRST-STRING PLAYERS ON "CRIP" LIST, RESULT PREVIOUS GAMES; COACH TETZEL'S WARRIORS MAKE BRAVE SHOWING.

Showing a marked reversal of form from that displayed in the game of the preceding Saturday, Nevada was walloped by the carrot-fed Utah Aggies to the tune of 26-0. That the first year of the American game should be disastrous to the Nevada "games won" column was predicted, and the croakers have so far been correct.

Against Utah the Nevadans seemed to be rooted in their tracks. If Nevada had played the same game against the Olympic club, the score would have been nearer 70-6 than 7-6.

Leaving Reno Thursday evening at 9:05, the team stayed aboard No. 20 until Ogden was reached about noon the next day. As the train for Logan did not leave till 2 o'clock, the grounds of the Ogden High School were secured from Coach Romney for a short workout. A stiff breeze kept the fertile Utah soil a-moving and prevented all except the simple plays from being tried.

After a three-hour ride, Logan, the seat of the Utah Agricultural College, was reached. The assistant football manager of the Utah institution conducted the team to the Logan hotel, which place at once became the headquarters for the team and its local supporters. The accommodations supplied the team were excellent, and all were satisfied with the hospitality extended.

The game started at 3:30, and was played on the Adams field near the Aggie institution. The surface of the field was extremely rough; compared to the Mackey field, the ordinary stubble field would have been acceptable. Fast back field work was almost out of the question, for the field needed as much attention as the opposing players. Several sprained ankles tell this story eloquently.

Nevada kicked off to the Aggies, who returned the ball some 20 yards behind good interference. Several end runs and line bucks were used, in an effort to feel out the varying strength of the Nevada line. Utah made her first two gains but called a punt formation when Nevada's line stiffened for the third 10-yard advance. A forward pass was attempted but was blocked by Root.

For some few minutes the play centered in neutral territory, neither team making marked gains. From a messed-up line buck, Allanby emerged with an injured ankle and was taken out of the game. Healy took the left half back position and played the remainder of the game.

An old-time cressbuck was effectively used by the Aggies, the ball advancing to the secondary line of defense repeatedly before being stopped. This play, with a full-back run from a punt formation, were two plays that netted the Loganites their gains. Kappel, the full-back and captain of the Utah team, played an exceedingly strong game, and to him half the honor for the victory should be credited. The center and guards of the Aggie team were also strong.

Because of the crippled condition of the Nevada team, the combination work was exceedingly weak. The absence of Candland at quarter-back was felt from the start of the game. Graham, Stever and Allanby, who were suffering from previous injuries, did not last the first quarter of the game. Fake, who handled the team in good shape for a man who never played the American game before, went out with a sprained ankle in the second quarter, his place being taken by Jones. With all these handicaps, the Nevada team fought an uphill fight, some playing positions they had never attempted previously, in a way that won the admiration of those who understood the many set-backs experienced. The final score of 26-0 was a true measure of the playing ability of the opposing teams on last Saturday, and full credit should go to the team that made Nevada take the short end of the score so decisively. With a full team of regular men the tale would have been somewhat different; however, prophecies are out of place.

Lintott, Root and Kimmel played in the best form for Nevada. Captain Root time and again smashed his opponents back with vicious tackling, and showed good headwork on the offensive. One play which Nevada supporters were looking for, brought the crowd to their feet. On a rugby play around right end, Healy secured the ball direct from the center, passed to right half Root on reaching the line of scrimmage, Root advancing the ball some 10 yards and rainbowing it over the heads of the Utah back to Healy, where the play stopped after a good gain.

The line-up:
Nevada—Center, Kimmel; guards, Linlott, Baker; tackles, Kniffen, Crowley; ends, Stever, Graham, Martin, Hill, Jones; quarter-back, Fake, Jones; half-backs, Root (captain), Allanby, Healy; full-back, Williams.

Lister Withers of the U. of N., '15, who is taking the law course at the University of California, was one of the cast in the play "Prunella," which was produced by the English Club at the Greek Theatre last Saturday night.

