Mare Island Gobs Play Here Saturday

ANNUAL AGGIE CLUB BARN DANCE TO BE HELD IN GYM OCTOBER 9

Varsity Picked To Win From Navy Team

VISITORS HAVE PLAYED BUT FE W GAMES SO FAR THIS SEASON HOLDING LEGION TEAM TO 0 TO 0 TIE AND LOSING TO THE CALIFORNIA VARSITY LAST WEEK 88 TO 0 SCORE—NEVADA SHOULD COME OUT WINNER

Saturday's game between Nevada's Varsity and the Mare Island Sailors may be depended upon to be hard fought from start to finish. The Sailors, though defeated by a heavy score by the California Varsity last Saturday appear to be formidable opponents. Only one other defeat has been suffered by them this season, that at the hands of the Olympic Club. On September 25 the Sailors defeated St. Mary's in a heavy line-plunging game by a score of 6 to 0, thus putting themselves on the football map since St. Mary's is reputed to have a fairly strong squad this year. As is well known, St. Mary's held Nevada to a 0 to 0 game last season, so from all that is known and can be figured, the Mare Island Sailors can be counted on as no amateur team. Their line is exceptionally heavy this year and well experienced. Murdock at left end and Capt. Simmons at right tackle appear to be mainstays on the line. Both men play a fast game and are veterans at the game. The backfield, under the guidance of Coach Goshen has been developed so that it is efficient and fast. Radford at quarter is a clever man. He is fast, a hard man to tackle and has a wicked flip to his passes. The Sailors appear to depend mainly on heavy line plunges with an occasional forward pass, which art they have gotten down to a fine point.

Nevada Varsity on the other hand appears to be in better condition than ever before. Two games have been played so far this season, one with the California Aggies and one with the San Francisco American Legion team, both games ending in victories for Nevada. In these games the Varsity has had ample chance to try out several trick plays, end runs, forward passes and line plunges and have gained the practice necessary in them to insure their success later in the season. The men injured earlier in the season have recovered and are again in uniform. Dunne, Varsity fullback, has showed up this year to be a hard man to beat for the fullback position. Dunne is the man who made the flying leap for the ball in the Legion-Nevada game, picking it out of the air several feet above his head. Heward, center, is again back, and playing a cool consistent game that is hard to beat.

The slippery "Shimmy" Bradshaw need only be mentioned briefly. His reputation is known in the west too well to need mentioning. The coast teams will have to look far and wide to find a man who can gain more yardage at the right time, play a more clever game, elude his tacklers more easily and in general, play football better than "Shimmy."

Many second string men made remarkable showings in Saturday's game. Of these, Church as quarter seems to be learning Bradshaw's tactics and plays a wonderful game. Middleton at full and Foster and Hammert at half all showed up to be excellent Varsity material. Nevada's football squad, taken altogether, are such that Nevada fans need not worry over the outcome of this season's games. The scores so far, to be sure, are not as high as those of last year, but the material in the team is there; they have the experience and the confidence and disregarding scores the outlook for this season takes on the aspect of a rosy spring morning. A recent addition to the line, Colwell at tackle, packs around with him a tenth of a ton of brawn. He is a wicked tackler, (Continued on Page 8.)

AGGIES TO STAGE HUGE JAZZ PARTY

The Aggies promise a large time Saturday night on soft cider and sinkers when the annual Aggie Barn Dance will be staged in the University gym. This affair, now an annual one, had its origin with the founding of the Aggie Club many years ago, and since that time the Aggies have given a barn dance that each year was better than the preceding one. The dance is of the typical "barn dance" variety and is one of the biggest affairs of the year. Every member of the student body, faculty and staff are invited and everyone is expected to join in and make it a regular "whoop-er-up" time. Full "D's" better known by the name of "monkey clothes" or "claw-hammers" will be decidedly out of tune to the decorations and spirit of the evening. Country clothes, the blue denim overalls and straw hat kind will be the vogue. Army issue boots will take the place of the familiar "cow-hides" of the corn-wrasters and their clump-clump will keep time to Tait's Jazz artists. Last year the Gym was decorated for the dance very artistically. (Continued on Page 8.)

