INTERSCHOLASTIC HOOP TOURNEY TO ATTRACT INTEREST OF STATE

More Teams Trying for Cup
Than in Any Previous State Tournament

BLOCK N IN CHARGE

Meet Starts Wednesday and Finals Will Be Played
Saturday Night

By Willis H. Church

With the Interscholastic Basketball Tournament to decide the champions of the State of Nevada for the 1923 season but a week away, interest is at fever heat over the probable outcome. All the towns of the State which have any representation in a basketball way are talking of nothing but their team, and many of them are going to be backed with real hard cash, from all indications.

It is certain that the coming contests are to be more closely contested from start to finish than ever before in the history of State basketball. In fact, in the majority of cases, any of the attending teams may win the title this year. This is indicated by the closeness of the scores during the past season.

New System Adopted

A new system is to be given a try which has complete charge of the contest this year by the Block "N" Society, tests. Before this, for the sake of keeping the interest at the highest possible pitch and also for the sake of finances, the supposedly strongest teams were paired into brackets in an attempt to keep the best team all the way through the schedule. This made it possible for the best teams to meet in the finals to decide the title. This year, owing to a unanimous vote of the coaches of the State, all the entries will be placed in a hat and drawn. They will be bracketed as they are pulled. It may make it possible for a weaker team, by drawing a lucky bracket, to get into the finals, but that is one chance in a million and it probably won't happen. It really does not make much difference how they are drawn this season as they are all bunched closely, anyway.

Many Teams Entered

To date there have been received some sixteen boys' entries and fourteen girls'. This will mean that there will be 300 high school students from different parts of the State as guests of the University. These entries include Elko, Tonopah, Las Vegas and Metropolis from the south and east, while from the central part will come the teams of Winnemucca, Battle Mountain, Lovelock, Fallon and Yerington. From the west will come Reno, Sparks.

FROSH CLASS WINS INTERCLASS DEBATE

The freshmen won over the Sophomores Tuesday evening in a heated debate on an old and time-worn subject. The debate, "Resolved, That the United States Enter the League of Nations," was the first of a series of interclass debates held this year under the auspices of the Clonia society. The winning Frosh team was composed of William Anderson and Earnest Brown, taking the negative angle of the case. Miss Hattie May Delkin and John Martin Fulton, arguing for the affirmative, composed the twenty-five team.

Judges of the debate awarded a unanimous decision in favor of the Babes. The judges were Professors Feemster, A. E. Hill and Turner. John Fulton, on the Sophomore team, was by far the best speaker. He had a way of creating interest, but his power of fluency was negligible owing to his lack of proper arguments. Anderson, '26, proved a capable speaker.

The next interclass debate will be held March 13, when the Junior class will go up against the Babe debaters, the subject under discussion to be the same as in the Soph-Frosh tangle.

PRESS CLUB WILL MEET NEXT WEEK INSTEAD OF THIS

The scheduled meeting of the Press Club that was to have been held tonight has been postponed because of its conflicting with several other campus activities, particularly the Nevada Musical Club recital and the appearance of the University Glee at the Majestic.

It is desired that every one interested in journalism be present at the first meeting of the youthful organization. To make this possible the meeting has been postponed until next Thursday night, March 8. This first gathering will be informal and will be more for the purpose of getting the campus journalists and novelists acquainted.

It is hinted that an expose of the inner workings of the Sagebrush will be made by one who knows. Scott Hill will address the meeting, his subject being "Making a Line of Copy Fill a Column." The clan will meet in the Aggie building at 7:30.

GLEE CLUB SINGS AT STUDENT BODY

Washington's Birthday was fittingly observed at the general assembly held last Friday, when the University male quartet entertained with patriotic selections and led the conclave in the singing of "America."

The quartet, with Bryant baritone, Brizard bass, Duryea first tenor and Bath second tenor, incited much favorable comment among the audience. Prof. L. E. Rowe, director, accompanied the men on the piano.

"The Sword of Bunker Hill" was the main selection of the morning, and was exceedingly well received. A short encore, also commendable, followed.

Following the recital of the quartet, Samuel Platt spoke on "Citizenship."

A Campus Tragedy Revealed at Last

The small, stuffy room echoed with the anguished groans of a vanquished soul. He sat with his arms outstretched on a type-writer; with his head bent like a broken stem, while his shoulders shook in a paroxysm of sobs. Now and then he raised a fist and brought it down heavily on the rattling keys, and from his lips came a curse or a prayer, as the case may be.

Another long-faced individual entered quietly. He advanced to the shaking figure.

"There, there, old man. I know how it is. It comes to us all some day."

In a sudden burst of passion, the teary voice rang out sharply, "My God! My God! Another column to fill! —My God!"

A groan. A gasp. Man and machine crashing to the floor.

Dead silence.

Another Sagebrush reporter had passed on to a newspaperless heaven.

MEDICAL SERVICE NOT FREE TO ALL

Some confusion has arisen over the service rendered by the Student Hospital Association. Under the rules of the Association, free medical service to members is only available at the office hours of the physician at the University hospital. These hours are from 4 to 4:30 daily, including Sunday.

