Nevada Team Plays Davis Saturday

NEVADA FOOTBALLERS TO MEET AGGIES

SEVENTY VARSITY PLAYERS WILL LEAVE FRIDAY NIGHT TO BATTLE DAVIS FARM TEAM. INDICATIONS POINT TO HARD GAME

Nevada's Varsity squad numbering huskies will leave for Davis Friday evening on No. 5 at 8 o'clock. There will be the usual rally at the train, and those who are going to the game in costume should not let that stop them from being present. The Silver and Blue warriors have made one grand record so far this year and should have the support of the entire student body when they climb on the train.

With regard to the game, it will in probability be a tough battle from the start. However, the varsity should have a vastly different bunch when they go up for the kick-off. Last Saturday's game took a little of the overconfidence engendered by the two previous games, out of the varsity and they should show a greatly improved form against the Farmers. Davis has played two games this season and has lost them both, the first to the Cal. Frosh by the score of 7 to 0, and last Saturday's game to the first year men from Stanford to the tune of 19 to 6. This game looks to be the only doubtful one for the remainder of the season, because the rest of the games are scheduled for Mackay field. However, with an even share of the breaks Nevada can be counted on to emerge with the laurels of another hard tussle added to those of the season so far.

Every one should make it his business to be at the train and show the boys that they are behind them first, last and all the time. Show the old jazz that every loyal Nevada student should have and BE THERE.

FAST B. B. GAMES ARE SCHEDULED

The Upperclass, Northwestern and Mayrose teams are leading the local basketball league with perfect averages as the result of last week's game. Saturday night three games are played, but all were slow as compared to those of the preceding week. The results follow:

Freshmen, 26; Reno High, 14. Mayrose, 62; Sparks High, 12. Northwestern, 26; R. P. L. & W., 6.

This Saturday there will be three games played—two at the Y. M. C. A. and one at the Sparks High School. They follow:

Mayrose vs. Frosh, at Y. M. C. A. Upper Class Men vs. R. P. L. & W., at the Y. M. C. A.

Reno High vs. Sparks, at Sparks.

Below is the standing of teams to date:

Team	P.	W.	L.	Pct.
Northwestern A. C.	2	2	0	1.000
Mayrose	2	2	0	1.000
Upper Class Men	1	1	0	1.000

MISS JOANNA BROWN DIES IN RENO

Miss Joanna Brown, assistant to the comptroller of the university and well known to university students, died Monday morning at her home in Reno, following an illness of several weeks. Miss Brown had been a resident of Reno for several years, and has been connected with the comptroller's office for some time. Previously she was in the Agricultural Extension Department.

Miss Brown was an accomplished musician, being a graduate of the Oberlin College of Music, and took part in a number of musical events in Reno, besides being organist at the Baptist church and was a great favorite with all her friends.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon by Rev. Brewster Adams after which the body was sent to Fremont, Nebraska, Miss Brown's home, for burial.

DEBATE TRY-OUTS TO START SOON

Clonion Initiation for New Members Is Held Wednesday

Plans for the intercollegiate debate with The Utah Agricultural College are being rapidly perfected, and at a meeting of Clonion last night the question for debate was decided on, as follows: "Resolved: That the right of workers to bargain collectively through their chosen representatives should be recognized by their employers." At present it has not been arranged which side of the question the Nevada speakers will take. Try-out for this debate are to be held Wednesday night, November 19th, at the next regular meeting of Clonion. Be there if you want a chance to represent the school in debating. Let's make it a big year in debating, too.

Clonion also decided upon a play, to be given early in the second semester, "A Pair of Sixes" being selected. All members of Clonion are eligible to try out for a place in the cast, and those wishing to take part will arrange a time for try-outs with Prof. Turner, who is to be the guiding spirit of the production.

After the regular business had been disposed of, the members of the society were entertained by the new members, who presented a skit, the scene of which was laid in the library. Phil Frank took the part of Mr. Layman, and by his clever impersonation, kept the room in a constant roar of laughter. Around the study table were seated Homer Johnson, Charles Hardy, Arthur James, Earl Borchert, Paul Hornaday, Alex Cotter, Phyllis Brown, Ethel Steinheimer, Clementine Shurtliff, Mary Sewell and Dorothy Harrington, who presented to perfection the constant buzz of conversation in the library. "Windy" Johnson and "Sam" James appeared with footballs, following the plan inaugurated by the California coaches. The fun reached its height when a wild game of the Numidian ivories was started, which Mr. Layman could not break up. Following the skit, the Bevo Quartette rendered some selections, and a girls' quartet, composed of Clementine Shurtliff, Ethel Steinheimer, Dorothy Harrington, and Mary Sewell surprised the crowd by rendering one of the Bevo Quartette's favorite songs in an approved manner. After a few minutes spent with the intricacies of parliamentary law, the meeting adjourned.

