Seats did not go begging at the three-act comedy "Come Out of the Kitchen," produced last night at the Rialto theatre by the Campus Players of the University. The highly pleased audience left the theatre satisfied that the day of a pick-up crowd of actors has passed, and that real talent and ability now produce the college plays, easily meriting the applause received.

It has been said that an audience is inclined to over-rate a play and under-rate the performance of it. If this is a fact, then there is all the more honor due the cast and directors who brought "Come Out of the Kitchen" to the high success which it achieved; for it can not be denied that the plot, rather than the production of it, did have its weak points. The plot was ineffectual, but in spite of its apparent obviousness it was sufficient for this type of production, and any weakness in this quarter was easily compensated by the vein of comedy always obtruding itself.

A little time is unavoidably lost in the first act while the circumstances of the play are introduced. The second act, the kitchen scene, is easily the outstanding portion of the production. This high point in the action of the play is offset in the last act when the

'MAJOR' HARRISON ELECTED PRESIDENT TROWEL AND SQUARE

A. T. Harrison was elected president of the Trowel and Square Club at a meeting held at the home of Ashton Codd last Thursday evening. Other officers elected were: Vice-president, Charles Haseman; secretary-treasurer, Ashton Codd, and tyler, Frank Gordon.

Considerable time was spent perfecting the proposed service plan for registration which the club intends to launch next semester.

A large attendance of student and faculty members were present and also Mr. Silas Ross, one of the organizers of the organization in 1907.

SIGMA NU AND PHI SIGNS TO BE HOSTS AT A STREET DANCE

The Phi Sigs and Sigma Nus will hold high carnival down on the corner of Sixth and Lake on Wednesday night, April 25. The celebration will be street dance to be held between the two houses from seven o'clock until ten. This will be their official welcome of Spring and is to be held on this particular day because it is then that the apple tree in the Phi Sig yard is scheduled to break forth in full bloom.

Mayor Stewart has given his assent, and in addition to blocking the street for the affair, has offered the fire department to give it a thorough cleansing before that evening. Music will be furnished by the combined orchestras of the two houses with Tony and a drummer thrown in to fill vacancies.

The lighting system used will be the indirect method and the moon will of course contribute its bit to making the affair romantic. In order that the glare might not be too great it has been arranged to have the moon at the first quarter. This should eliminate any possibility of dancers being moonstruck. In case the moon should sulk on the job or some nighthawking cloud out in search of adventure should interfere with the program, the modern method of lighting will then be used. Thousands of Japanese lanterns will give the appearance of a vast hovering swarm of fireflies.

Each fraternity will hold open house and attempt to outdo the other in the flavor of the punch served. The campus is invited to attend.

Another reason for the dance is to prove to the woman that the quiet romantic atmosphere that abounds along this quaint old street would make it an ideal location for sorority houses. To get this publicity program across, it is essential to have every University man and woman present.

Brewster Adams and Dr. Thompson will be on hand to administer the last rites to those couples desiring to take advantage of the opportunity of marrying before the close of the evening.

RAWSBERRY PROVES SURPRISE TO HILL; 'T' WAS UNEXPECTED

Contrary to general campus expectations, the Mackay day traditional razz sheet was on sale in the gym soon after the luncheon. It was a different style of Scarlet-Seare-and-Scratch publication this year.

Among those who were razzed were those responsible for the Sagebrush, the campus music, the military, oil in Nevada and "Doc" Jones and the Tri Deltis. The Pi Phis, against all traditions, were not mentioned.

The English department, collaborating with the Sundowners, are credited with the success of the Red One.

ONE PIQUED DINKER TURNS OUT FOR LAKE

One lone, scared, piqued frosh turned up Monday noon for a swim in Manzanita lake, the guest of the class of '25. Three babes were supposed to come out for the bathing ceremonies. The sophomores turned out en masse to be on hand with cheers for the three-in-one combination. The individual dinker explained that he had been sent as the proxy by the other two, who were busy mending socks so as to be able to attend an early afternoon class. The two who did not turn up will engage in that childish art of bubble blowing, it is said.

Turning out clear and bright with genuine spring weather, last Saturday proved to be one of the best Mackay days yet held on the Nevada campus. The splendid luncheon at noon, the closely contested track meet in the afternoon, and an enjoyable dance in the evening combined to form a day which will be memorable for many years to come.

'26 Active

Along with the dawn of the new day came a realization that other forces besides cultural were at work on the campus, for floating serenely from the tall flag pole was a foreign flag. Except for the fact that it was white and not red, one would believe that the Russians had bomb-throwers among our selected ranks. The tremendous height of the pole prevented reading the insignia, but little doubt existed among those gathered at the base relative to its insidiousness, and the lofty legend was interpreted as a warning from the Black Hand or Maffia crowd. Not until an upperclassman climbed the pole and saw that fully five members of the freshman class must have spent most of the night in the crow's nest tying the rope into knots, was the full horror

BUCK GRABBERS HAVE SURPRISE SKIT FOR SHOW

Wanta line coach for the season of 1923?

Those who do, will not only have an opportunity to contribute to the funds that are being raised for his salary, but will also have a chance to see the cream of University talent perform at the big Vodvill Show that is to be given on April 27.

"Dad" Taylor is in charge. He has promised many novelty acts, but the organizations that are putting them on are entirely too modest to divulge the nature of their stunts.

The "Buck-Grabbers," a newly-formed clan gathered from men who are enrolled in the business department of the University, are not hiding their light under a bushel, however.

