Blues-Nevada Battle This Week End

OLYMPICS LOSE TWO GAMES TO NEVADA

Varsity Trims Winged O Men

OLYMPIC CLUB 145-POUND TEAM LOSES TWO GAMES IN HARD FOUGHT BASKETBALL SERIES; BUCKMAN IS NEVADA STAR

Those basketball fans of Reno who attended the games at the University Gym last Friday and Saturday nights witnessed two games that will no doubt remain a long time in their memory, for without a doubt they were the best games played on the home court for several years, with the Los Angeles Blue games last year as the possible exception. Both games were replete with stellar guarding, spectacular baskets and speed enough to satisfy even the most critical fan. The Olympic Club 145 pound team is one made up of men who are far from being called raw amateurs at the game, and they fought the Sagebrush Varsity from one end of the court to the other with all that was in them, but this year as last, they met a team that was just a little bit superior. The Winged "O" team plays a clean, fast game, with no breathing spells for their opponents and are noted for their ability to keep up the speedy pace until the last gun, shoot baskets from odd angles and slip out of the tightest of places. Spectators of the games had a chance to witness this team change its entire scheme of tactics in the second game with the Sagebrushers and play the five-man defense which Nevada is noted for to such a degree that it nearly cost the Silver and Blue a victory.

The game started off with a snap, Olympics picking the ball out of the air on a long pass and working it down to their end of the court where the five-man defense of the Sagebrush Varsity met them. Several long shots were tried which fell short of the basket. A foul was called on Nevada and Olympics shot the first goal for a point. Lauterwasser succeeded in getting the ball beneath the Olympic basket from which position a goal was easily scored, bringing the Winged "O" to the 3-point mark and Nevada still with a goose egg. The Silver and Blue tightened up their defense somewhat, Buckman remaining beneath the basket as standing guard for a time. The ball passed from one end of the court to the other neither team being able to score other than from free

MEMBERS NAMED ON ARTEMISIA STAFF

The editorial staff for the Artemisia has been partially selected. Those on the staff at present are George Egan, editor; Wm. L. Carter, Laurence Quill, Enola Badger, Mary Sewell, Willoise Butner, W. D. Conrad, Dewey Goodwin, Lulu Hawkins, and Margaret Barnes, assistant editors. Hugo Quilici has selected Myron LaKamp as his assistant in the business department. The balance of the staff will be announced as soon as it is selected.

Mr. Quilici has announced that the tickets for the Artemisia will be on sale the latter part of next week. The tickets will cost $1 and the balance of $3 will be paid when you secure the book on Mackay Day.

The personal records are not coming in as rapidly as they should. There is a box in Miss Sissa's office in which these records are to be dropped as soon as possible. If you have a good joke on your pal, or your fraternity brother, write it out and drop it in the box. Good snapshots of the campus, of your college friends, and incidents relating to the Hill, are needed badly, so if you have a snap, turn it in for use in the Artemisia.

NEW MINES BUREAU MAN TO JOIN STAFF

Another member of the United States Bureau of Mines Station is soon to join the staff here. Mr. J. Bonardi is coming to the station from Princeton where he has been pursuing an advanced course in Electric Furnace Practice. He was a member of the staff at the Golden School of Mines and left for Cornell as soon as the Golden station was abandoned. How that the Nevada station is ready for him he is to resume his work. He is an expert metallurgist and a graduate of New Hampshire State College.

NEVADA TRACKERS PREPARE FOR MEET

Nevada track men have answered the call of the spring days and several are already plugging around the cinder path on Mackay Field while others are doing cross-country work in preparation for the coming meets.

Coach Courtright thinks the chances for a winning team are much better this year than they have been for some years past. There is plenty of good material in the school and Nevada should be well represented in every event. A meet has already been arranged with Davis Agricultural College at Davis for May 1st and negotiations are under way with Santa Clara for a dual meet here some time in April. Courtright also hopes to enter a team in the annual Pacific Coast intercollegiate meet at Berkeley.

Fifty aspirants are already in training at Davis and they believe that their team this year will furnish their opponents some real competition. Jack Merchant, who was a member of the United States team at the Olympic games in Antwerp, is going to "Farm," but as he took part in fifteen track meets last year it is not likely that he will appear with Davis this season. Should he do so, he will certainly be a point-getter and a man to be watched. However, Nevada will have a few point-getters of her own and, although they are not Olympic champions, can always be counted on to break the tape.

THRILLING CONTESTS PROMISED FANS WHEN NOTED BLUES MIX WITH VARSITY FIVE—VISITORS HAVE WON ALL GAMES PLAYED THIS YEAR, INCLUDING VICTORY OVER CALIFORNIA BY ONE POINT MARGIN—CAVE OF STOCKTON TO REFEREE

Basketball fans will be furnished the treat of their lives when they see Nevada Varsity and the Los Angeles Athletic Club team, more commonly known as the "Blues," tangle in the University gymnasium, tomorrow and Saturday nights. All who are fortunate enough in gaining admission to the court last year when the "Blues" stopped off for a two-game series, will never forget the thrills they had before either game was ended, and though Nevada lost them both, the visitors admitted they were games, the like of which they had never before taken part in. These games were undoubtedly the finest exhibitions of the favorite indoor sport even seen in Nevada, and from the spectators standpoint, were worth going miles to see.