SHOOTING SCRAPE STIRS HALL MEN

Lincoln Hall was the scene of the wildest excitement Monday night. It was the night when the new men were to be initiated into the Lincoln Hall Association. The reading room was filled with the old men of the Hall watching the Frosh go thru their paces. Event followed event amid roars of laughter until all the stunts had been pulled with the exception of one that was to be put on by Cox, but at the last moment he had not made his appearance. It was whispered around that he had been seen downtown somewhat under the influence of bootleg and making threats against the upper-classmen of Lincoln Hall who had told him he would either put on a stunt or take a tubbing. Rumor followed rumor until the upper-classmen began to form a plan of action. They realized the seriousness of the situation but they knew that it was their duty to see that one of the oldest traditions of the Hall was not violated. Some one ran into the Hall and said that Cox was coming and that he was drunk. An air of tenseness—of expectancy—settled over the Hall. Suppose he would put up a fight? A Frosh rushed wildly in yelling that he had a gun. A laugh followed this report. Somewhat nervous to be sure, but then it showed that no one took much credence in the story. Still as Cox entered the door every one was on the alert. He was evidently intoxicated for he staggered into the middle of the Hall and said that he would like to see the man that would make him put on a stunt. He had (Continued on Page 2.)

THIRD TEAM WINS FROM RENO HIGH

The first practice game with the Reno High football squad was played last Friday when the Varsity third team tackled the local boys and administered a 12 to 0 drubbing, in a hard fought game. Coach Page's proteges put up a stiff fight but were outweighed and outclassed by the University men, and at no time were they able to seriously threaten the Nevada goal. The Nevada backs showed up in great style, George and Valleau especially standing out, with Pete Harrison and Young doing good work for the high school. Reed and Johnson, Varsity backs, alternated in the capacity of referee, giving good satisfaction with their decisions to both sides. Reno opened the game by kicking off to the Nevada 20-yard line, the ball being carried back to the center of the field. University fumbled and the high school recovered on their 40-yard mark. Reno then fumbled and the ball was recovered by Nevada on Reno's 45-yard line. Gooding replaced Short at left guard. A series of line bucks and end runs by the University brought the ball to Reno's 10-yard line where it remained when the whistle blew for the end of the first quarter. Second Quarter The University scored the first (Continued on Page 5.)

Team Trims Legion In Saturday's Game

EX-SERVICE MEN ARE UNABLE TO WITHSTAND NEVADA'S ATTACK AND LOSE HARD FOUGHT CONTEST BY 47 TO 7 TALLY—MANY SPECTACULAR PLAYS FEATURE THE GAME—VISITORS SCORE BUT ONCE DURING GAME

Nevada Varsity had little difficulty wresting a decisive victory from the San Francisco American Legion team last Saturday when they met for the first time on Mackay Field. Little was known of the soldiers' strength previous to the game, other than a few remarks passed in the coast papers regarding their 0 to 0 tie contest with the Mare Island Sailors, but the game showed them to be badly out of practice and with very little organization apparent in their teamwork. A number of the Legion men are old heads at the pigskin game as their individual work showed, but very little teamwork or strength can be developed in any team with only a few days practice, as was the case with the visitors, according to their own statements. Given a few weeks hard drilling and some stiff competition in scrimmage, the Legion team would become a formidable organization and a team to be feared, but despite putting up a tough fight and playing the game with all their might, little more can be said of them as regards Saturday's game.

Eastman, playing left half, and Argyle, on the opposite side, displayed some good work in end runs and tackle plays and counted for most of the visitors' gains. Coleman at quarter showed up well in running the broken field. Francis, right guard, and Capt. Brumanen, tackle, were the outstanding lights in the line.

