GOLD NUGGET SALOON HAS WILD NIGHT

Soph Party Draws Many Hard Characters Who Enjoy Cannonading

If those who crossed the plains in the gold rush to the West could have come to life, they would surely have joined hands with the crowd of modern Forty-niners that gathered at the Forty-niner dance given by the Sophomores in the University gymnasium Friday night. If noise could have stirred them from their slumber, they would perhaps still be running wild across the desert.

Cowboys and cowgirls, clothed in wide sombreros, red handkerchiefs and fancy chaps, danced and skidded across the floor flashing six-shooters and uttering war whoops that would make an Indian blush with humiliation. Perfume-laden tenderfeet and sporty gamblers passed gold nuggets across the gambling table or upset roulette wheels and chairs in an effort to make "sweeps." Sly poke-bonnets girls peered from underneath their visors to catch a glimpse from the soulful eyes of their wooing lovers. Prospectors and stage-coach drivers threw on the bar pouches of colored stones in order to quench themselves of that unsatiable thirst that goes with a dry country. Even the minister dared thrust his head through the doorway and dance to the time of the snapping triggers off the automatics, or perhaps open his prayer book before some couple to join them in the wedlock.

When the crowd was not tripping along to the jazzy tune of the orchestra, it was jostling and bumping in front of the long lantern-lit saloon bar, quaffing of the cool, luscious liquors.

Pretzels and smoked herring formed part of the free lunch and—well—the long ride from the distant ranches and mining camps must certainly have been invigorating.

No pains were spared in fitting the gymnasium to look like a '49 saloon and dance hall. Large signs, such as "Leave your guns with the bartender," and "Don't quarrel, this ain't no morgue," hung on the walls, while a larger one with the words "Gold Nugget Saloon" written in large red letters, lent color to the whole scheme.

This camouflaged bacchanal revelry continued until shortly after midnight, and as the last couple strolled out into the darkness, a merry shout still echoed in the hall.

BLOCK N SOCIETY TO GIVE SMOKER

Next Wednesday night the Block N Society will stage an athletic smoker. The smoker is for all the athletes of the school and old athletes about town and prospective men for the next year. The athletic plans for next year will be discussed and a general plan of action decided upon. The question of a coach will also be considered. The smoke will start to rise at 8 o'clock.

COL. SCRUGHAM BECOMES STATE ENGINEER

Engineering Dean Again Takes Position Which He Held Before the War

With the signing of the state development projects it became necessary to have a man of considerable ability for state engineer and Colonel J. G. Scrugham, Dean of Engineers of the University, was appointed to fill the place. The position carries with it a place on the public service commission of Nevada. This is the second time that Dean Scrugham has filled the position. Before the war he was given a two year leave of absence from the University to take the position but before the two years was up he entered the service. Since his return from Washington a short time ago he has filled his old position of dean of the engineering college. He will now be separated from the University again during the time of the construction projects.

FROSH WILL PAINT BIG N SATURDAY

Time-Honored Custom Will Be Carried Out by Babes

Next Saturday the frosh will make their bi-ennial pilgrimage to the shrine of the block N to administer the needed coat of whitewash. They will not have the pleasure of the upper classmen's assistance as was the case last semester before the S. A. T. C. was established.

The heavy snows and rains have sadly dulled the luster of the great letter, but there is every assurance that the Class of '22 is capable and willing to give it a splash of white such as it never saw before.

Not to discourage the frosh, and for the benefit of others who may not know, the N on the foothills of Peavine is the largest university letter in this country (we don't know about other countries). It belongs officially to the University of Nevada but its care is entrusted to the Block N Society who see to it that the Frosh distribute the paint properly at the proper time.

The painting of the N is an event in every freshman's life, an experience to be remembered throughout his college career. The morning's work is usually topped off by a feed provided by the frosh co-eds and the ladies will be on hand as per tradition next Saturday.

SENIOR PLAY IS FILLED WITH THRILLS

George Egan Has Been Appointed Property Man for the Production

The Senior play, "The Man Who Went," is making rapid progress. Lawrence Hansen, who takes one of the leading parts, has been prevented from practicing by an attack of influenza, but he will be able to resume practices this week.

The play is snappy and exciting from beginning to end. There are several tense situations which cause the spectator to feel all kinds of thrills.

