They had games scheduled with Fallon and Yerington for this week but the former was postponed and the latter called off indefinitely. The Fallon game will be held next Saturday night and it will then be seen how the Frosh can stand up to a strange team.

Hupfer and Egan are out for center, and either one is tall enough to get most any touch-off. Waite is getting back to his old Bunkerville basket shooting style and is holding a forward position opposite Warren. Lattin and Martin make a pair of strong guards for the Babies. Metscher and Fraley are also in line for regular positions on the Frosh squad.

Both Sweaters and Socks Needed Badly by Men at Front.

An urgent appeal to the women of the country for more knitted sweaters, socks and wristlets for Red Cross war council. The Red Cross has forwarded promptly all articles received and has been obliged to buy half a million machine made sweaters to meet immediate demands.

"It is imperative that all the sweaters, wristlets and socks that can possibly be made by the women of the country should be turned into the supply department at the earliest possible date. With the cold weather coming on, the demand for sweaters especially has been beyond the capacity of all our resources to supply.'

THAT NATIONAL RECORD

All the facts and figures of the big drive for the Students' Friendship War Fund are now in and the campaign is officially closed. We now have cause to sit back and be justly proud of ourselves. The returns show that 260 faculty members and students pledged a total of $2,926.90. By division, this means that each person subscribing averaged $11.20. No other school or institution in the United States has surpassed or even approached that record for giving, and Nevada therefore claims the national record. Nevada was first to enlist her war quota of enlisted men; Nevada was first to subscribe her allotment of Liberty Loan Bonds; Nevada was the only state in the union to fill her draft quota without a single penny of expense to the national government; Nevada University has won the national record for giving to the S. F. W. F.; and we are waiting now to hear that a Nevada man is the first man "over the top" to get "Kaiser Bill."

LET'S CUT THAT MELON

There seems to be considerable haziness and uncertainty surrounding the Executive Committee as to what shall be done with the class dues that were paid at registration. It is now over two months since the matter has been laid upon the shelf and it should be attended to at once.

The resolution provides that the student shall pay a $5.00 fee upon registering, $4.00 to comprise the regular athletic fee, 50 cents as Sagebrush subscription and 50 cents as class dues. The class dues are to be apportioned among the classes in proportion to the number of students registered in each class. That means that for each student in a class, that class will receive 50 cents a semester. The only difficulty lies in the fixing of the students to the classes to which they belong. It is the duty of each class president to make out a list of class members and fix them according to years of residence. If any disputes arise, the upperclass committee should decide the question.

The solution are averaged to a strength of the students are present were Professor and Mrs. Wilson, the Misses Fairchild, Cameron, Short, Griswold, Howson, Wilkie and Haughney, and Messrs. Stephens, Sirkegian, Chism, Knight, Harriman, Sanders, Holcomb, Smith, Hardin, Nader, Patterson, Weatherwax and Warren.

The solution are averaged to the students arise, the upperclass committee should decide the question.

The solution apparently consists in the doing.

The talks given by Dr. Seaton and Rev. W. M. Brown at assembly last Friday were well worth going to hear, and we wish that more students were there to get the benefit. Also we wish that we could have more speakers like them on Friday assemblies.

Six Girls Complete a Very Valuable and Instructive Experience as Amateur Housekeepers.

The work in the Home Economics Stuffed Tomato Salad department has taken another step forward, as those who have visited the president's residence can readily see.

Miss Sears, the head of the Home Economics department, was granted Salmon Souffle the use of the big red house by the regents, so on the ninth of October Miss Sears and six energetic home economics girls moved in to do real, practical, economical practice housekeeping. This class has been a real tice housekeeping thirty-seven guests laboratory class-each girl doing the were entertained, and that expense duty assigned to her and getting her came out of the house money. The hostess' position was one of dignity-she did all the ordering, kept | ing such a jolly good time while doing accounts and did all of the carving, but the knife was never sharp enough and the accounts were so hard to bal- Webb, Lola Hanna and Lois Moody.

