Y. L. I. DOWNS NEVADA BY SMALL SCORE

Co-ed Varsity Loses Game

NEVADA WOMEN LOSE LAST BIG GAME BY EIGHT POINT MARGIN TO Y. L. I. TEAM FROM SAN FRANCISCO

The University of Nevada women's varsity met defeat at the hands of the Young Ladies Institute team of San Francisco last Saturday night in the University gymnasium by the score of 27 to 19 before a small crowd of students and friends from town.

A surprise was sprung on the Nevada team when the Y. L. I. squad announced that they would play two side centers, and after a slight argument the game proceeded with seven players on a side, and bringing the total number of players stationed in the center court to six. Coupled with the fact that Nevada's star guard, June Harriman was injured on the Coast trip and was unable to play in the Y. L. I. game, this addition of an extra side center handicapped the Sagebrush team considerably.

At the end of the first half, Y. L. I. had the lead by four points, the score being 15 to 12. Many brilliant plays featured the game, the visitors being in the pink of condition, trained, out to win at any cost and full of confidence in their own ability. Many desperate shots at the basket were taken, Boss and Hibbard of Y. L. I. being the star pointgetters for the visitors, while Organ, assisted by Helen Fuss, scintillated for Nevada.

Time out was taken again and again, and many rules were looked up and discussed, slowing the game down considerably. One of the Y. L. I. players was injured during the game and time taken out, but she recovered and continued in the play.

Field goals were not as frequent in the second half as in the first, Y. L. I. shooting but four as compared to six in the first period, and Nevada making but two field goals. Three free goals were converted in this half by each team, bringing the scores for the second half to Y. L. I. 11 and Nevada 7, and making the final score 27 to 19 in the visitors favor.

Eight fouls, mainly technicals, were called on the San Francisco team during the game as compared to twelve called on the local team.

The support given the home team was very poor, very few students and townspeople appearing, and during the game but few desultory yells were heard. The line-up of the teams follows:

D. A. E. Plans Society Play

UNIVERSITY ENGLISH CLUB TO PRESENT DRAMA DEPICTING MODERN SOCIETY LIFE—PLAY WILL BE STAGED IN APRIL.

Delta Alpha Epsilon is now making preparations for a play to be given some time in April. The play depicts modern society life and has a plot that is different with a twist at the end that is unexpected and very entertaining. All of the parts will be taken by the women members and from the try-outs some unexpected ability in histrionic talent has been discovered. There is a promise that some male vamps will appear on the stage who will vie for honors with the most noted matinee idols that ever played on the stage, screen or the campus of the U. of N.

Dr. H. W. Hill is the director and he says that this play is the equal of any given before by the society. That alone will prove a drawing card for D. A. E. has put on some good plays in the past.

The proceeds of the play will be used to defray the expenses of the banquet which will be given for the new members, who are to be elected soon.

Several social affairs have been enjoyed by the society lately. One of these took place at the home of Miss Ethel Steinheimer, when the Misses Vera Dallas and Lois Codd were initiated into membership. After the ceremony the two new members gave some very clever pantomimes, taking as their models covers of the popular magazines.

PHI KAPPA PHI ELECTS MEMBERS

At the annual election of Phi Kappa Phi the national honor fraternity, the following students were chosen for membership: Lulu Hawkins, Gladys Dunkle, Lois Smythe, Margaret Barnes, Leila Sloan, Virginia Higgins, John Gottardi, Charles Chatfield, Ernest Metcher, Harry Capper.

Students are elected on the basis of scholarship. Their average must be 90 per cent or above in all of their subjects before they are eligible to membership in the fraternity. All of the students elected this year are active members of the student body and have done exceptional work during their four years at college. Their election to the honor fraternity is a fitting reward for the years of hard work that they have gone through.

SUMMER SESSION PLANS COMPLETED

Plans for the summer session are rapidly nearing completion. The director hopes to maintain the high standard set by previous summer sessions. The emphasis will be laid on courses of interest to high school teachers will also be given. For this purpose, an earnest effort is being made to secure the best possible instruction. A large part of the work will center about the demonstration school. The session will open June 20 and close July 29.

Carson Trip Huge Success

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS MAKE TRIP BY SPECIAL TRAIN TO STATE CAPITOL; MANY POINTS OF INTEREST VISITED

The University student body to Carson. The much advertised pilgrimage of City took place last Friday and was an unusually big success, even more so than had been expected. Though not as large a number of students made the trip as was anticipated, nevertheless, over two hundred or slightly less than half the total enrollment were on hand and took in the sights of the capital city with great delight. In order that all might go without neglect to their classes, a holiday was declared by President Clark and all University work for the day suspended.

A special train on the V. & T. carried the greater part of the pilgrims, approximately one hundred and fifty making the voyage on the special and the balance, about seventy-five, going by machine. The trip over was filled with excitement and jazz performances, the college "jazz band" assisted by other musical talent rendering numerous selections in every car, and always meeting with great approval. On the way over, the crowd was divided into two sections for the purpose of facilitating the sightseeing trips, and in this way everything went along smoothly and with no hardship on anyone concerned.

Upon reaching Carson, sufficient machines provided by the Greater Carson Club, were on hand to take the first section to the State prison. The drive out was made via the Stewart Indian School, and thence to the prison, where Warden Hendricks took charge and escorted the body through all parts of the interior. Everything of interest was viewed by the students, from the prehistoric footprints in the cave to the death cells and galows frame. The women especially, exhibited great speed on the return trip from the latter.

DR. GARDNER WILL ADDRESS STUDENTS

Dr. William E. Gardner, noted lecturer and author of New York City, will talk to the faculty and student body of the University this Friday at a general assembly to be held in the University gymnasium at 11:20. Dr. Gardner has addressed a large number of student bodies and assemblages in the past, and his address this Friday should be one well worth hearing. His address will be on the "Disasters of Democracy."

BIG DEBATE STAGED BY UNIV. ARIZONA

Southwestern Intercollegiate Press. Univ. of Arizona, Tucson, Mar. 17.—Announcement has been made of the debate to be held with Morningside College of Sioux Falls, S. D., to be held in the University Auditorium on March 18. Advance information states that the visiting team is a winner and that the U. of A. boys will have to work hard to get the edge on them. However the home team feels confident and promises to administrate a defeat to the visitors if possible.

Mid-Year Conference Held at San Jose

SEVEN NEVADA DELEGATES ATTEND ANNUAL Y. W. C. A. MEETING HELD AT MILLS COLLEGE FOR UNIVERSITY WOMEN OF COAST INSTITUTIONS—OPEN FORUM, ADDRESSES, AND BANQUET ARE FEATURES OF BIG BLUE TRIANGLE CONFERENCE.

The mid-year conference of the Y. W. C. A. was held at Mills College from February 25-27. Nevada sent seven delegates to this conference, Agnes Riddell, Marianne Elsie, Erma Easen, Louise Grubnau, Virginia Higgins, Beulah Booth and Vera Wickland. They all brought back glowing accounts of the work that the organization has been doing the past year and from the plans that were discussed. Next year bids fair to surpass it, both in the amount of work planned for and the number of workers who are enrolled to do it.