The play is to be produced at the Rialto Theater May 1, and the proceeds will go toward the Senior Class Memorial. George Egan has been secured as property man, which is no inconsiderable task in such a production, and under the skilful management of Phillip Frank, the play promises to be a great financial success.

FROSH BECOME FISH; BADT ALSO SWIMS; MUCH DISCIPLINING

The balmy spring air of the last week warmed the lake sufficiently so that it could be used for the time-honored purpose of dampening the ardent spirits of the unruly Frosh.

Accordingly the Sophs held a consultation, and the babes whose misdemeanors had been recorded, were rounded up and told that the lake was in excellent condition, and that it was time to cleanse themselves in their semi-annual bath.

The offenders being gathered together they were escorted to the pond where a large number of co-eds from Manzanita watched the second-year men heave them in.

Several classmates came to their rescue and for a short time there was a lively battle, but the Sophomores soon had them under control, and all were treated to a second bath.

The climax of events happened when Morris Badt, deeply engaged in explaining to two pretty Freshman maidens the rules of the campus, forgot himself and cut across the lawn.

The upper classmen immediately seized upon him to administer the punishment of the lake. Morris provided amusement for the spectators by carrying Al Cahlan in with him, and was thoroughly ducked for his pains.

NEVADA NINE TRIMS NORTHWESTERN TEAM

Reed Twirls for Nevada and Williams for the Club

In the opening game of the season the University nine defeated the Northwestern Club with a score of 11 to 5. Both teams showed lack of practice as the fielding was ragged and the batting erratic. The Northwestern men had more fielding ability while the University had an edge on hitting. Williams for the Northwesterners pitched excellent ball after the third inning. MacKenzie and Saunders divided honors in hitting, each garnering three hits from the offerings of Williams. Another game has been scheduled for next week and both teams are practicing hard in order to capture it. Batteries—Nevada, Reed and Griffith; Northwestern, Williams and McInnes. Score—Nevada, 11; base hits, 12. Northwestern, 5; base hits, 8.

BILL MARTIN ELECTED BASKETBALL CAPTAIN

Team is Entertained by Coach Ross at a Dinner

At a meeting of the basketball men last week Bill Martin was elected captain of the team for next year. The captain-elect is a member of the Sophomore class and has played every game that the varsity has had for the past two years.

The occasion of the meeting was a dinner given by Coach Si Ross for all men who made the trip to the coast. A sumptuous dinner was prepared by the host and all present partook of it in a manner that would indicate that they had just broken training.

STUDENT BODY MEETING

The regular meeting of the A. S. U. N. will be held Friday, April 4, in the Aggie Building.

Only a limited number of Artemisias are printed. Buy your ticket and be sure that you will have a copy.

WHOLE UNIVERSITY WILL CELEBRATE MACKAY DAY

Plans for the Biggest Day of the Year Are Maturing

In commemoration of the generosity of Clarence Mackay, benefactor of the University, donor of the Quadrangle, School of Mines, Training Quarters and athletic field, the University will celebrate Mackay Day Friday, April 11. Classes will be suspended for the entire day, while faculty and students turn out to aid in the general clean-up.

In the morning the male population will arm themselves with shovels, brooms, rakes and hoes and proceed to manipulate the foreign material about the athletic field, tennis courts, and training quarters.

Following a thorough clean-up of these respective places they will retire to the gymnasium where the ladies will have prepared a large feed. After the meal the various silver-tongued orators of this institution will orate upon our past, present and future. These speeches alone are worth suffering for.

The entire student body is required to turn out on the occasion, the biggest event of the year. Every Mackay Day so far has been a success and one cannot afford to miss the opportunity to be present.

The program for the afternoon has not yet been complete, but a detailed sketch of the entire day will be published in the next issue of the Sagebrush.

ENGINEERS' CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Moving Pictures of the Panama Canal Are Feature of the Evening

Those who attended the Engineers' Club meeting last Wednesday evening felt well repaid for their efforts in coming out. The meeting was given over to a motion picture show in which three reels were shown. The main picture was "The Panama Canal" and was to have been shown at the Smoker but did not arrive in time. The picture showed the construction work on the canal, the method of operation of the Miraflores Locks, and the manner in which they are filled and emptied. It also showed the manner of towing ships through the locks with electric locomotives, and the methods used in cleaning up several of the big slides, that for a time closed the canal to all traffic.

