

1940 REUNION OF ALUMNI IS HELD

Prof. Turner's public speaking class was given a glimpse into the future on Tuesday of last week. The assignment was a class reunion twenty years hence around the festive board. The chairs were artistically arranged around the large oval table, but by some strange oversight, Prof. Turner, who was in charge of arrangements, had failed to provide nourishment and sustenance. Everyone took this slight oversight good naturedly, however, and the speechmaking and toasting was just as animated and brilliant as though the table were laden with sparkling red sherry and delectable ambrosia. Prof. Turner was not twitted over the omission as the poor old fellow (twenty years hence) is losing his former keen memory and such details easily slip him. The speeches were as realistic as though the viands had been present, for some of the speeches savored of the dullness of the overfed and others smacked of the unnatural wit of the intoxicated—Scotti's, for instance.

The toastmaster, Les Bruce, was choked with grief as he told of Mark Colwell's demise after this particular member of our honored alumni dead had attained the seeming impossible feat of sylph-like slenderness through fasting. A telepathogram from Colwell was read at the meeting. The message was transmitted over Mr. Edison's recently perfected telepathogram and contained much valuable information as to the hotness of Hell. The assemblage was again hushed and stricken as the toastmaster haltingly described the passage of the former matron of Manzanita Hall and the accession of Miss V. Higgins. The painful tension was relieved as Miss Higgins described her youthful flirtations about the campus with Morris Smith. "Empty" Smith's profusion of blushes proclaimed that the romance had continued to live through the twenty years that he has been near Miss Higgins as master of the Gow-House. Mr. Smith arose with the aid of a cane, he, himself exhibiting the pasty, pale complexion that comes from many years spent in the kitchen. He declared that the only raw product entering the kitchen was Grady's insectless Raisin Rice and that this remarkable rice under his hands could be turned into all kinds of meat and drink from truffles to nectar. He later modestly admitted under close questioning that this feat would be impossible with any other brand of rice than that developed in Imperial Valley by Miss Gladys Grady, also present at the reunion. When questioned as to fuel, he replied that he tolerated no other in his kitchens than that supplied by Leslie Sanford from his oil gushers in Fallon. Dan MacNamara got up and made a great splurge about his railway. According to his own account, he has taken the V. & T. Railroad to New York and is contemplating spurs in the Andean Cordilleras. He was finally induced to sit down, whereupon Jimmy Scott popped up. Where he had obtained the liquor, no one knows, but he told some incredible tale about marrying three wives and a lot of twenty-year old jokes about Irishmen and dog taxes. All during his speech he busied himself with ogling at Miss

Justice Badt, who anybody knows is much too good for him, she having just discovered the fifth dimension without even developing a wrinkle between her eyebrows. Scotti, having broken his pick with all the women because of his bum marriage jokes, sat down with a distinct air of self-approval. During Scotti's monologue the toastmaster had been racking his scattered wits, for Waldo Procter was next to speak, and what there could be nice to say about him was a sore problem. When Procter's turn came, the toastmaster was still undecided, so had to explain how the cause of his ruin was nothing but psychological handicap. Procter, having made his case clear, a little old lady with a long name tottered to her feet and told the sad pass to which the University of Nevada had come. Miss Ethel Steinheimer told how the school was ruled by Freshmen, how the place was so dominated by infant prodigies that mere tots scrambled across the campus to recite physics and calc to Prof. Charlie and Papa Hartman. Miss Steinheimer's emotion over this sad state of affairs was so genuine that her quavering voice failed her; she was forced to seat herself and resort to smelling salts. The banquet was especially favored by the presence of two old alumnae, members of another class. Although it is rumored that Miss Barnes and Miss Hyde came without invitation and merely to enjoy the repast, they pretended to enjoy the intellectual feast set before them, and concealed their disappointment over the eatless banquet most artfully.

The end of the occasion was pre-arranged by a touching and appropriate little remark on the heartache of re-creating old association and a toast to "Our Alma Mater". Professor Turner rounded off the hour with a few highly fictitious and highly colored remarks. He then informed the class that they were at liberty to commingle and exchange felicitations. They crowded around Prof. Turner congratulating him on the success of his arrangement and declaring that their swelling hearts had left no room for appetite. In spite of these seemingly sincere protestations, these hungry old persons around the empty board must have been hard put to conceal their appetites, for they melted rapidly away and as Prof. came down the hall, an immense crowd of his former banquet companions were surging around the Y. W. C. A. candy booth devouring candy like starved jackals.

College News

CALIFORNIA—The University of California is contemplating the erection of an $800,000 concrete stadium, and Graduate Manager Nichols is already working on the proposed specifications. It is figured that approximately $90,000 in gate receipts was lost during the Stanford-California game because of lack of seating facilities. Plans for the stadium were originally drawn five years ago by Professor J. G. Howard. The initial amount necessary to begin construction will probably be raised by subscription among the students and alumni.

CARSON HOOPSTERS DEFEAT STEWART

(Special Correspondence.)

On Saturday afternoon, December 4, the Carson High boys and girls basketball teams, accompanied by a large number of rooters, journeyed to Stewart to play the boys' and girls' teams of that school.

