Fighting Varsity Leaves For Trojan Land

"BEAT 'EM ALL" IS WRONG IDEA, SAYS DR. YOUNG

Psychology Professor Gives Reasons Why New Spirit Is Undesirable

WOULD COMBINE TWO

Thinks Sportsmanship Will Suffer If Winning Is Over-Emphasized

"To manifest a fine spirit in a losing game is often a greater victory than winning one, because it is harder to do." This is the statement of Dr. J. R. Young concerning the recent burst of spirit on the campus.

"The desirable attitude emphasizes a determination to win, to play the game until the closing pistol is fired; but it recognizes also that defeat is sure to come in at least half of the games played, and prepares to meet it. This is the only way to get any satisfaction out of defeat. It emphasizes continually the principles of good sportsmanship, and it should become strong enough to control not only the team, but the actions of the audience as well.

Hard Requirements

"It requires that we cheer and encourage our team when they are losing as well as when they are winning, that we give the good plays of our opponents 'a hand'; and when one of their number gets groggily to his feet, after having been put out, that we applaud him as a game fighter who has come back. If this attitude is developed, the game's the thing and, whether we win or lose, we win.

"We have had for several years a 'losing spirit,' a weak and relaxed attitude on the part of the student body. It is a kind of inferiority complex.

"Recent attempts have been made to 'snap out of it' by substituting in the minds of the students the notion that we are bound to win, that we can beat all-comers.

Attitudes Undesirable

"Both of these attitudes are undesirable. The first is injurious because it leads one to accept failure as a foregone conclusion, to think of himself as inferior because he goes to a smaller school which finds it difficult to put out a winning team.

"The second attitude is undesirable because it is untrue to fact. We have recently had an excellent demonstration of this. The undue insistence that a team shall win puts them under tremendous strain and shoots them to pieces for a longer time both before and after the game. The expression of this creates an impression on the part of the neutral public that we are cocky and egotistical, and they take a certain pleasure in seeing us beaten.

"Undue insistence upon winning leads to a progressive degeneration of sportsmanship."

PENCIL PUSHERS MEET TO PLAN SOCIAL NIGHT

The second Press Club meeting of the year was held Tuesday afternoon. Harlow North gave a report on correspondence with several national journalism fraternities with regards to the Press Club being granted a national charter. Nothing definite was decided upon as no answers had been received to some of the queries.

Justine Badt reported on plans for the first social affair, which will be given Thursday, November 1. Initiation in the way of stunts will also be held at that time.

P. A. Harwood, president of the club, informed the members that staff positions on the Sagebrush are still open and try-outs may be made at any time.

Three Frats Strive To Get Billy Stiff

Up to the time of going to press keen competition to pledge "Billy Stiff" continues unabated.

"Buck Jones, the Big Moo of the Mu Cows, stated that they were hopeful of securing something definite by midnight.

The Delta Nu Hand, Kake Etas and Darna Phi Nu were equally optimistic, especially the last mentioned, as they say, the assistant secretary to the secretary of the college, being one of their members, will hold considerable weight owing to the prominence of his position at the school.

CO-EDS TO PERFORM IN LEGION'S RODEO

Old West to Come Back for Three Days, Starting on October 12

Three big days—October 12, 13 and 14!

The dates for the air and land rodeo which will be held in Reno under the auspices of Darrell Dunkle post of the American Legion.

Several of Nevada's co-eds have become interested in the rodeo's success and are doing much to "put it across" in traditional western style.

Reed to Ride

Among the headline events will be bucking, bull riding, cowgirl relay races, roping and, in addition, a greater number of specialties than was ever before offered at a Nevada round-up.

Zelda Reed, a sophomore, who at one time displayed horses in the east, has already signified her desire to co-operate with the local legion post. She plans to take part in all the scheduled women's events.

Of course, there will be cowboys, wild horses and vicious bulls. Many a coed's heart will start fluttering madly when she sees the dangerous feats of the Western plainsmen. Beware, you he-flappers! Beware of the men who, in their shaggy chaparrajos, ten-gallon Stetsons and red neckerchiefs, walk with a swagger that would put a mincing tea-hound to shame!

Flying Circus

In addition to this, the Federated Flyers, renowned throughout the east, will stage an air circus. They will

VALUABLE PRINTS ARE EXHIBITED BY STUDENT

There has been a valuable collection of Japanese prints on exhibition in Dr. J. E. Church's classes in Greek and Roman Art this week. The collection, which belongs to Walker Matheson, was sent from Japan this spring, and so, fortunately, escaped destruction by the earthquake.

These rare and beautiful prints are bound together in a folding Japanese book. The pages are of three thicknesses of paper and there are paintings on both sides. The prints are supposed to be over 200 years old.

The most valuable piece of work is a waterfall scene, claimed to be over 600 years old.

Indian Student Tells His Version of the Ghandi Movement to Club

DR. CLARK IS GUEST

Many Races Represented by Faculty and Students of the University

"A new era in the history of Indian nationalism since 1919, has brought about the awakening of India and adds another lift to the many biographies of the great prophets," said Daglit Singh Sadharia, freshman student at the University of Nevada from the Punjab, India, at the first meeting of the newly organized Cosmopolitan Club last night.

Sadharia, who is by far the most interesting figure on the Nevada campus today, was the main speaker of the evening, choosing as his subject a concise and interesting talk on the Ghandi movement. Said Mr. Sadharia:

"Much has been written in the American press and many men have expressed their opinion of the unique personality of Mr. Ghandi. Some say he is an anarchist, others say that he is the follower of Tolstoi; Colonel Wedgewood and Mr. Ben Spoor say that he is a Lord Christ. But Ghandi only says that he is the servant of his country.

"He is a plain and fearless Indian patriot who believes in God and who is always ready to sacrifice his life for the service of his country. The social

YOUNG VANDERBILT MAY ADDRESS CUBS

"Millionaire Reporter" Is Invited to Speak to Hill Journalists

Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., the "millionaire reporter," may speak before Prof. A. L. Higginbotham's classes in journalism and the University of Nevada Press Club before the end of the year. Young Vanderbilt, still in his twenties, is one of the most romantic figures in modern journalism. Refusing to live the traditional life of ease of the usual heir to great fortune, he became a "cub" reporter and began to learn the newspaper profession from the ground up. Not because of his wealth, but because of his natural ability and hard work he has developed into a first-class newspaper man.

Makes Good

About a year ago he went into business for himself, establishing the "C-V Service," a newspaper syndicate which already has made a reputation for itself.

His latest venture is the recent establishment in Los Angeles of the "Illustrated Daily News," a new pictorial daily newspaper. Although on the news stands but a few months, Vanderbilt's paper, of which he is both editor and publisher, now has a circulation of more than 150,000. Clarence H. Mackay, one of the benefactors of the University of Nevada, is a trustee of the "Illustrated Daily News."

Plans Trip Here

Recently Vanderbilt wrote Governor Scroggum that he planned visiting Carson City some time in the near future to confer with the governor on the Colorado river project. Prof. Higginbotham heard of the proposed trip and wrote Vanderbilt, inviting him to talk to the would-be journalists at Nevada.

"Should I pass through Reno on my way, I will let you know in advance and accept your kind invitation," the "millionaire reporter" wrote in reply. Vanderbilt does not know definitely when his trip to Carson City will be made.

Nevada's Spirit Causes Sensation at Stanford

Cardinal Rooters Amazed at Noise Produced by Small Crowd on Eastern Side of Stadium Bowl—Team Wins Respect in Its Defeat

By DUKE

Down from the Sierras they came—the Wolf Pack. Across the timbered mountains, across the dull Sacramento valley—across San Francisco bay—down the peninsula—pointed at Stanford Farm.

In their wake came hundreds of their kind. The dull, cloud-swept day gave way to sunshine—a breeze ruffled the tall trees that nodded close to the Stanford bowl.

Into the bowl the Nevada rooters came. It seemed as if they never would stop. Silver and blue caps against the drab bleachers. Silver and blue pennants waving across the field from the Cardinal Red.

Yes, Davis is playing the young Indians. Good luck, Aggies!

The game is over. Davis is jubilant. From a tent at the open end of the bowl the Wolf Pack trots out on the green turf.

A Davis man runs forward to greet them. He shakes hands. Good luck to the Wolves from our late opponents. Is the crowd proud of the Silver and Blue men? Are they?

The mighty shout that smites the air is proof of that. For ten minutes the air is rolling with the cheers for Nevada.

