GREAT GRID YEAR LOOMS AHEAD, IF SIGNS ARE RIGHT

Wolf Pack Loses Only Three of Old Team and New
Men Are Excellent

NEW STARS COMING

Erb and Crammer Bringing Men; Idaho Idol Said
on Way to Hill

By JOHN CAHLAN

With Erb and Crammer, the new Nevada coaching staff, on the job, the prospects for a winning Nevada football team are the main topic of discussion among students and townspeople.

Of last year's eleven, only three will not return. "Chet" Seranton, the hard-hitting leader of last year's Wolf Pack; George Duborg, center, and "Pot" Clark one of the best prospects on the Coast last year are the trio that will be missing from the lineup this season. Seranton and Duborg graduated last spring and Clark has forsaken school books for gas and oil and is working for the Standard Oil company.

At guards the same two who held the brunt of the California attack last year will be seen in action. Gridley and Gilberg should have little difficulty in making their positions. These two men are two of the best on the Coast and the man that takes either job away from them will be nothing short of a "phenom."

Carlson and Donnels will have a tough job keeping their positions this year, as the tackle berth will have plenty of material and should bring forth the keenest of competition.

Good Set of Ends

Balaam and Capt. Harrison will undoubtedly flank the line again this year. This pair is about the best set of ends the Wolves have had since the days of Martin and Fairchild. Both are fast and hard hitters, and if somebody can be found to do the booting and let Harrison go down on the kicks, it is a

Murgotten Honored For Arabian History

Francis Church Murgotten, associate professor of romance languages in the University, was this summer awarded the degree of Doctor of Philosophy by Columbia university. The honor was conferred upon Dr. Murgotten in recognition of his work in writing an Arabic history, which was published in June.

The history, which was translated from the Arabic, is a detailed and unusual account of the Arabic invasion of northern India. The book is said to be one of the best along the line of Near Eastern histories yet published in the English language. A copy of the book has been placed upon the shelves of the University library.

KAPPA LAMBDA, PI BETA PHI AGAIN WIN SCHOLARSHIP

Women Still Best Students
at Nevada, Is Evidence
Given by Grades

KOREAN LEADS ROLL

Second Semester Grades of
Men's Organizations
Higher Than First

Kappa Lambda fraternity and Pi Beta Phi sorority last semester again headed the scholarship list amongst the organized campus groups. Both of these organizations have led in scholarship for the past two years.

That women are better students than the men is shown in the figures that give evidence to the effect that the coeds outstudied and outlearned the men at every angle. The average record for all the women students was 2.286 while the men scored an average of 2.773. The average for both women and men was 2.591.

Group averages for last semester are as follows:

Men's Organizations
	Members	Pledges
Kappa Lambda	2,316	3,105
Phi Gamma	2,588	2,962
Sigma Phi Sigma	2,606
Lincoln Hall Ass'n.	2,638
Phi Sigma Kappa	2,690	2,880
Alpha Tau Omega	2,758	2,907
Sigma Nu	2,821	3,106
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	2,839	2,672
Delta Sigma Lambda	2,998	3,146

Women's Organizations

	Members	Pledges
Pi Beta Phi	1,957	2,756
Beta Delta	1,971	2,180
Gamma Phi Beta	2,121	3,095
Kappa Alpha Theta	2,168	2,252
Delta Delta Delta	2,281	2,670
Manzanita Hall Ass'n	2,328
Sigma Alpha Omega	2,409	2,450

With regard to the scholarship set up by the men students, it is interesting to note that the two leading fraternities are local organizations. Sigma Phi Sigma fraternity leads the men's grades among the national groups.

Thirty-nine students achieved the Honor Roll. In individual scholarship, the most remarkable record was made

Registration Notice

Registration will take place in the Agriculture building. Go there first before trying to wedge into line in the Registrar's office in Morrill hall.

Before starting to register, consult bulletin boards.

New students will first see members of the Admission Committee where admission cards will be given out.

Registration cards will be given out from the two offices at the entrance to the Agriculture building.

Following the filling out of the registration card and securing the signatures of the professors and the Dean, the registrant will then go to the office of the Registrar.

Before taking the card to the Registrar, be sure to have ALL CLASS CARDS properly filled and ready to turn over to the Registrar along with the registration card.