The Carson girls won their contest by the one-sided score of 14 to 2. Although the game was not particularly fast, both teams benefitted much by their practice. Miss Blanche Lothrop refereed the game.

The boys of the High School won by a score of 27 to 17. The Carson High boys were handicapped by the injury of one of their members, Joe McKenzie, in the first few minutes of play. The closing game of the football season was played Thanksgiving day between White Pine High and the Ely town team. The town team won by a score of 14-26.

Both boys and girls have started basketball practice, the boys being coached by Mr. Kubitz, and the girls by Mr. Kellogg. It is hoped that some very interesting games will be scheduled during the season.

The Sophomores gave their annual dance on December 3, in the High School gymnasium. It was well attended and everyone enjoyed themselves, testifying that it was the "best dance of the year."

DEEP
(For Professor Church Only)

Two young men had been consistently attending to two young ladies, but the two young ladies were too pretty to dispense with two, too strict chaperones. The young men, though much afraid of the chaperones, were anxious to see if their suits had borne the fruit, oscula. Thereupon, they arranged a picnic in a sylvan dell with winding tortuous paths, and gave the chaperones the slip. The species, oscula, had evidently been borne, for the ladies were dispensing something most freely. While the young rascals were indulging their amorous appetites, two horrified old chaperones blundered into the lovmakers' bower, and, in high dudgeon, demanded explanation. The young men rose and answered, "We can find no better explanation than the words of the Roman youths who, in similar plight, declared, 'Navigatum, vicissum.'" And the two young ladies rose and said, "We can find no better words than those of the Roman girls who, when taken in similar situation, responded: 'Boibus cissibus, suit gerliorum,' 'Gerlibus laecibus, vanta somorum.'" —Hotibus Dogibus.

BANG! BANG!

Ye rifle teams from faculty to cadets, watch your step. The college scribes have entered the field and they have a deadly aim. 'Tis but a small step from the newspaper office to the rifle range. He who is adept at squeezing the pen can quickly master the trigger squeeze, and the bang! bang! of the leaden slugs only serves to make him feel as if he is at home with his beloved typewriter.

The Sagebrush dopesters look upon the faculty and the cadets as the most worth rivals. The cadets, however, are young, and the hand of a prof is likely to waver. Thus, the Sagebrush staff is assured an easy victory, and the cup is as good as glittering on the little desk in the little room on the third deck of Stewart Hall. —Q. E. D.

PLANS LAID FOR HI SCHOOL MEET

The Nevada Interscholastic Basketball tournament will be held about the middle of next semester, the date has not been determined on as yet but it will last two days of the week, Friday and Saturday.

Both boys' and girls' teams will be entered, representing practically every high school in the state. The winning team of both the boys' and girls' series will be presented with handsome loving cups, donated by Herz Bros. Jewellery Co.

The tournament will be carried out under the auspices of the Block "N" association and the games will be refereed by members of the University basketball team.

During their stay in Reno the visiting teams will be guests of the university. They will eat at the dining hall and will be given rooms at Lincoln Hall and the various fraternity houses. On one of the evenings they will be entertained by the "Clionia" play, "His Majesty, Bunker Bean," that will be produced in the educational building auditorium for their benefit. They will also probably have the opportunity of seeing the Varsity in action in one of the intercollegiate games. Last year the tournament ended on Saturday afternoon and the University team occupied the gym in the evening, and the same arrangements will probably be carried out this year.

The tournament usually brings about 200 high school students to Reno, and each year sees a greater number of teams entered, and it is through this means that the school probably receives its greatest advertisement among the prospective candidates for enrollment on the Hill. The Block "N" Society goes to a great deal of trouble to make the meet a success and it will require the cooperation of every student on the campus if a sufficiently favorable impression is to be made on the visitors to cause them to register here when they have finished their high school work.

Admission will be charged to the games and the proceeds of this will be distributed pro rata among the teams, according to the distance they have to travel.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Sunday evening several of the members of Delta Delta Delta entertained their friends at a progressive dinner. Six courses were served at the different homes. Each table was attractively decorated, one of them portraying the spirit of Christmas by a lighted tree in the center of the table, under which were placed stockings filled with goodies for those present. Clever place cards and sprigs of holly adorned the next table. At another table the color scheme was in pink and green, with a profusion of pink carnations. Favors here were given in the guise of tiny kewpie dolls, dressed in pink and green ballet skirts. At still another table the color scheme was red and dark green. Tiny candles burned at each place, and the guests were requested to hold their favors over the candle, until as if by magic. A verse appeared on the favors telling the future of each person. Table covers were laid for the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Organ, Albert Reed, Earl Wooster, William Cann, Hugo Quilici, Arthur Harms, Joseph Witmer, James Eggleton. The hostesses were: Hallie Organ, Enola Badger, Rose Mitchell, Gertrude Harris, Josephine Williams, Arvella Coffin and Editha Brown.