SECONDS REGISTER NEVADA VICTORY

STEWART INDIANS DEFEATED
32-6 BY NEVADA ALTERNATIVES.

Nevada second varsity easily took the game from the plucky team of the Stewart Indian school last Saturday. The final score was 32 to 6. The Carson team lacked a knowledge of certain branches of the game and they were outweighed by the the Nevada men. The game was full of action from start to finish. Although beaten in the beginning the Indians fought back and put up their best game in the latter half of the contest. They were good at running interference and at times their forwards broke through the Nevada line but their secondary defense was weak and often the backfield was mixed as to the meaning of signals.

The Indian team possessed two good ends and their left-half also played a star game. The sole score was the result of an intercepted forward pass by Rain-in-the-Face, who ran 60 yards through a scattered field for a touchdown. The ball was in the hands of the second team most of the time and the play was kept in the Indians' territory a large part of the game. Aside from the score on the intercepted pass Nevada's goal was in danger only twice and then the Indians could not pierce the seconds team's defense.

The first quarter's play was unproductive of a score for either side. The ball ranged back and forth through the field and no startling gains were made. At the opening of the second quarter Nevada took the ball well into the Indians' territory. McKenzie placed the pigskin within a few yards of the goal after receiving a forward pass from Kemper. A moment later the second team quarter scored on a line buck. The goal was not converted. On the kickoff McKenzie ran the ball in twenty yards and Nevada twice made the distance on line bucks. Kemper started a forward pass but failed to locate his ends and dodged through the opposition for five yards. MacDonald bucked five yards through the line and Wiley made ten yards on an end run. On the next play Wiley fumbled and the Indians recovered only to fumble in turn and lose the ball to Masters, who fell on the pigskin behind the goal line. The attempt to convert failed. After the kickoff the Indians tried an end around end play but were thrown back. They kicked after losing the ball on downs. A series of fumbles by both teams followed and Nevada lost a chance to score through poor handling of the ball. The half closed as Kemper unaided by interference rambled the pigskin to the Indians 15-yard line.

On opening of the second half the Indians received and tried two forward passes but the first was incomplete and Wheeler blocked but recovered on a fumble. Chism caught a forward pass on Nevada's 88-yard line and MacDonald bucked 10 yards through the line. A forward pass from Kemper to Wiley was incomplete but a second attempt was made and Wiley, after recovering the pigskin, ran 70 yards to a touchdown.

The line-up for Nevada was: Center, Layman; guards, Masters, Wheeler, Jensen; tackles, Silva, Abel; ter, McKenzie; halves, Chism, Kemends, Greenwood, King, Wiley; quarter; full, MacDonald.

Monster Assembly Greeted McAdoo As Guest of University of Nevada

CADET BATTALION ESCORTS HEAD OF UNITED STATES TREASURY DEPARTMENT AND PARTY TO THE STUDENT GYM.

PERSONAL TALK MAKES HIT

GYM PACKED TO UTMOST BY STUDENTS AND TOWNFOLK EAGER TO HEAR POLISHED ADDRESS OF NOTED STATESMAN.

A holiday from university work was proclaimed today when it was learned that Secretary of the Treasury W. G. McAdoo was to be the guest of honor at the University assembly. The University battalion in full uniform acted as escort to the party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. McAdoo, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Newton and Mr. Cookson, the treasurer's private secretary. From the Riverside hotel, where the party stopped, to the University the cadet battalion accompanied the guest of honor.

President Hendrick, Governor Boyle and Senator Key Pittman acted as a reception committee at the assembly meeting in the gym. The main floor and galleries were packed, and the talk rendered by Mr. McAdoo received close attention. President Hendrick introduced Governor Emmet D. Boyle, who in turn introduced Secretary McAdoo.