Now down the slope comes a wave of crimson. Stanford—not the Stanford of other years, but a rejuvenated Stanford.

Nevada is losing, but the volume of cheers for the eleven does not diminish. It grows and grows.

"How can they do it?" says one of the Wolf Pack between halves? How can they?

U. S. C. GAME TO BE SECOND AWAY FROM HOME TURF

Trojans Nosed Out Varsity Last Year With Score in Final Minutes

After stepping off the Stanford greensward with a 27-0 score staring them in the face, the Nevada Wolves started planning on what they intend to do to the U. S. C. Trojans on Saturday.

Disappointment on the faces of the Varsity disappeared on Monday and they took on a more determined look. They remember that last year, with a considerably weaker team, they held the Trojans to a scant 6-0 score and hopes run high for a victory on Saturday.

Cards Were Lucky

The walloping Stanford handed the Wolves shows not the comparative strength of the two teams but how much luckier the Cards were. This is not intended as an alibi. Should the two teams meet again, however, Stanford would not be able to beat the Wolves so badly.

Sporting writers all over the bay region who saw the game admit that two of the touchdowns came as the result of flukes. Stanford is two touchdowns better than Nevada and showed it last Saturday. However, Nevada held them in check and things look promising when one realizes that Stanford is looked at as the team to beat California this year.

Trojans Not Strong

At the same time Nevada and Stanford were tangling, the Trojans were having quite a little difficulty putting the Pomona Sagehens away. Pomona

LATER NIGHTS ARE GRANTED TO WOMEN

One o'clock nights have been granted to the women living in Manzanita Hall. At the last meeting of the Manzanita Hall Association, new rules governing late nights were announced to the Manzanita co-eds.

These rules greatly extend those previously in effect. The rule for a 12 o'clock night after campus dances has been replaced by a 1 o'clock night. This means that the Manzanita women now have an hour of grace after the last strains of "Home Sweet Home" have become another memory.

After the four big formals of the year, those living in Manzanita will be granted 1:30 nights. Starting October 1, every Saturday is to be a 12 o'clock night. In addition to this the Sunday night hour has been extended to 10:30.

Freshmen are now allowed to take two late nights a month. Sophomores may take one late night a week, juniors two late nights a week, while every night is a late night for the senior women. Ten o'clock constitutes the ordinary late week night.

The rules also apply to women living in the different sorority houses.

POTENT CIDER WILL FLOW AT AGS DANCE

This year the University Farm planted eight acres of red corn for silage. After filling the silo, two wagon-loads of corn were set aside for the Aggie Day Dance. There will be plenty of red ears to go 'round this year.

Red apples that make good red cider are just about ripe and a generous harvest is predicted. The Aggies will soon be hard at work turning out cider for their big celebration.

CROSS COUNTRY MEN TO RACE IN WINTER

A cross-country track team has been organized under the direction of H. L. Shirley, instructor in mathematics, and J. B. Koehler.

Six men are signed up for this work which takes the place of physical education.

Prof. Shirley, who held records in the 220 and half-mile at Indiana State University, requests that all distance men on the Hill turn out for cross-country work. A plan is on foot whereby it can be arranged so that the team may run during the winter as in the eastern colleges. A race is scheduled for Home-Coming Day and another, the date of which is yet to be fixed, later in the season.

SADHARIA TALKS

gospel of "non-violence—non-co-operation" which he preached amongst his countrymen brought about a complete change in Indian politics.

Ghandi's Career

"Gandhi participated in several mild reforms in India prior to the time when he became the national hero of all India, and the most-talked-of and most written-about man of the time. The son of a prime minister of one of the native states, he was sent to England at the age of 17 to study law. He returned to India and practiced there successfully.

"He came into prominence when the Colonial Council passed an anti-Asiatic exclusion act which determined Ghandi to give up his career and devote his time to his people and his homeland. Ghandi denounced the government for this act, and was immediately arrested together with many of his followers. He was released after he had urged his countrymen not to use force or violence against the government.

The Year 1919

"In the year 1919, when the Rowlatt act was passed by the British government, which was intended to suppress the political movement in India, and the right of free speech and freedom of the press, Ghandi, in spite of the native opposition, again appeared in the foreground of the political activities.

"The news of the passage of the Rowlatt act caused the closing of markets throughout the length and breadth of the land, and the people were urged not to obey the new ruling and to resist the order of the government. Mr. Ghandi organized his passive resistance movement, which was approved by the whole country, and which he believed would compel the government to repeal the act. However, appeals to the government turned out to be quite useless, and the people realized that their case would not be heard.

Non-Co-operation Resolution

"At this juncture, the Indian National Congress passed the Non-Co-operation resolution along the lines suggested by Mahatama Ghandi, which consisted of the rejection of all titles and honorary offices; abstention from drink; withdrawal of all boys from government-recognized and subsidized schools; boycott of English forms of justice, their courts and their judges; boycott of English clothing and the revival of the Indian domestic system of industry; withdrawal of Indians from service in the British army and police forces; non-payment of taxes.

"The non-co-operative resolution worked out well in most cases, especially so in the case of the boycotting of the councils, in which more than 80 per cent did not vote, and no Indian leader took part in the election as candidates for office. Under the leadership of Ghandi, the Indian people are creating an Indian state within the British state.

India's New Weapon

"To my mind, Ghandi's big success lies in the fact that he has created an universal love of freedom and a spirit of non-violence among his people. Non-violence is a new weapon, the Indian people have found. For example, when the government tried to run the tram cars in Bombay and Delhi and break the strike, the workmen conducted the strike in an unique manner.

"Instead of attacking any British officers or destroying property they simply laid themselves prostrate upon the tracks. It is pretty difficult to win a victory over a man who folds his arms and is unafraid to die. Ghandi preaches the sermon on the mount to his people and teaches the use of soul force against the physical force. He says that machine guns and other modern military weapons are as nothing compared to soul force, and cannot destroy God's creations. Ghandi was arrested in March, 1922, and pleaded guilty on all charges."

New Club a Success

Despite many meetings of campus organizations scheduled for last night, a good crowd was present at the first meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club, which organization seems well started on a successful beginning. Under the unceasing efforts of Edward Min, one of the founders of the club, an unusual program was presented.

Besides the feature of the talk on Ghandi, the Filipino students rendered several selections of their native music, which has not been heard before on the Nevada campus.

Dr. Walter E. Clark, president of the University, attended the first meeting and gave a brief address. "A club on the order of the Cosmopolitan Club has long been needed on the Hill," he said, "and it is with much satisfaction that I am able to see the organization well launched. Nevada has an excellent foreign representation, and it is to be expected that they should combine on the campus in order to promote friendliness, not alone between themselves, but to present their country's side to us Americans."

Purpose Told

Walker Matheson, who represents the Japanese side to the club, spoke briefly on the purpose and message that the club had to offer to both foreign and resident students.

"It is our purpose," he said, in part, "to present an unbiased side of all nations and all questions to each other, and to the student of foreign affairs who has not been fortunate enough to have yet gone abroad. A club such as the Cosmopolitan Club should have no secrets, and we have none. Our plans call for a meeting once monthly, at which an interesting program will be presented to the students of the University. Open meetings will, for the most part, be our only programs. The average student here at Nevada has not a broad enough outlook on international affairs, and it is the purpose of the Cosmopolitan Club to be of assistance to him in this line. Tolerance and self-conscious racial pride must be done away with, and the Cosmopolitan Club will, I hope, go a long way toward this end."

Leach Presides

Prof. R. H. Leach, of the History department, presided at the first meeting pending the election of a permanent president.

Foreign students and students who have lived abroad, and who represent the various countries, are listed on the Cosmopolitan Club's membership roll as follows: Juan R. Aralar, Gregorio Losado and Zosimo Fabela, Philippine Islands; Gregory Chekalin, Harbin (China); Gee K. Ding, Raymond Jee and William P. Fong, China; Boris Geine, Michael J. Palashoff, Boris von Arnold, European Russia and Siberian provinces; John Jerahian, Armenia; Thomas J. Kachos, Greece; Edward H. S. Min, Korea; Robert E. Plzel, the Netherlands and Dutch East Indies; Lyndel Adams, Switzerland; Walker G. Matheson, Japan, and Dalgit Singh Sadharia, India.

Faculty members who have consented to represent various lands to the Cosmopolitan Club circle are: Prof. R. H. Leach, Hawaii and China; Dr. B. F. Schappelle, Brazil; Prof. Jose E. Arvelo, Chile, and Prof. F. C. Murgotten, Arabia.

