AFFIRMATIVE SIDE AGAIN WINS DEBATE

Redfern and Hansen of Seniors Lose to Belford and Armstrong of the Juniors

The second of the interclass debate series was held Thursday, April 3, between the Juniors and Seniors. Professors A. E. Hill, R. C. Thompson and S. C. Feemster acted as judges of the debate.

Adele Armstrong and John Belford as representatives of the Junior team, contested that the United States government should own and operate its interstate railways on the grounds that the government owned railways of other countries are better than ours, that the economy would be greater, that it would be difficult to return the roads to private ownership under present conditions, and that it would be financially possible for the government to take over the roads.

Lawrence Hansen and Ira Redfern upheld the contention that private ownership and operation under government control was preferable to government ownership and operation. They showed how efficient, comfortable and safe the United States railways had been in comparison with railways of other countries. Also they declared that buying railroads would add greatly to the present national debt incurred during the war and would be a great mistake financially.

Both sides warmed up a little more in the rebuttal than they had in the debate. While the judges were deciding the issue Mrs. Belford spoke to the gathering on the work of the National Federation of Women's Clubs in connection with the Liberty Loan work. She gave a very interesting talk but was interrupted by the return of the judges. Professor Thompson announced the decision in favor of the Junior affirmative team.

After the debate a short business meeting of Clionia was held. The idea of giving a play was discarded and a committee was appointed to look into the matter of giving a banquet before the term ends.

The final debate will be held in two weeks, probably Friday morning before a general assembly in the gym. Since the affirmative won in both preliminary debates the participants in the finals flipped a coin with the result that the Juniors will take the affirmative of the question and the Freshmen the negative. The final will be a splendid debate and both sides are working and hoping to win.

SENIORS NOTICE!

All Seniors meet at the new aggie building Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. The picnic will be at Bowers.

BACCALAUREATE ADDRESS TO BE GIVEN BY THE REV. STIDGER OF SAN JOSE, CAL.

The Reverend William L. Stidger of San Jose has consented to give the Baccalaureate sermon in the gymnasium on May 4. The Reverend Stidger is a speaker of note and is pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of San Jose. The members of the University may consider themselves fortunate that so noted a person could be secured for this occasion.

ARTEMISIA OUT ON MACKAY DAY

Year Book is Finished and Should Be Bound Friday; Ticket Sale to Stop

A "Life Time of Enjoyment" would be a fitting title for the 1919 Artemisia which will appear on the campus next Friday, Mackay Day. The book is a record of the activities on the campus during the past year and is a fitting memento for any of the students or faculty to take away with them as representative of the student life on the campus. The book is one which will give pleasures in the years to come when you are no longer a student on the Hill but still have the memories of your college life with you.

The book is enjoyable from cover to cover and contains matters of interest to every student and faculty member on the Hill. There are two hundred and sixteen pages in the book and each one is an enjoyable one. There are twelve pen-and-ink drawings in the book and one is of a— . On second thought the editor won't tell what it is of but where did the artist find the model, is the question that is bothering the rest of the staff. Eleven full pages are devoted to snapshots around the campus and one wonders at the various costumes exhibited in these pictures. Here's a tip, fellows, look at that page devoted to Manzanita, it will be worth your while. Fourteen pages devoted to jokes testify to the fact that the joke editor was on the job and can out-cut the Kat when given the chance. Each sorority and fraternity have a full page panel cut and all organizations the same. All in all, the annual is a book that should be read by every student on the Hill and those students who fail to do so will be the losers.

Whether the Artemisia will be a success financially or not depends entirely on the number of copies sold to the students. The staff has gone ahead with the assurance that the student body would stand back of the book financially. It is the duty of every student here to buy an Artemisia and support the book.

P. S.—The staff is sorry that the Artemisia will not contain a picture of the Iota Gamma Sigma gang this year. An attempt was made to get their picture but O'Brien, Jones, Bruce, Olmstead, Cahlan and Martin proved too much for the camera. However, the editor promises that the drawing of the — will more than make up for the absence of this picture.

BUY YOUR ARTEMISIA TICKET WEDNESDAY. IT'S YOUR LAST CHANCE.

PRESIDENT CLARK GOES EAST ON UNIVERSITY BUSINESS

President W. E. Clark left Sunday morning for the East on University business. He will visit both New York and Washington during his trip and will be gone probably about two weeks. It is probable that during his trip he will interview personally some of the applicants for the position of coach and athletic trainer which is now open.