Should Be Pace-Making Year Says Dr. Clark Urge Students Make Nevada "Better"

Student Body Prexy Sends Message To Hill

This new year begins the University's second half-century. It should therefore be made, by our friendly and intelligent co-operation, a pace-making year for the new half-century.

In many ways, the plant has been beautified and bettered during recent months. Readers' space in the library has been more than doubled and shelving capacity has been increased over 12,000 volumes. Improvements have been made in both dormitories and plans are under way to better the heating arrangements for these dormitories. A new tennis court has been added, and the whole tennis ground has been improved. The new Lake street entrance will be completed within two weeks. The lawn about the lake and west of Lincoln Hall has grown into a solid green, and a new flower border glows from Lincoln Hall to Virginia street. Several departments have added new equipment. Nine new instructors, one in each of the nine departments, are ready to begin their work, six of them being successors to staff members who resigned.

All in all, campus, plant, equipment and staff are in best trim ever and will serve the student body as it has never been served before. It only remains for the individual students, new and old, so to measure up to the opportunity, so to live during the next nine months that each will grow in mental and spiritual stature, to make 1924-25 the greatest year in the University's history.

(Signed) WALTER E. CLARK,
President of the University of Nevada.

IMPROVEMENTS ADDED TO LIBRARY DURING SUMMER

During the summer the Library was remodeled so that the old timers will hardly recognize it. Early in June, Mr. Layman, librarian, acting on advice from the Board of Regents, started carpenters at work on a mezzanine floor which extends in an "L" shape across the west and north sides. The new floor duplicates in as many details as possible the mezzanine floor on the south side. All new wood work is finished in natural color stain and varnish so as to conserve as much light as possible.

The stacks of books, which formerly occupied the north side of the main room have been moved upstairs. New reading tables have been installed in their place. Rather than put in new tables of the old style, which were awkward to work at, Mr. Layman has had desks of a new design, which combine magazine stacks, and stacks for reference books, with reading desks. Considerably more than twice the amount of space available for study in the old plan, is provided for by the alterations.

A history and political science seminar room, to be conducted in a manner similar to the English seminar, has been provided and will be accessible to upper-class students in those subjects who obtain the necessary permission at the desk.

The alterations and innovations, which have been completed for several weeks, are expected to add materially to the usefulness of the University Library.

To the Old Students: The returning responsibilities of the new year force our attentions to the tasks ahead; to the old ones left incomplete, and to the new ones to be undertaken. The last few years have witnessed our advancement to the foremost rank of the universities of the Coast, and it becomes our duty to maintain that standing. Our work for the next year should be with the view of even further progress, until our position has become such that to the collegiate world, the name of the University of Nevada is synonymous with the word "Achievement."

To the New Students: To you who are this week being welded into the Class of '28, we extend "Greetings." In the solution of your problems we offer our assistance; in the solution of our problems, we ask and expect yours. In the activities of the men and women of the campus your participation is urged, that you may show yourselves to be not merely with us, but of us; that when you in later years welcome new additions to the Pack, your advice and counsel will be freighted with the wisdom of experience; and particularly that the friendships that we eagerly look forward to will be built on the enduring foundation of understanding.

(Signed) BARNEY KEATING,
President Associated Students of the University of Nevada.
U. of N.

Class of '24 Graduates Placed in School Jobs

Many members of the 1924 graduating class who intend to take up teaching as a profession, have secured positions in Nevada schools. Besides placements made to date, other graduates are receiving positions on school faculties both in Nevada and neighboring states.

Eunice Allen will teach modern languages at the Fallon high school this year; Marion Lothrop will be an instructor of English and foreign languages at the Carson City high school; Louise Grubnau will engage in grammar school work in McGill; Marie Grubnau is to teach Spanish and English at the Sparks high school; Chester Seranton has been named coach of athletics at Sparks; Reno high school will again engage Herbert Foster as coach; Laurence Quill will teach science and mathematics at Sparks high school; Lyndel Adams will instruct classes in Spanish and English at the Lovelock high school; Marie Campbell has been appointed to the faculty of the Virginia City high school to teach French and Spanish; and Robert O. Weede will teach science and mathematics at the Fallon high school.

Home Ec Tea Will Be Held This Afternoon

The women of the Home Economics department are serving tea today from 3:30 to 5 o'clock in the Home Ec Rooms in the Agriculture building for all students in the department. A special invitation is extended to all new students in Home Economics to come and get acquainted.