For home visits, the rates of the physician are two dollars for a day visit and three for a night visit. The fee is payable by the student himself, and not by the association. Consultations at the physician's downtown office cost the student a fee of one dollar.

Familiarity with these requirements will save much misunderstanding between the college physician and the association members.

MEN'S GLEE GIVES PLEASING RECITAL AT LOCAL THEATER

Appearing in what is its first public engagement, the University of Nevada male Glee Club last night opened a four-night engagement at the Majestic.

The men, eighteen in all, made a decided hit with Reno theatre-goers. The Varsity quartet, composed of Duryea, Bath, Bryant and Brizard, rendered the best selections of the evening, while Bryant as soloist was well received.

The Glee Club's rendering of the college song, "U. of N. So Gay," was unusual and caused much favorable comment amongst those of the audience familiar with the piece. The "syncopation-harmonization" of the number makes the song more musical and pleasing. It is expected that the campus will take up the new style of singing the college hymn hereafter.

The Glee Club's appearance at the Majestic is a prelude to other engagements that the club will make in the State. It is expected that the singers will visit Sparks, Carson, Virginia City, and other nearby towns in the very near future. Engagements are already being signed up, it is said. Prof. L. E. Rowe, director, expects that by next year the club will have attained a reputation sufficient to warrant trips to the eastern part of Nevada.

The University men will sing at the local theatre the rest of the week.

LAST VARSITY GAME WITH PACIFIC CREW

The swan song of the basketball season will be sung this week-end, when the University of Nevada quintet tangles with the fast College of Pacific five in the Gym. Little has been heard from the Californians, but suffice it to say that "Swede" Righter, former Stanford hoop star, has had them in hand for the past two seasons and it is a foregone conclusion that the big lad from Palo Alto has put them into the pink.

The Nevada team has shown a world of improvement in the past three weeks and should have little trouble in disposing of the boys from San Jose. "Corky" has had his charges working hard for the coming series and wants to finish the season with two wins. Last Thursday he had the Varsity out tangling with the Goofs and they showed more class than ever before.

Fredericks and Clay, at forwards, have at last got their eye on the basket and should be good for several points apiece. Hobbs is playing a bang-up game at center, and Anderson and Harrison both improve with age. They are working together in fine shape and should be going great guns tomorrow night.

The games will begin at 8 o'clock and it is possible there will be a preliminary game between the Goofs and some team to be named later. The admission will be six-bits and the games surely will be worth it.

CO-ED INTERCLASS HOOP CONTEST IS SCHEDULED TODAY

Following two months of hard practice, the women's interclass basketball games will be played off today and Friday afternoons. At 4:30 on Thursday, the juniors met the seniors and at 4 o'clock Friday the sophomores will tangle with the strong freshman five. The winners of two games will then play for the championship. The freshman and the seniors are the favorites, but all the teams are well matched and should furnish real competition for each other.

There has been a real interest in interclass basketball this year due to the discontinuance of varsity basketball. Places on the class teams have been strongly contested for, and exciting games can be expected.

QUINCY HI TO PLAY RENO FRIDAY NIGHT

As a preliminary to the Nevada-Santa Clara hoop contest this week, Reno High basketballers will meet the quintet from Quincy High School, which team has not been defeated in a contest this fall. This is the first year that the Quincy players have had a coach, but, judging from the brand of basketball the men have played under their new coach, Elfrink, who coached the Davis Aggies for the past three years, this inexperienced team will make it interesting for the Reno boys.

The Quincy men will bring a new wrinkle into the game this Friday. They will introduce the old system of the four-man defense. This introduction will not be a test of the merits, but will provide a variety of play unaccustomed to present-day fans.

On the Quincy team, Lasswell is one

DEPARTMENT HEADS HEARTILY ENDORSE THE HONOR SYSTEM

Deans Stewart, Adams and Sibley All Think That School Needs It

Editor's Note: The following letters were written in answer to the question that this paper put to the student body at large in a recent issue: "Should the University adopt some type of honor system?"

These replies bring the total number of faculty who have expressed themselves as being in favor of an honor system at Nevada, to five—President Clark and Prof. Walter Palmer being the other two. With the exception of James Byrkit, the Sagebrush has had no word from the students on the matter.

Once more we ask: "Shall we graduate cheats or gentlemen?" We believe that gentlemen will answer this question.

Editor Sagebrush,—

The honor system, as it is generally understood in American universities, originated at Princeton where it has proved for a number of years to be very satisfactory and is considered "one of their most cherished traditions." It has, during recent years, been tried out in many colleges with varying degrees of success, depending upon the nature of the student body and the attitude of the faculty.

The government of our local communities, and the State of Nevada, in a few years, will be in the hands of the college students of today and no more fitting opportunity in self-government and no more valuable training in co-operative citizenship could be devised than is open here and now.