Nothing that you do is without its effect on other people.

CO-EDS COMPLETE BASKETBALL SERIES

Mixed Team of Juniors and Seniors Get Cleaned Up on by Soph Basketers

The last game of the girls' interclass basketball series was played off Thursday night between the Sophomores and Upperclassmen. As the game began promptly on time there were few rooters for either side the first half. However, several Sophomore girls owned that Waite's enthusiastic rooting helped them along. In the second half the Sophomore boys turned out in full force and made the gym ring with their demands for victory.

Both sides lost some of their star players due to the "flu" epidemic but the game was well played and showed a lot of pep. Riley and Slavin were at their old places as guards on the upperclass team, Lothrop and Churchill played a dandy game in center and Ogilvie and Harris shot the baskets. Hallie Organ and Helen Fuss were at their best as forwards on the Sophomore team. Hallie made every free throw but one, showing a form that has seldom been equalled among basketball girls. Helen made all but one of the field goals. Together the two made a combination that would be hard for any two guards to break up. Margaret Barnes and Midred Twomey played center, Anne Underwood and Agnes Jensen, guards, and Luella Murray sub for the Sophomore team.

The game was fast from the first move to the end. The final score was 12 to 5 with the Sophomores ahead. This last victory gives the Sophs the championship and the right to have the class numeral with the date of their victory engraved on the silver cup in the library. This cup was donated by the Women's Faculty Club for this purpose and bears the numerals of four classes already. It was last held by the class of '19, who won it in the spring of 1916. Since then no games have been played until this year. It is hoped that this year's revival of the custom will be continued. The class of '22 is almost immodest in its assertions that it will win the honors next year and the Sophs are firmly resolved to hold what they have so well earned this year.

Now the question arises as to whether the girls who have played in the interclass games have the right to wear the class numerals. A plan has been proposed which has found little favor with the girls so far. It provides that a girl to win the numerals must play on two class teams in two sports for each of three years. The first year she is to receive a U, the second an N and the third the class numeral. The girls object to this scheme for several reasons. First, there is only one class team on which any number of girls can play. Next a U might be mistaken for Utah, so they prefer either the numerals or the N the first year. This question has been hotly discussed between girls who are interested and will probably be brought up at the next student body meeting.

PROF JAMES GOES TO FRANCE

Former Dean of Department of Education Receives Foreign Appointment

Dr. George F. James, former Dean of Education, sailed last week for France. He will hold one of the highest positions in the educational department of the American army schools in France.

Professor James left the University several months ago to enter war work. Since then he has been in charge of the educational work of the western division of the Y. M. C. A. at San Francisco. He will now be head of the department of education in the army university at Baume, France, and will remain abroad at least a year.

HOLIDAY TO HONOR DONOR OF MINES SCHOOL

CELEBRATION WILL INCLUDE RENOVATION AND CLEANING UP OF THE TRACK AND FIELD; DINNER AND GAMES IN THE AFTERNOON AND DANCE AT NIGHT

Next Friday has been designated as the day on which the University commemorates the generosity of Clarence Mackay and celebrates the annual holiday given in his honor. Mackay Athletic Field, together with the training quarters and bleachers, is the splendid gift of Mr. Mackay, as is the Mackay School of Mines, and since 1907, when the work was completed, it has been the custom of the University to set aside one day in the spring, on which the faculty and students can get together and celebrate in his honor.

In the morning, the usual cleanup will be carried on, in which the rubbish will be cleaned up, and bad spots in the track repaired. The training quarters and the gym will, of course, receive their annual spring cleaning which they so badly need. All men possessing garden rakes, hoes, shovels and other such implements of torture should bring them along. The cleanup committee composed of Hal Whalman, chairman, Kenyon Olmstead, Kay Mackenzie, Pat O'Brien and Mel Saunders will direct the work, assisted by various and sundry Profs. as usual. Operations along this line commence at 9 o'clock, and any men not present or presenting a satisfactory excuse, for absence at that time will have to conduct an interesting investigation of the geology of the lake bottom, together with any cleanup there that is deemed necessary by the Upperclass Committee.