Nellie Sloan is in charge, and is being assisted by Mary Cox, Marge Ohman, Ada Pattison and Bertha Akin.

NEVADA ASKED TO ENTER NATIONAL UNIVERSITY UNION

Proposed League of Campi
Would Solve Numerous
College Troubles

SCOPE INTERNATIONAL

American Students Abroad
Aided in Studies by Foreign Unions

BY WILLIAM H. ANDERSON
President of Cosmopolitan Club.

Efforts are being made to organize the students of all American universities into unions, such as exist in the European countries, and Nevada has been approached in the matter of forming a unit of the proposed American University Union. The question will be brought up for discussion among student body officers, and the members of the A. S. U. N. in the near future, according to reports made by Nevada's appointed representative to the English University Union, W. G. Matheson.

Plan Proposed This Summer

This summer in Berkeley, a group of students and faculty members of various American colleges, who are interested in the promotion of good feeling between the nations of the world, met to discuss the proposition of organizing an American University Union. Among those present in the small group were Sir Bernard Pares, of the faculty of King's college, university of London, honorary treasurer of the English University Union, and the only faculty member in the councils of the English college confederation; Prof. Kenneth Saunders, of the university of California, a firm believer in international good will; Dr. William Y. Elliot, American Oxford graduate, and instructor of political science at Berkeley; Dr. David P. Barrows, head of the department of political science and president emeritus of the university of California; three majors in political science of the university of California; two Harvard students, who will inaugurate the forming of such a union as proposed at their own college; representatives from the university of California Cosmopolitan club and foreign student societies; Walker Matheson, former president of the Nevada Cosmopolitan club who was appointed by Sir Bernard Pares to carry the movement to this campus; and Edward Min, former Nevada student, who is taking the movement to Japan, China and Korea.

The movement for the organization has been going on extensively at California and at Stanford. Nevada and these two western colleges are the only universities asked to foster the

SIGMA NU PURCHASES NEW CHAPTER HOUSE

The Sigma Nu fraternity has purchased a new home on University avenue, a block from the campus gates. The purchase adds another chapter to the life of this fraternity, which has heretofore found house-hunting and house-keeping one of the worst trials of fraternity life. Sigma Nu is the third Greek letter organization to own its own home, the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and Kappa Lambda having already acquired chapter houses.

The other fraternities on the Hill will be housed in the same buildings as last year.

MACKAY GIFT TO UNIVERSITY WILL AID MINE SCHOOL

Nevada's Great Benefactor
Gives Further $700,000
to Develop Mining

TO ERECT BUILDING

New Science Hall Planned as Aid for Advance of Mining College

In order that the University of Nevada School of Mines may rank first in this country and foremost in the world, Clarence H. Mackay, the University's greatest benefactor, for the third time has written his name across the pages of the history of this school by a donation of approximately $700,000. This sum brings the total of Mackay's gifts to more than $1,000,000. The announcement by President Walter E. Clark of Mackay's greatest award to the university of the state was the climax to a brilliant anniversary celebration of the University's semi-centennial celebration.

The gifts made by Mackay include an annual endowment of $18,000 for five years to the School of Mines. This sum is in addition to the $6000 now being received as annual income from a former bequest.

If, at the end of five years, progress has been made in the mining school, further securities will be bestowed which will yield $18,000 annually. This sum will total approximately $450,000.

New Building Promised

To further increase the usefulness of the School of Mines, a science building, with the most modern equipment for the teaching of physics, chemistry and mathematics, will be erected by Mr. Mackay at an estimated cost of $180,000.

In his message to the University of Nevada, which was read at the commencement exercises last May, Mr. Mackay said that he believed that the School of Mines has a useful place in the community, and he believed that the handicaps the school has to contend with on account of its lack of opportunities for further development can be met and overcome.