U. of N. U. S. C. GAME

In the game with Pomona the Trojans had a hard time making any yardage through the line and had to resort to forward passing as a last resort.

Optimistic at U. S. C.

Not much of a line can be obtained from the game of last Saturday as the Trojan first-string men were jerked early in the game and the reserves did most of the playing. There is one thing sure, however, and that is that in Gordon Campbell the Trojans are blessed with one of the slipperiest halfbacks on the Coast. He was the big sensation last Saturday and, in all probability, will give the Wolves a tough time of it.

The papers around Los Angeles are boosting the U. S. C. team to the skies and from all the writeups "Gloomy Gus" Henderson has the Conference gonfalon flying from the flagstaff in the new Coliseum in Los Angeles already. Without doubt U. S. C. has the strongest team in years but it is a cinch that Nevada will be the big trial horse this year.

Nevada Stronger Now

The Stanford game played havoc with the men of the Nevada team and several of them are out with bad legs. Duborg, Harrison, Dungan, Balaam and Hobbs are all a trifle banged up but will be back in form again Saturday. Several more of the squad got a severe working over but will be in the pink soon.

Nevada's backfield will be considerably strengthened by the return of Al Lowry at fullback. "The Human Battering Ram" has been out of the game with a bad knee but it has entirely healed now and the young fellow is rarin' to go again. With Gutteron, Seranton, Clark and Lowry in the rear of the line the backfield looks quite formidable.

The Wolf Pack is disappointed but not discouraged and when they line up against the Trojans in Los Angeles they will be out to bring home the bacon and the game will be well worth watching, to say the least. Nevada has a team which knows football and the Trojans will have their hands very full trying to keep the Nevadans from beating them.

LEGION RODEO

(Continued from Page One) bring with them a fleet of airplanes; Babecock, peer of aerial acrobats, will perform miraculous stunts. Professional motorcycleists and motor polo players will also accompany the air pilots.

Not to mention the carnival nights, and the '49 camp, which will be an exact replica of those that existed when the West was young. The indefatigable crunching of the ferris wheel will mingle with the sing-song of the merry-go-round and the cries of the concessioners.

Co-Eds Working Hard

Mardelle Hoskins is working with the advertising committee and is doing much to put the Reno rodeo before the reading public of the state. She is a student at the University, and is a member of the Class of '26.

Louise Taylor, who is a prominent member of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion, and who is a senior on the Hill, states with reference to the annual round-up:

"Here is the one chance for the University of Nevada students to 'fall in' with the Legionnaires in welcoming the visitors. Force them to forget the nationally-famous name that Reno has acquired, and make them know and understand it as we would like to have our home city known and understood."

U. of N. NEVADA'S SPIRIT

(Continued from Page One) There is only one answer—Nevada's own are on the field. THEY BELONG TO NEVADA. The game is over. Instead of silence, the mighty cheer rends the air again. The team has fought—fought against superior numbers and skill—and in being defeated has won. And the bleachers have won. They stand and cheer the losing team again and outyell the Cardinal hosts.

Bareheaded they stand under the long shadows of late afternoon and the Nevada hymn wells up from 500 throats and echoes across the field where Stanford stands silent in victory.

Silent in victory for the Nevada supporters have outyelled their foes and stood until the last of the weary, battered Pack has gone from the field.

It is a long way back to the Sagebrush land. Are you sorry you made the journey? Not I; not we! You know—IT IS NEVADA'S YEAR!

U. of N. "JUICE" DOES CHORES AT UNIVERSITY FARM

During the last year a number of real farm chores have been eliminated on the University Farm.

Water for domestic purposes is lifted to a tank by an automatic electric motor-driven pump; the sheep, cattle and horses have their coats of wool and hair clipped by an electric clipping machine; cows are milked and the milk separated by electrically-driven machines and the old task of grinding sickles on a hand "turned" grindstone is eliminated.

All barns and buildings are lighted by electricity. Even the motherless baby lambs have their milk heated over a small electric stove, while cold and chilly lambs are brought back to life after being dried out near an electric heater. The old feed grinder will soon be hooked up to the electric motor and the old portable gas engine will only be used for baling hay and driving the silage cutter.

Perhaps some of the Engineering students might get an enjoyable hour or so by viewing how an up-to-date Aggie student lets the Truckee river do the work.

DOG BEATS WAY TO COAST IN PULLMAN

Unique in the annals of American railroading history is the almost unbelievable story of Yaotan, the $500 prize German shepherd, the Kappa Lambda mascot and Robert Pyzel's most treasured possession.

Yaotan, a 68-pound pedigreed pup, is the only dog known to have beaten his way in a Pullman car for a distance of 250 miles, riding in style in an upper berth from Reno to Berkeley.

From all reports of the trip, the dog was on his perfect behavior for nearly 150 miles; the other 100 miles he was rather frisky and excited over his adventure. For instance, he had no use whatever for the train conductor, and insisted upon barking in a piercing falsetto, followed by a deep rumbling growl.

Pyzel, on whose feet the dog slept during the night, used a clever device to rout the inquisitive when they peeked beyond the green curtains. Then it was his cue to snore loudly and mutter in an alleged troubled sleep, all the while the dog and another traveling companion, also beating his way, lay hidden under many enfolding blankets.

As for the porter, he didn't dare to come near upper six. He knew what was in it.

UNDERCLASS RALLY WILL TAKE PLACE OF HAYRIDE

Plans for the Soph-Frosh Rally are being drawn up by a joint committee of the two classes. The rally is Nevada's newest tradition and is in the nature of a welcoming assembly for the new students. It is designed to take the place of the Hayride.

The committee, headed by Harold Cafferata, has drawn up the following tentative arrangement:

The frosh will build a large bonfire at one end of the football field. Exactly at 7:15 in the evening, this fire will be lighted. One of the professors, who will be chosen to act as sponsor for and advisor of the freshman class, will give an address of welcome. His talk will be followed by others from prominent members of the student body at large, and of the freshman class. Singing and music will play a large part in the evening's proceedings.

This year the affair will be held later than it should, and will take place during Home-Coming week. In order to make this affair a success it is necessary that everybody, especially the underclassmen, co-operate to the fullest extent with the committee.

VAUDEVILLE SHOW—OCTOBER 27

DATE IS ADVANCED FOR TENNIS FINALS

On account of the disagreeable weather, the date for playing off the second round of the women's interclass tennis tourney has been advanced. As it now stands, all second-round matches must be played off by Friday of this week.

So far only one has been played. Silvia Genasci will represent the sophomore class in the singles semi-finals.

The freshman eliminations are close. All of the new women entered are fast and consistent players, and the matches so far have been closely contested. As things look now, either Margaret Hill or Elsie Mitchell will uphold the honor of '27.

In the doubles, Justine Badt and Frances Heward will play for the seniors, and the freshman honors will be fought out between Vincent Alexander and Geraldine Wagner against Billy Puett and May Mills. Anna Maud Stern and Nevada Johnson have qualified to play for the juniors, while Gilberta Turner and Silvia Genasci are scheduled to play for '26.

A Saturday forenoon will be set for the semi-finals after the last date for second-round matches has expired.

SCANDAL SHEET IS AGAIN CIRCULATED

Lincoln Hall was surprised last week by the reappearance of the "Blabber." Little is known about The Blabber. The editorial force is a mystery, although "Toughy" McKenzie is known to be the receiver for all contributions for the sheet.

The Blabber is a single sheet, two-column spread. It originated in 1921 and shortly after fell through. The revived Blabber is just as the title implies, an exponent of the hall's gossip and scandal.

Engineering Notes

The Electrical laboratory is now equipped with a 50-mile model transmission line. With this model it is possible to make any tests that could ordinarily be made on an outside transmission line 5 miles long. Several of the students are working with this set now, and it is hoped that the department will be able to increase the set to a hundred-mile capacity next semester.

Not even the "Desert Wolf" can get along without the Engineers. A table is being constructed in the wood shop for use in the den under the eaves of Stewart Hall. A new set of pigeon holes for the Wolf office will be made as soon as the table is finished.

A power emery-wheel is being installed in the wood shop for tool grinding. This machine will fill a long-felt want in the wood-working department, as it will allow all of the tool grinding to be done on the second floor of the mechanical building. It will no longer be necessary for the wood-shop tools to be ground downstairs in the machine shop.