"Something new," says Gerry Eden, who is directing the Buck-Grabbers skit.

"It will be pretty fair," says Walter Young, "even if I did help Eden write it."

"The most unique stunt I ever saw," says Prof. Charley Haseman, who witnessed a dress rehearsal. "As for originality, the Buck-Grabbers win in a walk."

"Watch our smoke," the business men's club cry in chorus, "and remember our yell:

"Business men, business men,
Dry behind the ears;
We own the land the Aggies farm
And hire the Engineers."

ATHLETIC SHOW AT MAJESTIC WILL PUT ON FEATURE STUNTS

A well-rounded vaudeville show is to be presented to the students and townspeople at the Rialto theatre April 23. The proceeds of the show will go to swell the athletic fund and make possible the retaining of a line coach for another year.

The show has eight finished feature acts headed by a variety minstrel show with sixteen voices. All the talent will be from the Hill and the performances will bring together the best talent ever gathered at the University.

A musical novelty of six pieces, two saxophones, two violins, banjo and piano, will review the popular selections of the day. The Campus Players will present a one-act skit, "And Then the Lights Went Out." John Philbin, the well-known baritone, will render a few selections, accompanied at the piano by Miss Chatfield.

Bill Gutteron will put on an athletic stunt for the fourth feature. "Salesmanship," a one-act skit dealing with the difficulties of a college man attempting to sell a Ford, will be put on by the Business Club.

The last two acts will be in the nature of surprises and no information can be gleaned from the director as to what they will consist of.

RECORDS MAY BREAK AT DAVIS FARM MEET

With only two weeks left in which to whip themselves into shape, Nevada's tracksters are working hard to gain a berth on the team that will meet the Davis Aggies at Davis Farm on May 5.

Little is known here regarding the ability of the team the Farmers will put in the field this year, but it is known that most of last year's squad is back and in training and that various track teams have traveled to Davis for the purpose of giving the Aggies competition. The Nevada meet is always considered an important one at Davis and as they are out to wipe out their defeat by the Wolf Pack last year, it is a safe bet that the Pack will find them in trim.

As a result of the fast time made in the Inter-frat-Lincoln Hall meet Saturday, a considerable number of track enthusiasts are convinced that track records are due to be smashed this year, and that perhaps more than one record will be broken. It is a well-known fact that when Nevada runners go into lower altitudes they are able to improve upon home performances and that some of Nevada's fastest records were made in competition on the other side of the Sierras.

Putting two and two together, those who claim to know say that records that have stood for years are going to fall before the present track season ends, and that they will probably be broken when the Wolf Pack tangles with the Davis Aggies at Davis Farm.

RAWSBERRY PROFITS SWELL A. W. S. FUND

R. U. Kidd and Henry the Navigator swamped the A. W. S. treasury with the silver booty brought in by the floating of the "Rawsberry." The plundering of campus secrets and profs' pet peculiarities, the pirating of personalities was done only for the fun of preserving an ancient tradition, as was shown in the fact that the whole of the returns was given to the women's organization.

Since most of the red material was furnished by the feline feminines, payment was made to them.

With the weather favoring the cinder path artists last Saturday, the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity won the cup which signifies that they were the winners of the inter-frat track meet. The meet was the closest held on the Nevada oval for some time and it was not until the last race of the day that the winner was decided. The Phi Sigs piled up thirty-seven points while their closest rivals, the A. T. O.'s, were right on their heels with thirty-five.

The first event of the day, the 100-yard dash, went to the A. T. O.'s with little opposition. Nesbit, the star sprinter of the University, broke the tape first in 10:1 while Seranton, also of the A. T. O.'s, was right behind him for a close second.

In the two-twenty, Nesbit could have broken the record had he run his hardest all through the race. As it was, he loafed through the last hundred yards, and then tied the school record when he made the furlong in 23 flat. Larsen of Lincoln Hall and Seranton furnished the thrill of the race when they battled throughout for second place. Larsen finally nosed the A. T. O. entry out in

CUT SYSTEM THROWN OUT BY OFFICIALS OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Los Angeles.—(S. I. P. A.)—According to an announcement of the administration, it will no longer be necessary to obtain an excuse from the dean's office for absence from classes. Heretofore, all absences had to be excused officially, but this step is no longer necessary. Hereafter it will be the private affair of the student. If he can be absent from class for an indefinite time, and pass the mid-terms and finals, then his absence will in no way be the possible cause for his failing.

Further explanations as to the causes or reasons for absence will be arranged with the instructors of the class from which the student has absented himself.

of the flag apparent. The sheet flaunted the numerals, " '26. '21!"
Morning of Accomplishment
By nine o'clock, in keeping with the immemorial tradition of Mackay day, the Mackay field was teeming with life and industry, for the members of the freshman class were preparing the field for the coming meet. Sophomores and upperclassmen were kept busy carrying the long tables into the gymnasium in preparation for the noon blow-out. Other crowds cruised about the campus on a general policing-up excursion. In the ensuing burst of energy, several rack handles are reported to have been broken, raising considerable discussion as to why they weren't made strong enough for a full-grown man to lean on.

Shortly before noon the laborers gathered in front of the gymnasium, there to wait for certain luckless men who chanced up the walk adorned in a white collar and necktie. Among those relieved of their splendor and finery were Dean Hall, with several more of the faculty. Even the most silvery tongued was unable to prevent the iron hand of the multitude from having its way.