Nevada started the game with the regular lineup but before the struggle had progressed very far, substitutes appeared quite often on the Nevada side and practically two entire teams played during the course of the game. The regulars played a hard, consistent game, with the return of Dunne in the backfield, Heward at center and the presence of Colwell showing very appreciably in their work. Colwell is a heavy player possessed of remarkable speed when his weight is considered and was in practically all the plays during the game. He is a hard tackler and when he hits it hurts. Nevada's entire line showed a vast improvement, the Legion finding their defense almost impenetrable, and on the offense they seemed to have little trouble opening a huge hole for the play to rush thru. The backfield, as usual, worked very smoothly with the exception of fumbling which fortunately usually occurred when the ball was in the center of the field.

The work of Bradshaw, Dunne and Reed in the backfield all merits considerable praise. Spectacular runs of 20 or 30 yards were frequent with a few gains of 40 and 50 yards intermixed to keep up the excitement.

With the exception of Bradshaw, who played the entire game, nearly all of the second half was played with a substitute backfield, and after a few plays, little difference could be noted in the effectiveness of either the first or second string men. Church at quarter played his usual heady game, making several runs for 10 or 15 yards and handling the team like an old veteran at the game. Hammert and Foster in the halfback positions showed lots of speed and plenty of ability to fill the places of Reed and Johnson any time they are called upon to do so. Middleton made quite a reputation at fullback, hitting the line often for big gains besides playing a great defensive game. Substitutes in the line got in considerable time and gave the backfield plenty of room for the ball to go thru whenever they called the play.

Probably the greatest feature of the game occurred in the third quarter when the Legion kicked off to Bradshaw on Nevada's 15-yard line, who ran the ball back 40 yards and deposited it on the visitor's 45-yard line. Then on the next play Middleton playing fullback, took the ball and plunged thru the line for 45 yards and a touchdown. Vince Dunne won the applause of the spectators, when the Legion punted out from behind their line, in the first quarter. The boot was too high for any distance and the ball landed on Nevada's 5-yard mark where Dunne made a record jump into the air and speared the ball down from a couple of feet above his head, and then on the second play following, took it over for the first score. Ed Reed also had a little experience in juggling the ball when Bradshaw passed 30 yards to him and three or four other players managed to get a "feel" of it before it finally bounced around and was grabbed by Reed.

A short analysis of the game shows that the Legion attempted only two forward passes throughout the entire play, one of which was completed for a gain of 10 yards while the other was intercepted by Hammert who added to its gain. On the other hand, Nevada attempted 20 passes, and of these com-

FRATERNITY SPIRIT IN THE BLEACHERS

Fraternity spirit is a desirable thing, that is, the fraternity spirit that stands for the cultivation of friendship, high standards of scholarship, and principles of sound morality. Men naturally arrange themselves along lines of social cleavage and each man is proud of what his organization stands for. Fraternity spirit stimulates a keen rivalry among types of men, to see which is better, and almost invariably this rivalry is directed along the lines of college activities, to see who can hold highest scholarship, to see who can sway the mass of students politically, to see who can excel in athletics. The spirit is desirable so long as it stimulates desirable competition and fortifies college spirit; when it begins to detract from it, it becomes the wrong kind of a spirit and we have no use for it. There is an especial reason why the fraternity should never develop a cliquish spirit, and that it because the American College Fraternity is dependent upon the will of the American public for its continuation, and the American public has no use for an institution that is undemocratic or serves no purpose.

Very frequently the creed taught in fraternities is not what it should be. If a sportsmanlike spirit is not present the fraternity is failing in its purpose. This article merely proposes to comment upon that phase of unsportsmanlike conduct found in the bleachers of our own school. Here is how it works out concretely. X is a Delta Psi, Y is a Phi Gamma. X goes around the end for ten yards and the Delta Psi's are unable to control their ecstasy; they rock the grandstand with their yells but the Phi Gamma's are morosely silent or at best give a few desultory yells. Y goes through the line for fifteen yards; loud cheers from the Phi Gamma's, gloom settles over the Delta Psi's.

Sure, you can find it right down in our bleachers; you can see it in every game. Let's cut it out. Yell as loud for the hall man as you do for the fraternity man; yell as hard for someone else's frat brother as you do for your own. Do away with the small clique spirit. Fraternalism is desirable as long as it contributes to college spirit, but when it begins to detract from it, look out, fraternities; you are doing away with one of your main justifications for college existence.