The last reel was one taken at the University several years ago, at the time of the big Nevada-New Zealand Rugby game. Many interesting scenes around the campus were shown, including a Sophomore-Freshman "lake party." On the whole the meeting was an enjoyable one and was well attended, by faculty and students alike. There will be several more meetings before school is out and it is hoped that there will be a good attendance at all of them.

The Artemisia detective agency announces that a number of hitherto unknown facts about various campus celebrities have been discovered and turned over to the Joke Editor of the annual for publication.

"TRUTH" PROMISES TO BE SPARKLING COMEDY

Delta Alpha Epsilon Production Will Be Staged Next Saturday

The last finishing touches are being put on "Truth," the production which is to be staged in the High School Auditorium Saturday, April 5, by the English Honorary Society. Tickets have been out on the campus the past week and have found ready sale. Anyone who has not yet purchased a ticket may buy from any member of the society.

Becky Warder, the heroine of the play, is charmingly portrayed by Helen Cahill. An inherited tendency to deviate from the narrow path of truth is Becky's only fault. One little tie leads to another, and before she knows it, she is involved with a man who has no moral principle whatever, her husband refuses to believe in her, and leaves her. Becky goes to her father, who lodges with Mrs. Genevieve Crespigny. This father, from whom Becky inherits her weakness, brings about a reconciliation by telling an enormous lie, but in the end all is well.

Eva Hale plays the part of Tom Warder, Becky's husband, very convincingly. The little domestic scenes between Tom and Becky prove the chief charm of the play. Lindon, the villain, is played by Dorothy Higgins, and Roland, the lovable but tricky father, is represented by Laura Ambler. Mrs. Crespigny, whose very appearance on the stage causes a laugh, is skillfully played by Marian Hooton, and Eve Lindon, the villain's wife, is played by Ruth La Kamp. Nellie MacWilliams, who was to take the part of Laura, Eve's friend, has been prevented from appearing by an attack of influenza, and Avis Lothrop will take this part. Marguerite Drumm, as maid completes the caste.

The play is very well worth seeing and should be attended by every person on the campus. Seats are selling at 50 cents, with a special rate of 35 cents to High School students.

FRAN MARTIN PLAYS FOOTBALL IN FRANCE

Fran Martin, '18, of the 86th Aero Squadron, has distinguished himself by making a football team that played in the final game of the American army series in France. The game went against Martin's team by the close score of three to nothing. Though he was on the losing team there is considerable honor attached in qualifying for the finals as the league included the best football talent and coaches of the United States. Martin was captain-elect of the Nevada team when he entered the army.

VOL. XXVI. RENO, NEVADA, TUESDAY, APRIL 1, 1919

FORGET IT!

The Sophomore party last week was a new and novel entertainment for Nevada. The unusualness of the affair appealed even to the giving of souvenirs, but with all the originality present, some one had to bring in the old stuff. The souvenir hunter was not content with the prepared souvenirs.

Without a doubt it is useless to say anything about the taking of the wine glasses at the "Forty-nine Ball." They are gone and the class stands the loss along with its other expenses, but if possible something should be done to prevent the recurrence of such a trick. When a person is invited to a class function, such as that of last Friday, in which almost the entire expense of the affair comes out of the pockets of the class members, he has no more right to carry off any of the rented or borrowed properties than he would to carry off the silverware after a dinner at a friend's home. However, that is just what happened. If a man attempts to rob a bank he can at least be admired for his nerve but no one can admire a person who indulges in petty thievery of a friend's property.

YOUR TEARS

(As Tagore Might Have Written It.)
 The light of the sun ripples like restless tiny shuttles weaving golden tapestry.
 I have heard the liquid murmur of the river thru the darkness of midnight.
 Your eyes are like two silver stars gleaming across the desert of Tepantar.
 Like pink roses your cheeks glisten with the dew of your sorrow.
 My heart cries out in pain.

(As Irving Berlin Might Have Written It.)
 Dry your eyes, my honey, dry your little eyes of blue,
 You're my sweetest, neatest little baby.
 Weep no more, my honey, to you ever I'll be true,
 We will live in Honolulu maybe.
 Every time you cry I feel a shiver down my spine;
 Every tear you drop is far more precious, dear, than wine.
 Take my ukelele, quiet all your fears,
 You nearly drive me nutty with your tears.