The machine-shop classes have been doing a great deal of repair work in the various shops this semester. The students have overhauled a shaper and a lathe, a line shaft and several countershafts, and the blower in the forge shop. In the course of this work it has been necessary for them to repair several gear wheels, make a number of pulleys, and babbit several bearings.

GLORIOUS DEFEAT

We'll never forget one incident of the Stanford-Nevada football game last Saturday. We don't want to forget it.

Four minutes remained to play. Stanford had the ball. The score stood as it did at the end—Stanford, 27; Nevada, 0.

Stanford had the ball in its own territory, so kicked out of danger. It was Nevada's first down near the center of the field.

Time was called as a Nevada man stumbled to the sidelines—blind from exhaustion—every battered muscle demanding rest. A substitute took his place.

One of those moments of complete silence had fallen over both the Stanford and Nevada rooting sections.

A moment of complete silence—so that the rooters heard what he said, as well as the team.

We don't know who said it. We don't particularly care—except that he was a member of The Team. A member of the indomitable Team.

This is what some man in a Silver and Blue jersey said down there on the Stanford gridiron Saturday afternoon—this is what he said to the team—what the rooters heard in that moment of silence: "Fight hard, gang, we've got four touchdowns to make yet."

We stood up and yelled when we heard that. We had to yell—to keep from crying.

Think of it. Four minutes to play and he said: "Fight hard, gang, we've got four touchdowns to make yet."

That's the one thing about that game we don't want to forget. That's one thing no one should forget.

That sentence should be cut in bronze—never to be forgotten by Nevada teams and Nevada students in the years to come.

The scoreboard showed that Stanford won that game—the scoreboard showed that Nevada was beaten. The scoreboard was numerically right.

Because of that defeat Saturday, our team is a greater team. Because of that defeat, our school is a greater school.

We desperately wanted to see our team win that game, but there are greater things than victory. Greater things—"Fight hard, gang, we've got four touchdowns to make yet."

TO STANFORD

You have a good football team, Stanford; a well-balanced, hard-hitting, clean-playing football team.

We liked the attitude your team showed on the field Saturday. We liked the spirit shown us by your rooting section.

We want to thank you for that last yell you gave our team as it left the field. We could tell that that yell was sincere—not merely given for the sake of courtesy.

We hope to meet you again next year. When we do—look out! Until then—good luck to you and your team. You beat us, but that doesn't matter.

It takes a hard fight to really get acquainted, doesn't it, Stanford?

SOPH TAG WEEK IS GOING FULL BLAST

Due to the fact that most of the members of the sophomore class were attending the Stanford game and as a result were saving their money to make the trip, the sophomore tag week has been extended to include all of this week and part of next week.

It is hoped that every member of the class will pay their dues this week as it is necessary to make a budget for the Sophomore Hop.

REV. PENDLETON TO HAVE SPECIAL CLASS

Rev. Norman Pendleton of the Federated Church has established a class for college women which is to study Harry Emerson Fosdick's "The Meaning of Service."

The class, under the leadership of Mrs. O. L. Linn, will meet at the parsonage, 16 West Fifth street, every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Pendleton states that all University women are invited to attend.

(Reprinted from the Sagebrush for October 14, 1913)

A warm clear day, Mackay bleachers filled with Nevada rooters, two teams fighting for a victory; a gun goes off, the battle is over. St. Marys, 8; Nevada, 0, but we are not gloomy, for it was the best game seen on Mackay field this year. A game of spectacular runs, clever passes, and hard fighting.

Lack of funds is the cause for the postponement of next Saturday's game with the Olympic Club of San Francisco. The exact date of the game will be announced in a later issue.

The women of Manzanita Hall have instituted a new form of self government in their organization. Although this will not result in any more privileges, it is hoped that it will tend to promote a stronger feeling of responsibility among the women of the institution.

Dean Bradley was a visitor on the Hill last Saturday. Among other things he visited his old acquaintances over at the Mining building.

Word is around the campus that Andy Croft and Miss Mary E. Johnson, both of this University, are married. The event is said to have taken place on September 23 at Eureka. The Sagebrush sends a college greeting.

The funeral of William E. Lemmon, father of Vera Lemmon, '16, was held in this city last Saturday. He was one of Nevada's leading citizens and his death will be felt throughout the state.

HOW ABOUT THIS?

Editor The Sagebrush:
It is 8:10. Under the dim yellow glow of station lights a crowd of dark figures moves restlessly about waiting for the train. It is late.

There is a spirit about the place, in the air, in the voices, in the faces, a spirit that is universal. Everybody has caught it, and everyone who comes up catches it.

The Wolf Pack is going down to Stanford—and they are going down to fight. Everybody knows that and everybody is back of them.

Occasionally some group bursts into cheers, then another takes it up. Old "N-E-V" is cracked out. The players are given six. Ah, the spirit!

Down the track glares the headlight of the engine. The bustle and noise and cheering of the crowd at the station drowns the roar of the approaching train. It steams past and comes to a stop. There is a hurrying down the track to the last car, the Nevada Special. The team mounts and each man is cheered as he enters.

Then stream in the rooters, excited and gay. Soon their bright faces are pressed against the lighted windows of the car. Cheery words of greeting and encouragement are passed between them and those without. There is the shrill shriek of the whistle and the clang of the bell. Two or three stragglers rush down the track and jump on board as the train begins to move.

A great cheer rings from the car and is echoed from the station. They are off!

It is a quiet Sunday morning at 10. It is no different from any other Sunday morning. The train pulls in even as it always does. The station is deserted, save for a group of four or five. From the Nevada car steps a quiet, expectant band of men—the Wolf Pack. They look about with a lost expression. The four or five at the station give them the glad hand. They wend their several ways homeward, wondering what has happened. —T. H.

Kappa Alpha Theta fraternity entertained at a cleverly conceived Chinese party Friday evening at the George B. Thatcher home on Newland Heights. The big library of the Thatcher home was uniquely patterned after a Chinese joss-house with the god Buddha as a central figure. The guests were entertained with mah-jong, chi chi and fan-tan.

Oriental music and Chinese dances gave the party a realistic touch of the Orient. The guests received unique favors during the evening. During the course of the evening a delightful Chinese supper was served. The use of chop sticks and Chinese spoons created much laughter and entertainment.

Those who were bidden to participate in the affair were Mesdames G. B. Thatcher, Walter E. Clark, S. C. Wood, R. O. Courtright, F. E. Humphrey, A. E. Hill, R. M. Price, L. D. Summerfield, William Woodburn, Mabel H. Crane and Lee Durham.

Lee Durham, a Sigma Nu on the campus last year, was in town Saturday. Durham is an electrical engineer at the Leadville mines, and though he went back to the mines Sunday, he expects to return to Reno in a short time.

Saturday evening Miss Katherine Lewers entertained at an unusual type of party—a corn bake, at her ranch near Franktown. In spite of the cold weather, some thirty guests gathered around the fire outdoors and enjoyed roasted corn, apples, cider and other typical harvest eatables.

Mrs. J. B. Kiernan entertained at the Kappa Lambda house Thursday evening at a birthday dinner in honor of Ervie Ferris. A color scheme of gold and white was carried out in the decorations and in the delicious menu, which was enjoyed by Messrs. Laurence Quill, Charles Russell, Allan Lund, Lawrence Fuller, George Sears, Ted Elges, Otto R. Elges, N. Hanson, E. Larson, J. Genasci, Ervie Ferris, Louis Titus, Sidney Holt, Frank Kappler, Ottoway Peck, A. Horn, Robert Pyzel, Henry Lange and Walker Matheson.

Saturday evening Sigma Alpha Omega fraternity and guests toured the world. The first country visited was Hawaii, with Miss Jessie Gibson as hostess. From Hawaii the party journeyed to China, the home of Mrs. A. F. Price, and then to Spain, where the tourists were met by Mrs. C. H. Kent. Egypt furnished inspiration for the final course at the home of Mrs. William Wagner.

Those invited were Mrs. F. H. Sibley, Mrs. Milliam Wagner, the Misses Ruth Bunker, Fern Lowry, Adabelle Wogan, Emerald Thelma Hopper, Isabel Wigg, Jessie Gibson, Eva Norris, Bernice Mathews, Elaine Baker, Anne York, Annie Walsh, Audrey Springmeyer, Jane Lang, Mrs. Kent, Ida Lewis, Ione Fothergill, Jean Sissen, Mona Vogman, Jean Manard, Fay Graves, Elizabeth Barndt, Lhami Ballard, Mary Ella McGinnis, Ada Moore, Hilda Boyd.