Fraternalism is good—but while we are in the University what we need is the true Nevada spirit—not the clique spirit.

NO SPECIAL TRAIN

After a thorough investigation, it has been found impossible to obtain a special train or special railroad rates for the California game which takes place in Berkeley October 16. It was hoped that a special tariff could be published which would lower the fare appreciably and thus enable a large body of students and townspeople to see the Varsity in action against the Bruins, but all efforts, by hook or crook, proved absolutely futile, as Nevada's rooting section at Berkeley this year must of necessity consist chiefly of those possessed of automobiles, motorcycles, aeroplanes, or an abundant supply of cash. However those who are fortunate enough to make the trip should be able to form themselves into a pretty fair sized rooting section of their own, and let loose a few good old Nevada yells with enough gusto and spirit to make up for the missing ones.

With the College Scribes

THE DEPENDABLE MAN

A few days ago an assignment was made to a reporter who promised to have the article in on time. The place in the "make up" of the page was reserved for it. The time came. The article did not. A weak article had to appear emphasized on the first page. All depended on the reporter. He failed.

Napoleon's chance of success at Waterloo was utterly destroyed by the incompetence of the two marshals whom in an evil hour he selected for high commands. The feeble and false maneuvers of Grouchy, the impetuosity of Ney were no small factors in the defeat. The Emperor depended on them. They failed.

Yesterday a friend promised a friend to perform a certain task for him. The failure of the friend would necessitate considerable inconvenience. The friend failed.

A senator from a neighboring state promised his constituency to support the President in his fight for the League. The senator's supporters depended on him. He failed.

One of the greatest tributes that can be paid a man is the "He's dependable" laudation of his friends—or his acquaintances.

Few boys in college know that they are being judged largely by this very attribute of character—if we may term it such. The cause of a boy or man not being dependable is the result of a failure to think. The friend would be punctual if he thought of the inconvenience to which he was subjecting others. The boy would perform the task of his friend if he thought of the consequences of failure. The Emperor's Marshal would have equalled the occasion if he could have foreseen the changes in the map of Europe which would result in case of his failure.

The man on whom one can depend is the man who has come to see life from a broader standpoint. He is the man who rules the world. The wheels of commerce, the progress of the industries, the success of government of the people, the navigation of the seas, the liberty of peoples—all depend on the dependable man.

The dependable man's responsibilities are great, his tasks are not always light but at the end, though it may appear paradoxical, no one realizes more fully than the dependable man that his path was a path of roses.—The Mississippian.

When Manzanita is aroused from work or slumber (there were conditions of both); when fair maidens grace porch or window sill to gaze upon, and sympathize with, the debonaire victim (yes, he was gracefully reclining in his transportable bed, nonchalantly inhaling sunshine and tobacco smoke); when an Eastman gets your face, and a Sagebrush reporter gets your name—why, those are the moments of real sport. Be sure and call up "The Girl" and tell her you want a date for the Lincoln Hall dance on November 6th.

"I'm going to have the 'Home, Sweet Home' with the sweetest girl in the world, at the Hop given by the Lincoln Hall boys on November 6th."

"All roight, Bridget, we'll nary forgit yez on November 6th."

Gobble! Gobble! Gobble!

The future rulers of the world were selected at Lincoln Hall during the past week. The men who were lucky enough to be chosen, were told their future at a meeting of that ancient, world-wide organization known as the "Gobblers." It is expected that during the coming week the chapter on the Hill will about double its membership for there is a long list of promising applicants.

Early to Bed and Early to Rise

Slowly, sadly and solemnly, the procession wended its weary way toward the final resting place (Manzanita Hall), of that blissful soul. One could hear only barks of joy and brays of happiness from the mourners as they followed in the trail of that sybarite who had been thinking "But its nicer to lie in bed."

The fair co-eds rushed forth to see the final ceremony performed over the remains of the poor Frosh who unnecessarily must sleep longer than we who have "made the trip." Sighs of joy were raised by the fair ones as the final obseques were observed.