The following are excerpts of his speech taken at random:

Mr. McAdoo addressed himself particularly to the young men and touched upon the evidences of the military training given at the University, saying in part:

"Naturally this is a time when we can afford to exult the American spirit and put America first of all. In exulting the national spirit and preserving the national conscience we should at the same time make those sensible preparations to secure the safety of this country that every intelligent country makes for itself. Military training not only makes of you better citizens but it also makes you able more intelligently to respond to your country's safety. It is extremely remote that we shall be called upon to defend this great country by arms. But civilization has fallen down very greatly in some parts of the world and enormous tragedies are being enacted today. We are wondering if it is wise to pursue the laissez-faire policy—but if we should not so prepare and equip ourselves to be able to look any nation in the face and tell them to go to—somewhere, if they aggress on our rights.

I don't believe in hysteria; I don't believe in appealing a question to hysteria; I don't believe in a policy of cowardice; I don't believe in a policy of fear; I do believe in a policy of courage; and a policy of patriotism and a policy of intelligence.

If we act with courage, and with patriotism, then it will follow naturally that we will act with intelligence.

"When I left college and went out into the world to make my way I received my first shock and this shock was to my ideals; I found that high ideals were not looked upon as necessary in practical life, that men in private life too often compromised their high ideals for expediency. This should be avoided. This country has developed a new conscience—the best of men in public as well as private life can act in accordance with the higher conscience and succeed. . . . When a nation preserves its ideals and conscience it will be great, and one the young men and young women depends the future of this country, and if you will preserve untarnished your ideals and finer conscience then will the future of the country be safe.

"Anything you undertake to do, do better than any one ever did before; do not do a thing fairly well and draw your pay; after you have determined the task you will do, do it better than any one else has done and you will make a mark for yourself and will lift civilization in the scale. Do not be downed by the ordinary act but go one better and do the thing well.

"Do you have a debating society here? In a democracy like ours there should be no man who cannot speak on his feet, because if you can express himself well on his feet you may be able to render very great service to your community, your state or the nation. It will be an increase of power if you can express yourself on your feet and there is nothing to develop this ability like a college debating society. My wife and I cordially and sincerely appreciate your warm welcome and feel like staying in the great west, the spirit of which we both love and admire."

OXFORD GRAD ADDRESSES CLASS

PROF. HARTMAN'S STUDENTS LISTEN TO TALK BY PHYSICS EXPERTS.

Professor Hartman's class in physics had the pleasure last Thursday morning of listening to a talk given by Mr. Hartley, former student at the university and the possessor of two degrees from Oxford university. Mr. Hartley is an old-time Nevada track man, and was also student assistant in physics. Since his graduation from Oxford he has been in the research department of the Western Electric company and has also helped to perfect the recently tested wireless telephone. ## EDITORIAL

TO THE CO-EDS.

In last week's Sagebrush an editorial appeared criticising certain co-eds for attending social functions when football games were being played. Manzanita hall girls were not singled out especially in this article, for to date Manzanita has made up some nine-tenths of the co-ed contingent. Just bear in mind, ladies fair, that we only objected when you paid us too little attention. When the husky male of the species dons his football armour, and starts tearing up the costly Mackay turf in a football game, it is only meet and proper that all the girls of the university should be on the job to help root for him. Lets all be there next Saturday.

THE GAME.

Just as the strength of a nation is best shown in time of trial, so is the true spirit of a university best gauged when defeat has been her portion. The calibre of a team and coach as well, is shown clearly when the odds are against the home team. Nevada played at Logan and lost. The game may or may not have been well played, but that is all the more incentive to the players and university at large to get out and fight for, and boost, in every way possible, the varsity team. If you can't play, get out and root, and encourage the fellows to master the intricacies of the American game. We'll surely appreciate it.

Musings of Monte

Being a letter to the home-folks from one Monti, '19, telling of the wild and restless freshman existence.

Reno, Nevada, Oct. 15, 1915.

To Mr. Montieth Smith, Sr.:

Dear Dad—Your cheerful letter at hand stating that you had received a notice from the registrar to the effect that I was behind with my last month's work. Immediately on receipt of same I did a little gum-shoing around and found out that it is a case of mistaken identity; and, as usual, Monti is the fall guy.