Meal Is Lavish Repast
After parting with some of the currency of realm at the door, the student body grouped itself about the tables by classes. Class yells, organization yells, and an N-E-V started the meal. The women of the freshman class proved something besides good looking, for the waitress service rendered exceeded even that of the far-famed Mineral. The Mackay day lunch was acknowledged by everyone to be the best one ever put on, and those women in charge should throw aside their modesty long enough to be congratulated.

Frances Heward Toastmistress
Frances Heward, in the capacity of official toastmistress of the day, proved to be an engaging speaker. After reading a telegram from Clarence Mackay, in whose honor the day is held, saying that, however much he regretted the fact, he was unable to be present to aid in the celebration. President Clark, who was the first speaker on the program, urged a spirit of friendliness toward the incoming freshman, rather than the present policy of seeming coldness and discipline. "Don't give up your lankings and paddlings, make them even more severe, but administer the punishment only to those deserving of it. Don't inflict them on every innocent freshman, but rather on the cheat and the liar and the unclean," were his closing remarks.

Judge Norcross, a member of the first class graduating from the University, gave an enjoyable talk on the life of Mackay. Many musical numbers accompanied the lunch, and several selections were interspersed with the program. Hughes and his orchestra were highly applauded, and two harp solos by Margaret McCarran delighted the audience. A trio, composed of Miss McCarran on the harp, Eloise Harris as soloist, and Ruel Taylor to turn the music, then gave several selections.

A prize had been offered for the best Nevada song presented Mackay day, and two competitors held the floor, one from the Tri Delt house and the other from the men's glee club. Both songs proved striking in their originality, and the glee club selection was chosen winner. The women's athletic awards, result of the past year's work, were then presented.

Student Body Meeting Held
The student body meeting which was held was short and to the point. The amendments before the organization, with the exception of the one relative to the Gothic N society, were automatically placed on the coming election ballot. The Gothic N amendment was voted on and passed. Nominations were then opened for student body offices for next year.

After the gymnasium had been cleared of the signs of the meal, the Artemisias and "Rawsberrys" were given out or sold. The crowd then went down to the Mackay field where the inter-fraternity track meet was held. It was not until the results of the relay had been tabulated that it was known that the Phi Sigs won over the A. T. O.'s by two points, so close was the contest. Lincoln Hall ran a good third.

In the evening the campus was pleasantly amused by the dance which the Block N society gave to round the day out. Another successful Mackay day has passed.

CAMPUS PLAYERS STAGE "COME OUT OF THE KITCHEN"

plot slows up noticeably. Staged in the dining room of the Dangerfield mansion, the last scene continues through the entire bachelor dinner, and action is necessarily a little slow. Here again, it is the fault of the play rather than the characters, and the audience evinces signs of impatience for the plot to continue. However, the actors fit pleasantly into the grey walls of the room, and the undercurrent of thought below the fore conversation of the men soon absorbs the house once more. This game of words continues right to the delightful, though unexpected ending.

Georgia Money as Olivia Dangerfield, alias Jane Ellen, the cook, is the outstanding character of the performance, though George Duborg as Burton Crane, the millionaire, runs her a close second for popularity. The audience is particularly taken with her amazing range, for in the first act she plays the part of one of four children of the aristocratic Dangerfield family of Virginia, while in the remainder of the play she assumes the role of Irish cook with apparently as much ease as she had at first, and carries the part through comedy and deep pathos, and the audience with the part.

Either George Duborg was made for the part of Burton Crane, or else the play was fitted to his personality for his portrayal of this "lead" was close to perfect. George is serene in all his actions, firm in his judgments with the servants, yet romantic in his love for Jane Ellen, and he fills the spectators with assurance as to the genuineness of the part. So whole-hearted was the acting that we even had doubt as to whether it was acting or not, but suspected him of merely playing a bit of his life on the stage for our benefit. His serenity perhaps interferes slightly with his vitality in the part, but much improvement can be noted over last year. An individual style is one of the first points noticed in any of Duborg's work, and a very attractive style at that.

The part of Paul Dangerfield, one of the four children who take over the servants' duties, is carried by Carroll Wilson in his usual effective manner. As Smithfield, the butler, we are tempted to think that either Carroll has missed his calling in not butlering, or else the stage is going to lose a really clever actor when he leaves college. The second sister of the family, Elizabeth alias Araminta, is Lois Wilson, and her constant and emphatic opposition to taking orders from the disagreeable Mrs. Faulkner keeps the audience in constant fear of a disaster to the family's plans. The audience is not disappointed. Miss Wilson shows fully as much ability as her brother. John Fulton and Harlow North, as Solon Tucker, attorney, and Charles Dangerfield, fourth member of the family, furnish the lighter touch to every situation. Both are exceedingly well fitted for their parts and both evince real talent. Randolph Weeks, agent, is played by Willis Pressell, and with his strong voice and ease of manner, the part is successful. Unfortunately for the actor, this character fades out in the last act in such a manner that an unpleasant impression is left, but this is the fault of the play.

Clementine Shurtleff as Mrs. Faulkner is resplendent in the part of domineering prospective mother-in-law. Her hasty wrath and cutting abuse place her in disfavour with the audience, but the actress herself again adds another angle to the talent which she has shown so often in the last three years. Lawrence Williams as the statistical poet, Thomas Lefferts, is good most of the time, though occasionally his actions seem forced. Fortunately, these periods of self consciousness are far between, and Lawrence promises to be good material for the plays of the next two years. Eloise Harris as Cora Faulkner has a very ineffectual part which gives her little opportunity to show her real ability. However, she played the lesser part easily and well. Leona Bergman played the part of colored Amanda in a very creditable manner, for the character was an exceedingly difficult one.