VARSITY WINS FROM CALIFORNIA "CUBS"

BLUE AND GOLD FRESHMEN FAIL TO PENETRATE NEVADA'S STONE WALL LINE AND LOSE BY 13 TO 12 IN SEASON'S BEST GAME

The Sagehen Varsity gave to the California Bear Cub eleven its first licking of the season on Mackay field last Saturday in a game, the like of which never was seen before in Reno. For the first time in ten years Nevada walloped California on the gridiron. The outcome was problematical until the last four minutes of play. A marked degree of difference in weight was plainly visible as the Nevada Varsity trotted out in their Silver and Blue jerseys to do combat with the Cubs. California's Freshman eleven outweighed the Nevada men by ten pounds per man.

The Mackay bleachers were choked with spectators, among them many old graduates. The visitors' reputation was well known before they met Nevada in their second game of the season. They were undefeated so far but none too confident. All during the game both elevens played close semi-defensive ball. Each team feared to attempt any freak formation or trick plays. Weather conditions were perfect for Nevada's big game. Old Sol shot down on the scene of the battle in tropical splendor which was greatly to the advantage of the Bear Cubs.

Pacific Coast papers have been unwilling to give Nevada's man-killing eleven the proper amount of credit for last week's victory over the California Frosh. The breaks seemed to be against the Berkeley team but a close study of the detailed play will show that Nevada won because it had the best, and hardest fighting team. California fumbled three times during the first quarter while Nevada lost the ball twice on failures to hold the pigskin. The Frosh were placed directly in line for the first touchdown scored when Johnson, Nevada's halfback, fumbled on the 15 yard line and Gallagher, California center recovered the escaped ball. Again Nevada lost a chance to score in the first frame because of a fifteen yard penalty for holding after they had bucked the ball to within seventeen yards of the goal.

Kirk, Frosh left end, failed to win the game with his toe. He missed the first goal by ten feet, and sent the ball against the goal post on his second attempt for a non-converted touchdown. It is granted and accepted that had either goal been converted, California would have won. Failure to deliver at critical moments can not be included in the roster of "Tough Luck" chances. The Sagebrush eleven displayed the fighting ginger at opportune moments. Johnson, Nevada's star halfback, converted Bradshaw's touchdown in the second quarter for what was the deciding point of the battle. It was a clean kick. Then again Nevada was the victim of an unfortunate decision on the part of both the referee and the umpire.

This remarkable play would easily have been the legitimate feature of the game but for several interpretations of the official rules. Nevada held the California plungers for downs at the opening of the second quarter. The ball went over to the Sagehens. Johnson carried the spheroid through the line on a mass tackle play. The players were grouped together in several writhing piles. Suddenly Johnson broke out of one small scrimmage like a stone shot from a catapult. He streaked down the field from the ten yard line closely followed by Hobbs, Ed Reed, and Ted Fairchild as interference. Two Bear Cubs attempted to throw Johnson but his shifting ability left them sprawling on the ground behind. Kelliher, Frosh left halfback was close on the heels of Johnson and his protecting interference. Kelliher fell or was spiked on the ten yard line and Johnson fled over the white goal line. The crowd rose to cheer like a wild mob of frenzied Comanches, but their reign of pandemonium was short lived.

SENIOR CLASS MAKES NEW RULINGS

The Senior Class held a business meeting last Thursday at which several important questions were discussed. Several rulings were made and of which are as follows: No man will be allowed to wear the Senior Sombrero unless he has Senior credits or has affiliated with the Senior Class. No person, man or woman, will be allowed to sit on the Senior Bench unless they are an active member of the Senior Class. This is a notice and it will do well for all women and men to take due notice and affiliate with the Senior class. The question of a College Senior pin was discussed and will be acted upon in the near future.

FOOTBALL OFFICIALS

Saturday's game demonstrated clearly the need of exercising considerable care in the selection of officials for athletic contests. To win a game by the narrow margin of one point when entitled to many more, is extremely distasteful, when the only cause that can be assigned to it, is in the officials. In refusing to allow a touchdown that to all appearances was perfectly valid, and then coming out with the statement after the game that a mistake had been made and the score should have been allowed to stand, the umpire in Saturday's game showed plainly that he was either incapable of acting in official capacity, or that he was slightly prejudiced. Whichever it was is of no consequence now that the game is over. However, what is of vital importance to all the University, is whether or not we are to have the same handicap in the balance of our games. There is no good reason why, at an intercollegiate game, officials who are competent, experienced and absolutely unprejudiced can not be secured, who will act fairly and impartially when making their decisions. Let us hope that in the future such men will be obtained.