In the first game last year, the Blues gained a slight lead at the start and held it until the end of the game, though at one period in the second half Nevada was within four points of the champions. Half time score was 14 to 6, and the final score Los Angeles Blues 28, Nevada 17. The second game was even more exciting than the first, if that was possible, for several minutes neither team being able to cage a basket, and when the scoring commenced, the score remained practically even for a period of ten minutes. The board at the end of the first half read, Blues 14, Nevada 8. The second half was the fastest of the series, and the prettiest work of both teams was seen here, with the visitors scoring six points to Nevada's five. The final tally was Blues 20, Nevada 13.

Little dope is at hand here upon which to compare the relative merits of the two quintets this year, but it is a safe bet that they are very evenly matched and will put on a show that will be hard to surpass. The Blues present a somewhat changed lineup from that which was used last year, several of their star performers not being with them this season, but the fact does not lower their standing, as it is claimed that the new men are even superior to the old players. With the team this trip are the following: Campbell, forward; Tyrrell, guard; Gold, guard; Wilson, guard; Wayohn, forward; Captain Laswell, forward; Slaughter, guard; Schaumer, center; Olney, center, and R. L. Haslett, coach. Four of these men are familiar to fans here: Olney, center, one of the stars, scored the most point of any of the visitors last year, making a total of thirteen, the majority of which were difficult shots, and many of his tallies came from follow up shots under the basket. Laswell, forward, was another point winner the past season, his total in the two games being twelve, and he was rated as a very clever passer and feeder to Olney. Slaughter, likewise added to the points earned, when he went in as a substitute guard. Wilson played part time in the first game and also contributed a few points to the Blues total, and this season is said to be playing a fast game as running guard.

Little need be said about the Ne-

"BUNKER BEAN" TO PLAY NEXT WEEK

The Gionia play "Bunker Bean" will be given at the Rialto next Thursday evening, March 3d. The play is the story of a stenographer, Bunker Bean, in the offices of J. B. Breede, the traction magnate. Young Bean seems to be a simple sort of chap, but he is not as simple as he looks for he succeeds in putting over a business deal in Federal Express which nets him four hundred thousand dollars, and which wins for him the youngest daughter of Breede. Bunker has many peculiar ideas, one of which is that he believes that he was Ram Tah, an old Egyptian king. He finally succeeds in breaking loose from the wierd thoughts that came in dealing with psychics and astrologers.

King Baseball is not forgotten in the romance between Bunker Bean and Flapper, for the eldest daughter of J. B. Breede succeeds in capturing Bud Matthews the "greatest left-handed pitcher in the world." Big Sister breaks off her engagement with Ernest Whipple, a society chap, in order that she may marry the big pitcher. The "Very Young Minister" who performs his first wedding ceremony when he marries the Flapper and Bunker has a rather hard time getting started, but he has it all printed in black and white and does not worry.

The play teems with the life of Wall Street, its romances, and its business deals. The mysticism of the psychic parlor enhances one as Professor Balthayar contrives to divorce Bunker from his money. The play is interesting from start to finish, with a good laugh every now and then to keep one in good humor.

The prices for the play are $1, 75 and 50 cents. Get a date now and remember the place. "His Majesty, Bunker Bean," at the Rialto, March 3.

All seats are reserved. The box office of the Rialto will open on Wednesday and Thursday. Before that time tickets can be secured at Cann's and Weck's Drug stores.

throws on fouls. Fouls were called at fairly regular intervals, two free throws on technicals being given to Olympic Club and three free throws for personal fouls. Nevada came in for her share of free throws, with a similar number, two technical and three personals. Gavin, for Olympics threw the fouls, converting two out of five attempts, while Waite for Nevada converted three out of five attempts.

The wily Lauterwasser shot four pretty baskets from odd angles on the court and Boyle backed him up with two more.

Nevada continued to break even with the visitors, Reed and Buckman each ringing two baskets, and Waite coming in with one more spectacular shot. Towards the end of the half with but a few seconds yet to play, the Winged "O" squad pulled ahead and lead Nevada by one point, 14-13 as the gun sounded.

Second Half

The second period opened with Nevada playing a far different style of game. Dribbles were infrequent, short speedy passes instead being used. The defense was practically impenetrable as can be seen by a comparison of scores, Lauterwasser of Olympics shooting but one field goal. The Olympics seemed to break of a sudden and from this time on, with a few exceptions when a spurt was made, they were hopelessly outclassed by Capt. Waite's Sagebrushers.

In this half Olympic was given six free tries at the basket, the fouls being made by each member of the Nevada squad. Olympics gave Nevada five free throws for personal fouls, Waite converting three of them.

Bradshaw in some spectacular playing threw three field goals and Waite in similar plays threw four more. The entire score for Nevada in this period was made by Waite and Bradshaw, the former gaining eleven of the seven-teen points.

Nevada had hit her stride at last and was outplaying at every angle of the game the famous Olympic Club, by sheer speed, weight and accurate shooting of baskets.

Every Nevada man played his best game in this first game with the visitors, Bradshaw playing perhaps the best game of the squad. Buckman was all over the floor, everywhere guarding, passing and picking the ball out of the basket. It was due to "Long Tom's" work that the Winged "O" squad did not make any more baskets than they did.