Public opinion is largely responsible for the enforcement of laws in a democracy. The student body of the University of Nevada is the pick of the State. The young men and women with the best of moral training from the best homes in the commonwealth are here. Why should they not, if given the opportunity, approve and enforce the strictest standards of honesty in University work?

We all know that any student who presents as his own, work which he has not performed, or who gives aid to a fellow student in an examination, lowers the standards of the University and cheapens every diploma issued. It seems perfectly evident that if the students will give the matter serious thought and take time for careful organization that they will be able to reduce cheating in academic work to a minimum. Students should not only supervise examinations, but they should make and carry into effect many of the rules for general conduct which are now enforced by the faculty.

HI SCHOOLS WILL BATTLE FOR CUPS

Carson, Virginia City and Douglas. Block "N" is handling the situation well and already has the various committees hard at work. All details of the contest have been arranged for and with the arrival of the teams beginning Tuesday evening, all will be in readiness for the big event.

Games Start Wednesday

Beginning at 8:30 on Wednesday, March 7, the first teams will go to the mat when the eliminations open. The tournament will continue through March 7, 8, 9 and 10, with games morning, afternoon and evening every day with the exception of Friday evening when the Interscholastic Debaters will voice their sentiments in the Gym.

The eliminations will consume the first two days, the semi-finals the third day and on Saturday comes the Junior Championship which will take up the morning and afternoon. The Junior Championship is only for those teams that are eliminated in the first round and constitutes a distinct and separate tournament with cups to be given the winners. The playing-off of the Junior Championships will allow a day of rest for those teams that are the lucky ones to go into the finals for the highest title that can be awarded. The contests for the final championship will be staged on Saturday night, with the girls coming as a preliminary to the boys' event.

Block "N" has made arrangements for the teams to board at "The Commons" and many of the visiting teams will be cared for at the fraternity and sorority houses about town. The remainder will be housed at Lincoln Hall and downtown.

All Teams Good

As for the teams themselves, little need be said for they have received wide publicity already. Looking over the schedule of the games, however, one will notice at a glance that there are at least four girl's teams and approximately eight boys' that are so evenly matched that there is little choice between them. The strong girls' teams are Fallon, last year's title holders; Reno, runner-up for last season; Yerington, winner of the last Junior Championship; and Douglas, who defeated Reno two out of three games last season, but was eliminated by Fallon in the semi-finals. So far this year these teams have either won or lost by the barest of margins.

In the boys' section, Reno, last year's runner-up; Sparks, 1922 title holders; Carson, Douglas, Elko, Tonopah, Fallon, Winnemucca and Las Vegas appear to be rather evenly matched with probably Elko, Tonopah and Carson as the best bets in the coming contest. These teams, like the girls', have won or lost by small scores. Carson, for example, has lost only two games, one to Fallon and one to Tonopah, but defeated them both on the home court in return contests. Elko has dropped one to Sparks, but defeated Reno by one point, which team in turn defeated Sparks three points. Fallon held Carson to a score of 15-17, while Douglas defeated the Melonites 24-15 and Douglas has been twice defeated by Carson, once by a narrow margin. Carson and Reno lost to the Goofs, while Douglas defeated them and yet the former teams are conceded to be the better. It is a hard proposition to figure for many teams, but on the basis of comparative scores they appear to be very evenly matched.

Tickets Selling Now

All one can say is that the 1923 tournament is going to be far better than any of the previous contests and practically every game is going to furnish more thrills for the spectators than they have ever received in four days of any interscholastic sport.

Tickets may be obtained at Cann's Drug Store at a nominal cost of fifty cents per day, and fifty cents per night which will admit a person to all games played on that particular date. University, high school or grade school students may obtain season tickets at the door for one dollar which will admit them to all games, both day and night, with the exception of the final championship games which will be played on Saturday evening, March 10. Those games will cost every one fifty cents admission. Sale of tickets will open shortly. The Tournament runs from March 7 to March 10 inclusive; games begin at 8:30 a. m. and continue until 5:30 p. m. Block "N" says, "Come early and bring your lunch."

Editor Sagebrush,— I thoroughly believe in the honor system of conducting examinations. I always use this system in my own classes with excellent results. The only requirement I make is that each student write and sign the following pledge: "I hereby affirm that I have neither given or received aid in this examination."

Where the honor system prevails, undoubtedly some students do violate their honor and cheat in examinations. If the honor system is to prevail, students who see cheating on the part of others must report such cases to the student council for action. The average student does not like to do this, as he feels that it places him in the position of informer on his fellows. This is the only weakness of the honor system.

I should like to see the honor system adopted at Nevada as I believe our students are big enough to measure up to its requirements.

Very truly yours,

ROBERT STEWART.

Dean of the College of Agriculture.

Editor Sagebrush,—

Answering your question whether the University of Nevada should adopt some type of honor system, it is my belief that it should.