It is too bad that we must watch our dearest friends fall by the wayside. We hate to attend, far more than the victim, the few short services held over his remains (?). We do not wish to call upon the co-eds at such an inconvenient hour. Therefore, dear Frosh, unless you wish to inconvenience the ladies, as well as yourselves, do not "sleep in" on Sunday mornings. —U. GETUP.

The old-timers of Lincoln Hall are predicting a hard winter. It is estimated that fully two-thirds of all personal property in the hall is now being used as security for small loans, something unheard of at this time of the year.

Gerry Eden has taken the position of assistant manager of the Grand and Rialto theaters. Gerry will probably take over the social side of the business—receiving guests.

HIGH SCHOOL MEN LOSE TO THIRDS

points when at the start of the second quarter Valleau went around end for a touchdown. Gooding failed to convert, the ball bouncing off the goal posts. Nevada kicked off to the high school on their 40-yard line, who ran the ball back a few yards. Failing to make their yardage Reno kicked to Nevada beyond the goal posts. The ball was brought out to the 20-yard mark. A pass to Glass gained 10 yards for the University, another pass to George was good for 10 more. Line bucks, tackle plays and end runs brought the ball to Reno's 30-yard line where the end of first half found the ball in place. Score: University 6, Reno 0.

Third Quarter

Johnson appeared in sight as referee during the second half, relieving Reed. A few changes were made in the high school lineup, Leak replacing Harris at left guard, and Melarkey taking right guard in place of Semenza. Nevada opened fire by kicking to the high school and from here the ball saw-sawed back and forth until Reno punted to Nevada on their 25-yard line. Waite caught a pretty pass and ran toward Reno's goal, Nevada losing 10 yards. On fourth down Nevada kicked with 20 yards to go. The high school made a few gains until a fumble lost them the ball, Larsen recovering. From here the university ran the ball up to the high school's 8-yard mark and the third quarter was over.

Fourth Quarter

On the first play in the last quarter George carried the ball 8 yards around left end for the university's second touchdown. Gooding repeated his performance of the first half and failed to convert, kicking the ball against the posts. Nevada kicked to Reno on their 30-yard line and by aid of line bucks and wide runs moved the ball to the center of the field only to have the Nevada line tighten and hold them for downs. Nevada failed to gain any advantage and kicked again to high school 20-yard line. Reno in turn failed to make much yardage and the ball went over to the Thirds. Here the university gained a little yardage but was finally held and the ball went back to the high school again. Reno kicked out of bounds on fourth down and the ball was brought on the prep boys 18-yard line. Nevada forced their way up the field with bucks and end plays, reaching the 20-yard line when the whistle blew and the game was over. Final score: Thirds 12, Reno High 0. The line-ups:

Modern Motive Might

MOUNTAINS, miles and minutes give way before electricity, the magic motive power. Properly applied, it drives giant locomotives across the continental divide, tows ocean liners through the Panama Canal, or propels huge ships.

Through good light, safe signals, and illuminated highways, it is making travel better and safer and also is increasing the usefulness of transportation methods on land, sea or in the air.

In short, electricity is revolutionizing transportation, making it quicker, safer, more economical and reliable in all sorts of weather.

And back of this development in electric transportation, in generating and transmitting apparatus as well as motive mechanisms, are the co-ordinated scientific, engineering and manufacturing resources of the General Electric Company, working to the end that electricity may better serve mankind.

pleted half. Three of these were carried over for touchdowns, Bradshaw to Dunne 25 yards, Reed to Bradshaw 25 yards, and Bradshaw to Reed 30 yards. Nevada proved to be the greatest sufferer from penalties, the Legion being called only once with 5 yards against them, while Nevada received a total of 40 yards. Fumbles were about evenly divided, each team having six chalked up against them.