During the game Bradshaw was knocked out, but soon recovered and continued to play.

The final score read: Nevada 30, Olympic Club 18. The line-up:

Nevada	Pos.	Olympic

Martin	Guard	Kern
Bradshaw	Guard	Sweitzer

The second of the two game series with the speedy Olympic Club five played Saturday night was undoubtedly the fastest seen on the local court this year, and was full of thrilling plays and spectacular baskets, with the bird of victory perched first on the Varsity side and then on the visitors side, and it was not until the final gun sounded that the result of the game was at all certain. The battle ended with the score, Nevada 22, Olympic Club 20.

Contrary to the start of Friday's game, the Varsity five did not wait until the clubmen had gained a lead against them before they started to score, but in the first few minutes ran up a total of 5 points to the visitors goose-egg, and later with a field goal by Waite, brought the tally up to 7 to 0. At this point, the clubmen began to get worried and called time out, while they talked things over and got rested up a bit from the strenuous pace they had been going. From then on, there was no stopping them, and with a basket by Gavin, two by Lauterwasser, and several free throws made the score 7 all. Nevada and the Olympics tossed another free throw apiece, and when the gun ended the first half the score was tied at 8 all. During all the first period, both teams played safe, the clubmen using a modified style of the five-man defense to compete with that used by the Varsity, and in this way they were fairly successful, though at a great many stages of the game, the play grew very slow with long intervals between attempts at baskets. With both fives playing a defensive game, the score was naturally kept low, and the majority of points made from long shots or free throws. It is interesting to note that during this half, Nevada and the clubmen each made three goals and two free throws.

From the tossup in the second half, it could be seen that a different style of play would govern the game from there on. The Winged "O" men took the lead from the jump, with some of the prettiest teamwork seen in the gym this year, and with Boyle tossing in a couple of difficult, long range shots the visitors soon gained a slight lead over the Sagebrush five. By this time the Olympic men on the substitute bench had gone stark wild and the Nevada fans were yelling their heads off begging the Varsity to catch up. This they did, slowly but surely, shooting fouls and field goals, until the score stood 13 to 12 with the Olympic men leading. Then the wind changed for the worse. Martin in attempting to prevent Lauterwasser from making a close shot, fouled him and the referee's whistle blew just as the ball rolled thru the hoop. The official announced the score as counting, and gave Lauterwasser two free throws at the ring, both of which he made, making the board read 17 to 12 in the visitors' favor. Here Nevada started again in an attempt to regain the lead. Buckman made a pretty shot and Waite threw in a few free goals while the Olympics were making three points. While the score standing 20 to 16, a Winged "O" man committed a foul under almost the same conditions as happened a few minutes before. A basket from the field made by Waite was allowed, and in addition, he had two free shots, one of which was good, and the score then stood, Olympic Club 20, Nevada 19. With only about three minutes to go, the clubmen committed another foul and Waite threw the basket, tying the count at 20 all. From then on, the ball seesawed back and forth across the floor, first Nevada and then the Olympics taking a long shot in the hope that one of them would find the hoop. It was not until the time to go had diminished to about one minute that Buckman worked his way under the visitors basket and after some of the prettiest passing of the game by Reed and Waite, received the ball and dropped it thru the iron ring, with the winning basket. For the remaining minute, the clubmen fought hard in an effort to get within scoring distance of the goal but always they were unsuccessful and when finally the gun sounded and ended what had seemed to the fans an hour of misery, Nevada had won by a margin of two points. The final score was Nevada 22, Olympic Club 20.

Stars on either team are hard to distinguish, as every man playing in the game showed up well and the splendid teamwork of both was a revelation to many of the audience who had never witnessed as fast a game before. Buckman of Nevada deserves probably the greatest amount of praise, playing all over the floor, and getting the ball nine times out of ten from beneath the Olympic basket, in addition to making three field goals from tight places. His following of the ball was one of the biggest reasons for the Olympians defeat, as follow up shots have always been their long suit. Martin played his usual stellar game, holding the star forwards Gavin and Lauterwasser down to very few shots and even less baskets. His guarding was one of the star features of both Friday's and Saturday's game, and was a big factor in Nevada's victories. Waite, as usual was playing basketball all the time, and never slacked up for an instant, making 14 of the Varsity's 22 points. Waite is one of the fastest forwards in uniform on the coast this year and will undoubtedly be right among the top notchers when the choice is made for the All-Pacific Coast teams at the close of the season. Bradshaw and Reed are both deserving of great credit, though neither played up to the form shown in the game the previous night. Bradshaw played thru the entire game with a very bad ankle, which no doubt slowed him up considerable.

For the Olympic Club, Lauterwasser and Boyle were the shining lights, both playing fast, consistent ball. Lauterwasser was the high man for the club, making 12 points of the 20 scored, six of which were from field goals. Boyle did some good shooting, throwing one pretty basket from nearly the center of the floor. His chief fault was the same as his teammate Gavin, that of fouling frequently, each having three personals chalked up against them.