NEWSPAPER SUPPORT

Students and faculty followed with great pleasure the support given the Varsity football team for last week's game, by the newspapers of Reno. The articles which appeared both preceding and following the game gave evidence to the fact that the people of Reno are staunchly behind the university and its athletic teams, and it is very gratifying to know that one of the local papers even went so far as to hold up publication for several hours in order to get the final result of the contest in its columns. This support is greatly appreciated and will not soon be forgotten by the "Hill Folks." Let the good work go on.

DISMAYED DONKEYS

The flying machine which visited Hawthorne last week alighted about a mile east of town where a band of burros were browsing. When the desert canaries heard the unusual noise and saw the huge bird hovering over them, they became transfixed with fear and then suddenly started helter skelter for the lake. The last seen of them they were near Rose Creek, ten miles away, and still running.—Walker Lake Bulletin.

PICKIN'S FOUND BY THE OFFICE DOG

I told you I would eat like a nut at the football game. Did you hear me?

There are quite a few expressions on the campus. Maybe you've noticed them:

"Oh, Boy!" Ain't it gra-a-and. Absolutely. Well, rawhah. Oh, rawsberry. You know me, Al? I'll say she do. Oh, Mary. Absolutely. Say, guy, listen. I made that mistake just to see if you all were awake.

And then, speaking of expressions, when you ask a gink how he got through a Physics ex, here's what you get for an answer:

Very common: "Flunked her cold." Occasional: "Got one answer half right."

Rare: "Think I got by." Extremely rare: "Knocked her dead."

(Oh, yes, I've been there.)

Did you notice the front row of the Riato last Sunday, at the Daughter of the Sun? And did you notice the Profs? Those seats cost a heap, but—lucky dogs, lucky dogs.

Oh, no, I was in peanut heaven. Darn a poor man, anyway.

Orren Oden certainly has been hit bad. How do I know? Say, any man who will shiver on the tram these chilly, wintry evenings, just for a girl, I claim is pretty far gone. Not one night, either, but night after night.

Ye Ed is in receipt of an epistle from one of our fair ones, asking how she can get more color in her cheeks. In, I said, not on.

Very easily, my dear, very easily. Try brushing the same with a two days' growth on a masculine chin.

You, perhaps, have noticed the ad in the Gazette for a "true young man" to help entertain a young lady who is visiting in Reno. Skip answered the ad, and now spends very little of his time on the hill.

The Daily Illini comes forth with the following advert: "I serge officer's uniform." New kind of officer, I guess.

Now can you imagine Charley Gorman mistaking the assistant editor for the Rev. Sam Unsworth?

Stude—How are you getting by, this year, Larry? Fat—Fine, fine. I'm not kicking, but the Profs. are.

Always wipe the mud off your shoes before kicking a gentleman.

During an argument in the game last Saturday, when the umpire was arguing his best, A. Jock Aikins chirps up, "Take it to the League of Nations." So say we all of us, Jock.

Ye Editor, was peacefully ambling down Virginia street Saturday, when Dot Randall approached him and tried to sell him a ticket to the football game, not knowing he is a student on the hill. She talked like a good fellow but to no avail, and finally left, muttering Piker, cheap skate and similar words.

I've got to get some of my own junk in this column somehow; listen to this. I think it's really classic:

To Introduce Myself Let me relate In accents solemn The weighty purpose Of this column.

I'm the Wierd, The Mystic Moo And I propose To paint for you

The whims of man, His caprious humours: His daily grist Of tales and rumors.

The coal strike will be hitting some of the universities hard if it is of any considerable duration. A number of the large eastern colleges report that the supply on hand is only sufficient to carry them through for a week or so and that the possibility of obtaining more is rather remote. A large number of Universities have installed oil burning furnaces and so are able to cope with the situation. —U. N.

First to Originate and Use Forks and Napkins on Table of Family Home

"Fingers were made before forks," and that is why we have napkins. Existence today would be bad indeed without that most essential of all table appointments, the napkin. But can one conceive of its importance to our ancestors, who only a few hundred years ago ate without forks?

For, as we know, it was not until the seventeenth century that forks made their bow to the most elite society of England, as a substitute for the time honored fingers. In Hogarth's picture of a "Guildhall Banquet" the whole illustrious company are seen eating with their hands. Small wonder at the necessity for the napkin, which was used not only during the meal itself, but afterward served the purpose of a towel. And then it was Italy, the home of reawakened fastidiousness, as well as the renaissance of art, that came forward with the inspiration for the new adjunct of the table, the fork, which somewhat modified uses of the napkin. But as long indispensable, the napkin had become second nature and survives to our day.