An honor system has recently been defined in the columns of the Sagebrush as one under which honesty in the classroom is wholly in the hands of the students themselves. Frankly, I believe it will be some time before such a system will be a complete success here because so many students seem to believe that cheating is not dishonorable. Until this wholly mistaken idea is done away with, any system that leaves the matter wholly in the hands of the students is likely to fail.

Do the majority of students in college really want strict honesty in class work? If they do, then the first question is how to get started.

It is my belief that both students and faculty should co-operate to eliminate the evil. No teacher should make conditions in his class such that it is easy to cheat and put the burden of maintaining discipline entirely on the students.

It may be objected that a system in which the faculty takes a hand is no honor system at all. But no one who really wants cheating stopped will object to any fair method to bring it about. The argument sometimes heard, that a student will cheat in order to get the best of a watchful professor, is a flimsy excuse. If he will cheat for nothing, he will probably cheat more when something is to be gained by it. Finally, then, we should start at once; all hands co-operating to build up, by every honorable means, a tradition that cheating is just plain rascality and will not be tolerated on this campus.

of the fastest and cleverest forwards of any high school quintet today: he is a good shot, and plays the floor well. Braden is a fast man, and has a good eye for baskets. Mosely, captain of the team, plays center; he is the high point man of the aggregation, and is clever at spectacular plays. King, running guard, is a fast man and uses his ability as one of California's fastest hundred-yard men to good advantage. Henry Hoffman, standing guard, is good at defense work, and is very much likened to Nevada's varsity star, "Spud" Harrison.

Coach Elfrink has had a great deal of experience in coaching teams on the four-man defense system, and has had a well-merited result with each team. "Elf" has a reputation of turning out a national championship team as well as many state champions. He says that he does not expect his men to defeat the strong Reno quintet, but promises an interesting game with not a few surprises for the fans.

THE HONOR SPIRIT

Whereas we think that we have advanced sufficiently to warrant the institution of an Honor Spirit, and whereas we believe that we can control such an Honor Spirit, individually and collectively, and whereas we believe that such an Honor Spirit will develop character and promote loyalty and bring about a more sympathetic understanding between the Faculty and Students;

Section 1. The Student Body recommend that the Honor Spirit be made active in the University of Arizona.

Section 2. Such an Honor Spirit will be entrusted to each and every individual of the University of Arizona; and will effect all matters concerning the conduct of such members, whether on or off the Campus.

Section 3. The House of Representatives will continue to legislate in all matters touching student conduct.

Section 4. The Student Council will execute all legislation passed by the House of Representatives and see that the Honor Spirit is maintained and active.

Section 5. Provisions: The Honor Spirit shall require, in the case of every student,

1. Prompt and continuous attendance to all classes.

2. Honesty in all examinations, assignments and notebook work.

a. In the case of cheating in examinations the individual who sees such dishonesty will begin to rap lightly on his or her desk. If the cheating stops immediately nothing will be said. However, if it is continued in spite of repeated raps, the individual who observes this will be honor bound to report such a case to the Student Council.

3. The courtesy of telling the instructor, in each case, the reason for absence or tardiness.

4. Appearing before the Student Council, in case of delinquency, the first week after the delinquent report.

5. Strict observance to the Library rules.

6. Respect for Campus property, rules and traditions.

7. The sympathetic support of all student body activities.

Section 6. All students on all occasions shall conduct themselves so as to bring the largest credit to their Alma Mater, the University of Arizona.

Passed by the Student Council.

CLONIA TO PRESENT PLAY FOR B. B. TEAMS

Clonia is undertaking a very extensive program of work this semester. This is going to be of importance to the University, as it will help in the entertainment of the incoming basketball teams. When the teams are in Reno they will be entertained one night at a program given in the Education building by the members of Clonia. This program will consist of a one-act play, supplemented by several readings and musical selections.

Not only will Clonia help in taking care of the basketball teams, but it has also taken over the work of arranging for the interscholastic debates between the various high schools of the state. It will arrange for the schedule of debates and will take care of the teams while they are in Reno. This means an extensive advertising program as well as much work in securing housing accommodations for the members of these teams.

U. of N. PADDOCK IS IN BEST CONDITION OF CAREER

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, Feb. 28.—(P. I. N. S.)—Charles W. Paddock, world's champion sprinter, is in the best condition of his career and he will have a better chance this season to break records than ever before, according to Coach Dean Cromwell of the University of Southern California, who is overseeing Paddock's training.

"Paddock should have the greatest year ever experienced by any sprinter," said Coach Cromwell. "I have never seen a runner in finer condition after a year's lay-off. He is in as good shape now as when he raced at Antwerp.

"He was 19 at Antwerp when he defeated the world's best runners. Since then he has equaled all sorts of world's records on the Pacific coast. Now he is 23 years old. His leg muscles have developed and he has lost none of the never-say-die spirit. If ever a sprinter had a chance to go under nine and three-fifths seconds for the 100-yard dash, Paddock has it."

It is said Paddock will run on a number of eastern cinder paths this year.

SUNDAY LUNCH CLUB ORGANIZED BY Y. M.