On the whole, the game was one of the best seen this year, and was clean and fast throughout, due to the careful officiating of Referee Glenn. The line-ups:

Nevada	Pos.	Olympic
Waite	Forward	Lauterwasser
Reed	Forward	Gavin
Buckman	Center	Boyle

STANFORD-NEVADA GAME SET FOR FALL

Athletic Manager Tom Buckman has made the announcement that Nevada and Stanford will meet on the football gridiron next season, on November 12, at Stanford.

The game is scheduled to be played just one week before the Cardinals' big game with California so they will be at their best, and so will Nevada. The game will be witnessed by an enormous crowd of people who will do their best to "get Nevada's goat" and it will be up to the Varsity to forget the crowd, the noise, the many other things that distract attention; to forget everything, in fact, but football, and to play that like they never played it before.

Nevada has something to work for this fall, something big—she MUST beat Stanford. To do so she will have to have the undivided support of the school, the entire Student Body should start planning now to put aside enough money this summer to enable them to go down to Stanford and help Nevada win that game. True, the odds will favor the Cardinals, but that should only make Nevada fight harder. The Varsity will lose some good men this year, men who have plugged up many a hole and gained many a yard for Nevada. New material must be found to take their places and the largest football squad in the history of the school will have to turn out next September if Nevada hopes to produce a winning team.

Start right now and "talk it up. Remember, Nevada's big game will be with Stanford on the 12th of November. California has Stanford's AX—it's up to Nevada to bring home Stanford's goat. Nevada must win that game!

St. Pierre's Bootery

(F. O. B.)

Last Thursday night the local chapter of the Ku Klux Klan, known as the Gobblers, met in all its ancient glory. The Grand Exalted Ruler spent the entire day in conclave with the Committee on Scholarship and Character and as a result of this secret meeting the Robes of Purity were brought out for the second time in the history of the local chapter.

By signs and countersigns, by the preoccupied and faraway look on the face of the Exalted Ruler the laymen knew that a meeting of grave import was to be held. By dusk many of those high in the circles of Gobblers had appeared in the hall and as the dusk deepened there was sent out into the night that weird call that has assembled the Gobblers since time immemorial—the call that has summoned the faithful to the Castles of Truth since the days of Moses.

This was the same call that echoed over the camps of Caesar on the Rhine, over the camps of Napoleon before Moscow; the same call that heartened the men at Valey Forge during the darkest night of the Revolution. Even during the last war the man who controlled the destiny of our country was strengthened in his hours of trial by frequent pilgrimages to the Castle of Truth.

In the parlor of the hall were gathered Past Exalted Rulers, Custodians of the Secret Carpet, Keepers of the Castle Gates and Eminent Apostles of Truth. In the persence of these illustrious Gobblers and the Spieler of The Ultimate Question the laymen were overawed. They gazed in silent meditation upon the sacred carpet and communicated with the Great Spirit of Gobblersdom.

Dim light made more fantastic the robes of the mighty; gave an ethereal tone to the rapt faces of the Believers of Truth. A silence akin to that of a great cathedral at dusk filled the room, footsteps fell noiselessly on the sacred carpet.

The Exalted Ruler prostrated himself before the Sword of Justice, murmured the word upon which the order is founded, struck his head thrice on the Altar of Purity and rose slowly to his feet. Almost unnoticed by the brothers the great hall of the castle became filled with an indescribably sweet music. It grew in fervor, broadened and finally burst into one mighty crash. Each man repeated the pass word and the meeting was under way.

With solemn tread the Executioner entered with the Infidel to be pledged, Nathaniel Patrickson Greene. A chorus of approval was heard from the brothers as their eyes fell upon this young Jupiter, blushing in all his youthful and "sunkist" innocence.

Again the music was heard, this time the Battle Cry of Gobblersdom. Nathaniel Patrickson, assisted by the custodian of the Sacred Carpet was led up to the altar. Then to the hushed music of the castle organ the gospel of Gobblersdom was chanted to the Infidel. Then after brother-to-be Greene was duly impressed as to the seriousness of the step he was about to undertake he was pledged with great ceremony.

After this various members of the organization gave snappy talks on the spirit of the organization and Greene himself concluded the evening by an address. Veritos! Veritos!

STANFORD LOSES TO UNIV. WASHINGTON

By Pacific Intercollegiate Press
University of Washington, Feb. 24. Taking the offensive from the start, the University of Washington basketball team beat Stanford 28 to 25 last Friday in the first of a series of two games. The first half ended 19 to 8. Spurring the next half, the Cardinals reached a 20 to 20 tie. From then on, the overcrowded gymnasium was dimmed in a steady shrill as the rivals battled for each inch gained and each inch lost. Frantic guarding allowed the telling baskets to be shot only from spectacular angles.

CARSON BASKETERS TAKE TWO TRIPS

Special to “Sagebrush”
Carson City, Nev., Feb. 24.—Last Thursday evening the Carson boys left for Tonopah where they played the Tonopah Hi team Friday evening. The score was 30-15 in favor of Carson at the end of the game. Brown, Christensen, Van Mitre, Schulz, McKenzie and Voorhees accompanied by Professor McKeown, made the trip to the southern city. The Tonopah game was refereed by Mr. Gifford, a University of California man.

On Saturday evening, a special train was run to Reno. The boys' team arrived from Tonopah the same evening. The two Carson teams lost to the Reno Hi squads on the High School floor.