The Campus Players owe the success of their production to Prof. A. E. Turner, whose efforts have carried so many college plays to a successful conclusion. Roy Boyer as business manager of the play, had charge of all arrangements. Harold Coffin handled the properties, while Peter Pery and Lawrence Quill took care of the publicity and advertising.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA WINS TRACK MEET BY NARROW SCORE

The four-forty was probably the best race of the day if the relay is excepted. Peart of the Phi Sigs was declared the winner only after a hard fight with Downey of the S. A. E. Downey ran a very heady race and it was only his lack of experience that kept him from breaking the tape. Peart made the distance in 53. Scranton was the third man in.

Peart also won the half-mile with little difficulty. His only opponent, Grey of the Delta Sigma Lambda, offered no opposition and Peart took his time to win in 2:04.4.

Koehler of the Kappa Lambda showed his heels to the field in the mile and won with ease. Sullivan of Lincoln Hall and Herron, Phi Sig, finished second and third. Jimmy ran a nice race and used his head throughout.

DATE HER FOR APRIL 27

The two-mile was all Kappa Lambda, Quill finishing first, with Philbin trailing closely. Lualhati from Lincoln Hall took third place. The time was 12:24.

The relay race was the feature of the day. It was in this event that the A. T. O.'s, off to a bad start, overcame the twenty-yard handicap and finally nosed the Phi Sigs out of first place. Gutteron started for the A. T. O. with Lyons of the Phi Sig as his opponent. Lyons took the lead from the start and by the time they had reached the first lap was leading his man by a good twenty yards. Church held the lead which Lyons had given him and passed it on to Frost. Galmarino held his own and when Hobbs started he was determined to close the gap. Running the prettiest races of the day he cut the Phi Sigs lead to less than ten yards and Nesbit easily overtook Peart on the last lap. Hobbs relays the credit for the win in the relay.

In the field events some of the men showed good form and with a little practice should break a few of the long standing records. Carlson of the Sigma Nu heaved the lead ball 37 feet 11 1/2 inches for a first place. Miller, A. T. O., placed second with McCorkle, Stray Greek entry, third.

The pole vault was very disappointing as the best the first man could do was 9 feet 1 inch. Gray of the Delta Sigma Lambda topped the bar for a first place with Whitehead of Lincoln Hall and Gutteron of the A. T. O. finishing in the order named.

In the broad jump Harrison leaped 29 feet 10 inches for a first place while Lowry and Downey, both from the S. A. E. house, finished second and third.

Harrison also took the discus when he heaved it through a hole 7 inches in space. Carlson, Sigma Nu entry gave Harrison a tough run and was right behind him with a throw of 109 feet 5 inches.

Hobbs carried off the honors in the javelin when he heaved the steel-pointed shaft 142 feet 2 inches. Randall of the Sigma Nu took a second place and McCorkle trailed.

In the two-twenty low hurdles the Phi Sigs placed second and third. Kettleson, last year's flash, took first place with Church and Frost running nearly even. Kettleson covered the distance in 27.4.

The high sticks went to Galmarino of the A. T. O. after a tough race with Church. The two men finished only inches apart. Jones of the A. T. O. placed third. The time was 19 flat.

The material which showed in this meet, while it is not exceptional, shows that with a little training could be made over into a fairly fast team. Nesbit showed his speed in the two-twenty and with very little effort can break the record set by Chet Stever in '17. Downey and Peart should be able to place one-two in the 440 and Peart will take the 880 against some very good men.

WOMEN TO GET MORE POINTS, IS DECIDED

At the last regular meeting of the semester, held on Friday, A. W. S. nominations were opened for the college year of 1923-24. The following girls were nominated: President, Justine Badt; secretary, Frances Humphrey; treasurer, Alva Quillici; exchange chairman, Anne Porter; sophomore representative, Florence Benoit. Nominations are held open until Tuesday morning at nine o'clock.

A treasurer's report was presented, and money will have to be raised to further the expenses of sending a delegate to the national convention in Ohio this May.

Plans for the A. W. S. carnival were presented to the women with reports from the various committees, who promise to give a novel performance.

It was decided that sorority presidents and sorority house managers should be classified under the point system, and awarded eight points, the same number granted to the Manzanita president and A. S. U. N. secretary. Members of the Sagebrush staff are to be awarded three points in the future.

Marcelline Kenny announced the organization of "Athenades," the new women's honor society, to which seven members of the junior class have been elected.

ORIGINALITY WAS KEYNOTE OF THIS YEAR'S ARTEMISIA

This year's Artemisia, edited by Chris Sheerin, is a year book, the general make-up and originality of which speaks well for the literary ability of Nevada's students, and compares favorably with annuals published by universities many times larger than Nevada.

Making exemplary use of the University's symbol, a desert wolf's head is stamped on a limp leather cover of silver and blue, the school's colors. Nevada's wolf is again featured in the athletic department of the book where it is effectively used for page headings.

Maintaining the original tone set by the cover design, a full page reproduction, in color, entitled "Across the Copper Desert, Where the Painted Sunset Lies," heads the book. It is a pastel of Lone Mountain below Tonopah, painted by Elmer Taney. This sunset scene is followed by the poem by Arthur Chapman, "Out Where the West Begins," and rounded out by the dedication "To Our Fathers and Mothers Whose Sacrifices Have Made Possible Our Education." This is the first time a colored half-tone has ever been used in an Artemisia and it adds considerably to the very effective introduction.