Mine School Aids Nation

"Believing this to be a demonstrated fact," said Mr. Mackay in his telegram, "and imbued with the firm belief that the Mackay School of Mines can be of still greater value, not only to the state of Nevada and its strong limbed and stout hearted sons, but also to the nation, I take pleasure, on this semi-centennial of the University, in stating that commencing with January 1 of the coming year I will donate to the University, in semi-annual payments for a period of five years, the sum of $18,000 annually to be used in addition to the income from the previous endowment fund to pay the annual salaries for the staff of the Mackay School of Mines. Any remainder from this fund

HEAVY SCHEDULE IS BEFORE PACK FOR 1924 SEASON

Program to Call for Three Games on Mackay Field and Three Abroad

Although the Nevada football schedule for 1924 embraces fewer games than any previous one, the Wolves will face tougher teams than ever before. Three Pacific Coast Conference teams will feel the Wolves' fangs, with Santa Clara and St. Mary's included.

The schedule is nicely pyramided this season, and the first two games will give Erb and Crammer a good line on the way the team works. It is also arranged so that the team will be able to get thoroughly grounded in the new system which the two former Californians will undoubtedly install. For the first month the Wolves will practice without a game intervening.

First Game With Bulldogs

The opening game of the season will be with the Fresno State Teachers' College. The Bulldogs made such a good showing against the Wolves last year that it was decided to open the season against them this year. They have a light, fast team and should give the Silver and Blue gridders a good workout.

The College of Pacific will be Nevada's next opponents and the same can be said of their team as of the Bulldogs. "Swede" Righter, former Stanford star, has built up a team which has beaten all the secondary college teams on the Pacific Coast. This team should put up a little stiffer competition than the Bulldogs, but should not prove to be more than a trial horse.

Tough Game With Trojans

The first tough game will be played with U. S. C. at Los Angeles. The Trojans are being touted as "the team to beat" in the Pacific Coast Conference, and Nevada will be running up against a real tough team in this game. The Wolves will have more than a good team to contend with when they mix with the Trojans. The weather has been a deciding factor in the last three games Nevada has played them, and if the weather is anywhere near football weather (Nevada football weather) the Wolves should give the Trojans a mean battle.

November 1, the Saturday following the U. S. C. game, is open to give the players a chance to rest up. November 8 the Wolves will meet Santa Clara in San Francisco. This should be a game worth going miles to see as both teams will be out to break the deadlock of the last two seasons. Last year the two teams tied 7-7 and the year before that for the championship of the smaller colleges the score was the same.

That '0-0' to Change

On November 15 California and the Wolves will tangle. The Bears are out to show the world that the 0-0 tie of last year was nothing more or less than a fluke and the Wolves are out to show the same world that it was not. The resulting game should be a bird to watch. From the looks of things they will have to close up the city of Reno while the townspeople journey to see the Bear bow before the prowess of the Wolf.

November 22 will undoubtedly be Homecoming Day. St. Mary's and Nevada will furnish the sporting dish for the afternoon when they tangle on Mackay field. Last season they fought to a 10-10 tie in a sea mud. Nevada was given the edge by all the sporting experts on the coast and they are out to show "Slip" Madigan and his crew that they were pretty lucky to get off without a terrible skinning. It will be the best game of the home season without a doubt.

Idaho Strength Unknown

The Wolves will probably depart for Boise, Idaho, the following week to meet the famous Idaho Vandals. This is the first time that the two teams have met, so little can be determined from pre-season dope. Idaho is reputed to have a very strong team and the Wolves will have all they can do to handle the Idaho men.

Although the schedule provides for only three games at home it is one of the best that could be arranged under the circumstances and it provides for good games away, so that's that. The games to see will be the California, St. Mary's and Santa Clara because they'll be the best battles.

U. of N.

A number of students from Nevada attended summer school at the Southern Branch. They were, Ruth Billingham, Dorothy Williams, Josephine Legate, Helen Robinson and Lula Hawkins.

Charles Gasho, '27, played on the Bridgeport, California, baseball team this summer, where he batted over .700.

Prof. Martie Marries Popular Reno Teacher

The marriage of Miss Anna K. Hansen and John E. Martie took place at the home of the bride's parents in Valley City, North Dakota, during the summer, according to announcements received here. Miss Hansen was a popular Reno High School teacher during the past year, while Mr. Martie has been an instructor in the department of physical education for men. This year Martie will be an assistant professor and will act as head of the physical education department.

"Nevada, Where One in Every 150 Is in the State University," is the title of a special article by A. L. Higginbotham, assistant professor of English in the University of Nevada, appearing in the Christian Science Monitor educational page in the issue of May 29. The University of Nevada probably has a larger proportion of its commonwealth's population as students than any other state university, the article states.