The girls' game was somewhat slow, the girls not being able to strike their accustomed stride. The score was 17-9 in favor of the Reno girls.

The Carson boys, tired from their Tonopah trip, put up a splendid game against the Reno players. The Reno boys won the game in the last few minutes of play. The score was close throughout the game, and at the close stood 18-14 in favor of the Renoites.

Tom Grant of the University of Nevada refereed both games in an admirable manner.

TONOPAH HI LOSES TO CARSON FIVE

Special to “Sagebrush”
Tonopah, Nev., Feb. 24.—The basketball game at the High School gymnasium last Friday night was fast and exciting from start to finish. The superior teamwork of the Carson boys showed that they understood the game. Tonopah was handicapped by the injury several days ago to Earl Bynne. Bynne played in the first half but Harrington took his place in the second half. Proctor Hug played well for the Tonopah team.

The score at half time was 15 to 8 in favor of Carson, and 30 to 15 at the end of the game.

BRADSHAW (Guard)

Jimmy Bradshaw, one of the fastest men who has ever worn the Nevada colors, holds down a guard position on the Varsity. He is a veritable “streak” on the indoor court, an expert at the art of dribbling the ball through a crowded floor for a basket, and a man who will give the Los Angeles “Blues” something to worry about in the games this Friday and Saturday. “Shimmy” was one of the 1920 champion team and this season's end will give him his second Block N for Varsity basketball.

B. M. HEAD LEAVES FOR CONVENTION

Dr. S. C. Lind of the Bureau of Mines Station located at the University is to leave shortly for the Northwest Mining Convention to be held at Spokane, Wash., during the week, February 28 to March 5. The assembly will celebrate the twenty-sixth birthday of the convention, which was organized in the interests of the mining industry in British Columbia and the northwestern portion of the United States. Dr. Lind will speak on Thursday, March 3 on “The Uses of Rare Metals in Industry in the United States,” and will be absent from the station about ten days.

All organizations and all industries interested in mining will be represented at the convention and members of the following organizations are on the committee: Associated Engineers, Northwest Mining Association, Mining Bureau Chamber of Commerce, Washington State Metal Mining Association, Columbia Section A. I. M. E., and Spokane Stock Exchange. An elaborate plan of entertainment has been worked out for the visitors and includes athletic bouts, smokers, luncheons, showing of films, and visits to places of interest in the city. The Mayor of Spokane, Charles Fleming is to deliver a welcoming address. Most of the time will be taken up by a series of talks on technical mining subjects by authorities. Among the subjects discussed will be: “Safeguarding Investments Through Bureaus of Mines and Geology,” “Political and Commercial Advantages of State Mining Organizations,” “Mining Transportation,” “Technical Education,” “Art of Flotation,” “Electrochemical and Electrometallurgical Industries in the Northwest,” “National and State Co-operation in Mining,” “The Uses of Rare Metal in Industry in the United States,” “Petroleum Resources of Montana.”

SANTA CLARA ENDS DISASTROUS SCHED.

After finishing up one of the most disastrous basketball seasons of their history, the Santa Clara basketball team has disbanded for the season. They won but two of the six scheduled games of the Nevada-California Conference schedule, besides losing heavy financially, but they are hoping that the new gymnasium, for which the plans are now being drawn will be completed before fall so that they will get an early start on practice for the 1922 hoop season. Since their final conference basket game, baseball has been the major sport, with twenty-nine men out and a game scheduled this week with a local team. All the regular basketball men are out for baseball.

WOMEN'S INTERCLASS TOURNAMENT MAR. 7

There will be practice for the women's interclass basketball tournament all during the time the Varsity team is on their trip. The tournament is to be held during the week beginning March 7th. All women intending to play should come out and get in condition.

The inducement is one of those white ruff-neck sweaters awarded to Seniors for four years' participation in interclass athletics. Regardless of the bonus all women students should assist their class to go over the top in athletics and adorn the library cup with their class colors.

ARIZ. WILL START BOXING COURSES

Southwestern Intercollegiate Press.
Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 24.—It has been the desire of the university for some time to have some kind of athletics in which every man attending the university may take part. Boxing and wrestling are sports which every man likes, and in these sports they have more opportunity to participate than they do in football and basketball as the best men are the only ones who get to do much playing. Coach McKale, who has charge of all men's athletics, and his assistant, Asa Porter, announce that this form of athletics will soon be open to all men, regardless of size or weight. The wrestling mats and other miscellaneous equipment has not been purchased, but if enough students enroll for the sport they will be installed immediately. It is hoped that arrangements will be made with other colleges to compete for wrestling and boxing honors.

ARIZ. MEMBER NEW ATHLETIC CONFER.

By Southwest Intercollegiate Press Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 24.—A short time ago representatives of the various institutions of Arizona, New Mexico, and west Texas met in El Paso to formulate some set of rules under which the schools of this section should hold their athletic contests. It was finally decided that the best thing to do was to draw up a set of rules for a conference, and so it was done. There are six institutions in the organization, including the University of Arizona, University of New Mexico, New Mexico School of Mines, the New Mexico Military Academy and the Texas School of Mines, and the New Mexico Agricultural College. It is expected that this conference will bring about better relations among the schools of the southwest and will in time mean a playoff between the champion of the new conference and the winner of the Southern California conference for a real championship of the southwest.