On Friday afternoon all the delegates spent the time registering at Alumnae Hall, after which the opening meeting was held. The presiding officer at this meeting was Helen Allan of University of California. The welcome was given by Dr. Cox of Mills who substituted for Dr. Reinhardt also from Mills College. The theme of her address was that there in the peace and solitude they would gain their inspirations so that they could go back to their own colleges and live out the keynote of the conference, which was "Consistent Living."

Following the Roll-Call, Rev. Kenneth Saunders of India lectured on "The Need of Religion." His main thesis was that the people were afraid of Christianity and that they challenged the great church of the world. How were we to answer that challenge? What was to be the test of our citizenship?

His answer to these questions was: Face them with the spirit of youth; recapture the springtime of the world. Live a life of sincerity, happiness and sacrifice; in all that you do, in all that you say, have with it the spirit of God. Work for all that you get and have the strength of all your convictions.

Y. W. C. A. TO HOLD ANNUAL LUNCHEON

The annual luncheon of the Y. W. C. A. will be held the first part of April, during Miss Babson's visit. The date will be definitely set later as soon as the date for Mackay Day is determined upon. The luncheon is provided by the Home Economic Students and all of the women of the University are cordially invited to attend. The charge for defraying the expenses is nominal, 25 cents a person. It has been found necessary to levy this tax on the women, as the organization cannot pay out of the general fund. Tickets will be issued upon the payment of the fee and no one will be admitted without the ticket, so please remember to bring it with you.

The "Y" day is not observed in the University of Nevada alone, but is one of the institutions of the organization all over the world. It is to be hoped that each and every woman in college will attend the luncheon and listen to the talks and plans for the work next year. There will be stunts also and songs and Miss Babson will probably talk to the students. Make up your mind to come and make this one of the days to be long remembered in your book of events.

tions. The test of our citizenship should be the amount of joy and enthusiasm that each person had toward his work and for his fellowmen. Make our citizenship the real brotherhood of God.

The real business of the day was over with the adjourning of this meeting and all the delegates gave themselves up to visiting with the friends that they had made at Asilomar or strolled about the campus.

On Saturday the meeting opened with morning prayers at which Miss Allan presided. Dr. Saunders gave another address at this meeting and then it was turned over to Miss Edna Wilbur of Leland Stanford Junior University, who conducted the Open Forum.

The Open Forum is in reality a discussion of the problems of the different colleges in connection with the Y. W. C. A. Each of the colleges represented gave a report of the special difficulty that they were trying to cope with and the whole body of delegates discussed the problem and the best way of meeting it. Some questions that came up had been met with successfully by one or two of the colleges and their experience and suggestions were a great aid to the others.

One of the hardest questions that seemed to perplex all the colleges was "How shall we get girls to come to meetings and how shall we induce them to join the discussion groups." The general opinion was that unless the women themselves cared to come, it was useless to put up high-colored posters and try to force them to join. They took less interest in it if they were forced and the organization wants members who are really interested and who will do all they can to promote its growth.

The delegates from Chico, Fresno and San Jose told of their settlement work among the foreign laborers in those places. They are doing good work among these people, not only spiritually but also materially, by teaching them how to live in the most sanitary and economical ways.

In the afternoon on Saturday Dr. S. Imai of the Methodist Church gave an address on the Japanese-American question. He outlined the situation very ably and pointed out ways in which the two nations could peacefully live here in America.

MID-YEAR CONFER. HELD AT SAN JOSE

The rest of the afternoon was given over to recreation.

On Saturday evening the Asilomar banquet was held. Miss Persis Hyatt of Stanford was toast mistress. Marguerite Peck of U. C. Hospital responded to the toast on Recreation and told of the plentiful means afforded for recreation at Asilomar.

Virginia Higgins of the University of Nevada gave a very interesting talk on "Stuck-ups." The "Stuck-Ups" are the girls who do the work at Asilomar and pay all or a part of their expenses in this way.

Ada Beveridge of Mills spoke on Inspiration and how all of the Y members needed it in their work, not only for themselves but also for others.

Helen Babson told of the plans for this year's Asilomar. They were so interesting and had so many new features that nearly all of the delegates decided to go to Asilomar next summer.

The best part of the whole conference, according to the delegates from Nevada was the Church Service and the Service of Music on Sunday morning. The Service of Music took place in Alumnae Hall. They consisted of a general "sing" by all the girls and several vocal and violin selections by the delegates from Mills and the College of the Pacific.

The Church services were held in Lisser Hall at 11 o'clock. The large choir composed of Mills students rendered special music.

Rev. Whisler gave the address. He took as his text the theme of the conference "From whence cometh my help?" and he pointed out that it was the youth of today who will do the work of tomorrow. He said that it is in the time of youth that we are filled with the highest courage hope and inspirations. If we look to the heights for our strength we will be better able to carry on our future work. He asserted that youth is only a preparation for the future and that this life is the preparation for the life to come. He finished his address with a quotation from Brownings poem, "Rabbi Ben Ezra":

Grow old along with me; the best is yet to be;
The last of life, for which the first was made;
Our times are in his hand
Who saith, a whole I planned
Youth shows but half; trust God;
See all, nor be afraid.

The services closed the meeting and the remainder of the day was spent on the Mills campus or on sight-seeing expeditions in the city. The Nevada delegates returned bringing with them the spirit of the conference and messages to the organization from the leaders on the coast.

"THE OLD, OLD STORY" (By Rholer Towle.)

It was on the Bridge of Sighs, that arches across the dry end of Manzanita Lake. The lake itself was a fairy world, all the beauty of the night was reflected there. One looked down on Lincoln Hall like a great feudal castle, the lighted windows spots of buried fire. Far down the quad the watchman's cane tapped—slowly and deliberately—recalling Dr. Fu Manchu and the mysteries of Sherlock Holmes.

A curtain of cloud parted and in the east the moon stepped boldly into the sky and swung out on its nightly journey.

On the lake shore two frogs were making love—his masculine croak was passionate, insistent. It echoed the very feeling of the night.

The Admired and Admirer leaned against the railing. She was silent because she had the winning hand and he—he was silent from mere cowardice. Would he bluff? Suppose she called him? All he had for a hole card was a cast iron nerve while she held a royal flush.

Carefully he picked up one of his arms and put it on the railing. She didn't seem to notice. He made sure of his hole card and then began to extend his arm so as to include all the territory immediately surrounding the Admired.

She moved away—not too far though he followed.

"Your hair looks like a mass of spun gold." The arm had completed its vicious circle now.

"Yes, and it is all mine" she answered sweetly.

By now she was almost hypnotized by the steady progress of the arm. Outwardly she frowned but to herself—well, you never can tell.

Now the arm had anchored on a button of her coat. His hole card still he held good.

"There is something that I want to confide in you," he stammered.

"Yes, go on." Her eyelashes beat a tattoo on her cheeks. "Go on. I love to be confided in."