This burg must have been the original home of those bearing the illustrious name of Smith, as on investigation I find all styles and sizes in stock at the university, and unfortunately, you received the notice in-ended for Mike Schmidt, the janitor, who has a son attending the school here.

When I told Windy about it, he was as mad as the deuce. He said, "Well, wouldn't that get you? Why, you are a regular shark for work." And he also said that he never knew but one other fellow that could study as many consecutive hours as I can and not break down. I thanked him with tears in my eyes almost; I was glad to know that I had one friend left in the world, who appreciates my efforts. He advised me to go over to the registrar's office and raise the biggest kind of a rough house; but I said, "No, Windy; she's a lady; besides," I said, "I'm like (Continued on Page Five)

LINCOLN HALL NOTES

Lynch, the frosh "wizard" of the bow and fiddle, has captivated Manzanita hall with his soulful see-sawing.

According to the upper-classmen, after this it will be advisable to return home without drums on rally nights.

The news has just reached us that Ted Walford is the proud possessor of three new additions to his upper labicil appendage. Walford is confident that by spring his embryo mustache will compare favorably with his eyebrows.

It took "Kelly" Engle a whole day to find out that after all it wasn't a fellow who had his girl out Sunday afternoon.

"Dutch" Masters has had a private phone installed in his room to answer the plaintive appeals of prospective soul-mates. (See last issue of Sagebrush).

Lincoln Hall is agog over the news that Lee Scott, alias "Scotty the Rope," has made his debut into the social life of Manzanita hall.

In a communication from Fire Chief Hawcroft, "Judge" Gentry received warm praise for his heroic conduct in the recent Washoe Market fire.

PRESIDENT STUBBS' PICTURE TO REMAIN IN OFFICE—PLANS FOR RALLY FORMED.

Several important matters were discussed at the student body meeting last Friday. President Harry Hovey called the meeting to order and after the reading of the minutes the question of moving President Stubbs' picture was taken up. President Hovey reported that several of the upper-class students had conferred with President Hendrick on the subject and that after re-consideration it appeared best to allow the picture to remain in the inner office. It seemed more fitting for the portrait to stay in the office where President Stubbs did his work and also more in keeping with general custom. The question of buying hats for the big game on Thanksgiving Day was discussed. A motion was carried to the effect that hats be purchased by the students subject to the direction of the yell leader. Plans for the rally on the night before the game were announced and a motion was carried that the sophomores put on a stunt as well as the freshmen, inasmuch as they did not perform last year. The rules drawn up by the upper-class women for the under-class girls were read by Miss Lemmon. The meeting then adjourned.

Wednesday, October 20—Battalion review and inspection. Blue uniform.

Thursday, October 21—Both companies, Butts' rifle drill, followed by company drill, close order.

By order of the Commandant of Cadets.

"It is a fine thing to help an individual man or woman, but it is divine statescraft to build up a good custom or break down a bad one that shall control the actions of men long after individuals are forgotten."—Amos P. Wilder.

DRAMATIC CLUB HOLDS TRYOUTS

EXCELLENT MATERIAL TO BE DEVELOPED FOR COMING PLAYS.

A new branch of college activity was launched last Wednesday evening at a successful meeting of students for the purpose of primary organization of a dramatic club. Organization of the club is for the purposes of offering people interested in the university a new form of college activity, of bringing the students together socially and of giving the members of the club an opportunity to acquire ease and efficiency before an audience.

At the initial meeting, arrangements for the first tryout were made, and the judges decided upon. Dean Brown, Miss Cunningham, Mr. J. O'Sullivan and Mr. A. E. Turner consented to act in that capacity.

Eighteen people have been judged at two tryouts and arrangements are being made for the final meetings. Any student of the university is eligible for dramatic club tryouts. Hand in your names to A. E. Turner.

Those who have (this matter at heart are very much encouraged at the enthusiasm with which the students enter the organization. Excellent material is at hand and sufficient talent will soon be developed for any size cast of the numerous plays which are to be given this year. Watch the bulletin board for dramatic club announcements.