E. G. FOLSOM SEES GAME

E. G. Folsom Ex '10 came up from Carson Saturday to see the game and did his share of rooting with the best of us. Folsom is an old Nevada football man and has an enviable record of four years on the varsity to his credit. At the rugby game he played 5-8 and was a member of the famous squad that beat the California Varsity the first year the rugby style was played. It will be remembered by the "old guard" that this Nev.-Cal. game was one of the hardest fought games Nevada ever played, and when the fight ended with Nevada at the long end of a 3 to 0 score there was much rejoicing and a big jubilee in Reno.

ALFRED WESTALL VISITS CAMPUS

Alfred G. Westall dropped off in Reno last Saturday on his way to Divide from Washington and came up to see the game. Westall, who graduated in '08 with a B. S. degree is one of Nevada's old football stars. He was also a baseball man, and played on the Varsity for four years, both in baseball and football. In '04 and '05 he was end for Nevada at the American game and when rugby was taken up instead of the American game he got his place on that squad also and did his share of fighting in all the games. The fact that he enjoyed the victory of Nevada over the Frosh was evident from the broad grin on his face when the final whistle was blown.

Varsity Wins

Referee Bellows claimed that Kelliher had tripped the interference and that Johnson was guilty of hurdling. Umpire Marks believed that Johnson was actually down with a dead ball when he was first tackled going through the line.

Anyway the touchdown was ruled as void so the ball was given to California on her own fifteen yard line. A grave mistake was here committed by the officials. However, they performed what, at that exciting moment, seemed to them to be the right decision. The fouling during this play could have been decided in a number of different ways because of the general application to several distinct rulings.

The Frosh were taken by surprise when the Silver State grid men scored their first touchdown. Charlton, Frosh fullback, immediately punted out of dangerous territory following Johnson's long run of ninety yards in the second quarter. Nevada used a series of fast, long end runs to place the ball within thirty-five yards of the goal posts. Ed Reed made a zipping forward pass to "Rabbit" Bradshaw who performed a series of shifty, nervous jumps before bounding over the goal line for Nevada's first touchdown.

To Al Reed goes the distinctive honor of breaking through the heavy bulk of the Bear Cubs' stiff line to body block a boot off Charlton's shoe and then recover the lost ball single handed for the winning touchdown. It was a rare sight for the howling spectators. Reed cannot be praised too highly for his ability to perform such a feat. Call it mere luck if you choose to, but remember that Nevada possesses men who have done the same thing before. It was done twice during the College of Pacific under almost identical circumstances. Reed has proven himself to be a consistent blocker because of a fast pair of legs and a sharp eye for possible line openings.

The grand finale was staged in melodramatic fashion so highly sensational that it will no doubt be lived over scores of times by every person who witnessed last Saturday's game. The California Frosh have a group of speedy line ripping men in their backfield. Their line was composed of heavyweights who knew how and when to drive. This is a hard combination to beat. The Frosh picked a feature play during the last five minutes of the game. Captain Erb used Davis at left half for a series of brush tackle plays through the left side of Nevada's line. They started their final terrific drive near the center of the field. Within three minutes Davis was forced to within five yards of Nevada's goal on repeated smashes just outside of their right end. Heward, Nevada's center, was torn and all but crushed from his heart breaking efforts to hold the oncoming Freshmen back. Ogilvie was put in his place for the final struggle. It was one hundred and twenty second before the end and fifteen feet to go. The Cubs seemed to call signals. Twice Davis hit the line but he was hurled back with savage brute force. Then the pistol sounded and Nevada had won by a single point. The crowd poured out upon the field in a fit of paralytic joy to carry Captain "Tiny" Fairchild and his victorious teammates on their shoulders. It was a narrow-escape—Nevada's concrete line saved the fight by sheer determination.

"BILL" DUDDLESON BECOMES PROF.

Lieutenant William "Bill" Duddleson arrived at Fallon last week according to the Fallon Standard. He returned from France a short time ago and is now in charge of the vocational agricultural course at the Pershing County High school. "Bill" was a student here for two years but changed to the University of California where he graduated shortly before he entered the service.

Varsity basketball may be reinstated this year at the University of Vermont. For several years in the past the sport has been taboo due to the fact that the expenses could not be met. But this year the students are enthusiastically in favor of the return to the old sport. The university senate will act on the question at its next meeting.

ABSENCES

Attention is called to the article on absences on page 88 of the university catalogue. There are several students who are on the danger mark and it would be a good plan to watch out for those unexcused absences. There is a list of students posted on the bulletin board by the door to the registrar's office. Look the list over.

Touchdowns — California, Killiher and Davis; Nevada, Bradshaw and A. Reed. Goals—Nevada, Johnson.

Students in the architecture at the University of Michigan are taking a course in the design of memorials and it is expected that new and original ideas will be submitted.