The game in detail follows:

Nevada won the toss-up and chose to receive under the south goal. The Legion kicked off to Nevada's 30-yard line to Fisher who fumbled, and the ball was recovered by Dunne who carried it ahead 10 yards. Nevada made 10 yards thru the line. Reed gained 5 over left tackle. Johnson went thru center for 6 yards. Bradshaw was held for no gain. A pass from Bradshaw to Ted Fairchild was incomplete. Grant fumbled after gaining 10 yards thru tackle and the Legion recovered on their 33-yard line. A short run around right end netted the Legion 4 yards and a buck thru the line made 3 more. On an attempted line play the Legion was caught behind the line and lost a yard. On the next play they were caught in the same manner when they attempted an end run and lost 4 yards more and the ball went to Nevada on downs. A pass from Bradshaw to Dunne was knocked down. Bradshaw made 10 yards on an end run. Dunne bucked the line for 5 yards, but Nevada was penalized 15 yards for holding. Bradshaw fumbled and Dunne recovered on the Legion's 10-yard line. Dunne went thru the line for a 3-yard gain. Reed followed with 2 over tackle but on the next play was held for no gain. Fourth down, 5 yards to go for touchdown. Nevada failed to push the ball over and the Legion had the ball on their 2 yard line. Legion punted from behind their line high in the air. Dunne jumped for the ball on the 5 yard line and caught the ball making one of the neatest plays of the game. Bradshaw went thru center for 2 yards. On the next play Dunne picked a hole in the line and went thru for the first score of the game. Heward kicked goal. Score: Nevada 7, Legion 0.

Legion kicked off to Bradshaw on Nevada's 5-yard mark who ran the ball back 55 yards through a broken field to the Legion's 40-yard line. Pass from Bradshaw to Martin was not completed. Bradshaw took the ball over tackle for 1 yard gain. A 30-yard pass from Reed to Fairchild failed by inches. On the next play Reed missed a bad pass from center and recovered with a loss of 28 yards. Dunne took 4 thru center and the ball was knocked from his hands but was given to Nevada again. Dunne caught a pretty 25-yard pass from Bradshaw on the next attempted and went over for the second score. Heward converted. Score: Nevada 10, Legion 0. Second Half

On the kick off Ed Reed caught the ball on Nevada's 25-yard line and ran it back in a pretty play for 45 yards before he was finally stopped. A forward pass was incomplete. The next play was one of the features of the game. Bradshaw passed 30 yards to Reed, the ball being touched by half a dozen men, and bouncing around until Reed managed to get hold of it, after which he ran 20 yards thru a broken field for a touchdown. Bradshaw kicked goal. Score: Nevada 28, Legion 0.

Legion was held for no gain on Nevada's 8 yard mark. First down and goal to make. A buck and a plunge thru the line and Eastman went over for the Legion's only score. Coleman converted. Score: Nevada 34, Legion 7.

Legion kicked to Nevada's 15-yard line to Bradshaw who ran 40 yards to the Legion's 45-yard line. On the next play, Middleton playing fullback, went thru the line, shook off four or five tacklers and ran 45 yards for a touchdown. Bradshaw kicked goal. Score: Nevada 41, Legion 7.

Church lost a yard on an end run. A pass from Bradshaw to Hammert was good for 10 yards but when tackled Hammert fumbled and the Legion recovered the ball in the center of the field. The next two plays failed to advance the ball for the Legion, but a penalty for offside play by Nevada sent them ahead 5 yards. Legion gained 3 thru the line, and followed with another thru the same place. Right tackle furnished a hole and the visitors took 2 more. On the fourth down the Legion punted to Church on Nevada's 5 yard line, who was unable to get away before being tackled. has the weight to strengthen Nevada's line where it is most needed and makes a most valuable addition to the Silver and Blue squad.

Comparing the two teams, Mare Island Sailors and Nevada, Nevada appears to be far superior. Both teams however are well experienced and Saturday's game should be well worth seeing. The two lines are about evenly matched as to weight and as a result the yardage gained will no doubt be by end runs and forward passes—an open game. Nevada will probably start with the same lineup as in last week's game. Mare Island may change her lineup at the last minute but a probable one is given below:

Murdock (8) L.E.; Thompson (22) L.T.; Rousch (15) L.G.; Samuelson (18) C.; Sequent (12) R.G.; Simmons, Capt. (10) R.T.; Remer (7) R.E.; Radford (3) Q.; Dostie (4) L.H.; Simpson (5) F.; Millard (6) R.H.