The Admirer choked, hitched his collar around to where it belonged and plunged into his heartbroken story.

"You should know, that is why I am telling you. People have noticed I'm sure and—and—"

In his excitement he had forgotten the button. He held it now and she frowning fiercely, snuggled closer. The old hole card was sure running true to form.

"And then," she whispered.

"And people are sure to talk. You would hear about it if I didn't tell you and I want to be the first. Sweetheart—pardon me—swell night, isn't it?" Two cold chills galloped up his back and one camped on each shoulder.

"Y—yes, it's too wonderful for words. I'm just so-so- oh-so foolish tonight."

"Yes, I know," he answered sympathetically.

Then the Admired: "You might at least hold me, I'm liable to fall you know." Then she looked for a full second into his eyes and dropped them demurely, according to form.

Of course his arm was cramped by now, but Spartan that he was he tightened his grip. Something had to be done—the arm wouldn't last many minutes longer, and he didn't have the courage to ask her if the other arm would do just as well.

His brow became beaded with perspiration; he wished he was the ardent frog on the lake bank so that he could at least cool himself. When she wasn't looking he wiped his face with his handkerchief.

"Headache?" she asked sweetly.

"Oh, no, oh no, just a little cold," he lied, and then, "as I was saying before. I noticed what a large night it was, I really should tell you, I've been trying all evening—you know how people talk. I've noticed them watching you and I."

"You have?" she sighed happily.

"Go on."

"Watching you and I, and—you won't think me rude if, if I—"

"No, I've been expecting it but I really didn't think it would be so soon" the Admired cooed.

The arm was beyond feeling now. He was desperate.

"Well, damn it, I might as well tell you, that my socks didn't match tonight and people have noticed it."

There was a sob and a flutter as from a crushed moth. "If you say another word I'll scream. Take me home."

Carefully he put the paralyzed arm in his pocket so that it wouldn't be lost and in a few minutes they were at Manzanita. The door opened and closed, and again the Admirer wished he was the frog on the lake bank.

There will be no regular meeting this week but the women will all get together and go on a hike. This is getting to be regular custom and is greatly enjoyed by all the students. The women hike to some particular place and there hold the regular Y. W. C. A. services. The last time that a hike was enjoyed they went to Chism's ranch. No definite place has been set as yet for this trip. The hikers will all meet at Manzanita Hall at 4 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon and it is hoped that as many as possible will be there. The W. A. S. gives points to all of its members attending this hike and that alone should be quite a large factor in drawing a crowd.

There are only two more meetings of the regular Thursday morning Bible classes and all those who are in the habit of attending will miss them a great deal. Under the interesting leadership of Miss Shade they have done a great amount of good to all who went to them, in increased knowledge of the Bible and the meaning of Lent. It is to be hoped that they will be continued next year also.

GRACE DODGE DAY TO BE OBSERVED

On your calendar mark May 21st for an act of kindness or for sacrifice. At a meeting of the national board of the Y. W. C. A. at its headquarters, 600 Lexington Avenue, New York, a resolution was passed that that day be set apart in the associations of the United States to be known as Grace Dodge Day. In memory of the magnificent record of service it was recommended that each Y. W. C. A. girl on that day do some special act of kindness even to the point of sacrifice.

Miss Dodge during a life-long devotion to the girls made many large gifts to the association. The purpose of the day, which is her birthday, shall be to interpret her life and work to the public.

The Girls' Club of Reno High is a popular organization. It is young in years but has an enviable record of good times among its members.

There are no qualifications required for membership, for any High school girl is welcome. The membership is rapidly increasing, at present being about one hundred. The dues for expenses are 50 cents per semester. When a girl has paid her dues she becomes an active member and may attend all meetings and vote for the cabinet officers.

The meetings are held twice a month, either at the High school or at one of the member's home. Usually some activity is discussed and planned for, such as a girls' club party or a charity mission.

A regular fund is set aside for charity and the money for the fund is raised in various ways. Thanksgiving and Christmas are only two of the occasions when the G. C. members do their part in bringing happiness to some unfortunate home.

Each summer two or three delegates are sent to represent the club at Asilomar, Calif. As Asilomar fund is therefore kept to pay the expenses of these delegates. As this is purely a pleasure trip those who go are considered extremely lucky.

The five regular officers of the club are: Anne Porter, president; Emily Brown, vice-president; Marie Litt, secretary; Evelyn Maxson, treasurer, and Ruth V. Foster, reporter. They hold office for the whole year and are elected by the vote of all the members of the club.

In the early fall at the beginning of the first semester the annual party for the Freshmen girls is given. This is the Hi-Jinks, planned for weeks beforehand and gossiped about for months afterward. It is a costume affair and the girls come in everything from the costume of a movie camp to that of a Fiji-Islander. Stunts and eats run a close race for the main attractions at the Jinks. Several other parties are given throughout the year, besides dances in the gymnasium.

As a whole the G. C. exerts a strong influence on the girls physically, socially and morally.

WHITTIER MAY GET HUGE AMPHITHEATER

By Southwest Intercollegiate Press
Whittier College, Calif., Mar. 17.—A movement which may result in the erection of an amphitheater at Whittier College was launched on March 11. Professor H. E. Harris, head of the English department, and President H. N. Wright are sponsors for the movement. The Senior class has signified its intention of producing a Shakespearian play on Class Day, Commencement Week, if the amphitheater is completed by that time. Committees have been appointed to make arrangement preceding excavation and construction. It is estimated that the proposed structure will seat approximately 5000 persons. "Fire Hill," the hill rising just back of Naylor Hall and which overlooks the entire campus, offers a natural elliptical area and has been selected as the location of the proposed edifice.

CLASS SPIRIT AT MILLS IS STRONG

(By Erma Eason)

One of the most noticeable things at Mills College was the class spirit shown by the students. Two Freshmen women took us down to dinner and as we reached the dining-room door they stood aside and waited until some of the other women had gone in. When we asked the meaning of this we were told that it is the privilege of the upper-classmen to go first. They told us that no Freshman ever entered a room, street-car or any other place until all the upperclassmen had preceded her. When an upperclass student spoke to an underclassman the Freshman stood up until she had finished and then she went and did what the other had told her to. All this was done in a respectful way. The older students are not overbearing or haughty and do not abuse their prerogative, so that the Freshmen do not feel that they were being ordered around just because one of the upper-class women wanted to show her authority.

There was a basketball game played during our visit between the Sophomores and Freshmen. Before the game they gathered in two groups and went around the campus singing their class songs. During the game each class gave songs and yells. In the dining-room that night all of the classes sang their class and college songs.

We came to the conclusion that the women students of Nevada could improve their college a great deal if they would adopt the "class spirit" shown at Mills.