Those who are far from home and miss the Sunday dinner around the paternal table should be of good cheer. It is just for such men that Mr. Fox of the Y. M. C. A. is organizing his Sunday Lunch Club. Four of these Sunday dinners have already been arranged for in March and it is his plan to continue the program on through the school months.

Besides the dinner, which is guaranteed to satisfy, there will be music and other forms of entertainment. In addition to this some of the best known men on the Coast have been engaged to talk at these dinners.

This will also be a godsend to the social lions about the campus, for it will give them an excuse to escape from the endless round of Sunday dinner engagements and give them an opportunity to again eat with their kind.

"After the ball was over, etc." What did the co-eds say? It might be divulged—and it would inevitably prove of greatest interest to certain masculine individuals. However, it is best to keep some secrets, and perhaps the groups gathering together in various rooms over one o'clock feeds with rapid, laughing chatter are anxious that this chatter remain forever a dark, deep and misty secret from prying masculine ears that would eagerly drink in the words of the fair damsels.

Perhaps they were a bit bedraggled, and perhaps their hair was more than a trifle unruly, but their eyes were bright as each offered her tempting contribution to the group of merry gossipers.

Perhaps your name was flung in the pot, and boiled and stirred and left to simmer, and perhaps your left ear burned a trifle, but that's all in the game so don't be alarmed when it begins to tingle. But after all those chats in the wee small hours of the morning mean that a rip-roarin' good time has preceded, and even if they are kept as deep, dark secrets there are those secrets called memories that co-eds (and they are not alone in this) love to remember.

And all day long crackling flames burned in the fireplace. Scissors snipped sharply through crisp folds of white and black and green and red and checkered paper. Needles flew with incredible swiftness. Voices bubbled with eager enthusiasm, tables were covered with varieties of paper mysteries. Through the hubbub the flames of the fireplace hummed merrily, crackled and sputtered, vainly endeavoring to outdo the busy crew as they worked with noisy progress. All this in the quiet, dignified study on the second floor of Manzanita Hall! What could it all mean. Stupid! Such a question! Did you see six sprites at the Whiskerino? Those six little dice, and card and poker chip spirits who flitted in and out of the throngs of merrymakers at that scene of gaiety, were, quite naturally, junior co-eds, and their uniquely clever costumes originated in Manzanita's study.

"CAMPUS FROLIC" IS WELL RECEIVED

University of Southern California, Los Angeles, March 1.—Another proof that college students like jazz and comedy along with a higher education was shown by the success last week, of the "Campus Frolics" at the University of Southern California. Heralded as "A Comedy with Music", the frolics enjoyed an almost unheard of advance ticket sale, in spite of numerous competing events, taking place the same week.

More tickets were sold for it among students than for the appearance of grand opera singers, local dramatic productions, or major debates with other universities. Both music and book were written by local students and the entire cast of seventy-five were also students at U. S. C. The profits went to the associated student body.

The show lasted for four hours, being composed of the usual dialogue, singing and dancing acts; fraternities and campus celebrities coming in for their share of the "razzing". Twenty-two hundred saw the performance.

DO YOU?

Do you make it a point to patronize those loyal Reno merchants who have made it possible for you to enjoy your weekly Sagebrush?

Do you let the advertiser know, when you frequent his store, that you are from the University and that you appreciate the fact that he has placed his wares before you in the medium that you read most?

Do you do these things?

If you do not, get busy. Let the downtown folks know that you are one of the University people who annually spend their $500,000 in Reno. It will not only help us to make your paper a better one, but it will continue to foster the warm and friendly feeling that exists between the University and the business men of Reno.

U. of N.

THE HE-JINX

The He-Jinx is over for another year. It was a huge success and too much credit can not be given to the men on the committees and to the organizations that put on stunts.

The He-Jinx and Mackay Day are two of Nevada's best traditions. The real spirit of the University is never so evident as it is on these two occasions. It is a thing that visitors from other colleges remark on and something of which we should be immensely proud.

Anyone seeing the friendliness that is evidenced between student and professor on these occasions cannot help but realize that the University of Nevada is one of the few remaining democratic institutions. In an institution the size of ours this is possible and should be encouraged. A certain bond of sympathy is created between instructor and student at these informal affairs that persists throughout the year and it is this feeling that saves the University from being merely a machine for turning out graduates.

At the He-Jinx we realize that the professor has much in common with the undergraduate. He can eat as many hot dogs and laugh as heartily at a joke as the greenest frosh.

U. of N.

THE TOURNAMENT

The State Basketball Tournament will begin next Wednesday. Practically every high school in the State will be represented and the gymnasium will be the scene of the annual struggle for the championship.

The boys and girls who will make the trip with their teams are the future men and women of the University. They are Nevadans, and we want more of them here. Their impression of the University will depend to a large extent on how we act while they are here.

The tournament is one of the greatest means of advertising that we have and one that must be taken advantage of. We will not have succeeded in making the most of it unless every visitor goes back to his or her town boosting for the college. They must be made to feel welcome—more than that, we want them to feel sure that we want them as future students.