"KEEP FIT" WEEK

By Pacific Intercollegiate Press University of Washington, Feb. 24. "Keep fit" week at the University of Washington with a formula for an hour's exercise a day has caught coeds purposely starting to classes late so they may run without appearing "perfectly idiotic."

Another requirement is to get to bed at 10:15 p. m. Some do.

Seven delegates are to be sent to the conference at Mills, which takes place on February 25 to 27. The following girls are to go. Erma Eason, Beulah Booth, Virginia Higgins, Agnes Riddell, Marianne Elsie, Vera Wickland, Louise Grubnau.

The committee from Mills wrote that we could send as many women as we wished to, which accounts for the large number. They will tell of their experience and will bring the messages from the conference to the first meeting held after their return, which will be on March 2nd. This meeting will be a very interesting and instructive one, and we hope that a large number of the women will attend.

This week, Y. W. C. A., in conjunction with A. W. S., will have a hike instead of the regular meeting. The hike starts at 4 o'clock sharp, so be there on time. All members of A. W. S. will be given a certain number of points for this hike. Beginning this month, the hikes will take place once a month and it is hoped that they will be well attended and enjoyable.

Don't forget the Thursday morning Bible class. It is held at 7:45 and will continue thru Lent. It is under the leadership of Helena Shade, who conducted a similar class two years ago. A cordial invitation is extended to all University women to attend this class.

SHARK SCHOOL IS ZOOLOGY ADDITION

By Southwest Intercollegiate Press Southern Branch U. C., Los Angeles, Feb. 24.—A school of sharks is the latest addition to the equipment of the zoology department. Thirty sharks have been received by this department for dissection. They are supposed to afford unusual opportunity for study because they resemble the human family in so many respects (physiologically speaking, of course). Quite contrary to the usual course of events, these sharks were skinned in the laboratory, showing the superiority of college students over other fish. The dissectors have christened their pets Cleo, Ezekial, Nebuchadnezzar, Beelzebub, Solomon, and so on.

There are to be matches for 115, 125, 135, 145, 158, and 170 pound men. A variation of two pounds will be permitted. Silver cups are to be awarded the winners and medals to those reaching the finals. Preliminaries will start about March 1.

SOUTHERN BRANCH U. C.—(By Southern Intercollegiate Press.)—Announcement has been made that a third and fourth year teacher's course will be added to the curriculum of Southern Branch. The additional two years will be devoted to special studies and students taking the four-year course will be prepared to specialize in their teaching.

CALIFORNIA—California's attitude toward making the historic Ax an annual award to the winner of the big game will be formally decided by the Big C Society as soon as the matter has been thoroughly discussed. The fact that the Ax began its career as a baseball trophy will not lessen the desirability of making it a football award, according to the assistant graduate manager.

CALIFORNIA—That the Campanile will not be illuminated in the future, is the definite decision reached by authorities following a test made recently. Up to that time, the Campanile had not been lighted since 1917 due to the fact that it interfered with the lighthouse at Alcatraz Island in guiding vessels. The only way the light could be used would be to have it chartered and given a place on all marine maps.

By Southwest Intercollegiate Press. Arizona Wildcat, Feb. 24.—The students enrolled for courses in the university totaled 1558 on February 5th. There are 229 correspondence school students who are living in the state and are taking courses by correspondence. Last year at this time there were 1229 students registered. This makes an increase of 329 students over last year's enrollment, or an increase of 26.5 per cent.

By Southwest Intercollegiate Press Arizona Wildcat, Feb. 24.—The girls gave a fashion show at Maricopa Hall, on the afternoon of Feb. 12, at 2 o'clock for the women of the campus and town. Models appeared displaying suitable and unsuitable costumes for school, business, afternoon and evening wear.

GYM TO BE OPENED FOR SCRUB TEAMS

The Gymnasium is open to the men students of the University for basketball practice from 7:30 to 9:00 every Monday, Wednesday and Thursday night. Coach Courtright provides a coach and referee from among the Varsity or Scrub basketball players. This opportunity has been extended to the students for the past two weeks and they have availed themselves of it with only moderate enthusiasm. Enough men to form two full teams have usually appeared but there are no men to use as substitutes. Since many of the players are far from the pink of condition, a steady hour and a half of playing is altogether too arduous. With twenty men, enough to make four teams, a new team could be run in every ten minutes and the game kept going at white heat.

The purpose of opening the Gym to sporadic evening players is to give all men a chance to gain healthy exercise in the sport and to bring out new basketball talent. Nevada must be especially active in seeking new talent as the old Varsity team will melt away at graduation. Among the men who have been making a good appearance on the floor are Herbert and Lowry. Herbert, though of Pat O'Brien size, plays a Pat O'Brien game and shoots a keen basket. Lowry served a year on the Winnemucca basketball team and helped to give it a reputation. He has lots of wind, weight, and speed and is still only a Freshman.