COED VARSITY BLAMES STUDENTS

The Women's Varsity team played the last game of the season last Saturday night. They were defeated by a score of 27 to 19. They did not lose that game. They put up a plucky fight against great odds—every player on the Nevada team being outclassed by her opponent. Fellow-students and faculty you lost that game. The women came out on the floor realizing that they had a hard fight ahead and determined to do their best to make the score larger for them than for their opponents. What help did you give them? The enthusiastic greeting that they received was composed of a large bare gymnasium with a few familiar faces scattered here and there. A mere handful of Nevada students and faculty were on hand to see the game. It would take a stout heart with the odds all on its side to win a game without any more backing than was shown there.

No the students and the faculty were to blame for that defeat, and not the players. Two college yells were heard during the entire course of the game and it is no exaggeration to say that the yells that the substitute players of the visiting team were more easily heard than the yells of the entire body of Nevada rooters present. Were you all afraid to yell? A good lusty noise would not have frightened the team but on the contrary would have spurred them on to greater activity and the defeat would probably not have been theirs.

Did you help to liven up the dance after the game? The few students who did have enough college spirit and pep to stay were not enough to keep the spirits up. What do you suppose those Y. L. I. players will say of the pep and spirit of the Nevada students? They certainly will not carry home a very good report.

Now, think these things over and the next time that the women have to play a game, be on hand with all the pep you can get and yell for Nevada.

LACK OF CLASS SPIRIT

An incident has come to the attention of the women students of the University of Nevada that should have the attention of every student here. That is the matter of the violation of our school traditions. Those traditions were made a long time ago and it has been the custom for all of the students, both men and women, to uphold them. If a man is caught queening on the campus and he is a Frosh he goes in the lake. If he cuts campus or sits on the Senior bench, no matter what class he belongs to he is given a ducking. No man or woman of the University under any consideration is allowed to cut campus and only Seniors are allowed to sit on the Senior bench.

In spite of these traditions, the other day two fair damsels were seen calmly sitting on the Senior bench studying their French lesson. Another young lady was discovered who was in the habit of cutting campus whenever she was in a hurry. Now these things are taken to be very cute and funny by other members of the classes and all the students have smiled and been content with letting the culprits off with an admonition. The result was that the same thing was repeated without fear of punishment. Things have gone far enough now and the women's upperclass committee at a recent meeting have decided that a severe punishment will be meted out to the next woman student who is found guilty of violating a single tradition. If you do not know all the traditions get a constitution and study up on them for ignorance of the law is no excuse for a crime.

SHOULD ATTEND MEETINGS

One of the biggest questions of the Open Forum at the Mills Conference was "Why don't the women students come out to the meetings and the discussion groups?" Is it that they are made so uninteresting or don't they carry an inspiration to the students? The leaders of the organization spend many hours planning these meetings and they try to make them appeal to each and every woman student in college but the same handful of women are seen at each meeting and they are nearly all the leaders of the organization. Very few of the other members ever show up and on most cases it is the very ones who most need the influence of the Y. W. C. A. that take the least interest in it.

Many excuses are given such as "Oh, I have so much to do" or "I have a class." The time at which these meetings are held is a time when there are very few classes and it has been noticed that the people who make this excuse are the ones who have no classes at these times. It would seem that a student could find time to attend a meeting at least every other week. It is only half-an-hour at the most and in nine cases out of ten that time is wasted anyhow.

Think this over and see if you can't show up at meeting the next time. There are often women speakers who have very vital messages for the students and it is exceedingly discouraging to them to give up their time and come here on the campus having been led to expect a crowd and then to find a mere handful of women. The chances are that they will not come again and that they will tell their friends that there is very little interest in the Y. W. C. A. at the University of Nevada.

GETTING BY IN EXAMINATIONS

At the risk of being trite, we start this editorial with the self-evident truth that "examinations are over for the next five months." It is now time to take stock, to sum up sins of commission and omission.

Too often we leave collateral reading until the last day before the examination and then find that all the books are in use. And of course, it is that question on collateral reading that flunks us in the exam. Then we have a habit of assuming that a course is a snap, and that it would be foolish to waste time studying for it. And somehow or other, the professor gives an exam which we must admit is perfectly fair, but we know nothing about it. Perhaps in an advanced English course, we are not asked what we are doing; we have no quiz during the entire semester; we simply attend classes and discuss books which we are presumed to have read. And occasionally, we think we can "get by" without reading those books, but the exam. proves the impossibility of that. Or in a language course, we use a pony, or habitually depend on someone else for the translations. And the examination shows the folly of such a procedure. Again, a class on Wednesday afternoon is often cut, because the matinee provides more amusements. And we find that our notes on class room work are insufficient, and minus many important points necessary for the review. Finally, do not the majority of us let the work slide throughout the semester hoping to cram up for the examination and so "get by," and do not the majority of us find that the system is a bad one?

To sum it all up, there is just one way to "get by" on an examination—hard, consistent, steady work day by day, and week by week during the whole semester. To the student who follows this system, examinations hold no terrors. They are simple reviews of well-known facts, which enable him to get the continuity of thought of the course.—University News (Univ. of Cincinnati.)

Kampus Kat

The Kampus Kat has come back to stay, While women have the right of way; She'll work all night and work all day So watch your step and keep away.

How in the world did you find that out.

Experience.

Hallie (from the top deck)—"Porter, help me down," pointing to the ladder.

Porter—"Who says the state of Oregon is dry?" as he gallantly grabs our captain around the waist and lands her in the aisle.

On the tram Saturday night: "Why do you always close your eyes when I kiss you?" said he.

"So I can't see you," says she. Ask Cox for the rest of the story.

Adele piped up as our champions rounded Mt. Shasta for the twelfth time.

"Where are we, porter?" Porter—"Right about here." She didn't tip him too much for his information.

The diner was full but Gen. Morgan secured a chair at a table with a family of five. Her order was orange on the half-shell as her 45c allowance could not stand no heavier strain. In order to satisfy her hunger Gen. took her time gazing out at the beautiful "seasans" of Mt. Shasta, not watching her spoon, as orange juice shot into the eyes of her neighbors and occupants of nearby tables. Soon the diner was empty but Gen. still sat there, gazing out of the window as the waiters kept a discreet distance.

A shriek from the opposite berth roused the coach to ask the trouble. A wee voice piped up: "The porter tickled my foot."

Dick Bryan has been around taking pictures of all the noted people. What's up? He never got mine.—Kampus Kat.

Oh, it's all right, Oats; we know that Sunday nights were made to go to church on—and for coming home afterwards.

George Duborg (eagerly scanning the zenith, watch in hand at about 5:30)—"Just how long do you think it will take the sun to set?"

Dorothy Harrington (innocently)—"Why, are you gathering data for an experiment?"

G. D.—"No-er-oh, I wanted to see how much time I would have to kill on the way to Manzanita steps."

Ask Clark Simpson, who maliciously invades other people's rooms in the wee hours, how it feels to find you have made a mistake. He knows. Oh, slats.

Bunker (at rehearsal)—"This play gets better every time we go over it."

Flapper—"Oh, yes, but I'm awfully tired of some scenes."

Prof. Traner—"In order to really learn to speak Italian or Spanish we should live in one of their colonies and inhale the language, as it were."

Bright Senior (Adelaide)—"We'd inhale a lot more than their language if we lived there."