At noon all will repair to the gym where the cravings of the inner man will be satisfied. Evelyn La Kamp, assisted by Salome Riley, Nellie McWilliams, Alice Boynton, Helen Fuss, Ethel Steinheimer, Norma Brown, Doris de Hart, Edna Clausen, Bob Griffith and Wallie Walters, will prepare a sumptuous feed of sandwiches, salad, ice cream, cake "and everything," which should put great joy in the crowd.

Different notables, of campus and city, will give speeches, talks and offer Truckee toasts, following which the A. S. U. N. will hold a regular meeting at which nominations for next year's student body officers will be made.

The program for the afternoon has not been fully completed, but it is promised that there will be something doing every minute. There will be a baseball game between either the Faculty and the Upperclassmen, or one between the Aggies and the Engineers, in either event it gives promise of being a "tough" contest. The girls will probably put on some kind of a stunt, either a basketball game, or an indoor baseball game in the gym. Whalman, who is chairman of the committee, has been on Mount Rose for a few days, but will return soon and complete plans for the afternoon.

In the evening the Gothic N Society will stage a dance at the Gym, which should prove to be one of the memorable events of the day. Good music is assured and anyone not attending will miss one of the main features of Mackay Day. The proceeds of the dance go towards buying Gothic N pins for the members of the girls' basketball team.

SUMMER SESSION TO OPEN JUNE 24th

Faculty Will Consist of Eighteen Regular Members and Four Special Lecturers

The summer session of the University will open on Saturday, June 21. The faculty will consist of nine members of the University faculty and the rest from other schools. The instruction will include courses in education, agriculture, art, biology, English, history, psychology, home economics, music, mathematics, French, woodwork, commercial subjects, and physical education. The dining hall will be open to all students and Manzanita Hall for all women connected with the school who care to stay in the dormitory.

All students will have to pay an enrollment fee of $5.00 for the courses but no other fees will be taken. There will be no entrance examinations, any one can enter who has had sufficient previous education to profit by the work. Each course will carry two regular university credits if the student is duly qualified to take the work. A maximum of three courses may be taken for credit and upon application a student may enroll in a fourth as a visitor.

The members of the University who will teach in the summer school are: J. R. Young, director; C. S. Knight, agriculture; K. Lewers, art; Charles Brown, biology; F. W. Traner, education; A. E. Turner, English; J. A. Nyswander, mathematics, and C. Somers, physical education. Teachers from the outside are: C. L. Neely, Metropolitan, education; Leila Osborn, Chico normal, primary methods; Alice Brennen, Elko, history; Lottie Ward, Las Vegas, home economics; L. S. Neeb, Reno, woodwork; Mrs. Wagner, Reno, music; W. E. Lowther, Reno, French; Mose Sherman, Reno, commercial subjects, and Nan Coon, Reno, assistant in physical education.

NORTHWESTERN CLUB COMES BACK, U NINE DEFEATED

The Northwestern Club won the second game of the series from the University nine by a score of 13 to 6 last Saturday. The heavy hitting of the Northwesterners featured, getting 12 hits to 4 by the University. McGinnis pitched airtight ball for the club all the way, keeping the hits well scattered and a goose egg would have been awarded to the University if it had not been for the loose fielding. Waite's fielding for the U. was a feature of the game. He accepted five chances out of six. Errors by the University were numerous, which resulted in the large score. The game was played on the N. C. O. field.

IS AN EDUCATION WORTH WHILE

Another school year is nearing an end and just as fast as the year is ending twenty or more people in the University are finishing their education. With most of these people the problem of earning a living will be the foremost thing in their minds for some time to come and the question that naturally arises is, "Does an Education Pay?" and it is not easily solved.

The graduate gets out of school and sees those who left school years in the business world earning more than the grad stands any chance of doing for some time to come. He immediately feels pessimistic about the superiority of the man of practical training. He applies for a position and finds that he doesn't know what he can do or how much he knows. The result is that he must start at the bottom with low salary and a poor position. He starts to work up and in the meanwhile happens to look back at his school and size up the situation. He finds that his former instructors are on an average receiving a smaller salary than plumbers and bricklayers and other tradesmen. The question which is then forced home is this, If a university teacher who spends his life largely in study gets no more than a tradesman who learns his trade in a short period of years, is it worth while to go to college? Apparently it is not worth while. However, only the apparent side has been considered and then only the financial side of the question.