Members of Delta Alpha Epsilon, English honor society, met at the Delta Delta house on Tuesday evening, when a definite program of activities for the year was discussed. After the business meeting appetizing refreshments were served.

Those present were Verda Luce, Justine Badt, Marie Campbell, Bonita Miles, Bertha Standfast, Dorothy Ross, Eloise Harris, Vera Smith, Helen Robinson, Janet Marshall, Clare Williams, Alice Norcross, Clara Doyle, Marcella Coates, Eleanor Siebert, Lucille Blake, Erma Eason, Nevada Semenza, Marion Lothrop and Leona Bergman.

The active members of the Delta Delta Delta sorority were hostesses at a luncheon given at Wilcox's last Saturday noon. Dancing formed a part of the noon entertainment. Later the hostesses and their guests spent the afternoon at Fairyland.

"BUCK" SHAW STARS IN COAST FOOTBALL

A large number of Nevada rooters on their way home from Stanford stopped over in San Francisco to see the Olympic Club play its last game before it tackles the University of California. Incidentally, they were treated to the opportunity of seeing "Buck" Shaw, Nevada's line coach, put into practice what he has been showing the Wolf Pack and, in so doing, make himself the outstanding star of the game.

The Sacramento Athletic Club's team was seriously crippled when "Brick" Muller, "Duke" Morrison and "Fat" Latham, former University of California stars, failed to appear in the lineup.

"Luke" McCorkle, who played with the Wolf Pack last season, filled Muller's place at right end and Shaw was asked to fill a hole in the line. Another Nevada man who was in uniform at the game, but did not get into action, was "Hump" Church, Nevada's quarterback last year, who calls signals for the "Winged-O" team when Jerry Noonan goes out.

Spectators were enthusiastic over the showing the Sacramento eleven made in holding the Olympians to two touchdowns, which is some task, the way Bob Evan's team is going. Noonan made both of the touchdowns for the Olympic Club, while Charlie Erb did some excellent work for the Sacramento team.

Among the linemen, "Buck" Shaw, former Notre Dame star, was in every play and gave a great exhibition of defensive football. According to the San Francisco Examiner, Shaw's defensive work was the chief factor in Sacramento's showing.

FROSH TEAM SHOWS LOTS OF STRENGTH

So many men have shown great promise on the freshmen football squad that the varsity signals were recently adopted so that these men could be advanced to the varsity squad without any inconvenience.

Few students realize that the present frosh class contains more athletic material than has come to the Hill for many years. Under the clever coaching of Billy Hug the frosh squad has started out for a record that will soon be enviable for any freshman squad to hold.

Many football fans were heard to remark when the second squad kalsomined Carson, the Nevada state champs, 19 to 0: "If this is the second squad, the first must be world-beaters."

With three frosh already under his wing, namely Clark, Balaam and Dungan, Coach Corky has been giving several other men the double-O and has labeled them as men who are mighty good-looking material for the varsity squad. Styles and Fayle are two halfbacks who have shown enough class to warrant favorable comment from the coaching staff. Fayle was going good when he was laid on the shelf because of a bad knee but will soon be out again.

Johnny Agrusa, Dakin and "Red" Becksted are three ends who look mighty sweet and "Corky" has been giving them his personal attention for some time. Agrusa is probably the fastest man on Mackay field and has been the star of all frosh games.

When the suits are issued next year, the presence of such men as Castle, Lawson, Noonan, Segure, Anderson, Crew and Dehy will aid greatly in putting a Wolf Pack on the field that will be as worthy of the name as the varsity of 1923.

Morse Urges Students to Visit Mackay Field

Prof. Morse reports that at last Thursday's football scrimmage about two per cent of the faculty and less than one-half of one per cent of the student body were present.

In past years it was compulsory for lower classmen to show up on prescribed afternoons and the seniors were supposed to be there. By this method all men were brought together and the college songs and yells perfected.

Prof. Morse urges that the student body get behind the team and encourage them at their scrimmage. Two birds could be killed this way as it would give the men an excellent opportunity to practice their yells. Regular scrimmage practices are held Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights.

NEVADA UNABLE TO SCORE AGAINST STANFORD ELEVEN

Cardinals Too Strong for Fighting Wolves; Win by 27-to-0 Score

Playing a brand of football which surprised even the most ardent Card fans, to say nothing of the experts of the Coast, the Stanford Varsity took the Nevada Wolf Pack over for a 27-0 victory Saturday. Nevada, all primed for a win, ran into a team which without a doubt will give the best on the Coast a terrible walloping.

The Wolves, possessing the strongest team in years, were outclassed in every department of the game except fight. All through the game the Stanford eleven was on the offensive and the big plunging backs tore through the Nevada line for consistent gains. However, the old fighting spirit of the Wolf Pack never waned and when the game was over the Stanford rooting section acknowledge it with a big skyrocket for "the Wolf Pack spirit."

Season's Best Game

The game was admittedly the best seen on a California green so far this season and fans who saw it were interested every minute. After the first quarter it was evident that the Cards would win. Not that Nevada was not dangerous, but Stanford has a team which is well drilled in the fundamental points of the game and knows how to use them to the best advantage.

Stanford, in the game last Saturday, beat a team which would have treated the Cards of last year to a merry walloping and it can be justly said that although beaten the Nevada varsity of 1923 has a team which will win many more games than it loses. Nevada knows football and plays it every minute.

Luck Favors Cards

Two breaks of the game which may be termed more or less lucky gave Stanford her first two touchdowns. But in each instance Stanford—adopting the California system—made the breaks and took instant advantage of them.

Demonstrating real offensive strength, Stanford had carried the ball from her 30-yard line to Nevada's 22-yard line. Then a fumble—Dennis was the offender—lost eight yards. A forward pass, Nevers to Campbell, gave the Cards first down on the 5-yard line. Nevers tried to buck it across, but fumbled, and Nevada recovered on her 1-yard line. Harrison stepped back to punt out of danger. Johnston blocked the kick and fell on the ball for a touchdown, and Campbell added the extra point.

Stanford Scores Again

That was break No. 1. No. 2 transpired in the second period. There had been more of this irresistible march goalward by Stanford, culminating in a long pass to Campbell, who bounced and dodged through a broken field to the 10-yard line. Nevers and Murray brought the ball to the 1-yard line on bucks, then Murray fumbled for a loss of three yards. Nevers failed to make his yardage on the fourth down, and Nevada took the ball on the 1-yard line. Harrison again endeavored to punt out of danger, and again Johnston blocked the kick and fell on the ball for a touchdown. This time the try for point failed, and the half ended with a 13-0 score.

Cards' Attack Timely

Stanford scored her next two touchdowns on straight football—here through tackle, then around the end, a couple through guard, then a forward pass. The attack was diversified and timely, as well as productive of results. From the 15-yard line Murray made the third score on three plays, Campbell adding the extra point. This was in the third period. The next was accounted for in the fourth period in much the same fashion, Cleveland being allowed to race around end for the final five yards and Woodward adding the point.

The playing of Harrison, Clark and Gutteron was a revelation to the assemblage which gathered in the big bowl and each time the trio pulled off a play it drew cheers from the west side of the bleachers.

Harrison Is Star

Harrison was the outstanding star on the Nevada team and it took the Stanford quarter but a short time to find out that all plays directed around his side of the line were doomed to fail. In the first quarter the Nevada red-head broke up all but one of the plays coming his way and after that, no end runs were sent around left end.

His kicking was only fair, but this may be due to the fact that he had to bury his kicks. Two of them were blocked, resulting in touchdowns, but it was no fault of "Spud's"—it was the inability of the Nevada forwards to hold out their heavier opponents.

Nevada Too Light

Gutteron played a heavy game at quarter, but he didn't show up too well on account of the Stanford line. He called his holes where he thought he could make yardage, but the Stanford line was too well drilled to let the men through.

Clark pulled off a couple of his spectacular runs and just as the gun went off was on his way for a touchdown.

Starting from his own 20-yard line "Pot" went through the Stanford tackle and was off. Only one man, "Sooty" Campbell, the Stanford safety, was between him and the goal line. "Sooty" dove and just hit his heels hard enough to make him stumble. This slowed him up enough to let three men who were following him to pile on as the game was ended.

Nevada's Best Team

Capt. Seranton also pulled some spectacular stuff and it was through his ability to guess the plays that the Stanford eleven was unable to pile up an even greater score.

The game started with Nevada kicking off to Stanford and from that time on the Wolves were on the defensive. Stanford's big backs hurtled through and around the line with comparative ease, yet all the time every one of the men on the Silver and Blue eleven gave the best he had.