It would be deplorable if, during this tournament, any member of the student body would conduct himself so as to cast reflections on the University.

U. of N.

DEFINITE ACTION NEEDED

Issues of the Sagebrush come and go, honor-system arguments appear on every side, but is the University any nearer a settlement of the question?

It must be. If we aren't going forward, we are slipping back. The time is near when we must take definite action. Student-body meeting tomorrow will see a proposition submitted. Have you thought seriously on the decision you will make?

Some form of honor system should be adopted. The honest student should, and deserves to be protected. Cheating is injurious to the one who cheats, of course but the honor system is not concerned with reforming these people. Neither does cheating hurt the instructor. It is the person who does not cheat, the innocent, conscientious student who suffers from the practice.

This person is the dupe of his less scrupulous fellow students. He is just as good as the average in the class, but because he does his work individually he draws a "3." The other, by a little slight-of-hand or a cautious inquiry, gets a "1.5." The first does not begrudge the latter his higher grade, but he knows as the cheater himself knows, that he does not deserve the mark he gets. All things are proportionate. The honest student is overshadowed by the dishonest. Relatively, he is dumb, for the dishonest one sets a false standard which the average student can not attain.

In the interests of fair play, an honor system must be adopted. Your opinion and vote will be necessary on the question. Don't fail.

THE ORIGIN OF WOMAN

According to Hindoo legend, this is the proper origin of women:

Thashtri, the God Vulcan of Hindoo mythology, created the world, but on his commencement to create woman he discovered that for man he had exhausted all his creative materials, and not one solid substance had been left. This, of course, greatly perplexed Thashtri, and caused him to fall into a profound meditation. When he arose from it he proceeded as follows:

- He took— The roundness of the moon. The undulating curves of the serpent, The graceful twist of the creeping plant, The light shivering of the grass, The slenderness of the willow, The velvety softness of the flowers, The lightness of the feather, The gentle gaze of the doe, The frolicsomeness of the dancing sun, The tears of the clouds, The inconsistency of the wind, The timidity of the hare, The vanity of the peacock, The hardness of the diamond, The cruelty of the tiger, The heat of the fire, The chill of the snow, The cackling of the parrot, And the cooing of the turtle dove, All these he mixed together and formed woman.—Exchange.

ROBERT BOYLE'S

AIR - PUMP

The "PRACTICAL" Alchemist and "THEORETICAL" Robert Boyle

THE alchemists wrote vaguely of "fluids" and "principles." Copper was potentially silver. Rid it of its red color and the "principle" of silver would assert itself, so that silver would remain. With a certain amount of philosopher's stone (itself a mysterious "principle") a base metal could be converted into a quantity of gold a million times as great.

This all sounded so "practical" that Kings listened credulously, but the only tangible result was that they were enriched with much bogus gold.

Scientific theorists like Robert Boyle (1627-1691) proved more "practical" by testing matter, discovering its composition and then drawing scientific conclusions that could thereafter be usefully and honestly applied. Alchemists conjectured and died; he experimented and lived.

Using the air pump Boyle undertook a "theoretical" but scientific experimental study of the atmosphere and discovered that it had a "spring" in it, or in other words that it could expand. He also established the connection between the boiling point of water and atmospheric pressure, a very "theoretical" discovery in his day but one which every steam engineer now applies.

He was the first to use the term "analysis" in the modern chemical sense, the first to define an element as a body which cannot be subdivided and from which compounds can be reconstituted.

Boyle's work has not ended. Today in the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company it is being continued. Much light has there been shed on the chemical reactions that occur in a vessel in which a nearly perfect vacuum has been produced. One practical result of this work is the vacuum tube which plays an essential part in radio work and roentgenology.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA—March 1.—California's 1923 Varsity track squad may yet have an opportunity to compete in both the Pacific Coast Conference and the I. C. A. A. A. meet, if plans fostered by Dr. J. Fred Bohler, athletic director of Washington State College, mature.

The fact that the national championships and the Conference meet are scheduled for the same day, May 26th, has been the subject of considerable discussion among the Pacific coast cinderpath followers. To solve the problem of California's competing in both events, Bohler is advocating the shifting of the date of the conference championships.

Bohler has asked all the colleges in the conference to submit a vote on the question, and it is hoped that arrangements can be made so that California, Stanford, and U. S. C. all of which have virtually promised to enter their teams in the coast title contest, will be free to enter the I.C.A.A.A.A. games.

The dates submitted for the meet by Bohler were May 12 or 19. A howl of protest arose among the northern institutions, however, as the climatic conditions make it practically impossible for the northern teams to be in top form at that time. The date now under consideration for the meet is June 2.

—U. of N.—

CALIFORNIA AGGIES (S. I. P. A.), Feb. 28.—The first inter-class track meet ever held at Davis will take place on March 1 and 2. It is planned to make it a yearly event, and in any case the competition will bring out new material for the teams.