By "DOPIE"

Coach Courtright has received an invitation to bring his team of hoopsters to Kansas City to compete in the annual championship tournament which is scheduled for March 7th to 12th inclusive. Should Nevada defeat California in the coming game she would be a logical representative from the Western coast to play in the tournament, the great drawback, however, would be the expense which the trip would involve. It would probably cost about $2,000 to send the team to Kansas and keep them there for the six days of games. Whether Nevada accepts the invitation or not it goes to show that she is recognized as a power in Pacific Coast basketball by the East and Middle West.

The Bruin trackmen of the University of California are scheduled for five dual track meets this spring, the first coming on March 12th with University of Southern California at Los Angeles.
March 12—California vs. University of Southern California at Los Angeles.
March 19—California vs. Olympic Club at Berkeley.
April 0—California vs. University of Michigan at Berkeley.
April 16—California vs. Stanford University at Stanford.
March 31—California vs. Pomona College at Berkeley.

University of Idaho's baseball team will meet seven teams this spring according to the schedule which has only recently been announced:
April 29-30—Idaho vs. Gonzaga College at Spokane.
May 4-5—Idaho vs. Whitman College at Moscow.
May 11-12—Idaho vs. University of Montana at Moscow.
May 17-18—Idaho vs. Washington State College at Moscow.
May 20-21—Idaho vs. Whitman College at Walla Walla.
May 26-28—Idaho vs. University of Montana at Missoula.
June 2-3—Idaho vs. Washington State College at Moscow.

The dual meets of the Olympic Club trackmen as announced a few days ago will be five in number:
Feb. 22—Open meet at San Jose, Calif.
March 5—Santa Clara University at Santa Clara, Cal.
March 12—Davis Farm School at Davis, Calif.
March 19—University of California at Berkeley.
March 26—Stanford University at Stanford.

"HAIRCUTS"
The hemispherical haircut, the demi-tasse skull, and the semi-headed coif has been hailed as a triumph of evolution when it is nothing less than a horrible regression. It strikes deep at the foundations of organized society. Far from being evolution, it is retrogradation.

For the benefit of the innocent few who have not apprehended this octopus in our midst, it may be stated that this hemispherical haircut is nothing more than the pompadour, honored and respected for a decade past, but its smooth and complete perfection has been rent and torn asunder by an insidious parting down its mathematical middle. Simple and unrevolutionary as this phenomenon may seem to unpenetrating eyes, it is replete with meaning for all members of civilized society who rejoice in the comfort and freedom of unelaborated hairdress. From complexity we have evolved to simplicity in this matter and this simple, central streak betokens change. If our unthinking brothers will initiate such a custom, who can tell how long before we are involved in the intricacies of savage hairdress?

In a long fight against nature and women's wiles the present satisfactory and orderly method has been evolved. Man first peered from the jungle with startled eyes and tangled hair. Before long, upon solicitation of the tribe, he was twisting into it skulls and teeth and ornaments of bone. Early and late he curled and twisted it, till at last the good wife begged him to simplify it in order that the children might have fresh dinosaur meat. Thus succeeded the simpler but scarcely less freakish styles of later geologic history. Through a long period of agonizing changes, the triumph of complexity was reached in the powdered wigs which finally succumbed before a slowly organizing, universal masculine sentiment. This organized sentiment has brought with it the ultra simple and incomparable pompadour. That this institution, embracing as it does the wisdom of the ages, should go down before the impulsiveness of a few head strong, self-willed youths is unbelievable. But such is the law of life that age and wisdom must go down before the impetus of crackbrained youth. They will not listen to advice, they will not heed control, they will not consider the consequences of their rash acts, and because of this and this alone the masculine half of humanity is soon to be involved in the conflict and turmoil of insuring partings straight and true, and the hairs on one side numerically equal to those on the other.

SENIORS WIN IN BASKET TOURNEY

The first games of the interclass basketball season were played last night. The Seniors won the first games from the Juniors by a close score and the Frosh won from the Sophs in a hotly contested game by the score of 12-11.

The Seniors had "Sure Shot" Ed Benson, "Dutch" Metcher, "Bill" Carter, Dewey Conrad and "Skip" Hammond in their original lineup. Ronnow and Gelmsted replaced Conrad and Carter after the first few minutes of play, and then the man on the side lines replacing one on the court as soon as he caught his breath.

The Juniors were represented by Rieter, Christensen, Mox Charles. They were replaced by Les Bruce.

The upperclassmen could not find their stride in the first half, which was slow ball, but in the second they opened up and play was speedier. Benson scored most for the Seniors but he had the support of every member of the team. The Juniors played hard to hold the lead they had at times but were finally forced out and the Seniors won.

After the upperclassmen had played the Sophs and Frosh had their little game. The Sophomores began with Fisher, Herb Foster, Ted Fairchild, Hobbs and Naylor on the floor. This combination held the Frosh down to 5-3 score in the first half. In the second half, Quill, Larieu and Johnnie Harrison played for a while, they being replaced by Church, Foster and Fairchild.

The Frosh lineup was Goodwin, Hammert, Griswold, Seranton and Adams. Hearne, Ed Martin and Codd also played in this game. This contest was hard fought from start to finish, with the score two minutes before the end of the game being 7-12 in favor of the Frosh. Hobbs and Foster threw a basket apiece and made the final score 11-12.

The Frosh and Seniors will play the class championship game in the next week or so.