STANFORD TRIMS ST. MARY'S 41 TO 0

Stanford won its first big victory of the present season when it defeated St. Mary's last Saturday to the tune of 41 to 0. Stanford pulled some trick plays that gained yardage every time over St. Mary's, whose line crumpled under the battering of the Cardinal plunges. The first score came with an end run by Wilcox, which was followed by a touchdown by Schlaudemann, making the score at the end of the first quarter 10 to 0. During the second quarter Campbell, Wilcox and Schlaudemann each made touchdowns, bringing the score to 34 to 0 with Stanford on the long end.

The third quarter was hard fought, St. Mary's holding the Cardinals to no further scores. During this quarter Stanford was penalized for holding. Shortly before the final gun, Schlaudemann in a sensational end run made the final touchdown, bringing the score to 40 to 0.

The star of the game was Schlaudemann, Stanford right end, whose sensational end runs netted the Palo Alto team three touchdowns out of the total of six.

CALIFORNIA TO BUILD MEMORIAL

In honor of the University men who lost their lives in the great war, a memorial bench will be erected with the $2000 presented to this institution by the 1920 class.

Overlooking the campus, bay, and Golden Gate, from the west side of the Campanile, the memorial will stand with the inscription engraved: "This bench was erected by the class of 1920 to commemorate the heroism of the sons of this University who have died in the great war."

Joseph Jacinto Mora, author and sculptor of "Cervantes" in Golden Gate Park, will carve the bear heads designed by L. H. Priest for the arms. Prof. John Galen Howard, supervising architect of the University, will be in charge of the installing of the bench when it is completed near the end of the year.—Californian.

ORCHESTRA HOLDS WEEKLY PRACTICE

The University Orchestra has been organized and a most promising beginning has been made this fall and a keen rivalry is sure to develop between it and Al Preston's band. There is plenty of good material on the Hill and it should be possible to maintain these two organizations very easily. At the present time the instruments represented in the orchestra include violins, viola, cello, clarinet and flute. Rehearsals are held regularly on Monday evenings from 6:45 to 8:45 in room 302 of Morrill Hall. Any student that can play an orchestra instrument is needed in this new organization and is earnestly requested to make his or her name known to Miss Diehm.

Different Though

The agitator had talked long and wildly. "I can not be still," he suddenly bellowed. "The words that come into my mouth are as numberless as the leaves on the trees."

"Yes," agreed a weary listener as he arose, "but they're different in one way. It doesn't take much of a breeze to start them flying."

cally. The orchestra was concealed in a cornfield in the center of the gym with a profusion of corn shocks, pumpkins, bales of alfalfa reposing here and there in the hall. Seats for the weary consisted of baled hay, hidden from view by great shocks of corn stalks. In one corner of the room the farm's prize calf contentedly chewed its cud, and from time to time sent forth a raucous bawl that made the affair all the more realistic. The Profs and their wives, together with most of the student body arrayed themselves in the costume of the farm and everyone had a rare time.

This year, it is rumored, the Aggie Dance will be far better even than last year's. Soft cider will be served from the "old oaken bucket" together with apples, sinkers and loads of real farm eats. Who knows, even a hard boiled "fresh egg" may be on exhibition. Tait's Jazz Orchestra of six pieces will furnish the music and practically everyone knows their style of jazz. Everybody is invited, from the smallest Frosh to the most dignified Senior and every professor and member of the faculty, from Prexy Clark to "Tweedle" Twaddle of the C. E. department. It will be a rare time so don't miss it.

CENTER COLLEGE HAS GOOD TEAM

The well-known story of David and Goliath has been brought to life again but this time with footballs instead of stones. Center College of Danville, Ky., is out for Harvard's scalp. Although the college boasts of an enrollment of only three hundred students their football teams have always been of a high calibre and the team last year was ranked among the best in the East, scoring 432 points against 18 of their opponents. This year they are out for blood when they meet Harvard on October 21 and hope to defeat the Crimson team.