PADDOCK WILL RUN FOR SOUTHERN CAL

University of Southern California, Los Angeles, March 1.—According to Dean Cromwell, local track coach, the eligibility of Charles Paddock, U. S. C. sprint demon, should be unquestioned, although some reasonable doubts have arisen because Paddock competed for the Trojan institution in the East during his freshman year.

However, the custom of permitting frosh to enter in certain relays and A. A. U. meets is general throughout the country, even among schools of the highest standing. Almost every athlete at U. S. C. has entered in the Southern California A. A. U. track meets held in the south each spring, while the best of these have frequently been sent east to the Penn relays or other national events.

Paddock's exceptional ability has naturally subjected his collegiate career to close scrutiny, but he has been in varsity competition only two years—in 1920 and in 1921. Last year he was not in college during the second semester.

That he is in good condition seems indicated by his performance at the Southern California A. A. U. relays held at Occidental on February 16th. Paddock clicked off the hundred-yard dash in 9 4-5 seconds, due to a fast track and a warm day. The Trojans took first place with 40 points, Occidental College being second with 17.

WHITMAN SELECTS STARS FOR PLAY

WHITMAN COLLEGE, WASH., Feb. 28.—(P.I.N.S.)—Lucile Ingram will have the starring role in "Pomander Walk," the play to be presented by the Dramatic Club of Whitman College on April 14, and Leland Upton, Roy Riffle, and William Boyd will handle the male leads. Paul Rounds has been chosen stage manager and Russell Akey business manager of the play.

—U. of N.—

KNIGHTS OF SPIKED SLIPPERS ON TRACK

Washington State College.—(P. I. N. S.) March 1.—With the turning out of twenty-five men for spring training the official track season at Washington State has been opened by "Doc" Bohler. With all of last year's men back and good football material from last year's Frosh squad, the prospects for a winning team are good. All of the men are reporting regularly for calisthenics, and a few laps around the indoor track.

—U. of N.—

WILL STANFORD WIN?

If Ernst Brandsten, diving coach at Stanford, is successful this year he will have accomplished the most remarkable feat in aquatic history.

On March 25 the Los Angeles Athletic Club will hold the national ten-foot diving board championship and Stanford will be represented by a team of four men. The Cardinals are counting on at least two places.

In April, Stanford will again send a team to Los Angeles for the three-foot board contest. If the Stanford coach can bring home a hatful of national diving titles in one season, the aquatic world will have to take off its hat to one E. Brandsten.

LAKE IS FROZEN; FROSH PAY DEBT THROUGH PADDLE

They who break rules must pay the penalty. Even Frosh are compelled to give the Soph his due. But now that the lake is frozen over, and the coeds do not come out in gay raiment to watch the Order of the Bath as administered by the twenty-fivers, the Frosh have been breaking rules with reckless abandon. The rule-breaking grew irksome and not the least bit funny to the sophomores, who sat in gloomy consultation and wondered what to do. Unfortunately for the Babes, the consultation room was decorated with trophies of the hunt, and among the trophies was—a well-worn paddle. A Soph gazed at it long and hard. Then, suddenly, without the least premonition or warning, he had an ideal. Commenting on the idea later, he said to a staff reporter: "It just came natural-like, out of the air. I saw the paddle; it gave me warm recollections of days gone by when I was terrorized by such things; why, thought I, should we not terrorize with the same thing that held us in leash last year? So I sprang the paddling idea. Simple, anyone could have thought of it; why, even you, perhaps, could have had the same idea if I had not received the jar first." And so it came about. Now, day by day, etc., a list is posted on the board for certain Frosh to appear in an air of subdued and slave-ridden modesty in front of the Libe. Here the Sophs gather about the stairs and wait for victims. As they come, they are given a warm reception and sent off for cushions and foot ease. The innovation was first sprung upon an unsuspecting and somewhat bored campus last Friday. Those who paid the penalty for queening and too much jaw in the Libe were brought forth, like sheep to slaughter, and severely paddled. The whacks floated flashingly about the campus. It was great sport, and the Sophs are delighted with their idea.

Until the warm weather comes, the pea-greeners will be warmed slightly on that tender spot so dear to lazy folk. When the lake is "opened for business" the Frosh will be given a chance to cool off. At any rate, the Sophs are doing something useful and getting an awful kick out of life. Occasionally a Frosh gets by with something, but sooner or later he will pay for his follies. The Sophs claim that they mean business. This is logical, since we are supposed to be back to that mysterious stage known as Normalcy.

VERDICT OF GUILT RETURNED BY JURY IN TURNER'S TRIAL

"Guilty" was the verdict rendered by the jury composed of Clonia members in the case of Turner vs. Students, opened for hearing Wednesday night in the Education Building, with Sidney Robinson acting as judge.

Professor A. E. Turner, charged with "acting in a manner befitting only humans, and unnatural to the conduct of a professor," was held without bond. Richards, lawyer for the defense, pleaded in such laughter-stirring sentiments, and with arguments so illogical that his case seemed won until Brown, counsel for the Students, flung forth in antediluvian melodrama.