On Saturday evening, the members and pledges of Delta Delta Delta Sorority entertained at the home of Gertrude Harris. The affair was very informal. Music for dancing was furnished by Editha Brown at the piano, and Messrs. Marx, Travers and Coffin, playing saxophone banjo and drums. At midnight each man drew a basket lunch and found within the basket the name of the girl he was to eat with. Much merriment ensued with the pairing off of the couples. Those present were: Guests, Nebo Fraley, Jack Ross, Johnny Moore, Les Bruce, Merle Hardy, Bill Herndon, Harold Fraser, Perl Decker, Joe Witmer, Hugo Quilici, Homer Law, Bob Skinner, Marc Le Duc, Bill Cann, Jimmy Scott, Earl Wooster and Al Reed. The hostesses of the evening were: Ethel Perkins, Dorothy Ross, Lindell Adams, Wilma Readle, Della Towle, Marie Campbell, Agnes Lowry, Bonita Miles, Thelma Braun, Gertrude Harris, Adele Clinton, Frankie Porter, Rose Mitchell, Arvella Coffin, Pryscylla Reynolds, Enola Badger, Hallie Organ, Editha Brown.

PI BETA PHI

On Thursday evening, December 2, Miss Bertha Joerger was pledged to membership in Pi Beta Phi Sorority in Miss Mack's apartment at Manzanita Hall. The rooms were attractively decorated in sorority colors, and the ceremony was attended by the following members: Edna Clausen, Gladys Dunkle, Marie Grubnau, Hazel Hall, Virginia Higgins, Dorothy Percival, Neal Sullivan, Nevis Sullivan, Vera Dallas, Madeline Dallas, Erma Hoskins, Marjorie Stauffer and pledges, Merle Lemaire, Louise Grubnau, Dorothy Middleton, Mary Shaughnessy, Marguerite Patterson, Bertha Blattner, Frances Jones, Helen Robison, Carr Gardiner and Bessie Jones.

PI BETA PHI

Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Gardiner and daughter, Miss Carr Gardiner, delightfully entertained the members, pledges and friends of Pi Beta Phi Sorority on Saturday evening at an informal dancing party at their home on California street. The unique decorations were carried out in sorority colors of wine and silver blue, and huge baskets of wine carnations under the dimmed lights made a glowing background for the dancers. Punch was served during the evening and at midnight delicious refreshments were served in which the sorority color scheme again predominated. The singing of fraternity songs brought the enjoyable evening to a close. Those present were the Misses Edna Clausen, Gladys Dunkle, Marie Grubnau, Hazel Hall, Virginia Higgins, Dorothy Percival, Neal Sullivan, Nevis Sullivan, Vera Dallas, Madeline Dallas, Erma Hoskins, Marjorie Stauffer, Merle Johnson, Louise Grubnau, Dorothy Middleton, Mary Shaughnessy, Marguerite Patterson, Bertha Blattner, Frances Jones, Helen Robison, Bessie Jones, Bertha Joerger, Carr Gardiner, Edna Short, Josephine Legate, Shirley Stewart, Gladys Jones, Ruth Miller, Jane O'Sullivan, Katherine

The Y. W. C. A. meeting this week was held at the City Y rooms. Miss Moyer told the women of her work and plans for the Y and told incidents that had happened during her secretaryship. There was a large attendance, as each upperclass woman had made it a point to bring a Freshman. The cabinet stayed and had their weekly supper at the rooms instead of at Manzanita as usual.

The meeting next week being Christmas meeting will be very interesting and unusual. Plans are being made to get a Christmas tree and have each girl bring a gift, the price not to exceed 15 cents. Names will be drawn from a box and put on the presents so that everyone will have a gift. There will be special music and the music committee is arranging to have the Glee Club sing. This meeting will be the last one of the semester and the presence of each and every woman on the campus is desired. It will be held at Mrs. Frank Humphrey on Ralston street and it is hoped that a large number of members will turn out for the occasion.

ine Rieglehuth, Margaret E. Mack, Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Gardiner, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ross, Messrs. INTERCLASS GAMES START JANUARY 1

The first of the interclass basketball games will be held in the gym on January 11th when the Sophomores will meet the Frosh, and the Juniors will tangle with the Seniors. On January 18th the winning team of the two contests will play for the championship.

The men who made their letters last year on the Varsity will not be allowed to represent their classes in the tournament, but will officiate at the games.

A large cup that is at present residing in the Block "N" room of the training quarters will again be offered as a trophy to the winning team. The cup was last won by the class of '19 who held it for one year.

From the dope on hand at present it looks as though the Sophomores are the favorites in the coming contest. With the following possible line-up they present a formidable team to all competitors: Foster and Ninnis, forwards; Middleton, center; Ted Fairchild and "Brick" Heward guards. While there is no certainty that these men will be chosen to represent their class they are at present to be considered as the strongest quintet that '23 can put on the floor.

The class of '24 will also have a strong team and will probably give the second year men a hard run for the cup, which such men as Adams, Lyster, Scranton, Duborg, Griswold, Goodwin, Hammert, Codd and Hern to pick from.

It is impossible to pick a probable team from among the two upperclasses as nearly all of their basketball men are letter men and will thus be barred from participation.

Knowing how makes difficult problems seem easy.