Here's a deep one: Is a person having social aspirations a socialist?

In the vinter time, in the valley green, When the vind howl 'round the window panes; Then the vimmin folks of the varsity Ride velocipedes for their exercise.

He—My mind is a memorandum. She—Oh, I see. Sort of a blank. —Ex.

Has anyone a patent to make my class get to English on time and then get them quiet after they get there?—H. W. Hill.

An ad up at Lincoln Hall reads like this:

"Wanted—One good head and set of brains. Apply at room — (deleted by censor.)"

Why confine the ad to Lincoln Hall? Why not put it up where there is a chance of getting what you want?

Miss Sissa (at the water carnival)—"What is the matter with that boy over there?"

Prof. Thompson—"Some one got a scissors hold on his neck and choked him."

Miss Sissa—"Did the scissors cut his neck?"

Why did they put Eddie out of the game?"

For holding. Oh, isn't that just like Eddie? Yes, he gets caught quite often.

If the young man who was seen on the tram kissing a certain girl last Saturday night will pay his frat dues his name will not be published in the next issue of this paper. If not, look for a well-known name in red ink next week.

The papers said "No Flowers" For Virgil Vanderveer; Who tried to crank his flivver While the darn thing was in gear.

Now bow your heads a moment For Nathaniel Patrickson Greene Who tried to light the kitchen stove With high power gasoline.

They are looking for the pieces Of freight clerk Eddie White Who didn't know the packing case Was full of dynamite.

Heard at a frat house: Bevo—"Hush, hush." Horse Hobbs—"What's the matter?"

Bevo—"I think there is a woman in the house."

Clem—"Edgar, are you yawning because I was or because that girl over there was?"

Noble—"And you'll be true to me while I'm away?"

Speak—"Yes, but don't be gone too long."

Last Friday Prof. Turner was seen sneaking into a drug store. He tiptoed up to the clerk and stammered out that he was in search of a powder-puff. The clerk set out a tray of puffs and the Prof. with many blushes finally picked out a big fluffy one. He explained that he wanted it for the play. It is all right if you can get away with it Prof.

As far as we can see, it will be just as good form to keep on using the old response.

Ruth—"Have you seen the new style sox?"

Buzz—"How can you miss them from the bottom of the steps at Morrill Hall?"

ELECT BRADSHAW BASKETBALL CAPT.

Upon the return of the Hoop Varsity from the Kansas City trip it was announced that James Bradshaw had been chosen to lead next year's Varsity basketball squad. The election of Bradshaw, coming as it did on the eastern trip adds another interesting event to Nevada's athletic history for 1920-1921 in that the captains of the two Nevada Varsities were elected not only many thousands of miles apart but almost at opposite sides of the globe. Martin was elected to lead the 1921 football squad while the team was in Honolulu, and now Bradshaw has received the honor of being elected while on the far eastern trip of leading the hoopsters next year.

UNIV. OF OREGON—Defeating the Willamette University Bearcats by a score of 26 to 25 in a fast game in which the winning basket came in the last six seconds of play, the Oregon quintet finished the 1921 basketball season with a clean slate and an average of 1000 per cent in the Northwest Conference.

CAMBRIDGE—Recently the University of Cambridge, England, voted to refuse women full membership in the university on equal terms with men. The vote was 904 to 712, depriving the female enrollment of degrees.

COED INTERCLASS GAMES HOLD SWAY

As usual, considerable interest is being manifested this year in the outcome of the women's inter-class basketball tournament. Each class wishes to see its numerals engraved on the silver cup in the library. The present sophomore class won the cup last year and with practically the same line up hope to do it again. Unlike last year the winner of this season must accept the challenge of any other team which wishes to dispute the championship by playing more games. This will be a more satisfactory arrangement as it will leave no grounds for any team to think that they could have won it if there had been another game.

The first game of the series was played Tuesday, March 8, at 4:30, the contestants being the Freshmen and Sophomore classes. The game was hotly contested from beginning to end. At the end of the first half the score was 18-19 in favor of the Frosh. A substitute was put in for Genevieve Morgan to play guard. A noticeable weakening was shown from then on by the Frosh but the Sophs took every advantage of the change and retained the lead until the end of the game. Erma Hoskins was the star player on the Soph team, playing an especially good game in the second half. Morgan, Badt and Luce played a good game for the Frosh. The score at the end was 35 to 20 in favor of the Sophs.

The next game will be between the Junior and Senior teams, followed by the final game between the winners of this series and the Sophs.

Watch the bulletin board for notices of games.

CARDINAL CO-EDS ISSUE RAZZY SHEET

By Pacific Intercollegiate Press Stanford University, March 10.—Co-eds hurled ridicule and defiance at the men who form the big majority of the Stanford student body in the annual edition of "P-s-s-t," their "razzy" sheet, which appeared on the campus recently. Few student celebrities or men's organizations went unmentioned and the superiority of women in all lines was not forgotten in the little green publication. Its appearance, as usual, was unheralded and unsung.

Sport Paragraphs

University of Utah defeated B. Y. U. last week by the score of 29 to 16, thereby winning the Utah State Basketball championship. The game was marked by 25 fouls, 15 being chalked up against B. Y. U. Elmer Dean, forward for Utah, has been credited by Utah sports writers as the most brilliant player that has showed up this season on any of the Utah courts.

The K. C. A. C. won the A. A. U. championship at Kansas City last Saturday by defeating Southwestern College of Winfield, Kansas, by a 42 to 36 score. Southwestern takes second place in the contest, with Atlanta, Ga., third, and Lowe and Campbell fourth.

CALIFORNIA—Permission from the copywriters in New York to produce "Kismet" has been granted to the English club and fifty students are now hard at work on their parts in the spectacle. The play will be given in the Greek Theatre on April 8th.

Art students on the campus will handle the costuming of the production and some very novel scenic effects have been promised. Director Travers plans that the production will be the largest ever offered by any college organization in the Greek Theatre. More than a hundred "extras" and actors with speaking parts will be used in the bazaar scene in the first act.

UNIVERSITY OF CINCINNATI—An old-fashioned spelling bee held recently in a sophomore hygiene class brought some interesting facts to light. From a list of 138 of the commonest words used in ordinary correspondence, the three hardest words included were "judgment," "recommend" and "allege." Three of the easiest were "too," "arrive" and "local." Of the hundred students in the class only four had perfect papers.

MILLS DELEGATES WELL ENTERTAINED (By Louise Grubnan) From the very minute that we reached Mills College we felt the spirit of cordiality. Women students from Mills met us at the car as we came in and took us to register. Then we were escorted to our rooms in the different dormitories. We were not allowed to be lonesome for a minute as some one was with us all of the time to show us around the campus and to keep us company. In the evenings they entertained us with various stunts in the different halls and served refreshments after the stunts. During the daytime when we were not attending the meetings of the Conference, they took us for walks around the campus or to other places of interest. We might take a hint by the treatment that we received there and try it on the girls who come to visit our campus for a similar reason. Often I have noticed visiting girls roaming around the campus all alone with no one to tell them the names of the various buildings and with no one showing any regard for them whatsoever. We might profit by this experience and try to be more cordial the next time we have visitors here.