Seven pages of photographs taken about the campus are followed by a section devoted to the faculty and the pictures and records of every senior and junior enrolled in the University.

Student body organizations are given a page each as are the men's and women's fraternities. Interspersed with pictures of Nevada's athletes in action, the sport's section is a vivid history of the Wolf Pack's activities on the gridiron, court and cinder path for the school year.

The joke section pokes its usual collegiate fun at well-known members of the faculty and student body and is the concluding folio in the book of 320 pages.

Under Sheerin, as editor, the 1923 Artemisia executive staff was: Ottway Peck, business manager; Harlow North, assistant editor; Cecil Green, assistant business manager; Justine Badt and Frederick Siebert, associate editors. Great credit is also due the other members of the staff, who are: Walter Cox and William Green, assistant business managers; Leona Bergman, art editor; Walker Matheson, joke editor; Alex Cotter, sport editor; John Cahlin, assistant sport editor; George Cann, photograph editor; James Shaver, Stanley Palmer and Robert Pyzel, assistant photographers, and Verda Luce, Foster Curtis, Jerry Fowble, Walter Herz, Gladys Comstock and Trux Howell compose the art staff.

While it has been customary, heretofore, to have such work as the mounting photographs and border designing done by the engraving company, this year's Artemisia contains no similar work not handled entirely by the students themselves.

The book was printed by William S. Lunsford of Reno; the covers were sup-

ED'S AND CO-ED'S RIFLE TEAMS GOOD

The Varsity Rifle Team has wound up a successful season with a high score which shows the remarkable progress that has been made since last year. The total team score for this year was 5600 as compared to 4931 for 1922, while this season's average was 93.3 per cent against 82.1 per cent a year ago.

Individual records of the men composing Nevada's team in the National Intercollegiate shoot, are as follows:

Total Score (6 Stages)—Fairbrother, 575; Gridley, 567; Spencer, 567; Andrews, 562; Welsh, 559; R. F. Brown, 559; Mullan, 557; Clinch, 553; Fothergill, 552; Finlayson, 549. Total, 5600. Possible total, 6000.

The University of Nevada women's rifle team made a very good showing, defeating the girls' rifle team of Oregon Agricultural College. Although defeated at the hands of Syracuse University, the women of Nevada have done exceedingly well, as is shown by their individual scores: Verda Luce, 357; L. H. Taylor, 354; Eloise Harris, 350; F. Lattin, 341; G. Turner, 336; A. Norcross, 327; C. O'Sullivan, 321; F. Heward, 309; E. Siebert, 306; Ruth Bunker, 301.

CHANCE FOR EASTERN TRACK MEET FADING

At the time the Sagebrush went to press, the possibilities of Nevada entering the Drake track meet, which will be held at Des Moines, Iowa, on April 27 and 28, seem rather remote. Coach Courtright has not yet received an answer to his communication regarding the status under which Nevada would enter her athletes, and by the time the matter could be passed upon by the student body, it would be too late to send in entries.

Nevada's participation in this meet would advertise Nevada throughout the Middle West and East in a manner hard to equal. The Drake meets have been run for fourteen years and have steadily increased in importance until now they are among the premier field classics of the West.

This year close to 200 teams from universities, colleges, prep schools and high schools are entered. Nevada, with her present registration would be eligible to the collegiate division. In the university division such teams as Iowa, Illinois, Kansas, Nebraska, Michigan and Notre Dame are entered.

The feature of every year's meet is the mile relay, university division, which last year was won by Illinois in the record time of 3:20 2-5. This year the directors of the meet are offering a handsome and costly bronze statue, and the announcement of the award has created greater interest in the race than usual.

Considering the times turned in at the Inter-fraternity-Lincoln Hall meet Saturday, Nevada should more than hold her own with the best of the collegiate entries. Bill Nesbit's time in the 220 was better than that which won at the meet last year, and he equalled their time in the 100—10:1. The quarter, half and mile also offer possibilities for Nevada to score.

In the event that the Drake meet falls through Nevada will consider entering a team in the P. A. of A. A. U., which is to the West what the Drake meet is to the Middle West, and which will be held at San Francisco this year.

BURIAL OF 'BRUSH' STAFF CASTS PALL OVER MACKAY DAY

Mackay day, besides being replete with thrills on track and turf and in political circles, was the occasion of one of the saddest events in the history of the institution. Strange as it may seem, the entire Sagebrush staff went to their last resting place on that day.

The pathos of the simple ceremony was such that scarcely an eye in all the bleachers was dry—with perhaps the exception of an engineer or two. The contrast of the living and the dead on the field at the same time brought home the lesson to many that life here on earth is but a transitory moment, a mere pause in the endless march of the universe.

Mackay Field had never witnessed such a sight—a track meet on one side showing man at the zenith of his power, while on the other a man of God droned the last rites over the dead, even while Windy Johnson announced the results of the low hurdles.

At the height of the meet a pitiful procession was seen approaching, some on footback and others ahorse. In the lead came the Carriage of the Dead drawn by two ill-nourished horses whose dejected attitude gave them the appearance of mourners. Following came the band, suitably dressed for the occasion.

In front of the bleachers the cortege paused in its solemn march. Spectators bowed while the caskets of the departed were removed from the hearse. One by one they were placed on the ground and while the band members stood with muted horns a clergyman read a splendid eulogy over the bodies, in which he retold the many deeds these men had accomplished for the University in their short span of life. Then as they had approached—so they departed, the band playing "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town."