CLONIA SOCIETY HAS BIG MEETING

At a special meeting of Clonia held last night many matters of interest were brought up. Tickets for the play were distributed and the members of the society will sell them in the next few days.

A committee was appointed to arrange for the initiation at the meeting two weeks hence of the new members of the society. An interesting program is to be arranged and everyone is asked to be there.

The tryouts for the debate with the College of Pacific are to be held next Tuesday evening. This debate will take place at San Jose in April and the question to be debated is, "Resolved, That the Constitution of the United States shall be amended to provide for the nomination of presidential candidates by nation-wide direct primaries." A number of students have already signified their intention of trying out for this debate and some keen competition should be seen next Tuesday evening.

A committee was also appointed from Clonia to meet with a similar committee from D. A. E., relative to the forming of a separate dramatic organization and a debating society upon the Hill.

All members of Clonia were asked to read and take notes on one of the two inter-collegiate debates, and thus assist the debating teams.

A. S. U. N. MEETING IS WELL ATTENDED

There was that sort of a "restless" feeling prevailing at the A. S. U. N. meeting last Friday which was sure to uncover or start something either good or possibly unpleasant. Perhaps the most startling subject brought up was the fact that four of U. of N.'s most prominent coeds were accused of having violated one of Nevada's sacred traditions. Only four of the violators of the Senior Bench tradition were caught, Wilma Readle, Carr Gardner, Ruth Moyer and Emily Brown and not being Seniors were accused of having used the famous bench as resting place from their arduous studies.

Miss Readle asked to be pardoned for her offense, assuring the student body that it would not happen again. Time will be given at the next meeting for the other young ladies to ask to be reinstated in the good graces of the college.

Another one of Nevada's old traditions was brought to light when it was suggested that the school have a University day at the Legislature. It has been the custom in the past for the President of the University to declare a holiday, the students to charter a special train, and all go to Carson to see the law-making process. If permission can be obtained from President Clark the students will have this privilege of familiarizing ourselves with the procedure during this session.

Nevada adopted as one of her minor sports pistol and rifle shooting which has been done by many of the larger colleges in the United States. The exact standards and qualifications have not been decided upon as Colonel Ryan is waiting to get information from other colleges in order to establish a uniform basis for competing. Any student who qualifies as a marksman and meets the other qualifications to be decided upon by the athletic committee will be awarded the circle N, and granted the privilege of wearing the same.

As a reward for participating in interclass athletics for four years, the Student Body granted the privilege of wearing white sweaters to six Senior girls. Those to whom this privilege was granted are: Anne Underwood, Hallie Organ, Margaret Barnes, Lois Smythe, Helen Fuss, Gladys Dunkle.

Famous Club Team Will Tackle Nevada

(Continued from Page 1.) vada team, as all of Reno and the surrounding country has seen them in action this year. The games are going to be battles from start to finish, and the team that wins will no doubt earn their victory. Coach Courtright will start his regular first string five, it was stated today.

Friday's game will be called at 7:30 o'clock so it behooves all basketball fans to be on hand early and avoid the rush. Just as a hint, last year nearly two hundred people were turned away from the gym, being unable to get inside the outer door.

TELEGRAMS

The following telegrams between Coach Courtright and L. A. Nichols of the California Varsity explain themselves. Up to the present time no favorable has been received by Nevada, and unless better news is received, the Nevada season will end Saturday night, followed by a Block N dance after the final "Blues" game:

R. O. Courtright, Director of Athletics, University of Nevada, Reno, Nev.

Impossible to confirm date before second Stanford game. California entered California-Nevada League purely to foster basketball among smaller colleges. Find it impossible to play both schedules due to long conference season. Varsity anxious to disband after Stanford series. Will send second Varsity or forfeit game.

L. A. NICHOLS.

Answer:

L. A. Nichols, Graduate Mgr., U.C. We appreciate your efforts to keep the California-Nevada League intact but think you should go thru with your promise to play us on our court. We will not play any team excepting California Varsity. Please give definite answer immediately. Date can be arranged later.

R. O. COURTRIGHT.

BASKET TOURNEY TO START NEXT THURS.

Plans have practically been completed for the annual state basketball tourney to be held at the University for three days of this coming week, March 3, 4, 5, under the direct charge of the Block N Society. Twenty-one high school teams have entered up to noon today and the 1921 tourney bids fair to be the greatest junior tournament ever held this side of Chicago. Both boys and girls teams have entered from nearly every large high school in the state, and with many smaller high stool student bodies sending teams to compete the silver loving cup winners will have to put up some stiff battles before they can be called the state high school champions. The schedule of games, entrants, various officials, and all the "dope" possible will be published in next week's issue of the Sagebrush, when everything is finally settled. Every game will be covered by the Sagebrush sports writers and a synopsis given together with pictures of the winning teams.

HONOR SYSTEM TO BE RECONSIDERED

By Pacific Intercollegiate Press
Stanford University, Feb. 24.—Re- adoption of the honor system in examinations on the campus has been proposed by F. L. McElroy, student body president, and its feasibility is being considered by a committee appointed for that purpose. The plan has been approved by heads of the various departments and the president of the University. Its expansion to other matters of University conduct has been advocated. At present, examinations are carried on under a system of faculty supervision, regulations requiring that students sit in alternate seats or be given alternate sets of examination questions.