Wise are we if we do not allow any one thing, little or big or still bigger to disappoint or to cloud or to sour our lives and thereby to neutralize our energies or even our hopes or our ambitions.

"CARDS" TO STAGE SPANISH FIESTA By Pacific Intercollegiate Press Stanford University, Mar. 10.—The annual spring carnival to be held here in April will take the form of a native Spanish fiesta. The enclosure around the gymnasium will be transferred into a Spanish City with quaint dwellings of the Latin type. Hanging balconies will line the narrow streets. A Spanish theater, miniature Tiajuana, cabarets and a bull-fight will be included in the entertainment of the evening. Each organization on the campus takes charge of some concession.

ARIZONA MEN WIN IN BRAIN TESTS Southwestern Intercollegiate Press. Univ. of Arizona, Tucson, Mar. 17.—A report on the results of the psychology intelligence tests given the freshmen of the University during last fall was recently presented to the faculty by Dr. F. C. Paschal, of the department of psychology. The test given was the Army Alpha test used by the psychological division during the war for the classification of officers and enlisted men. The series of tests show that the men of the freshmen class are on the average more intelligent than the women of that class.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
Delta Delta Delta entertained with an elaborate St. Patrick's luncheon Saturday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Frank Norcross on Lake street. Mrs. Norcross was assisted by Mrs. Tom Salter. The spirit of St. Patrick was carried into effect throughout the whole affair. The table was attractively decorated with jonquils and narcissus, and unique place cards were arranged for the guests who were: Emily Braun, Katherine Ramelli, Margaret Owens, Irene Tusch, Lois Wilson and Zoe King. The members of the fraternity present were: Gertrude Harris, Dorothy Ross, Editha Brown, Rose Harris, Arvella Coffin, Helen Watkins, Wilma Readle, Rose Mitchell, Margaret Barnes and Bonita Miles. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in an enjoyable auto trip.

I. O. A. O.
Tuesday afternoon at her home on Court street, Mrs. S. K. Morrison entertained at a delightful luncheon in honor of Mrs. Colby of San Francisco. The table was beautifully decorated with violets and jonquils and places were marked for Mrs. Colby, Mrs. Maurice Sullivan, Mrs. A. E. Turner, Mrs. Morrison and the Misses Emily Burke, Norma Brown, Dorothy Harrington, Georgia Money, Lulu Hawkins, June Harriman, Thres Haughney, Erma Eason.

I. O. A. O.
Tuesday evening the Riverside was the scene of an impressive banquet given in honor of Mrs. Colby of San Francisco by the members of I. O. A. O. The sorority flower, the red rose, was used as the motif for decoration and these flowers combined with ferns converted the lanai into a veritable bower. Cards made of rose-petals marked the places on the long table. During the banquet college and sorority songs were sung and afterward the time was occupied with speeches. Those present were: Mrs. Colby, Mrs. Frank Margrave, Mrs. Maurice Sullivan, Mrs. S. K. Morrison, Mrs. A. E. Turner and the Misses Laura Shurtleff, Salome Riley, Bonnie Stephens, Georgiana Steiner, Elvina Blevis, Norma Brown, Dorothy Harrington, Allene Wright, Georgia Money, Marcelline Kenny, June Harriman, Thres Haughney, Emil Burke, Clementine Shurtleff, Erma Eason, Zelma Kitzmeyer, Hortense Haughney, Verda Luce, Doris Kane, Letitia Sawle, Ruby Spoon, Vera Smith, Lulu Hawkins, Mary Cox and Anna Brown.

I. O. A. O.
Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. Wm. E. Brown, Miss Norma Brown entertained at a breakfast in honor of Mrs. Colby. Those present were: Mrs. W. E. Brown, Mrs. Colby, Misses Norma Brown, Doris Kane, Zelma Kitzmeyer, Mary Cox and Hortense Haughney.

PI BETA PHI
Saturday evening at the Century Club, Delta Rho, the local sorority that in 1915 was granted a charter of Pi Beta Phi, held a reunion of the members of Delta Rho and Pi Beta Phi, in honor of their 21st anniversary. Clever stunts were put on by members of each organization after which delightful refreshments were served.

Among those present were: Misses Hazel Hall, Gladys Dunkle, Madelaine Dallas, Frances Jones, Neal Sullivan, Marie Lamon, Bertha Blattner, Marguerite Patterson, Erma Hoskins, Virginia Higgins, Vera Dallas, Marjorie Stauffer, Bertha Joerger, Helen Robinson, Carr Gardiner, Bessie Jones, Nevis Sullivan, Dorothy Middleton, Mary Shaughnessy, Marie Grubnau, Merle LeMaire, Genevieve Morgan, Louise Grubnau, Helen Hobbins, Edna Clausen, Eunice Cagwin, Shirley Stewart, Myrtle Cameron, Delle Boyd, Edna Short, Lois Codd, Margaret Mack, Katherine Regielhuth, Elsie Farrar, Jane O'Sullivan, Josephine Legate, Hilda Herz, Gladys Jones, Ada Hussman, Erma Herz, and Mesdames Kelly, Ferris, Melarkey, Ross, Morrison, Fulton, Mason, O'Sullivan, Fleckinger, Rhodes, Tranter, Gulling, Johnson, Maxwell, Zimmer, Hardy, Smith, Worn, Hughes, Lunsford, Lockman and Williams.

PI BETA PHI
The members and guests of Pi Beta Phi Fraternity were entertained Friday by Mary Shaughnessy at a luncheon at her home in Carson City. Places were set for Misses Margaret Mack, Bessie Jones, Erma Hoskins, Frances Jones, Bertha Joerger, Marguerite Patterson, Marjorie Stauffer, Gladys Dunkle, Genevieve Morgan, Merle LeMaire, Louise Grubnau, Dorothy Middleton, Mary Shaughnessy, Eloise Ogilvie and Claire Yerington.

MISS BABSON TO VISIT IN APRIL

During the first part of April, Miss Babson, field representative of the Western Coast, will visit the Nevada Y. W. C. A. Her visit is looked forward to with great expectation by all the members of the "Y" who remember her stay here last year. She always has some vital message for the women and is a very great help in solving problems, not only those relating to the organization but also individual problems.

She will check up all the work done the past year and go over the plans for the coming year. The new cabinet will have been chosen by that time and she will instruct them in their duties for next year. This cabinet will not assume all the responsibility of their offices until the beginning of the fall semester but they will help the retiring members with their duties and so gain a fair idea of what will be expected of them.

Extensive plans are being made for the entertainment of Miss Babson by the cabinet and they look for the help and cooperation of every member of the Y. W. C. A. on the Hill. The committees will all be given some part of the program to work on and the whole organization hopes to make her visit a grand success. This can be done only if all work together and try to help one another in any way possible.