Some distance from the field the men were buried where they could look down over the University for which they gave "their last full measure of devotion."

HUG OUT OF GRID SEASON FOR 1923

"Billy" Hug, star backfield man of the 1922 Wolf Pack, left last week for San Francisco where he will receive treatment for an infected eye and an injured leg. Football left Hug with a bad knee and torn leg muscles. The injuries failed to mend properly and when eye trouble developed, Hug decided to leave school for the balance of this semester and secure expert medical attention on the Coast.

A rumor to the effect that "Billy" had lost both his eye and his leg is evidently being noised about in California sport circles, as Coach Courtright recently received a telegram from the sporting editor of the Call inquiring whether or not there was any truth in the report. "Corky" immediately replied that the rumor had no foundation.

Hug will be back in school next September, but it will probably be impossible for him to play football. His loss will make one of the hardest gaps to fill in the 1923 eleven.

SPORT NOTES

It will be of interest to note that the 130-pound basketball team of the Sequoia High School of Redwood City where "Jimmie" Bradshaw is coaching recently won the championship of the Peninsula League. They went through a schedule of seven games without suffering a defeat. Considering the tough teams which they met and the fact that they were not eliminated and staged a contest every day for a week should be a big boost for "Jimmie." Sequoi High School is but a small institution and they are to be complimented upon the showing they have made and the title which they have annexed.

"Buzz" Havens, former Nevada low hurdler, again upheld his reputation by placing third in the recent U. S. C. California track meet in competition with such stars as Otto Anderson and Neff.

NEW ORDER OF AXE MAKES PUBLIC BAN

Feeling that much could be accomplished in cementing friendship between the University of Nevada and other Universities by extending a cordial welcome to all visiting teams, the Order of the Axe was brought into being to further Nevada's hospitality.

This work heretofore has been accomplished in a hit-or-miss fashion and with no degree of organization or of success. The proper welcome and entertainment of visiting teams requires a great deal of time and effort and there must be some person or organization upon which the responsibility can be placed. It has been felt that an organization, with this for its purpose, can accomplish much more and do it more efficiently than an individual, especially in this line.

Incorporated in the bylaws of the order are the two purposes that the Axe is expected to accomplish. First, to entertain all visiting teams. Second, to aid in the management of all athletic activities or any public function given by the University. In any work the organization will be subservient to the person in charge.

The order is not secret and whatever constitution or bylaws that have been adopted are open to the public. Membership in the organization will be open to sophomores who, during their freshman year have shown their responsibility and their willingness to lend a hand where it is most needed.

When the workings of the Axe are perfected, it is hoped that the athletic manager may send a letter to expected visitors telling them that they will be met at the train by “the fellow in the white sweater” and that during their sojourn here they will be treated as the official guests of the entire University and not as guests of the persons who, by chance, happen to meet their train.

In order to relieve congestion at athletic contests, such ushers, gate-keepers, ticket-sellers and officials as are needed may be selected, at the discretion of the person in charge, from members of this organization and the selected persons can be depended upon to be on the job. Other persons selected who satisfactorily execute their work will be recommended for “the white sweater.”

Any member of the organization is subject to expulsion at any time if his assigned work is not properly taken care of. The emblem of the organization will be worn only when a member is on assigned duty.

NEARLY FIFTY WOMEN GET ATHLETIC PRIZES

Awards for women's inter-class athletics were received on Mackay day by forty-six University women. These symbols are awarded each year in accordance with a "point system," by which credit is given participants in class basketball, hockey, baseball, soccer, volley-ball, tennis, rifle shooting and hiking. Certificates are awarded the first year, "U. of N." monograms the second, sweaters the third and class numerals the senior year.

Freshmen women who have gained membership are Gladys Comstock, Hester Crane, Christine Davis, Ruth Gunter, Blanche Guthrie, Frances Humphrey, Frances Lattin, Evelyn Nelson, Phyllis Poulin, May Ramelli, Catharine Ryan, Edith Taylor and Gilberta Turner.

Monograms were received by the following sophomores: Laura Asbury, Marcella Coates, Margaret Dangberg, Helen Duffy, Fern Lowry, Frances Miller, Alice Norcross, Thelma Pedrol, Alva Quilici, Eleanor Siebert, Anna Maud Stern. Sophomores awarded membership were Arvine Blundell, Ruth Bunker and Lorraine Peacock.

Junior women who received sweaters were Justine Badt, Louise Grubnau, Eloise Harris, Frances Heward, Vivian Kensinger, Verda Luce, Evelyn Pedrol and Opal Underwood. Helen Watkins received a monogram.

Seniors receiving monograms were Adele Clinton, Marie Grubnau, Erma Hoskins, Marcelline Kenny, Rose Mitchell, Clara O'Sullivan and Catharine Ramelli.

DOPE FROSH TO WIN INTER CLASS MEET

Next Saturday will witness the battle of the classes in their annual track classic of the year. With the weather such as it was last Saturday, the students should witness a meet as full of thrills as the inter-fraternity tangle. The Davis meet is but three weeks away and the men are fast rounding into form and putting on the touches to give the Farmers an interesting time in the alfalfa patch.

Enthusiasm always runs high in this meet, and this year it promises to be even closer than it has been in the past. It is also in the line of a tryout and gives the coach a chance to dope, somewhat, his possibilities for the annual dual meet and too more definitely place his men.