Maud has aching in her head.
Myrtle's looking thin and pale,
Nan has lost a fingernail.
Everyone is on the bum—
Everybody's looking glum.
There is ever constant blabbing—
Those not sick insist on crabbing.
Say! I'm tired of all this sorrow—
I am going home tomorrow!

Four girls found a cat (none was sweeter)—

"Jitney," they christened the creature;
Miss Brown soon came home,
Forced Jitney to roam—
Now he's been vivisected by Peter!

With a few more acquisitions, Manzanita should have a thriving menagerie. There are the family cats, Timothy and Alfalfa, (Jitney, alas, is a thing of the past)—to say nothing of a stray canine that insists on disturbing the dreams of the sleeping beauties of the open air department. The ducks on the lake also voice their sentiments at all hours. But strangest of all, perhaps, was the animal found smoking a pipe on the front porch Monday afternoon.

WOMEN'S UNDER-CLASS RULES.

I. Tradition maintains that the senior bench in front of the library be strictly reserved for seniors only.

II. The order of seating in student body and assembly is as follows and should be given special attention by under-classmen:

1. Rows I and II reserved for seniors.
2. Rows III, IV and V reserved for juniors.
3. Rows VI to the cross aisle reserved for sophomores.
4. Freshmen occupy seats back of the cross aisle.

III. Warning is hereby given that cutting campus is absolutely forbidden.

IV. A garbage can has been provided for the purpose of receiving all waste paper and milk chocolate wrappers. It is located near the north steps of Morrill hall. Please use it.

V. Under-class girls show your true college spirit by attendance at athletic contests, rallies, student body and class meetings.

VI. Loitering on the campus.

1. Freshmen girls are positively forbidden to "queen on the campus."
2. Under-class girls are requested not to use the university lawns as a pleasure or resting resort. Violations of these rules will be summoned before a committee composed of upper-class women.

MISS FRANCIS ENTERTAINS.

Saturday afternoon Zelma Francis entertained the R-O club at her home in Sparks. "500" was enjoyed, and later there was music and general conversation. A short business meeting was held at which new officers for the coming year were elected and other business disposed of. Dainty refreshments were served late in the afternoon to the following guests: Edith Mack, Vera Lemmon, Gladys Hofer, Dorothy Morrison, Mary Leon, Grace Leon, Dorris Taylor, Marion Weck, Ruth Wheeler, Vivian Engle, Adele Norcross, Bessie Markheim, Helen O'Neil, Georgie Young, Isabelle Rising and Mary Raitt.

DELTA DELTA DELTA.

Delta Delta Delta enjoyed a social evening Monday, when Vivian Butler and Agnes Constable entertained at the former's home, following the regular business meeting. A most clever program was prepared by the pledges and heartily enjoyed by all present, who were: Vera Lemmon, Edith Mack, Mary Raitt, Georgie Young, Nann Coon, Vivian Engle, Hazel Bacon, Elda Orr, Elsie Humphrey, Agnes Constable, Ruth McKissick, Doris Taylor, Gladys Hafer, Vivian Butler, Pauline Donlin, Adele Norcross, Dorothy Hampton, Emma Lou Singer, Zula Talbott, Lois McNeilly, Mabel Larcombe, Mrs. Bernice James, Mrs. Elsie Meaker, Bessie Markheim, Donna Brandon, Edith Taylor, Ruth Douglas, Constance Watson, Zelma Francis, Edith Harris, Edna Greenough, Lillian Gwyn, Grace Harris.

Y. W. C. A.

Last Wednesday the Y. W. C. A. meeting again took the form of a play, the Tokio committee presenting "Who Buys Her Bread." The scene was a room in Manzanita hall. The cast was:

- Cora, a skeptic.....Ruth Murray
- Bobbie, an athletic girl. Isabel Rising
- Hortense, a society girl. Ruth Douglas
- Margaret, a Y. W. enthusiast....
- .....Laila Baker
- Shirley, a Y. W. enthusiast.....
- .....Josephine Mortin
- Janina, a religious person. Hazel Seely
- Mary, a Y. W. worker... Gladys Davis
- Astria Marion, a "stude".....
- .....Constance Watson
- Jeannette, a "crabber".....Betty Bailey

The object of the play was to acquaint the new girls with Miss Matthew and her work in Japan. Miss Matthew is the Y. W. C. A. national secretary to Japan, not a missionary, and is supported by the student associations of California, Nevada and Arizona. Each college pledges a certain amount each year toward her support.