If anyone reading this article feels that they are convinced by it and that education does not pay, they should look up the facts of the case as set forth in national statistics. They should then consider other phases than the financial and if still convinced they will probably find it best to act on their conviction.

BIG LETTER IS AGAIN PAINTED

Frosh Buy Picnic Outfit and Wish to Rent It

Probably, when the upperclassmen saw what a perfectly miserable day Saturday turned out to be, with its violent wind and sleet, they came to the conclusion that the Frosh would not brave it all, but would just naturally postpone the painting of the N until the sun shone thereon. But not so the class of '22. Rah! Rah! At 8:30 the boys started out, clad in old duds and loaded with a supply of lime, etc. The girls hiked up, too. On reaching the N their troubles began, for the ditch was as dry as could be. So two of the boys had to go back to town and haul water up.

In the meantime the refreshment committee was busily preparing lunch. Weenies were made ready for roasting around the big bonfire, coffee was made and the "table" spread with buns, mustard and with marcaroons and lady fingers to "top it off." After lunch was eaten the boys got busy at their time-honored work of clapping the whitewash on the big N.

Before they were nearly through the wind succeeded in blowing up a storm and a plentiful supply of sleet and snow was emptied down on the workers at the N. Before long the job was finished and all trailed wearily homeward.

Now for a bit of business! We, the Class of '22, bought and have at our disposal five dozen cups and spoons which we are willing to rent to any who may need them. Terms of rental will be decided upon later. Apply to Class of '22.

HIGH SCHOOL WILL PRESENT NEW COMEDY

"What Happened to Jones" Will be Presented by the Expression Class

The expression class of Reno Hi will present the comedy "What Happened to Jones," next Friday, April 11, at the high school auditorium. The play will start at 8:15 sharp and admission will be thirty cents. The proceeds of the play will be turned towards buying a new phonograph. Dancing will follow the play.

BLOCK N SOCIETY HAS SOCIAL SMOKE

Some High School Students Gather With U. Students and Alumni

The Block N Society staged an athletic smoker last Wednesday at the training quarters for the athletes about school and prospective students of Reno and Sparks high schools. About thirty men were present, who listened to some might good talks by the professors and the students. Prof. Charlie started the ball to rolling, by telling the plans and progress of the interscholastic meet which is to be held on Saturday, May 3rd. While as yet replies have not been received from all the high schools, it is expected that a goodly number will be represented. The meet this year will not determine the state championship for the reason that probably not all the schools from distant parts of the state will be on hand. However, in the event that only schools close in are represented, it will take on the form of a district meet, and awards made accordingly.

"Dutch" Kimmel was present with his ever-ready line, and gave a good talk, telling something about athletics as they used to be at Nevada some years ago, and showed why all high school graduates should come to Nevada, with good effect.

Several of the high school men spoke and all were very enthusiastic about the coming meet, and the spirit that has come up between the University and their institutions, and to a man, they expressed themselves as wanting to come to Nevada, and waiting for the time when they can.

The coach proposition was touched upon, and a number of the applicants for the position mentioned, all of whom sounded mighty good to the listeners.

A number of Block N men and other students said a few words, and at the close of the talks, the room was cleared of smoke and the A. S. U. N. committee on a coach and the Block N held a joint meeting.

"TRUTH" PROVES TO BE GREAT SUCCESS

Lying Heroine Who Can't Tell the Truth is the Star of the Play

"Truth" was a great success. In spite of a high wind, a comparatively small audience, and influenza, it went off without a hitch anywhere. The members of Delta Alpha Epsilon are congratulating themselves on producing the play and everyone who went is complimenting the "actors" and actresses on the finished quality of their acting. It was undoubtedly the best amateur production seen in Reno for some time.

Dr. H. W. Hill directed the play and to his patient and skilful guidance its success was largely due. Dr. Hase-man honored the society by acting as scene-shifter, and Isabel Bertschy was "property man." Elaine Harvey was mistress of the wardrobe and the style and beauty of the dresses and hats were the cause of much favorable comment by the audience. The costumes for the ladies of the play were donated by the Palace Dry Goods Company and the "men's" suits by Pickett-Atterbury & Co.