(As It Would Be Published by Snappy Stories.)
 My heart is torn with anguish by your tears.

 Deeply they sear their way into my bosom.
 Hot madness courses wildly thru my veins.
 I tremble and my brain reels
 As I feel the cosmic surge of your despair
 Calling to me.
 The pearly gates of paradise—the paradise of love
 I see before me thru your tears.

(As It Would Be Written by Dr. Thomas Tovell.)
 Weep no more my gentle maiden, thy complexion is awry,
 I love not the lovely dew drops hanging softly in thy eye,
 If thy shoes are tight and hurt thee, fair damsel, take them off,
 Alas, the sky is shedding water and my opera hat I doff.
 Eureka! Weeping maiden, won't you take this golden ducat
 And get thee down to Sweitzer's and buy thyself a bucket.
 —Michigan Daily.

THE CAUSE

"I saw Jennie in a fit yesterday."
 "Good gracious! What caused it?"
 "Her efforts to get into a skin-tight waist."

OUR COLLEGE CONTEMPORARIES

Michigan—At a meeting of the student council of the University of Michigan the subject for discussion was freshman hazing. It was the opinion of those present, not as councilmen, but as upperclassmen, that the average freshman needs some hazing, but that there is a point where a definite line must be drawn. Mob hazing which invariably results in bodily injuries is not to be countenanced, and the council is ready to take drastic action should any such action occur. The council, however, wants to return to the former class rushes and an effort will be made to reinstate push ball.

Washington—For the first time in four years the Associated Students of the University of Washington are out of debt. The last note of the $11,000 debt into which the student body plunged on the completion of the University field four years ago, has been paid off. In 1916 the Associated Students on the authority of the board of control, drew a loan of $11,000 to construct and maintain for a time the new athletic field. The cinder track is said to be the best in the West. When the debt was incurred it was the expectation of the finance committee to pay it off in five years. It was mainly through the savings on the athletic program, as well as through the earnings of the Washington Daily that the debit column on the A. S. U. W. books is now cleared.

Yale—For the first time in the history of Yale University a woman has been awarded the rank of assistant professor. The university corporation has conferred this honor on Miss Lottie G. Bishop, executive secretary to the secretary of the university. Miss Bishop has been in the one office since June, 1911, and because of her conscientious and diligent work, has more than merited this advancement, in the opinion of the university authorities.

California—The University of California recently conducted an institute for house managers. The object of the institute is to help the house managers to meet the problem of high prices. Heads of the women's organizations and heads of boarding houses were invited to attend the course. Some of the subjects considered were: "How to Select and Buy Foods," "Special Needs in College Diet," "Well Balanced Meals and Meat Substitutes."

Georgia—The University of Georgia has taken a decidedly forward step in the matter of athletics. Georgia has established mass athletics as a means whereby every student may and will receive physical training and development. The University of Alabama is the only other college that has taken a similar step. Together with Alabama, Georgia stands alone as a pioneer in this branch of athletics. Now comes the word that Auburn is trying to establish some such system.

With the coming of this beautiful spring weather that we are now being treated to, the Kat finds itself rapidly becoming satiated with the spring fever and the good work is being sadly neglected. The Editor, realizing that my head is being turned and that my reports are few and far between and knowing that the weather and its allurements should really afford me many excellent opportunities for gathering scandal, has threatened to tie the can to my tail. Now, being a clever Kat, I propose to beat the Editor to it and am, therefore, emitting this "Kat Kall" to all the ardent scandal mongers on the campus. The Kat needs a partner on the job at this stage of the game and as it is thought that there are enough willing dopsters at the "U" to hold down the job successfully, any such who care to apply should make themselves known to the editor or drop some marked copy into the Sagebrush box at the office.

It has been recently reported that the Sagebrush's cub reporter, Dick Bryan, made his debut at Kane's during the week end. He thinks it is wonderful! His companion must have helped immensely to make the evening enjoyable.

"Brow" Gooding seems to be getting the spring spirit in his veins and is losing all interest in the Senior Play when he sees a chance to beat Hal Wahlman's time in Campustry 101 under the tutorship of the Buster Brown collar.