Nevada has a team of which to be proud and comment which went around the Stanford dressing room after the contest proves that the Nevada Wolf Pack of 1923 is without doubt the best team that ever stepped onto a football field in the striped jersey.

FROSH AND GOOFS MEET ON GRIDIRON SATURDAY

Saturday afternoon at 2:30 the freshmen and "Goof" football teams will tangle in what promises to be a real "knock 'em down and drag 'em out" affair. Both teams have mixed in practice scrimmages but a real game with a referee is a novelty that will be appreciated.

There has been a great deal of hard feeling between the two teams and if they don't mix in the dressing room before the game, the fans should see an affair that will remind them of a real old-fashioned gang-fight.

In the absence of a varsity game this game gives promise of being the athletic feature of the next week-end. Coaches Hug and Keating have issued the customary bulletins and from all the dope the two teams are even and the money is also.

Since the frosh take on the Twin Falls team the following week-end, they will be out for blood because the team to go will be selected from their showing against the "Goofs."

The Twin Falls team is the three-time champ of Idaho and are as good as ever this year. Their coach was formerly with San Diego High and Pomona college and has a "rep" for putting out champ teams but Coach Hug has the right dope when he said that the frosh also have a "rep" and are out to add another scalp within the next two weeks.

"WHITIE" LAWSON GIVEN FROSH TEAM CAPTAINCY

At a recent meeting of the freshmen football squad, "Whitie" Lawson was elected captain after a close contest with several other candidates.

Although a stranger to practically the whole team Lawson has made himself popular with his fighting spirit and his keen sportsmanship.

As a member of the Woodlands High team for four years he was a star in the Northern California League. He was also a member of the St. Mary's College team last season, playing in a few games at end.

DAVIS TEAM'S SIGNALS MYSTIFIED THE CROWD

Some of the women at the Davis game noted and commented upon the unique method of signals used by the Farmers. Although no official record of these little private conferences could be obtained, it is supposed that the meetings were carried on as follows:

The meeting was called to order by the quarterback, and the minutes of the previous play read and approved. A motion was made and seconded to try a forward pass and a heated discussion ensued. The question was brought before the house, and passed, whereupon the meeting adjourned in regular order.

GUTTERON TAKES OVER BOXING INSTRUCTION

"Bill" Gutteron has assumed the position of boxing instructor that was held last year by "Luke" McCorkle. He plans to hold a preliminary tournament, as was held last year, and also expects to engage in tournaments with other schools.

This work is under the auspices of the physical education department and is optional with the physical-education students under Mr. Martie. As last year, the course has proved very popular, and all classes are crowded to capacity. New equipment will arrive soon which is expected to add to the attractiveness of the course.

AGGIE MEN DECLAIM AT SPECIAL COUNCIL

A special meeting of the men of the Aggie Club was held Wednesday to complete plans for the celebration on Home-Coming Day.

Until now the plans have been on a rather tentative basis, but the Aggies have succeeded in getting a great deal of co-operation from all over the state and are planning to put the celebration over big.

RENO HIGH NOTES

The freshman of the Reno High School should be of especial interest to the University, as the Class of '27 has chosen for its colors, silver and blue.

Artistically draped in these colors, the gym never looked more beautiful than Saturday night when the first class dance was given, the Frosh Glee. A success from every standpoint, it will long be remembered by those who attended it.

The football season has been delayed somewhat but the schedule is now complete and is as follows:

- Oct. 13—Reno vs. Sparks at Sparks.
- Oct. 27—Reno vs. Bishop at Reno.
- Nov. 3—Reno vs. Lovelock at Lovelock.
- Nov. 10—Reno vs. Fallon at Fallon.
- Nov. 17—Reno vs. Yerington at Yerington.

Three of the four classes at the high school have elected officers for the fall semesters. They are:

- Seniors—President, Willard Kistler; vice-president, Marian Lozano; secretary and treasurer, Bruce Connolly.
- Juniors—President, Walden Kline; vice-president, Alice Halley; secretary, Constance Holland; treasurer, Kenneth Knowles.
- Freshmen—President, Alvin Lombardi; vice-president, Dolores Lozano; secretary, Jean Hughes; treasurer, Laurence Laufer.

The University can rely upon Reno High for loyal support at all times. It was noticed that among the Nevada rooters at Stanford, there were many high school students.

Y. W. HEAD STARTS VITAL DISCUSSION

"Are foreign students deeper thinkers than American students?"

Lyndall Adams, president of the college Y. W. C. A. and leader in the cabinet discussions on foreign countries, declares, "You never hear of American students starting any important student movement. As a whole, we take our education as an ordinary occurrence—and go through college without thinking any more than we have to."

"The average foreign student thinks no deeper than does the average American student," is the opposite side of the question as brought out by Eloise Harris.

"Foreign students who attend our colleges are the real students and deep thinkers of the nations they represent, just as the American students are who study in foreign schools and colleges."

This question is one of many that the Y. W. C. A. cabinet is discussing. Part of three regular meetings is being devoted to the discussion of a foreign country, bringing out in the discussion something of its history, its political and economical advance or decline, its relations with other countries, its system of government and education, and its part in the World War, and in peace conferences.

PLAYERS TO CHOOSE FROM THREE DRAMAS

The regular meeting of Campus Players was postponed Wednesday evening because of "Irene" then playing at the Rialto theatre.

The play selection committee has under consideration three plays: "Happiness," "Marmaduke" and "Nothing But the Truth." As soon as one of these is selected, tryouts for the cast of the big play will be held under the supervision of Prof. Turner and the play production committee.

The big play will be given the latter part of the first semester instead of the second semester.

FROSH HANDBOOK TO BE OFF PRESS SOON

More grief for frosh.

The new frosh bibles, the Associated Students Constitution and Handbook, will be off the press within the next few days, according to R. A. Hardin, of the Constitution committee. The "Bible" this year will be greatly different from those of preceding years. The book will be bound in a heavy cover, which will not wear off, and will be decorated with a silver Block N, rather than the seal of the State of Nevada.

This is more on the plan of other handbooks which are given out on the various campuses of the country. Within the covers will be found many changes and adoptions to the Constitution. A map of the Nevada campus will be one of the new features, while the State Seal will be printed on the fly-leaf.

The last edition of the Constitution was printed in 1921. This edition has long been exhausted, and the new handbooks will contain a great many changes, especially in the traditions, the campus organizations and the amendments to the A. S. U. N. Constitution.

Among the newer compilations of the list of traditions, the freshmen women students will be more tied down than before. One of the insertions prevents the frosh co-eds from queening on the campus, and prescribes a new attire for all football games where the frosh men are required to wear dinks.

In the list of new clubs and fraternities, there are fully twice as many listed as in the 1921 book. Among the amendments there are many changes, especially with regard to awards for athletics.

The Constitution committee this year is composed of Richard Hardin, chairman, Laurence Quill and Walker G. Matheson.

ENGINEERS TO ENTERTAIN ALUMNI AT HOME COMING

Extensive plans were made for Home-Coming Day by the members of the Engineers' executive committee at their meeting last week. The Engineers will do their part to welcome the incoming alumni by opening their laboratories and shops for the inspection of the public on the second day of the Home-Coming program.

It is planned to have each technical group take care of its own exhibit. In this way the entertainment will not fall too heavily on any one group. Not only will the buildings be open for inspection, but there will be provided special exhibitions of the various new kinds of apparatus in use in the engineering world of today.

One of the chief attractions will be the program provided by the radio set of the electrical engineers. Taking their plans as a whole, it will be an Engineers' day program on a small scale.

RELIEF FUND QUOTA THIRTY DOLLARS SHY

The Japanese Relief Fund is not progressing as it should, due probably to the yet unsettled conditions of the different fraternities and sororities, or the lack of interest in this cause. The University's quota is $70 and only $40 has been turned in.

Any fraternity or sorority that has not as yet paid up can either give their donation to Miss Sissa or Ray Parker and in return receive a receipt showing that they have responded to the Red Cross call.

MINE RESCUE CAR WILL BE IN RENO NEXT WEEK

Next week the mine rescue car of the Bureau of Mines will arrive here from Carson. The car has been in Carson City for the last week while the crew has been working in Virginia City. It was impossible to take the car to Virginia on account of the great number of crooked tunnels on the V. & T. railroad.

While here the car will be open to inspection by all mining students, and the crew will hold several classes for instruction in mine rescue work.