Figuring the same men who ran in the fraternity meet and placing them in the order in which they placed last Saturday the meet should finish somewhat as follows:

Frosh, 45; Sophs, 25; Juniors, 35; Seniors, 27.

The Frosh score takes in the fact that they will probably win the relay. As to the other teams it is rather hard to judge just where the second and third places will come in, but it looks like a tight race between the other contestants.

The 880-yard dash will probably see both Hobbs and Strikland entered this time. Strikland had covered the distance in 2:10 and it appears that he will cop the second place, with Hobbs taking the other point for the third-year men.

NEW PUBLICATION AMENDMENT PUT BEFORE COLLEGE

For nearly a year students have been discussing the possibility of founding a University magazine. As a result of the random talk an investigation was instigated as to whether such a magazine would be practical.

The original idea of students who thought of forming a University magazine was to have it purely a humorous publication but reflection showed that the University is still too small to put out such a magazine.

Delving into the financial end, together with a survey of the editorial situation brought out the facts that the University was not yet able to support a monthly.

Many universities place a quarterly publication before the students and it was with this end in view that Alex Cotter offered an amendment on Mackay day.

A survey of the campus shows a wealth of talent to furnish the kind of material needed in such a magazine and that it would be quite possible to publish it.

The amendment is given below; it is posted on the board and will be voted upon at the general election.

1. The Associated Students shall publish a quarterly magazine, the name of which will be selected later.
2. The management of the magazine shall be vested in an editor and a managing editor.
3. The editor shall have upper-class standing at the time of assuming office.
4. The editor and the managing editor shall assume financial responsibility of the magazine and shall render a quarterly statement to the finance control committee.
5. The subscription to the magazine shall be sixty cents per semester, said amount to be added to the regular student-body fee, collected at the time of registration, held in trust by the comptroller and turned over to the editors one month previus to each issue, subject to the action of the finance control committee.

6. The editor and managing editor shall be selected by the Sagebrush, Artemisia staff, Press Club members and one faculty member. Editor and managing editor to be selected from the English department.

7. After all bills are paid for each issue, if there is any profit or deficit it is to be divided between the editor and managing editor.

OVERTON CHAMPION
FIRST BOX TOURNEY

As a result of the finals in the boxing tournament which was run off in the gymnasium Wednesday, Ted Overton is Nevada's champion heavyweight boxer. D. Herron reigns supreme in the 158-pound class; Hank Caldwell is king of the 148-pounders; Cieri of the light-weights, and Cualhati of the 118-pound division.

The best fight of the evening was staged by Overton and Jack Pike. At the end of the fifth round the judges found that Overton had the better of three rounds, that Pike had one, and that one was even. Pike showed his superiority at long range boxing but Overton, because of his more rugged build, was able to force the fighting and this is what won him favor in the eyes of the judges.

Merle Smith failed to show up for his little argument with Herron of the 158-pound class so Herron was awarded the decision by default.

In the 148-pound division, Hank Caldwell, who won his way into the finals by the knockout route, ran up against a tough customer in the person of Howard Leak. He was awarded the decision at the end of the five fast rounds with three to his credit and two in which Leak had the better of the milling.

In the 135-pound division Bill Gutteron defaulted to Cieri and Archie McEwing forfeited his date with Snoddy, so these two were left to settle the matter between themselves. Cieri showed himself superior to Snoddy in every stage of the game, and a hard right to the stomach ended Snoddy's pugilistic aspirations in the early part of the first round.

The little 118-pound Filipino battler, Lualhati, was awarded the crown of his class without striking a blow. L. Walker was slated to step a few rounds with Lualhati, but failed to respond to the gong.

The one disappointment of the tournament was the fact that Laurence Baker of the 135-pound class was unable to compete. This boy took a decision over George Cunningham in a fast battle in the preliminaries, but the next day he was laid up with influenza and had not recovered his strength in time to contest for the championship. Baker is beyond doubt the most scientific of the men entered in the tournament, and a match between him and Cieri would have been worth going a long way to see.

This is the first boxing tournament that has been held at the University of Nevada and was staged for the purpose of stimulating interest in the sport. Lack of competition and meets with other schools caused neglectful spirit. Next year it is the intention of the department to stage several tournaments an perhaps arrange for matches with other colleges. With something to work for, there is no doubt but that Nevada will develop a formidable aggregation of mit artists.

A fair-size crowd was on hand to cheer the boys in their efforts but, because of that fact that the bouts started so late, the attendance was not as large as it should have been.

SIGMA NU'S DEFEAT
A. T. O.'S ON DIAMOND

With the defeat of the A. T. O.'s by the Sigma Nus last Saturday the boys of the "Whirling Demijohns" won the right to meet the Sigma Phi Sigma baseball team in the next round of the series to be played Saturday.

The game was anyone's till the final inning but due to superior work the Sigma Nus put on the finishing touches and sent their rivals to the showers on the short end of an 11-to-8 score. In the seventh inning, with the bases "drunk," the A. T. O.'s lost their chance to "cop." Bill Gutteron, pinch hitter, struck out.

The game was anyone's till the final inning but due to superior work the Sigma Nus put on the finishing touches and sent their rivals to the showers on the short end of an 11-to-8 score. In the seventh inning, with the bases "drunk," the A. T. O.'s lost their chance to "cop." Bill Gutteron, pinch hitter, struck out.

Poor infield work on the part of both teams was responsible for the large score for the pitchers, although twirling a good brand of ball, were given very poor support.

The batteries were Perry and Gutteron for the A. T. O.'s and Bill Clinch and Randall for the Sigma Nus.