NEVADA TRACK STAR HURT IN ACCIDENT

The University of Nevada almost lost one of its track stars this summer, when an automobile in which Percy Ketelson, Block N man, and "Tud" Collins, also a Nevada student, plunged down a 20 foot grade on the highway seven miles from Napa, their home town. Ketelson sustained a fractured skull, several broken ribs and minor injuries.

After lying for almost a month in a hospital, where he hovered between life and death, Ketelson won his desperate fight, and will return to Nevada to enroll with the senior class. It is doubtful whether he can compete in further track meets, however. Collins, is also returning to the Hill this year.

Lincoln Hall Glistens in New Coats of Paint

While the occupants have been scattered far and wide during the summer vacation, Lincoln Hall has been the scene of great activities as cohorts of painters and paper hangers have been rejuvenating the men's dormitory.

The entire three floors have been done over, the rooms receiving new paper and fresh paint while the hallways were treated to several coats of new light colored paint.

The summer's improvements, together with other work completed before school adjourned, make almost the whole Hall glisten with new paint and varnish.

Seven New Names Added To Faculty

The names of seven new instructors will appear on the faculty roll of the University of Nevada for 1924-25, in the departments of physics, physical education, electrical engineering, history and political science, English, economics and business, and Spanish.

Perry Byerly, Jr., who will act as instructor of physics, graduated from the University of California in 1921, where he also received his M. A. in 1922 and his Ph. D. in 1924. Mr. Byerly was teaching fellow in physics at the California institution from 1920 to 1923, and was Whiting fellow in physics during the past year.

Charles Freeman Erb, Jr., who was appointed last spring as instructor in physical education for men and head football coach needs no introduction to Nevada students.

During the past year, Erb acted as football coach of the Woodland high school near Sacramento.

Benjamin Atwood Fisher comes to the University of Nevada this year as instructor in electrical engineering. During the war, Mr. Fisher acted as navy radio man, and was in charge of ship stations. He has been connected with the Wagner Electric and Manufacturing Company of St. Louis, and also with the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company of that city. Mr. Fisher received his college training at the university of Missouri, graduating in 1924. He has also done considerable work in mathematics and physical education.

Charles Roger Hicks, who comes to the department of history and political science from the Ottawa (Kansas) University, where he has been full professor of history, for the past two years. Mr. Hicks received his B. A. in 1915 from Clark university; his M. A. in 1922 at Stanford university. He has also done graduate work at Harvard university. The Cosmopolitan Club will welcome Mr. Hicks with enthusiasm, for he brings to Reno an international viewpoint gained through several years' residence in the Orient. For two years he was connected with the Commercial School at Kyoto, Japan. He has studied the Japanese problem at close range and is an authority on the subject.

Harold P. Miller, new instructor in English, comes to the university of Nevada from Northwestern university, where he received his B. A. degree. Mr. Miller has won honors in debating, and will have charge of this work at the University, while Miss Ross will continue in charge of dramatics.

Edward Gustave Sutherland, A. B., university of Utah, 1923; graduate work, University of California, 1923-1924. Mr. Sutherland comes to the economics and business department as an instructor. Having served with the A. E. F. in France, during 1917-1919, he was wounded four times, and received commission and citation work. Mr. Sutherland has, for the time being, given up the business world for the teaching profession. He has also had considerable experience in the mining world, having served in various capacities in mines in Utah.

Edwin Eugene S. Williams will be instructor of Spanish in the department of modern languages. He received his A. B. degree from the university of Chicago, in 1908; his B. S. in Education, University of Nevada in 1912. He has also done graduate work at Nevada, at the university of Arizona, the university of Southern California, and Stanford, Licentiate, Instituto de Barceña, Mexico. Mr. Williams, while a student at the University of Nevada was made a member of Phi Kappa Phi, national honor society. He was also a member of the faculty of the University, at that time in the department of chemistry. He has also taught at the university of Redlands, Oregon Agricultural College, and Drexel Institute, Philadelphia. Mr. Williams has traveled extensively in Spanish countries.

University Men to Be Given Membership by "Y"

Reno's Y. M. C. A. will present all University men with complimentary membership tickets good for one month if they will call for them at the downtown offices on Front street.