It is hoped that all students who have the time will avail themselves of the opportunity to visit the car on the track near the fire house. The crew is always glad to show the various type of mine rescue apparatus to visitors.

MYSTERY CAR? MERCY NO! ONLY THE S. A. E. PET BUG

Saturday, parked in front of the S. A. E. house.

Wondering and curious Stanford students gathered around and endeavored to solve the mystery, not only of how it got there, but how human beings could stay on the thing to bring it there.

Not a man or woman on the campus missed looking upon this freak of machinery that had little engine, and no body at all, and yet claimed by its license number and its mud to have come all the way from Reno to see the big game.

This mystery car, which so puzzled Stanford, was driven by Mike Quinn and Herb Foster and was really Joe Grey's little pet.

HAYRIDE TRADITION THROWN TO DISCARD

There will be no more frosh hayrides at the University of Nevada.

The hayride, which for so long has been one of the most looked-forward-to events of college life, is now a thing of the past. This decision was made by the Upperclass Committee last week after a great deal of contemplation and discussion.

The freshmen have the classes which have gone before them to thank for the present situation. In past years the hayrides have resulted in "rotten-egg fights" and "free-for-alls" in the business district of town and at Sparks, Moana, Verdi and Bowers Mansion. They have necessarily caused a great deal of adverse criticism to be directed at the University.

The University asks much of the citizens and merchants of Reno, and so it is that the students must be guided more or less by public opinion.

It was suggested to the presidents of the freshman and sophomore classes that they get together and make plans for something to take the place of the hayride.

Several suggestions were offered by the Upperclass Committee, one, that the two classes jointly give a "bury-the-hatchet" dance, and another that a huge bonfire rally be sponsored by them Home-Coming Day.

KARDEX FILE GIFT TO BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

A large two-drawer steel filing cabinet with a complete set of record cards was received by the business department of the University last Monday. The cabinet was a gift from the Kardex company of Tonowanda, N. Y., makers of all types of card records and filing cabinets. The Kardex Company also gave the department a loose-leaf notebook filled with index cards for all purposes.

"The receipt of this valuable gift marks a distinct step forward in the equipping of the business department," said Prof. John H. Morse, head of the department. He stated that the new cabinet would be put into use at once in order to give practical instruction to the students taking business courses.

QUESTION Should Queening on the Campus Be Prohibited?

Professor A. L. Higginbotham says: "I see no reason why queening on the campus in moderation could not be permitted. The present strict tradition is unnatural and prevents campus friendships."

Thelma B. Hopper says: "The feeling of good fellowship and love should be encouraged above all things and the practice in this matter should never be stopped—just as an athlete never lays off his physical training lest his muscles grow stale. Men are grown-up children and need to be helped along all the time. A cheery 'hello' would mean much sometimes to the lonesome frosh. Of course there should be a limit."

Geraldine Wagoner says: "The limit to queening is hard to decide but a good guide would be to judge by the rapt expression on the victim's face. Besides there are lots of girls on the campus worth a dip in the lake."

Thor Smith says: "Date making should be distinguished from queening. And—anyhow, see Archie Knowles about it—he has a lot to say!"

Emerald Smith says: "All traditions are unnatural; that is their essence. It may be hard on the boys but ought to be observed just because it is a tradition."

Miss Wistful says: "Is there any? Lead me to it!"

Mr. Frosh says: "Blank—blank—blank—"

Note:—Any question that the campus would like discussed in this colyum, may be sent to the Editor of the Inquisitive Colyum, Sagebrush Office.

WOMEN'S FACULTY CLUB HOLDS FIRST MEETING

Saturday noon the Women's Faculty Club held its annual luncheon at the Golden Hotel. This was the first meeting of the year, and the new officers took their places. They were: Mrs. Trainer, president; Mrs. Doten, vice-president; Mrs. Murgotten, secretary, and Miss Detraz, treasurer.

An interesting program, consisting of short talks by some of the women and music by a double quartet as well as by the whole gathering, followed the luncheon. Mrs. Walter E. Clark, who is in the east, wired her greetings from Hartford, Conn.

Seventeen new members were present, making an encouraging start for the year.

CLIONIA TO INTRODUCE NEW PLAN FOR DEBATES

In view of the fact that in the past there has not been very much enthusiasm aroused over interclass debating, Clionia, debating society on the campus, is inaugurating this year interorganization debating.

Under this plan the classes, as well as the fraternities, sororities, dormitories and any other groups can enter a team in the series. Already the classes and a number of other organizations have promised their active support of the innovation.

Organizations expecting to enter teams will see Freda Fuetsch, J. B. Koehler or William Anderson and make known their intention.

HOME ECKERS APPOINT AGGIE DAY COMMITTEE

The Home Economics Club of the University held its first meeting of the year a week ago last Thursday night in the Agriculture building when plans were made for the year's work, and the following committee chairman appointed for the Home Economics part of the Aggie Day celebration on October 26: Nellie Sloan, candy; Mary Cox, exhibitions; Velma Comstock, posters; Isabel Hayes and Margaret Griffin, the tea booth.

About 50 Home Economics women were present at the meeting, and Miss Lewis, head of the department, explained to the new women the purpose of the club, which is: to study the questions of the day relative to problems of the home as an institution.

Marjorie Ohman is president of the Home Economics Club this year; Nellie Sloan vice-president, and Isabel Hayes, secretary-treasurer. Any woman carrying two or more hours of Home Economics may become a member. The club meets the second Thursday of every month.

NINE GRADUATES ON RENO HIGH'S STAFF

Reno High School has a larger number of University graduates on its teaching staff this year than any other high school in the state. Eight women and one man who claim Nevada as their alma mater are teaching at Reno High now, while last year there were seven such, and the year before, nine.

The Nevada graduates teaching at the High School this year are the Misses Agnes Bell, '93; Gladys Dunkle, '21; Eva Hale, '19; Edith Harris, '17; Effie Mack, '09; Helena Shade, '17; Alwine Sielaff, '06; Mrs. Adelaide Durkee, '96, and Anthony Zeni, '22. In addition, Miss Alma Boeke and Herbert Foster have taken courses at the University.

Owing to the fact that many high schools in Nevada did not open until well into September, it is impossible to get reliable data as to the number of University of Nevada graduates teaching in them, but it is reported that Churchill County High School at Fallon has a large number of Nevada graduates on its faculty, and it is probable that this high school is second only to Reno High School in that respect.

ROOTERS AT FAIRYLAND EXHIBITED TRUE SPIRIT

Last Saturday saw a bunch of rooters wildly enthusiastic over the game between Stanford and Nevada. Down on the Stanford field? No. In Fairyland.

The Nevada students who, for one reason or another, were unable to attend the game, were present almost without exception at the hall rented by Jimmy Scott and Walt Reimers. The same excitement was there, the same spirit prevailed.

The telegraph wires gave out the plays almost as quickly as they were put through 300 miles away. When it became obvious that the Wolves could not hold the Cards the same sympathy and loyalty predominated as when the game is followed from our own bleachers.

At the close of the game, when the last wire had been megaphoned, the college yell rang through a disillusioned Fairyland. The game was over.

LOW HUMOR MISSING IN WOLF, IS CLAIM

From the high, high lair in Stewart Hall the first Desert Wolf will go to press next week and Home-Coming Day will surely see him roaming on the campus and over all Nevada.

Due to the support of the townspeople the editors have faith in the Desert Wolf becoming "the" magazine of Nevada, as well as the literary indicator of the talent on the Hill.

There is an impression abroad that the Desert Wolf will follow in the footsteps of the Pelican. This is entirely wrong. The encouraging of individual literary and artistic talents of the students is the aim and hope of the editors.

AIRY DANCERS DRAW MEN TWICE WEEKLY

Miss Sameth's class in advanced dancing has begun its work. Any Wednesday or Friday afternoon around the hour of three, both students and faculty have a habit of congregating in the windows of the Education building, or on the front steps, and even as far away as the Aggie building.

The work is highly instructive as well as entertaining. Last week the class was enacting the tale of "Old King Cole," and it will be a pity when the weather no longer permits outdoor work.

300 FIGHT WITH PACK AT STANFORD STADIUM

Approximately 300 Nevada supporters traveled to Stanford last Saturday to witness the annual battle between the Indians and the Wolves.

They came by car, by train, and by relay, but they got there. Three extra Pullmans were needed going down; two on the return trip. A special train of cars to Stanford carried only a part of the rooters.