Kappa Lambda won over the Delta Sigs in a diamond battle Sunday afternoon. This was the first encounter either team has had. Score was 13 to 6.

NOTICE

Artemisias may be obtained by calling at the Artemisia office, in the basement of the Physics Building, from 1 to 5 p. m. this week.

CAMPUS LANDSCAPE CHANGED BY LAWNS

The new work that is being done around the Educational and Agricultural buildings in the way of landscape gardening and walks is in accord with definite plans of the President's office.

The work is rapidly progressing and it is expected that by the time students return to the Hill next fall, the lawns will have attained a sufficient growth to wipe out the old eye-sore, the desolate barren ground that surrounds the two new buildings on the campus.

Plans for leveling off the ground in front of Lincoln Hall and filling-in the old Orr ditch around the larke are under way. The object is to have the ground rising in a gentle slope from the lake that will some time in the future be planted in lawn and shrubbery.

The old bridge across the ditch on the Lake-street entrance is in such poor condition that it will be replaced this summer by a new one of concrete. No other work is to be done on the south side of the campus as the city officials have not decided upon the paving of East Ninth street.

Limited funds for the beautification of the campus prevent the President carrying out all but the most necessary work.

BE COMPLETED SOON

Within the next few days work will begin on the senior memorial bulletin board, the contract for which has been let.

The board, which is badly needed on the campus, will be placed on the west side of the roadway, north of the bridge, and between the two large trees. The board, which will be covered with glass, will be readable on both sides. It will be placed between two heavy concrete pillars, and a metal shingled peaked roof will protect it from the weather. The whole thing will rest on a large concrete foundation, and a sidewalk will connect this base with the present main sidewalk.

The rough drawings were submitted to F. J. DeLongchamps, former Nevada student and now State architect, who drew up the present plans without charge. The contract has been placed in the hands of C. R. Hill, former professor in the University.

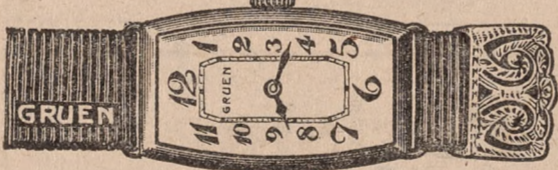

It is expected that the construction will be completed by the first week in May, and the formal dedication and presentation ceremonies have been set for May 8 by the senior class.

This bulletin board will relieve the tree of the present heavy load of bills and placards, and will be so placed that all students will pass it several times each day.

WOBBLY DELTA SPAN WILL BE RENOVATED BY HUSKY ENGINEERS

With the approaching end of the semester comes a sense of profound duty toward the school by the engineers. Inspired by the desire to leave their footprints in the mud of the Orr ditch, comes their ambition to construct a Tri Delt bridge, that their statue may forever repose in the world's most honored Hall of Fame.

Accordingly, the slip-stick artists have burned the midnight gasoline far into the breakfast hour in their craving for ideas which will make the bridge stand out as the eighth wonder of the world, and be ranked with the Hanging Gardens and the invention of bobbed hair. That no feature which could possibly add to the future comfort of the prominent women should be overlooked, a competition has been carried on among the east side, with lavish awards for the most unique design.

Could Jules Verne have seen the designs submitted by these engineers he would have groveled at their feet like a child, and begged to be taught the complexities of an imagination. The plan selected includes a Byzantine castle, with gun turrets and spittoons at every corner, placed on a turntable bridge. A mule has been engaged by the sorority to operate the turntable part.

Combination safe locks will be placed on the two doors, and the iron-barred windows will be protected from the insolent glare of the barbarians by heavy double curtains. Ah, could Cleopatra have seen the marvels of interior decorating the room will contain she would never have jilted Anthony. The rich upholstery (grey, so as not to show the dirt), the luxurious divans, the elaborate lacquered teak tea tables (with wheels attached and an electric horn as well as cigar lighter), a gilt-lined, leather-padded, tin-corned guest book, held in place with a chain that would make the Bambina of Rome look sick with envy, the lace curtains with no holes in them, the Chinese rugs from Athole, Mass., the Indian-style prayer wheels and—oh, well, all these modern inconveniences, will be present.

The bridge, by the way, will span the ditch, the running water—when it runs—will be used to seep through tiny holes in the ceiling of the bridge to cool off ardent serenaders. The water will also be conducted through a series of pipes and will, while running, give off music like a summer night in the forests of the Yukon.

Rushing ceremonies, tea fights, slumber parties, operas comique and gossip will take part in the bridge when completed. It is said that Prof. Layman will make the inaugural address and Carl Horn will turn the first shovelful of earth while Scott Hill will lay the corner stone.

VAUDEVILLE TO RAISE FOOTBALL FUNDS PLAN

The custom of having an annual football vaudeville show is again to be revived. There has not been a show of this kind for several years, but plans have been made to hold a show this year, April 27, at the Rialto Theater.

The purpose of this show is to raise money for the athletic fund, part of which will go to pay the line coach's salary. The down town merchants for the past several years have been contributing to this fund but the student body, under the leadership of Coffin and Keys has decided that the duty of raising money has devolved on them and a vaudeville show is considered the best means.

The acts of this show will be put on by both men and women and the stunts will be both first class and original. More or less elaborate preparations are being made by "Dad" Taylor, who is in charge of the show, and everything promises that the affair will be unique and a grand success.

Further announcements as to the acts, cast and the price of admission will be made later.