The Kat is one of those animals which naturally has an aversion for water so it can readily sympathize with Eva Hale for having fallen a victim of the dampening effects of the ditch near Verdi. The one bit of hard feeling that the feline must retain for Eva is the fact that she was carrying home an empty milk can at the time of the accident and she knows that all kats like milk.

OLIVER LAYMAN IS CURE FOR THE FLU

Returned Soldier Brings Many Souvenirs from the Battlefields

Mrs. J. D. Layman and small son, Teddy, who have been convalescing from attacks of influenza under the efficient care of Mr. Layman, the University librarian, were completely cured Saturday morning by the arrival of Oliver Layman, who has just returned from France. He was discharged from Fort Russell, Wyoming, which is to be a demobilization camp for the men of Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho, Utah and Nevada.

Oliver is the first of Mr. and Mrs. Layman's three sons in the service to return. Harold and Everett are still in France. Oliver brought with him many interesting souvenirs of the war, among them his "tin hat," an American gas mask, a German rifle with its sawtoothed bayonet, all of which saw "active service" in the front lines. He also brought some interesting specimens of German propaganda which were dropped from German planes over the French, American and English lines, persuading the men fighting for the Allies to be free boarders behind the German lines for the duration of the war.

WORLD FELLOWSHIP TEA

The World Fellowship Committee of the Y. W. C. A. gave a charming tea at the home of Mrs. Walter Clark on Wednesday afternoon. The rooms were beautifully decorated with flowers and greens. Dainty refreshments were served by members of the committee who were dressed as Japanese girls. Miss Henrietta Thompson gave an interesting talk on her work among the foreign women. A program of music and short recitals were also enjoyed.

SOPHOMORE DANCE

No one ever will forget the Gold Nugget Saloon staged by the Class of '21. If ever the college students got a thrill it was on Friday evening in the gymnasium. The costumes of the ladies were most attractive and as for the men—many a girl's heart just stopped when she saw so many wild west heroes. There were drinks and free lunch, the best orchestra in the city, gambling, shooting and dancing. The students of the University congratulate the Sophomores on their spirit and on their success as entertainers and hope that they will keep it up through college.

HELENA SHADE ENTERTAINS

Last Wednesday Helena Shade was hostess at a dainty luncheon served in her room in honor of Miss Henrietta Thompson. Her guests were the members of the World Fellowship Committee. After luncheon Miss Thompson told the girls of many of her interesting experiences abroad.

TAU PICNIC

Sunday was an ideal picnic day, on which the Phi Delta Taus were hosts at a "wienie" roast. Eleven couples hiked down the river to Poor's Grove, a dandy picnic ground, where a big bonfire was built. Around it fat, juicy wienies were roasted later. The whole afternoon was just one big good time spent on "singing," stunts and the like.

Those present were Emily Burke, Eva Hale, Laura Shurtlief, Ruth Pilkington, Dorothy Churchill, Martha Ryan, Louise Sullivan, Carmen Rockstead, Lulu Hawkins, Evelyn Walker, Marie Pohle, John Douglas, Gerry Eden, Harry Stephens, Lyle Kimmel, Don Warren, Harold Wahlman, Don Burke, Ed Reed, Noble Waite, Bobbie Griffith and Floyd Moffitt.

THE WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Speaker Shows Marriage No Longer a Necessity for Women of Today

The Women's League of the University of Nevada held its regular meeting Friday at 11 o'clock in the Aggie Building. The meeting opened by the singing of college songs and the regular business was transacted. The question of letters for sports was the main subject of discussion and a committee was appointed to investigate and report the situation at the next meeting. The constitution committee also reported.

After the business meeting Mrs. W. E. Clark gave a most interesting and enjoyable talk on suffrage as it affects women of today. She showed that women are today in a position where they need not accept marriage as a necessity for making a living but may enter it from choice.

THE GUY THAT WROTE THIS WAS HALF SHOT

A duel was lately fought in Texas by Alexander Shott and John S. Nott. Nott was shot, and Shott was not. In this case it was better to Shott than Nott. There was a rumor that Nott was not shot, but Shott avows that he was not, which proves either that the shot Shott shot at Nott was not shot, or that Nott was shot notwithstanding.