Miss Gladys as Mary told about the different kinds of work being done among the Japanese girls and then by means of a chart showed Miss Matthews' exact salary in dollars and cents by the day, the hour and even the half hour.

After this pledge cards were passed out and every girl present pledged herself to support Miss Matthews for at least half an hour of one day.

Betty Bailey, the chairman of the Tokio committee, feels very proud of the work of her committee this year, for already about $34 has been pledged and Nevada only promises $20. The committee, however, is planning to work very hard and are going to try to raise Nevada's pledge to $50.

In order to accommodate the down town girls on the cabinet and have a longer time for meetings the Y. W. C. A. cabinet have hit upon the novel plan of cabinet suppers. Two girls prepare the supper, cooking it in the basement of Manzanita hall and serving it in Miss Wygals' room. Each of the fifteen girls in the cabinet pay 10 cents and the two "cooks" spend the money as they see fit. It really is surprising what a good meal can be prepared for $1.50. There is always some sort of a surprise in the form of cakes or salad donated by one of the down town mothers, which certainly adds to the feast. Very soon the cabinet is planning to include at least one guest every week at these suppers.

Gladys Hofer, '16, returned last week after an absence of several months spent in San Francisco. She is registering and will begin classes this week.

OXFORD GRADUATE ADDRESSES GLASS

concerning his Oxford life and told of some of the traditions and customs of the English school. Oxford, he said, was stronger in languages and in the arts and sciences than many of the schools of this country. Much emphasis is placed upon examinations in all subjects. At the end of two or three years' study examinations are given which cover the work of the entire course. Mr. Hartley put in three years in the study of physics. Greek is not absolutely necessary except for entrance. The speaker placed stress on the fact that English do not want grinds but all-around men who can mix with the students and take an active part in athletics. One of the great benefits, Mr. Hartley said, of attending Oxford is the opportunity to meet and associate with men from every part of the English-speaking world. Oxford has a different system of granting degrees from the American schools. The degree depends solely on the examinations taken. When the written tests have been taken three examiners give an oral quiz, the passing of which leads to a higher degree. After a man achieves his Bachelor of Arts degree he may by paying certain fees for three years automatically receive the degree of Master of Arts. There are 21 different colleges at the university and each selects in some measure the men whom they accept as members.

A custom which seems odd to the American student is the control of the men by proctors. These officials patrol the streets of Oxford after 9 o'clock at night, accompanied by four porters called "bulldogs." If any man is caught outside his college grounds he is taken and fined five shillings. Instead of eating in a common dining hall, each man has at least two of his meals served in his rooms. Each student is given a suite of two rooms. The college year consists of three terms of eight weeks each, during which lectures are given and notes taken. The remainder of the year is called vacation, but during this time the actual hard grinding is gone. Mr. Hartley's remarks concerning Oxford life were exceedingly interesting and his talk was enjoyed by the entire class.

The Agricultural Extension Division has been engaged for some time in devising a practical system of extension work in agriculture and home economics throughout the state to be put in operation at an early date. It is planned to make the school district the local unit and to connect up the work by requiring local cooperation between the parents and teachers of the several school districts and the university, so that the procedure will be definite and lead to practical and recognizable results.

which I will try to manage with until the end of the month. I can easily do so, if I don't get hurt playing football. But I should worry. In case of an accident, I can be immediately rushed to the county hospital, as I understand all the other hospitals are P. A. Y. E. Windy says that it is no disgrace at all to be taken to the county hospital (they call it the poor farm here), as everything about it is very hygienic and sanitary, with one exception; the pest house is in the same yard, but fortunately there is only one case of smallpox there at present.