AN INCIDENT IN THE LIFE OF ANY STUDENT

The clouds came up dark and heavy in the west, frowning at a few timid little stars who were showing their heads above the mountain ridge. The air was still and ominous like the calm before a storm. All the houses were dark and the occupants were lost in slumber. Did I say all? No, one solitary light glimmered from a casement far above the street. There were desperate deeds going on there and deep plots being planned. One of the occupants of the room, hardly more than a child, sat with folded arms near the table; another older in years but not in experience, was walking with measured pace up and down before the fireplace. Both seemed anxious and apprehensive as if they awaited some one but were afraid of his arrival. Just then a knock sounded on the panel of the door. The younger man started to his feet, his face blanched with fear. The other one went slowly to the door and opened it. In came a man, tall, portly and majestic. He carried in his hand a bundle of papers which he put down on the table. Then he turned to the older of the two and said in a deep voice, "I have looked over these papers and I find you have passed your mid-year examinations. You may now spend another six weeks playing pinochle and old maid before you have to cram for more examinations. He turned and in the same leisurely and awe-inspiring manner left the room. The occupants turned to each other and with a simultaneous movement began to execute a waltz-dance.

YOU HAVE WRITTEN POEMS!

Do you care to have them revised or constructively criticised by successful authors? If you do, then send us your manuscript (stories, articles or poems). We will criticize, and place them should they prove to be acceptable for publication.

There is no actual charge for our services. If, however, you have not previously enrolled with the advisory department of this association, we request that you enclose the initial fee of $2, which we must ask of each new contributor. There is no additional expense, no future obligation.

It must be realized that we can only be of aid to those of serious intent. If you do mean to strive for literary success, we can help you in many ways. Our services are yours until we have actually succeeded in marketing at least one of your manuscripts. Send something today!

Please enclose return postage with your communications.

STANFORD FORMS GOBBLER CHAPTER

Special to "Sagebrush"
Stanford University, Calif., Mar. 17. A chapter of an international secret brotherhood, known as the "Gobblers," was formed here last week by Paul Hornaday, Edgar Harker, and Raymond Law, all honest laymen of the order, and formerly members of the Nevada chapter. The first initiate was D. W. Montgomery, president of the Associated Federal Students of Stanford University, who proved to be a high exalted ruler. Thus the new chapter is assured of proper leadership from the start.

Members of the Nevada chapter will be interested to learn of the rapid spread of the order through the universities of the west, where a membership is rapidly being built up to compare favorably with that in the east and in the countries of Europe. Due to the activity of former Nevada men, the Stanford chapter is now on its way to becoming one of the largest in the United States, as there are 1500 men at that institution, and it is thought that most of them will qualify for membership in the drive that is going on at the present time.

A banquet is to be held soon to celebrate the successful founding of the Stanford chapter, at which the exalted rulers will furnish the entertainment for the laymen. A feature of the chapter is the unusually large number of exalted rulers, three being taken into the order in one night, which is said to tie the coast record.

WHITTIER GLEE CLUB TO TRAVEL

Southwestern Intercollegiate Press.
Whittier College, Calif., Mar. 17.—Managers of both of the Whittier College Glee clubs have just returned from business trips with a full string of "dates" for the week of March 27. It is the custom for the clubs to travel during the week of the annual Easter vacation. This year the women's glee club is to tour the southern end of the state and will spend almost the entire week singing to audiences in and around San Diego. The men's club will migrate northward and will give a series of six concerts at Santa Barbara, Fresno and other cities of that section. Both clubs have appeared in local performances and give evidence of making friends wherever they go. Prof. Howard L. Hockett is director of both organizations.

To become directors of physical education work, 134 women are specializing in the new courses recently developed by the University of Wisconsin.

WISCONSIN—For running expenses and for expansion during the next two years, the University of Wisconsin needs $15,000,000. Of this amount, $3,250,000 will be earned by the University or will be received from other sources than the state.

MICHIGAN A. C.—A co-ed beauty section promises to be a feature of this year's Wolverine, the annual of Michigan Agricultural College. A section will be artistically arranged and herein will appear the six most beautiful members of the student body.

CALIFORNIA—Was Columbus the first to discover America? Professor C. E. Chapman of the department of history of the University of California advances the theory that there may have been a Chinese Columbus who discovered California or Mexico a thousand years before the real Christopher Columbus sailed to the West Indies.

Records have been recently found in China telling of the voyage of a certain explorer to a place is thought to be recognizable as Mexico. Mention is made in the records of a plant which corresponds almost exactly to the century plant, native to Mexico. The date set for the voyage of the Chinese explorer is estimated at the year 485 A.D. a thousand years before Columbus sailed in search of a new world. Relics of Oriental origin have been unearthed on the Pacific coast and other instances may be found that seem to bear out the theory of discovery of this coast by the Chinese.

OHIO STATE—The trustees have adopted a 12-month school year, as a result of which students will be able to complete the usual four-year courses in three years. Whether they attend the University twelve months for three years or nine months for four years will be optional with the students. The continuous school year will begin in July, 1922.

The four-term plan will enable a student to attend school for a longer period of time during the year, if he wishes to finish in less time, or he may drop out a semester and re-enter the following semester. The plan will especially benefit those who are working their way through college.

Chicago University is the best example of the schools in the country which have already adopted the plan. It has been in successful operation there for some time.

CALIFORNIA—Word has been received that Ludy Langer '17, former Varsity swimming captain, lowered two world's records in a swimming meet in Tasmania. He clipped two and one-fifth seconds off the old 330-yard record and nine and one-fifth seconds from the 300-meter swim. The 300-yard record was held by Norman Ross, a graduate of Stanford, who did the distance in 3:16 3-5, while F. E. Beaurepaire of Australia held the record for the 300-meter swim. The time was 3:50 1-5. Both the new and old records were made in a tank.

SYRACUSE—Approximately $1,500,000 is that portion of the estate of the late Senator Francis Hendricks given as a bequest to the Syracuse University. Of the total amount, one million is for the Francis Hendricks medical research fund and the remainder is to be used for the erection of a chapel.

Reno Y. W. C. A. Grows Rapidly

(Josephine Williams)

Reno girls have at last come into their own. If you don't believe it, follow the feminine crowd to the most popular place in town, where the latch-string's always out—from ten to ten. For we now have the beginnings of a full-fledged Y for girls.

To begin with, there isn't a more attractive place in town. Our quarters under the sheltering wings of the City Hall fairly radiate cheerful sociability. They serve as restroom, recreation center, and woman's club in one, and best of all, there is the jolliest sort of girl secretary to lend a willing ear to the "story of your life," and give you what you wish, be it sympathy, friendship, or advice in judicious doses.