Helen Cahill as Becky was the most adorable liar ever seen. She lied without blinking an eye, till everyone wondered if she didn't believe the lies herself. Tom, played by Eva Hale, made an enviable husband. His manly stride, his dark brown hair, his handsome figure, all combined to make him such a man as only appears on the stage or in the movies. Roland with his gray wig, his effeminate feel and waistline, long coat, and white trousers made a fine little racetrack dandy, and Mrs. Genevieve Crespigny, whose maiden name was Ruggles, brought down the house when she appeared in a black and white checked coat, and polka-dotted skirt. These two parts were played by Laura Ambler and Marian Hooton. Dorothy Higgins as Fred Lindon was capable of giving the most trusting husband a pang of jealousy with his natty clothes and winning ways. Eve Lindon, played by Ruth La Kamp, was irritating and cross, but very charming to look upon, while good, sensible Laura was well interpreted by Avis Lothrop, who took the part with a week's notice, owing to the inroads of influenza on the caste. Alice Wright was a well-trained and nifty maid, who was the envy of every housekeeper in the audience.

The new members of Delta Alpha Epsilon were elected at a business meeting of Delta Alpha Epsilon and two pledges took part in the play, while the rest acted as ushers. Alice Wright and Avis Lothrop represented the pledges in the play and Leila Sloan, Virginia Higgins and Gladys Dunkle were ushers.

Now we know why the infantrymen are called "dough boys." Its because they're always needed.

The Kat has learnt from "Truth" that our clever little actress, Helen Cahill, has already won "Tom" for a husband. The game is up—no more suitors need apply.

The "Jinks" must still be with them! Rumors have it that several of the convalescent Flu patients were afflicted with Taxi Troubles the other day. A party of them, consisting of the Misses Perrin, Drumm, Smyth, Griswold, and McWilliams, having strayed down town, suddenly found themselves to be feeling too low to return to Manzanita without the aid of a taxi. Evidently every one of these maiden voters have been used to leaving it to their man to run down the wary drivers, for this is a synopsis of what followed: First, one of their number stepped into a near-by drug store and proceeded to telephone for a vehicle. It was some time in coming, but when it finally arrived on the scene they discovered that they had caught an express company on the other end of the line and a husky dray had backed up to the curb to carry them away. They enlisted the services of the poor driver in an effort to find a taxi, then, and he promised to do his best, but the taxi never showed up. As a last resort, our poor friends sauntered down the street and climbed into a machine which was reposing in front of one of Reno's fair drink emporiums. There was not a driver in sight at the time, but after a period of patient waiting, a likely looking scout appeared. After questioning their presence in his car he became aware of the fact that they desired conveyance to our sister dormitory and granted their request.

The notable organization known as "The Thrifty Three," originally led by Jimmy Donovan in the days of the S. A. T. C., has been re-organized and has been bumping around from pillow-to-meals under the leadership of A. Mackay Mackenzie.

The Kat likes "Birds" as well as Jimmy Manson does, and if Jimmy doesn't look out this wise young pussy might take his place in the Commercial Club perched upon the edge of the desk at which his friend Margaret toils.

The Kat is beginning to think that Edna and Phil are getting to be a regular old married couple, considering the way that they came so late and went so early, at the Tau dance last Friday.

It now appears that there is a genius in our midst. Deacon Hanson declares that after completing his "extensive reading and studies under Prof. Church," he has developed a perpetual motion machine. He will not divulge the secret of its workings at this time, however.

LOVE AND INTRIGUE IN
"THE MAN WHO WENT"

Senior Play Will Show Methods of German Spies During War Times

"The Man Who Went" is rapidly approaching the point where it will be ready for production under the guidance of Prof. A. E. Turner. Full rehearsals have been somewhat retarded this week by the illness of Ira Redfern, who has the part of the hero of the play. He is now out on the campus again and full rehearsals will be resumed.

"The Man Who Went" is the most thrilling play that has ever been produced in the memory of the students now at the University. It is a story of diplomatic circles and shows the way that Germany used her spies in England before the beginning of the great war in 1914. The baron, who is the villain, is played by Harry Stephens. His accomplice, Countess Wanda von Holtzberg, is a beautiful woman who uses her wiles, but in vain to betray Jack Thornton, an employe of diplomatic government circles in Great Britain. These two parts are played by Eva Hale, who made such a success in the part of Tom, in "Truth," and by Lawrence Hansen. Ira Redfern is the very English hero, and Brow Gooding and Mary Browder furnish the "heavy" comedy as Sir George Caxton and Lady Venetia Caxton. Phil Frank as a spy is a wonder, Hal Engle is the butler, and Salome Riley the chafeur.