It may be made to appear on trial that the shot Shott shot Nott, or, as accidents with firearms are frequent, it may be possible that the shot Shott shot shot Shott himself, when the whole affair would resolve itself into its original element, and Shott would be shot and Nott would be not.

We think, however, that the shot Shott shot shot, not Shott, but Nott. Anyway, it is hard to tell who was shot.—Ex.

There is a great problem weighing upon the mind of every Manzanita girl now. How can she possibly come in at 8 o'clock, new time, because it won't even be dark at that time. The Manzanitaites believe in lots of fresh air—especially evening air—because it gives them keener minds to cope with chem and math when they do have to come in. The problem has not been solved yet but all are hoping for at least an extra half hour.

GOVERNOR VETOES BILL GIVING THE SOLDIER STUDENTS $250 BONUS

The bill giving soldier students a $250 bonus for one year in school has been vetoed. The bill provided for $50,000 to be divided between two hundred bona fide Nevadans who have served in the army or navy a minimum of six months. The governor disapproved the bill because he felt that it would be discriminatory to a high degree. The money appropriated would be given to but two hundred men while there were over six thousand men in service. The governor said that he favored doing everything possible for returning soldiers and sailors but he thought that all should be treated alike.

PERSONALS

Nevada will be represented in the University of Paris by at least one man this summer. Private Earl Wooster, 23rd Engineers, writes that he has made the grade and henceforth for some time will take intensive training in French under the auspices of the U. S. army. His mail address while in Paris will be care American University Union, 9 Rue Richeleu, Paris, France.

Lieutenant Charles F. Williams, 30th Engineers, gas and flame division, is again a civilian. He spent a year in France without missing any of the big battles and was decorated for bravery. At present he is in Texas and mail will reach him in care of the School of Mines, El Paso, Texas. While at Nevada he was a student in the School of Mines and a member of the Class of '18.

Tony Baccus, ex-'20, is visiting in Reno for a few days. Baccus spent eight months in England and succeeded in reaching France before he was returned to America. He served in England as a machine gun instructor.

Lieutenant Ed Caffery, ex-'18, has been making use of his glee club talent while in the army, being a member of a caste consisting of many army officers and society women of his camp. The caste consisting of several hundred has been staging a play called, "I'll Say So," and recently made a trip to Washington, D. C. Caffery will be home soon.

THE CHIEF END OF SCHOOL

The rich old uncle from whom much was hoped for was visiting his niece, who had been telling him how dearly his little namesake loved his school and how well he was getting on with his studies.

"Well, Teddy," said uncle jovially, upon the return of the little boy, "what do you do in school all day?"
Teddy pondered. "Well," he said gravely, "mostly I wait until it's time to go home."

RETURNING YANKS BIT BY "CHEVRONITIS" GERMS

"Chevronitis" is the new disease as a result of the war. It is a malady peculiar to doughboys, and it not unlike smallpox in that it causes the victim to break out in violent eruptions. Bad attacks are shown by the number of chevrons and the directions in which they point. The most aggravated cases have chevrons everywhere, on the right shoulder and in the middle of the left elbow, and some stripes can even be found on the knee and right hip. To clear up any misunderstanding on the part of the doughboys who wear the doughboy wearer immediately got them it is suggested that these meanings be used for various decorations:

A chevron on the right shoulder signifies that the wearer hasn't any cooties, but has survived an awful battle with them in France.

A chevron on the left shoulder signifies that whenever a pretty American Red Cross nurse arrived in France the doughboy wearer immediately got in the way of a German machine gun bullet.

Between the shoulder and the elbow on the right arm a chevron signifies that the wearer has an uncle in the army. On the left elbow it signifies that the wearer has a girl in France. Worn on the breast between the third and fifth rib, it indicates that the girl he left behind him didn't spend any time waiting for him to come back.

He who possesses a Thrift stamp is entitled to wear a chevron on the right hip. If he bought a Liberty Bond it is an inch higher.

A chevron on the right leg, close to the knee, signifies that the wearer didn't like baked-beans and was brave enough to tell the cook about it. If the stripe is worn an inch lower it indicates that he emerged victorious.

A chevron on the left hip means that the man wearing it has been mentioned by the inspector-general. All doughboys know what an honor that is, because the inspector-general speaks only once, but fluently, and plainly, and everyone else knows just what he is talking about.—Colorado Tiger.