The parlor maid's duties were many. She made the parlor as attractive as possible for all visitors. And because of her ability to lay fires and start them the fireplace always acted as a magnet for all who came near it. Visitors were always met at the door by this demure maid, who greeted them with a sweet smile and a "Good morning" or "Good evening" and held out a tiny silver card tray. Some people have secretly confided since that the sight of that little card trav frightened them so that they were almost afraid to call.

Anyone having the fortune to be shown through the house reasonably early any morning would have seen the chambermaid busy with her broom and duster working in some room or the hallways, or perhaps the stairs. Her duties were always finished by eight o'clock every morning and all rooms open to inspection at any time.

Upon hearing the name laundress mentioned perhaps a person will smile But after he had laundered all the table linen and tea towels for a week and removed all stains and colorations then quite likely he would appreciate her efforts and approach with care all spotless, well laid tables.

WELL KNOWN SPEAKERS LECTURE TO STUDENTS

Dr. Seaton and Rev. Brown Address Assembly and Hold Forth Ideals for College Men to Follow.

Friday at Assembly period. They were Dr. John L. Seaton, president of the Wm. W. Brown, international Y. M. C. A. work at the Presidio, San Francisco.

Vice-President Lewers opened Assembly by introducing Mr. McDonald of Reno, who sang a sacred solo. Following Mr. McDonald, Dr. Seaton was Sparks. We can't imagine why Tom introduced, and the talk that followed was all that could be desired as an car conductor tells us that he always inspiration to college students. In giving advice to his listeners, Dr.

"Life will always suggest a great many questions to which no educational institution can give an answer. The supreme function of education is not to make us able to make more money, though that is an important bring around a new one.-No reward. thing, but to stir young people to recognize their own powers and to apply them to the work of life.

'The college education ought to yield, as no other education can possibly yield, the appreciation of what life means in service. It ought to give them openness of vision, that the truth will never find them blind or unresponsive. * * * Every student ought that he has a divine strengthening and inspiration for that purpose."

"More and more the college of the blending in permanent and peaceable wedlock of the old traditional culture with the modern ideal of skill and effi-to do a certain work better than any one else can do it; it is to have developed and bred within us idealism and absolute devotion to the things that we know to be truest and best."

"For a cause chosen as a supreme good every man ought to live, and, if need be, ought to be wiling to die."

Rev. Brown then spoke upon the Friday. same vein of college ideals, and with a few well chosen and pointed anecdotes made a very entertaining address. Contrary to his own opinion of himself, he proved to be very logical in his conclusions and had something to say.

"What you are going to do in ten years depends upon what you are now" was one of the truths that he drove home.

"No one is responsible for the way he finds the world, but he is the way he leaves it. No student is responsible for the way he finds the community where he goes, but he is responsible for the way he leaves it."

With a very apt example of this, he closed his lecture and illustrated the text of his thoughts:

"The lamplighter was always walking in the dark, but when I was behind him I was in the light. I have made this as one of the resolutions of my life. I may always be walking in the darkness, but those who come after me may walk in the light. I will leave the world better than I found it."

MANZANITA HALL RECEPTION The girls of Manzanita held open house for the members of the University faculty and their wives Saturday afternoon. The guests were received by Miss Mack and Miss Shade and conducted over the hall, making frequent stops at various rooms, where they were served with light refreshments in various forms. Tea was also served in the parlor by the senior girls.

THREE TYPES OF STUDENTS

When you are called upon to recite, do you make a good impression?

Or do you falter and waver and hem and haw and give the instructor time to see that, even though you know the answer to his question, you are at a loss to express yourself?

In every classroom we find three distinct types of students: those who repeat glibly the phrases of the textbook in their answers, parrot-like; ance; and those who bury their ignorance under an avalanche of pseudo wisdom—the bluffers.

Obviously, none of these types are desirable. Were the average instructor to choose from the three, he would very likely choose the latter as his favorite, not because he knew the matter in hand, but rather because of his quick wit, his ability to think upon the spur of the moment, and his ready facility of expression.

The latter, however, does not make a good impression always. But give him a workable knowledge of his subject and he will come out ahead every time. Such is the advantage of expression and quickness of mind.-Daily Michigan.