This unbeatable combination will give the play at the Rialto Theater May 1. Phil Frank is business manager and already has secured the consent of Donnels & Steinmetz & Co. for furniture to use in the play.

A. S. U. N. HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

Vice-President Engle Conducts Meeting in Absence of Redfern

The A. S. U. N. held its regular meeting Friday in the Aggie building, with Vice-President Hal Engle presiding, as President Ira Redfern was ill. The committee appointed to investigate the possibilities for an athletic coach for next year reported that they had investigated about twenty names, and had simmered them down to eight or nine, out of which they expected to select three or four names for presentation to President Clark in the near future, from which he will choose the one most fitted for the position.

Gerry Eden reported for the committee appointed to look into the matter of having a University store. He said that under present conditions a store would not be a paying proposition as the price of supplies is too high and the student body too small. His report was accepted.

An amendment to the constitution of the A. S. U. N. was offered. It provides for the suspension of the constitution by a two-thirds vote of those present at the A. S. U. N. meeting, the length of time of suspension to be stated in the motion. This will be voted on at the next meeting.

It was also moved, seconded and carried that a committee be appointed to confer with the president on the matter of improving the tennis courts which are now in a very bad condition.

After discussion of several other propositions with no tangible results, the meeting adjourned.

COMMUNICATED

Dear Editor:

Our tennis courts are in very bad condition. Repairs are needed in the worst way. Tennis is a game in which environment helps immensely. A considerable amount of exertion is necessary but when a ball strikes a hole or a stone and bounds off at an impossible angle one's suirits are dampened and it all narrows down to a lot of hard work. It doesn't seem impossible for our courts to be put in first class condition and I believe that they should be. It would increase the popularity of the game and stop the necessity of having to walk to town and sit on a bench waiting a turn on the city courts. When one has to chase a ball, that has gone through a large hole in the fence, half way to town it makes one feel more than provoked. Two more courts could be added in the space allotted, the old ones repaired and a new fence built around them. It would give a great stimulus to the sport and you would see the courts crowded all the time. It would also be a pleasure to look upon a neat well-built tennis court and would attract more spectators.

A STUDENT.

To the Editor:

As publicity and advertising manager of "Truth," I wish to thank those members of the Student Body who came to our play Saturday night. There was a large representation of the Faculty present and we are most grateful for their support. If it had not been for the faculty, downtown people, and Reno and Sparks High Schools, we would have had a mere handful present, because the student body did not support us. There were exactly ten men students at the play and not more than twenty-five girls. Of course we sold tickets to a great many who did not come but buying a ticket is not enough for any activity given under the name of the University. Delta Alpha Epsilon is not a charity organization nor was its purpose in giving a play to make money.

The society is composed of English majors and minors whose average in all subjects is above 85 per cent, and it is made up of girls who have loyally supported all University activities. We have yelled our heads off at basketball games this year and urged other girls to get out and root in response to the plea from the men for rooters. One basketball man was there. It seems to me that resentment is natural under the circumstances.

Personally, I think that it shows a very poor spirit for any group to attend the movies and then a supper party at Kane's when a University organization is depending on the support of that group. It is a reflection on the University as well as the organization. We cannot expect the people of Reno to take a great deal of interest in any activity when they see that the students do not support it.

We feel that our play was a success and very well worth the price of admission. The audience that was present was sympathetic and appreciative, and we do feel deeply grateful for their attendance.

PERSONALS

Dick Gassaway, former superintendent of buildings, appeared on the Hill last week in full gob regalia, with his mustache shaved off, and looking hard boiled as an ex-pug at a church social. He returned last Friday to the torpedo-boat destroyer Kilty, one of the largest afloat, on which he is water-tender.

Bill Whittett, ex-'18, passed through Reno last week in company with Larry Layman, ex-'19, en route to the coast to be discharged. They were in the 27th Engineers, the Mining Engineer Regiment, which saw considerable service in France, and was mentioned three times in dispatches for meritorious work. They are not sure yet whether or not they will return to college next fall.

Bob Scouler, '20, visited friends on the campus last week, having secured his release from the navy some time ago, where he was a wireless operator. He was discharged from the officers' training school at Pelham Bay, N. Y.