Besides athletic equipment of all kinds, including a swimming tank filled constantly with filtered water, the Y. has billiard tables and many other amusement features. These, together with the large lounge room and reading room, provide means for college men to become acquainted with each other and with men from Reno.

Mildred Griffin, '27, is registered at the university of California this semester.

George Pimentel, '27, attended the university of California summer session.

TEACHERS ARE PROMOTED BY BOARD OF REGENTS

The following promotions in the faculty list were made this summer by the Board of Regents:

Full Professors:
Dr. George W. Sears, professor of chemistry.

Fred W. Traner, professor of education.

Associate Professors:
Silas Calvin Feemster, associate in political science.

Dr. Francis C. Murgotten, associate in modern languages.

Gilbert Bruce Blair, associate in physics.

Assistant Professors:
Clarence H. Kent, assistant in mechanical engineering.

Miss Ruth Billinghurst, assistant in chemistry.

Mrs. Louise Hammond, assistant in home economics.

Raymond H. Leach, assistant in history and political science.

William M. Hoskins, assistant in chemistry.

Hardy L. Shirley, assistant in mathematics.

Alfred L. Higginbotham, assistant in English.

Mrs. Luella M. Foster, assistant in home economics.

John E. Martie, assistant in physical education, and acting head of that department.

F. Dean Bradley, appointed lecturer in education.

—U. of N.—

Thelma Pray, '27, spent the summer vacation in Abilene, Kansas.

BRUSH EDITORIAL BOARD CHOSEN BY NEW CHIEF

Esther Summerfield, '26, has been named women's editor of The Sagebrush, to succeed Bertha Standfast, who graduated last year. Miss Summerfield, who will have complete charge of the women's department, is a junior student, and has been connected with The Sagebrush since entering the University. Women students who desire to work on The Sagebrush are asked to communicate with Miss Summerfield in The Sagebrush office.

W. Harvey, Buntin, '26, and William H. Anderson, '26, have been named associate editors of The Sagebrush. Buntin has been placed at the head of the copy desk, and Anderson will act in the capacity of chief of the men's staff and feature writer. Both these men have shown ability in newspaper work, Buntin being formerly editor-in-chief of the Oakland Technical college publication, and a special representative of the International News agency, for which he is a regular correspondent. Anderson, a junior, has been with The Sagebrush since his freshman year. Both have been awarded Italic N's.

John Cahlan, '25, has been named sports editor of The Sagebrush. Cahlan is recognized by the Campus as the ablest sports writer on the Hill.

In the business department of The Sagebrush, William J. Clinch, '26, and Frank M. Underwood, '26, have been named advertising managers by John M. Fulton, Jr., business manager of The Sagebrush. George A. Fayle has been appointed collection manager.

Head of Mining School Injured in Auto Crash

John Allen Fulton, who will take up the work as Director of the Mackay School of Mines, was severely cut about the face when the automobile in which he was riding went over the grade near Towle, on the lake Tahoe highway during the early part of the summer. Mr. Fulton was riding with Henry Rives, secretary of the Nevada mine operators' association. While speeding to get the School of Mines director to the Colfax hospital, in an automobile flagged on the highway, the second machine crashed on a turn, and Rives suffered three broken ribs.

Nevada Junior Is Suicide This Summer in Bay City

Herbert P. Wilkens, student at the University of Nevada last year and registered from Chicago, committed suicide in San Francisco on July 4. Wilkens, a Nevada junior, had been a student at the university of Chicago and was planning to enter Stanford university this year, where he was to have majored in chemistry. The cause of his suicide was attributed to an unhappy love affair. Wilkens was a member of the Lincoln Hall Association.

How Many Vacationed As Summer Slipped By

Plenty of Marriages Are Recorded With Nevada Students as Leading Characters; Large Number of Hill Folk Ambitious Students at Summer Schools

Ashton Codd, Lloyd Richards, Ray Hendrickson, Gilbert Howell, Richard Brown, Walter Maddox, Arnold Bradshaw, W. L. Bunnell, William W. Bent and William W. Mitchell were University of Nevada students enrolled in the summer surveying course given during the vacation by Prof. H. P. Boardman and Dr. J. Claude Jones.

A complete newspaper, boasting of sporting and society departments, editorials, news and feature articles was one of the innovations of the R. O. T. C. encampment at Camp Lewis this summer. John M. Fulton, Jr., business manager of the Sagebrush this year, was the editor of the brisk little sheet.