I think I will have to close now as it is 12 P. M., and I am studying for a physics ex. with a wet towel wrapped around my head. Prof Hartman says that's the best thing to keep the brain cool and clear.

Windy says that I am going to be a regular whiz in physics, because I have such an unusually clear understanding of the principals.

LINCOLN HALL GIVES BANQUET

PROMINENT NEVADA CITIZENS
ADDRESS DORMITORY MEN AND GUESTS.

Saturday night was a noteworthy occasion for Lincoln Hall and all the men of the university. A smoker and banquet was held and many of the town alumni and prominent men of the state, together with members of the faculty, were invited to participate in the good time. The purpose of the gathering was to bring about a closer relationship between the community and the university. Prominent men of the state including Governor Boyle and Judge Norcross, were present and addressed the men. Speakers of the evening laid stress on the value of social evenings and smokers where the alumni could get back to school and enter into the spirit of things.

During the evening the alumni took great pleasure in visiting their old haunts and comparing their own decorations to those of the present hall men. The program of the evening was as follows:
1. Introduction, Mayor Engle.
2. Mandolin Club.
3. The Cremation of Sam McGee, E. G. North.
4. Solo, Howard Frazee, accompanied by Paul Barker.
5. Mandolin Club.
6. Boxing matches, Al Henry vs. Emmet Smith; T. G. North vs. Ted Wolford.
7. Recitation, "Rev. Shwhinderkoff," Lawrence Hansen.
Toasts were given by the following: A. Grant Miller, Rev. Brewster Adams, Judge Norcross, Regent Dr. Sullivan, Dr. H. E. Reid, Prof. Hartman, Governor Boyle, President Hendrick. The subject which aroused the most interest during the evening was the building of an alumni hall where new and old students could meet and come to know each other. President Hendrick gave the closing speech and made the question of building a social hall his principal subject.

Always something new and different at the fountain. Dalton, Clifford and Wilson Co.

ENGINEER INJURED IN PECULIAR MANNER

PHILIP S. COWGILL SUFFERS
BROKEN LEG WHILE TAKING PICTURE OF HORSE.

Philip S. Cowgill, field engineer for the Union Land and Livestock Company at Tuscarora, was brought to his home in Reno suffering from a broken leg. Cowgill had gone into a small corral where cowboys were breaking outlaw horses, to get a picture of one of the animals in action. While he was busily engaged adjusting the camera, the wild horse dashed toward him, striking him on the shoulder with its head. Cowgill was wearing boots with high heels and became mired in the soft earth in the corral and when the horse struck him he was thrown from his balance and whirled around. The heel of the left foot held fast in the mire and in consequence the bone of the leg was twisted and badly shattered. Cowgill graduated from the University of Nevada last year and has been employed at Tuscarora since June.

"PEER GYNT" COMING TO GRAND THEATRE

Because of an accident which resulted in the slight damage to the film, the famous photo dramatization of Henrik Ibsen's "Peer Gynt," will not be presented at the Grand Theatre until November 8-9. Cyril Maude, the celebrated English star of "Grumpy," takes the principal part. Famous as a master of make-up, an interesting specimen of his powers is presented not only in his own remarkable succession of makeups but also in the makeup he personally applied in little Mary Ruby's portrayal of Ingrid when she has reached old age. Always cast in ingenue character in which she has gained a wide reputation, Miss Ruby has never had to essay any such role as that of a toothless old grandma. Cyril Maude, generously appreciating the plight of the younger player, came to her rescue and with "liner" and grease paint reproduced that graphic picture of decrepitude upon her face which is such an artistic feature of the closing episode of "Peer Gynt."

Although the population of the United States has increased only three-fold in 60 years, the number of college students has increased forty-fold. In 1904, only one-fifth of the students were in colleges of less than 1000. The World Almanac for 1915 lists 82 state and independent universities and colleges, 260 denominational, and 143 non-sectarian; a total of 485. Tango Sundae—made from Orange Pudding. D. C. and W. Co.