Basing his arguments on the slum conditions in Western Africanistan, pointing to the congested condition which spring nights have brought to the tram, appealing to the jurors' primitive instincts by supplying cream puffs of rhetoric, Richards figuratively wiped the tears from the eyes of those who could listen to him. Expounding theories as to the probability of Adam and Eve doing a family washing on Monday, elucidating on the dilemma of Anthony with Cleo, verifying the dates of birth of the Queen of Sheba and Venus, Richards concluded his oration with a sweep of his hand.

"He is innocent," thought every one of the twelve jurors. Then uprose the counsel for the students, with all the furore of an acclaiming debater.

Striking a fundamental note in Adam, Brown demanded to know how any one would not see with one eye closed and the other smeared with the cream of the puff, that Prof. Turner was human. Pictured on the campus actually conversing with students informally, pictured as director of Campus Players amateurs, pictured as a member of Clonia—thus the lawyer brought out the unassailable fact that Prof. A. E. Turner was emphatically and irrevocably "human."

Summarizing the effects produced by Ivory soap suds, Brown resumed his seat.

The jury retired for refreshments while attendants at the trial spent the time fox-trotting to victrola music. At 9:59 the jury gave its verdict: "Professor A. E. Turner is found guilty of being human."

ANDY SMITH TO STAY AS HEAD BEAR COACH

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Feb. 28.—(P. I. N. S.)—Head football coach "Andy" Smith will be retained for California, Luther A. Nichols, graduate manager of the A. S. U. C., has announced. While negotiations have not been entirely completed, they have advanced to such a stage that the retaining of Coach "Andy" has become practically a certainty. The length of the new contract has not been entirely established and it will be several days until it may be definitely said that Smith is under a new contract which will keep him at California.

Reports have been circulated that the Bruin coach, because of his highly successful record at California, has been tendered offers from eastern institutions. Smith's present contract will run out in another year, and it was due to this fact that the Board of Athletic Control made the proposal to Smith. The other Bear football coaches will also be retained if the contract negotiations are successfully completed.

WILL MAKE PADDOCK RUN

If Charlie Paddock sticks to his plans and goes East this spring, he will find plenty of competition awaiting him. Le Coney, of Lafayette, plans on entering the Penn Relays and the Western Flash will have his hands full in defeating the Eastern Marvel. Coney negotiated the 100 in 9 4-5 on a badly cut up track in the final race at Franklin Field in the meet last year.

Indoor track meets are attracting more attention than ever before owing to the fact that the Olympic games are only a year away and the youthful athletes want to turn in as many wins as possible, before the time comes for picking the American entries.

The University of Nevada rifle team shows a marked improvement over last year. Though they have been defeated several times in competition, there has been a marked improvement, according to Captain Ryan. Recently, in competing against Northwestern and A. & M. College of Texas, the men from the Hill came out with one defeat and one victory to their credit. With a possible score of 4000 the Nevada men scored 3077 to Northwestern's 3490, Nevada losing by a score of 287 points. Against Texas A. & M. the Nevada Rifle Team was more successful, scoring 3374 points to A. & M.'s 3087, Nevada winning the shot by 287 points.

In the Ninth Corps Area competition the Nevada team was very successful, scoring 5418 points out of a possible 6000. This is a marked improvement over last year's shoot as last year's team made only 4873 points under the same conditions. The individual averages were as follows:

Possible score 600—Gridley, 577; Finlayson, 549; Brown, R. F., 541; Mullen, 541; Welch, 541; Duborg, 538; Overton, 536; Fairbrother, 533; Andrews, 532; Fothergill, 530. The lowest individual score for this year is 15 points better than the highest score made in last year's competition. There are twenty-four colleges in the shoot and as yet the winner has not been ascertained, but it is believed that Nevada will be among the first five when the results are known.

PACK COMES BACK IN SECOND GAME; WHIPS DAVIS FIVE

Nevada repeated the trick of the week before by coming back in the second game with St. Mary's, when the Wolf Pack lost the first game with the Davis Aggies and won the second encounter in the series of two games with Davis last Friday and Saturday.

The first game was not spectacular, but was fairly flashy in parts. The Farmers trailed the Wolves up and down the floor, and Nevada settled into a state of contentment with a defeat facing the Pack. The most spectacular playing was seen during the last five minutes of the contest, when Nevada took the offensive. The spurt on the part of Nevada came too late, however, and the Pack was left on the small end of a 26-15 score.

In the second game, the contest took on a different angle, with Nevada working smoothly from the start, while the Farmers also showed a little better form. At the end of the first half, it looked like another Aggie victory, the score standing 8-4 in favor of the Californians.

With the beginning of the second half, Nevada spurred, did quick work and scored repeatedly. When the gun sounded the Wolves led in a score reading 21-13.

The team is working better than ever before. If the Wolves keep up the same style of playing, the Pack should score a couple of wins this week-end over Pomona. The Wolves will be a big team to be reckoned with when the coast hoopsters take the floor next year.