At a very prettily appointed wedding in Trinity Episcopal church at Fallon, Miss May Pernette Browder became the bride of Henry Duncan Oliphant on June 14. The bride, daughter of one of the pioneer families of Churchill county, is a graduate of the University of Nevada, and for the past three years taught in the Fallon high school. The couple will make their home in San Francisco.

Helen A. Smith of Alturas, died this summer in San Francisco from appendicitis. Miss Smith, a native of Reno, was a graduate of the Reno high school, and attended the University of Nevada for one year. Leaving the University, Miss Smith went to Lane's hospital, San Francisco, where she completed a course as a graduate nurse. Death came to the popular Reno girl just six weeks after she had graduated from nursing school.

George Smolak, former student at the University of Nevada, was married July 5 to Miss Frances Harris, according to the wedding announcements which reached Reno this summer.

Mrs. Smolak is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Harris of Moscow, Idaho, and after a honeymoon trip to the coast the couple will make their home in that state.

Ethel Lunsford spent the greater part of the summer vacation in California, visiting at Sacramento, San Francisco, Palo Alto, Pacific Grove and Los Angeles.

Word announcing the arrival of a baby son to Professor and Mrs. Herbert Bruce at Dayton was received on July 4 by friends of the couple in Reno. Professor and Mrs. Bruce are spending the summer in Nevada and will return to Fairbanks, Alaska, in the fall, where Professor Bruce is a member of the faculty of the University of Alaska. Both are graduates of the University of Nevada. Mrs. Bruce was formerly Miss Thelma Braun of Dayton.

Alice Bowman, ex-25, spent the summer in San Francisco, where she was engaged on the publicity staff of the St. Francis Hotel. Miss Bowman registered at California this year.

Ruby Spoon, ex-24, was among the many Nevadans who spent the summer in the Bay Region.

Genevieve Bories, '27, was hostess at many gay parties for Nevadans at her home in San Francisco this summer.

Gilberta Turner, '26, whose home is in Sattley, California, spent most of the summer avoiding forest fires and acting as news correspondent for a local paper.

Prof. John R. Gottardi, instructor in modern languages at the University of Nevada, took graduate work this summer in Berkeley.

Ruth Curtis, '26, spent the summer months in San Francisco. Other Nevada students who visited the coast city were Alice Norcross, '25; Eleanor Siebert, '25; Clementine Shurtleff, '23; Anna Brown, '23; and Nevada Semenza, '24.

Zelda Reed, '26, visited with Dorothy Ross, instructor of English, at her home in Mendocino, California.

Professor Sidney W. Wilcox, of the economics and sociology departments of the University, attended the California summer school in Berkeley, where he did work for his Ph. D. degree.

Letitia Sawle, ex-24, was among those Nevada students who attended the various rallies and meetings of Nevadans in the Bay Region. Miss Sawle is working for the P. G. & E. company in San Francisco.

Jane Karvin, ex-25, is at present attending the San Francisco Normal school.

Margaret Hill, '26, visited Yvonne de Golia, '27, in San Francisco this summer before joining the Nevada delegates at the student conference at Asilomar.

Lucille Blake, '25, spent the summer in Oakland, where she visited with her brother.

Dr. H. W. Hill, head of the department of English, spent the summer carrying on research work at Berkeley.

John R. Ross, '23, continued his study of law during the Stanford summer quarter.

Louis Fawn, '26, was a member of the California summer session.

Attending the Y. W. C. A. student conference at Asilomar were Evelyn Nelson, '25; Claire Williams, '25; Lyndel Adams, '24; Bertha Aiken, '25; Esther Summerfield, '26; Charlotte Gibson, '26; Elizabeth Hanchett, '25 and Clara Doyle, '25.

Every once in awhile during the summer a Nevada rally would take place on the California campus during the summer when a large number of students from the Hill would meet in an informal group to discuss subjects concerning the Quad and the folks who gather about it. Among those who made up the "Nevada gang," as it was called, were Frank Leaver, '26; Walter Young, '24; William Krause, '26; Edward Dollard, '24; William Hasty, '26; Arthur T. Harrison, '24; Maxine Isoard, '27; Annabelle Brown, '27; Walker Matheson, '25; E. B. Dodds, '25; Morey Eva, '26; Robert O. Weede, '24; Ewald Pyzel, ex-24; Edward Min, '24; and Herman Walthers and John Kovee, who, although they did not go to the summer school, made it a habit to meet the "gang" as it went off the campus for lunch.