Roger Simpson, Bill Green and "Toughie" McKenzie, yell leaders, and "Slick" Bryant, song leader, were responsible for the maintenance of a never-say-die spirit which could not be killed before the finish.

Between halves, when old grads mingled with old friends, "Hump" Church, Bert Gibbons, Marcelline Kenney and Jimmie Byrkit were much in evidence. President Clark, Prof. Morse, Prof. Murgotten and Miss Sissa represented the faculty.

The entire section of the big stadium reserved for the visiting team joined in singing "U. of N. So Gay" when the game was over. Nevada showed its loyalty in spirit as in numbers.

The course has for its purpose the studying of food values and of foods in relation to health, the determining of the essentials of an adequate diet, and the study of the factors which influence the selection of food.

ALL ORGANIZATIONS TO TALK, CLIONIA'S PLAN

Debates between teams from every organization on the Nevada campus will soon be going on, if the plans of Clionia are realized.

The purpose of Clionia in passing this new rule is to stimulate a broader interest among the students and to bring debating to the fore on the Hill. Formerly intramural forensic battles were held only between the classes, and in this way limited the number of persons permitted to debate. When fraternities, sororities and other interested societies put in teams, the number will be considerably increased.

These are statements brought up in a debate staged at a regular meeting of Clionia recently. The question has been agitating discussion for some time in the society. To summarize the points and bring the thing to a settlement, the debate was held, and the question voted on and accepted by the members.

GIRLS TAUGHT HOW TO SAVE DROWNING

The women's swimming class, which meets every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. tank, is now well organized and has a definite plan of work to be accomplished in the next two months.

In each section, there are now two divisions, the beginners, under the instruction of Miss Champlin and Miss Sameth; and the advanced class under W. D. Elfrink, physical instructor at the Y. M. C. A., who is teaching fancy dives and swimming strokes.

Beginning this week, the advanced class is to take up a course in life-saving, which will lead to the Red Cross life-saving certificate, and fifty points in W. A. A. Eligibility for the life-saving class will depend on the following points:

1. Swim quarter-mile, free style.
2. Demonstrate back stroke and side stroke.
3. Perform front dive or racing start.
4. Retrieve an object in six or eight feet of water.

In addition to the life-saving tests, Miss Sameth plans an interclass swimming meet for the women enrolled in the classes. Membership in the class swimming teams will entitle the holders to points in W. A. A.

GYMNASIUM STAGE FOR FIRST RALLY

The spirit of revival, that is dominating the campus, came to its highest pitch last Thursday night when students, faculty and downtown business men congregated in the University gymnasium for the first football rally of the season.

It took the combined efforts of the yell leaders to stop the yelling when Coach Courtright led his men into the gymnasium.

President Walter E. Clark was the first speaker of the evening and talked about the wonderful spirit and enthusiasm which prevailed throughout the campus. He also warned students of the danger of beating their way to football games.

The members of the Wolf Pack were introduced. Coach Courtright said each man had but one thought, and that was to fight to the very end Saturday.

Captain Seranton, Nevada's half-back, spoke for the team; Dad Taylor represented the students; Trux Howell entertained, and "Long Tom" Smith told how the Wolves beat Stanford in '98.

FOIL CHAMPION ENTHUSIASTIC OVER INTEREST STUDENTS SHOW

Von Arnold Hopes to Turn Out Fencing Team That Will Win Honors

By the end of next semester Nevada will be able to boast of a fencing team that will be capable of competing favorably, if not excelling, any opponents.

Boris von Arnold, who is now instructing the students in this art, says: "My aim is to organize a good fencing team in the University of Nevada. I hope to turn out a team that will be able to defeat both California and Stanford. Trux Howell promises to be a fencer worthy of defending the honor of Nevada."

To Choose Team

The class will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 3:15 from now on, and the work will progress rapidly. All students who desire should sign up immediately so that they will not lose any of the instruction. Those men who have signed up thus far are:

Simpson, Robinson, Pike, Quill, Fee, Downey, Blasingame, Wilson, White, Musso, Cunningham, Saunders, Smith, Merritt, Jauregui, Skene, Skinner, Cafferata, Thatcher, Frain, Walther, Howell, Anderson, Buntin and Johns. With this large number of men signed up, Von Arnold will have a wealth of material to work with, and if the men respond, a team will probably be entered in coast competition this winter.

A Successful Fencer

Boris von Arnold is one of the many interesting students on the Hill. His experiences date back to early life in Russia. When a child, he received his first instructions in fencing from his father, then an officer in the Russian army. These were continued through high school, at which time he progressed under the careful tutoring of a fencer well known in western Europe and Russia. From that time on, Von Arnold successfully competed in many fencing contests.

In August, 1915, he won the high school championship, and his ability became more pronounced when, in 1916, he defeated Aleshin in the eastern Siberian championship contest, which was held in Vladivostok.

Had Few Defeats

In 1917, he fenced with the Chinese military team, the Japanese fencer Omura, and the Belgian fencers who were with machine gun companies on the Russian front. During that time, he was defeated only by Van den Bogert, a Belgian who won the cup of King Albert.

After joining the Russian army in 1917, Von Arnold fenced against sabre U. of N.

Would Use Paddle on Frosh at All Times

Shall laking be abolished? This was the interesting question that was discussed last week in the debating class under the instruction of Prof. Turner.

One of the chief arguments against the present form of punishment is that it is too lenient. If a freshman is laked, he is not humiliated, but on the contrary becomes a hero in the eyes of the women of his class. This is especially true if he is able to pull someone of the opposing class in with him.

In place of laking, which seems to be no longer a punishment, it was suggested that paddling be substituted as a permanent form of coercion. This is far from making a hero of a man, and not only that, but it is a punishment, severe enough to make the freshmen doubly careful in keeping the campus traditions.

champions of southern Russia, and in 1917 he had the honor of fencing for the Russian army in a military meet at Vladivostok, where he won the sabre contest and took second place in foils. This latter event was lost to a soldier of the French army.

In this country, Von Arnold has successively participated in two round-robin competitions, has won fourth place on the Pacific, first place in junior class, and is now ranked third among coastal fencers.

Dr. Karlins, former intercollegiate champion, is the only man on the coast who has not suffered defeat at the hands of Von Arnold.

Nevada Offers Opportunity

"I transferred from the University of California to Nevada," von Arnold states, "because here there is a greater opportunity of learning to speak the English language and of knowing the American people."

"In the University of California the Russian students do not mingle with the Americans, and I also found that in such a large institution the foreigners were unable to receive personal attention. My experiences here prove to me that I was not mistaken when I gave Nevada the preference."

SEVENTEEN FOREIGN STUDENTS ENROLLED

There are 17 foreign students at the University of Nevada this year, according to the registrar's records, while last year there was a total of 25 such students for both semesters.

A number of the students in the above class live abroad but are not of foreign race, while three of the Chinese students attending the University are registered, one from Nevada, one from California, and one from Colorado.

Three of the students here from China are not Chinese but Russians who come from just over the border of China.

Juan B. Aralar, P. I.; Thomas H. Kachos, Greece; Gregorio Losado, P. I.; Dalgit Singh Sudharia, India, and Boris von Arnold, Russia, did not attend the University last year, while Gregory Chekalin, China; Gee K. Ding, California; Zosimo Fabella, P. I.; William P. Fong, China, and Michael J. Palashoff, China, are registered in the senior class, and will be among the graduates of the University next May.

In addition to the 470 students from Nevada at the University, there are 225 from California, and 52 from 20 other states in the Union.

OBERLIN COLLEGE GRADS ESTABLISH ALUMNI CLUB

Another university alumni organization has recently been formed at Nevada. Oberlin College, at Oberlin, Ohio, is the last to swell the number of alumni organizations that flourish here.

Prof. H. Leach, of the department of history, is president of the association, which has been formed to perpetuate the purposes and ideals of the famous Ohio college.

Efforts are being made to secure the names and address of all former students at the institution. All such information should be given to either Prof. Leach or Prof. Higginbotham.

CAMPUS MUD HOLE TO BECOME SMOOTH ROAD

A very necessary improvement is being made on the campus at the present time. This is the re-surfacing of the road which runs from the Physics building to the paved section of road in front of the agriculture experiment station.

About six inches of adobe have been taken out and a coarse grade of gravel is being rolled on the road. Later a finer surface will be applied to make the road as smooth as possible.

This work will greatly add to the safety of motorists who drive over this section in the winter. In previous years this part of the campus was a perpetual mud-hole.