And what is done at the Y? Everything and anything is the correct answer. The employment bureau fits the place to the girl and the girls to the place. If you need a job, the Y can doubtless place you. Are you house-hunting? Try the Room Registry. Is there no one to meet your sixteen-year old daughter at the train? Someone from the Y will do it. If you want to know anything from the location of Quincy street to the time the street car leaves for Sparks, there is a General Information Bureau at your disposal. "We know everything" (and what we don't know we can find out). But here honesty compels us to admit that at times even we must make a graceful retreat. For instance, a lady suspended in midair as it were, between moving out and moving in, inquired if she might have a bath. The only apparatus being the kitchen sink, we were unable on this occasion to deliver the goods. At times the correspondence received by the secretary furnishes the necessary spicy thrill, witness the following example: "I was inform that in that Place is some poor Wimen that would like to have a home, I like to have a housekeeper, if you can find a Wimen send her name to me. I have a nice home for some middle lady or a wido with one child or to of them. so I close for this time, by asking you to rite soon and often."

And what can you do at the Y. Now that we have it, the most frequent remarks seems to be, "What did we ever do without it?" There seems to be nothing you can't do here. Do you girls who work like to bring your noon lunches? Come down to the Y and make your cup of "something hot." You will find all the "makings." The Y is beautifully equipped for entertaining. All public clubs are cordially urged to come here for their social times. The Girls' High School Club, the different business girls' clubs, the W. C. T. U. all make use of the roomy quarters of the Y. Altho there is no gym for women, bowling clubs have been successfully organized among the business women who borrow the Y M. alleys on certain nights. The Y room itself is used for the children's folk-dancing classes, which are directed by girl leaders from the physical education department of the University. At present there are plans for a gymnasium class for business women which will materialize as soon as gym facilities can be secured. And there is always some special treat in the way of music or lecture or lantern pictures whenever the Y itself is "at home."

And what can you do for the Y. A very simple thing—use it. If you are a lonely stranger, come here to read or write or rest. If you crave music, come here and make it. If you have lived here all your life, drop in and meet your friends. Get the Y habit. You can't afford to miss it. It is yours after all, you know. Enjoy it, support it, and continue to make it the biggest kind of a success. If you have leisure, come down and relieve the eternally-busy secretary and her assistant. All financial assistance is deeply appreciated—and in addition, we want yourselves.

As yet the Reno Y. W. C. A. is a mere infant of five months and yet it has already made its place as an indispensable institution of the town. We have the University to thank for the first beginnings, the city of Reno for our present delightful room, and the townspeople for their generous giving of their money, their talents, and their co-operation. And now we need only to push on to the shining goal still ahead. All together now, let's pull for that gym and swimming pool in 1925.

MANY CO-ED CLUBS FOUND AT NEVADA

The purpose of the Young Women's Christian Association is:

1. To lead students to faith in God through Jesus Christ.
2. To lead them into membership and service in the Christian Church.
3. To promote the growth in Christian faith and character, especially through the study of the Bible.
4. To influence them to devote themselves in united effort with all Christians to making the will of Christ effective in human society and to extending the Kingdom of God throughout the world.

The officers for this year are:
 President—Lois Smythe.
 Vice-President—Anne Underwood.
 Secretary—Vera Wickland.
 Treasurer—Agnes Riddell.
 Under Graduate Field Representative—Margaret Barnes.

The other members of the cabinet are: Alice Wall, Marianne Elsie; Lulu Hawkins, Rose Mitchell, June Harriman, Helen Fuss, Gladys Dunkle, Helena Shade, Adelaide Humphrey.

Associated Women Students
 The Associated Women Students of the University of Nevada is an organization composed of all the college women students.

TRACK AND BASEBALL TO OPEN AT ARIZONA

By Southwest Intercollegiate Press
 Univ. of Arizona, Tucson, Mar. 17.—This week will witness the official opening of both track and baseball practice. Many of the former letter men in both track and baseball are back and to all appearances there will be winning teams in both sports. A heavy schedule has been planned for baseball and the outlook for another victorious year for the Wildcats is good.

What we want to know is: Why did John Harrison come over to the Home Economic class the other day and try to borrow a dress form. This looks suspicious for John. What did he need a dress form for?

After lunch at the Arlington, dancing at the hotel and sightseeing to the various points of interest in the State buildings was in order. The State Printing Office, Capitol building, Library, Mint and other places were visited until the afternoon session of the Legislature began. Here all had an opportunity of watching the legislative bodies of the State, sitting as a court for the removal action against District Judge Langan. The early part of the afternoon was spent here, and later the students were guests of Governor and Mrs. Boyle at an open house held in their honor. Everything was arranged for the visitors' pleasure at the Governor's Mansion and a most delightful time was enjoyed by all. Piano selections by Mrs. Boyle, solos and music by various University people, dancing and refreshments all formed a part of the afternoon's entertainment, and the crowd left almost unwillingly after several rousing Nevada yells and cheers for Mrs. Boyle had been given.

Dinner at the Arlington was followed by more dancing, until time for the joint meeting of the Greater Carson Club and the Reno Chamber of Commerce, to begin at the Opera House. Two rival sections of the student body appeared here, one seated in "peanut heaven," about fifty strong, and a somewhat larger group on the main floor, and the intervening time before opening of the program was spent in giving yells and singing college songs. A few selections by the Glee Club, solos by Mr. Galley and address by President Knight of the Chamber of Commerce and President Clark of the University followed, after which the entire body moved to Armory Hall and enjoyed what was said to be one of the best college dances given this year.

Splendid music, a good floor and an enthusiastic crowd added zest to the occasion, and before the evening was over, Governor and Mrs. Boyle, the greater part of the Glee Club, members were given by the Glee Club. High School and townspeople joined in the fun and the dance more than "went over the top." Before breaking up for the return trip, several numbers were given by the Glee Club, yells and songs indulged in, and at eleven thirty all boarded the special for Reno and the University, thus bringing to a close, one of the most successful events staged by the student body this year.

NEVADA TO DEBATE B. Y. U. FRIDAY EVE.

The first intercollegiate debate for this year between a Nevada debating team and a team from another university will be held Friday evening, March 18, in the gymnasium. The Nevada debating team consisting of Howard Westervelt and John Harrison. The members of the Brigham Young debating team are E. W. Parkinson, debate manager, and Frank B. Newman.

The question to be debated Friday evening is: "Resolved, that Congress should pass a law prohibiting strikes in public utilities and essential industries. Constitutionality granted." This question is one of prime importance at this time, one in which the public is interested. The B. Y. U. debaters are to uphold the affirmative side of the question while the Nevada team will have the negative side.

Howard Westervelt will be the first speaker of the negative and John Harrison will be the last.

The debate will take place in the gymnasium at 8 o'clock Friday evening. Come and bring your friends. Give the debating team your support just as you do for the athletic teams. The Nevada speakers have expressed their thought of not wishing "to talk to a bunch of empty seats." Come and fill the seats and help Harrison and Westervelt win for Nevada. Admission to the debate will be 25 cents.

Military Department Notes

First, second and third places in the R. O. T. C. Rifle shoot, which has lately been completed in the Ninth Corps Area, were taken by the University of California, California Tech (first team) and California Tech (second team) respectively. Nevada's team was twelfth on the list of eighteen western schools. California's winning score was 1760 out of a possible 2000, while Nevada managed to make but 1537 points, not a bad showing considering that this was the local school's first attempt in such a competition.