Hester Crane, '26, visited her uncle and aunt, Governor and Mrs. Wallace R. Farrington, in Honolulu this summer.

Verda Luce, '24, is now in Los Angeles, where she expects to be connected with the editorial department of one of the city's newspapers. Miss Luce was a major in journalism at the University.

Chris ("Jiggs") Sheerin, '24, is in San Francisco, where he is connected with the Standard Oil company in the office department.

Miss Hazel Meeks, who was a teacher in the junior high school, left Reno this summer for Clarkdale, Arizona, to wed James Byrkit, '23, who recently completed graduate work at Stanford university. Byrkit was president of the class of 1923 and a member of the Stray Greek organization on the Nevada campus.

Miss Dorothy Evans and Fenwick Ridgely, both former University of Nevada students, were married in Oakland during the summer.

The romance had its beginning when the two were students at the University during the semesters of 1922-23. Ridgely is the son of Attorney and Mrs. Hilliard S. Ridgely of Claremont and is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity.

Fred R. Johns, '27, is at present a "star" reporter on The Sacramento Star. He will register for the semester next week.

Myrtle Sorensen, ex-25, who is teaching at Minden, was a student of the California summer session, where she took work in kindergarten supervision.

Several members of the Wolf Pack spent the summer shoveling dirt on the highway to keep in training. Spud Harrison, Earle Walther, Newt Christenson, and Frank Kappler were the ones doing most of the work on the new Truckee River Highway, west of town.

Edith Frandsen spent last week in San Francisco visiting among friends and shopping.

Von L. Edwards of Reno and Constance Laufman of Elko, both graduates of the University of Nevada, were married in Reno this summer, the wedding being the culmination of a campus romance.

Egon Guderian, '27, while working as a truck driver in the northern part of the state this summer, was thrown onto the gear shift lever, breaking two small

Frat Men Gnash Teeth Have No Place to Park

Life ain't gonna be what it used to was. How could it? Three of the popular sororities are not receiving visitors this year. No more are cosy parlors open to the Davenport Devils. Mah Jongg, as the official sorority activity, will no more be "punged;" neither will it be "chowed." Sacred and favorite porch parking perches are not available for the after-supper-after sports. Many sorority women will not go with any chap who insists on staying out as late as 10:15 p. m. and after.

Sororities Lose Homes

Nope, Life ain't gonna be what it used to was. Not with the Pi Phi's, the Theta's and the Sigma Alpha Omega's again housed behind Manzanita's blue curtains. S. R. O. signs are now at the Delta home and at the Gamma Phi houses.

Rose Mitchell Married to Herbert Marshall in June

Rose Mitchell and Herbert Marshall were married in Reno on June 12. Miss Bonnie Mitchell, '27, attended her sister, and Harry Duncean acted as best man.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nevada with the class of 1923, and is a member of the Delta Delta sorority. For the past year she was a teacher in the Tonopah high school. Mr. Marshall is also a graduate of the University, and is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

The couple are making their home at Holbrook, California, where Mr. Duncean is employed as highway engineer.

Gerry Eden-Mae Delkin Romance Ends at Altar

The campus romance of Hattie Mae Delkin, former University of Nevada student, and Gerry Eden, '23, culminated in the taking of the marriage vows by the couple at the home of the bride's parents in Las Vegas on July 25.

Miss Delkin graduated from the university of California last May, at which institution she was associated with the Parliament Debating society and the Greek Theatre players. She was the first woman student at the California university to be a member of the varsity debate team. Mr. Eden, a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, was one of Nevada's greatest football players, and has been for the past year assistant principal of the Virginia City high school.

bones in his neck and cutting his wind pipe. Prompt work on the part of physicians who put his neck in a plaster cast, saved Guderian's life. Completely recovered, he will be back for school this semester.

Prof. Raymond H. Leach of the department of political science and history, did research work in oriental history at Stanford during the summer.

Blanche Guthrie, '26, spent the summer in Reno, where she was employed by the Reno Gazette.

William Knowles, '27, Carl Small, '26, and "Pots" Clark, '27, were service men in Reno Standard Oil stations.

Webster Terwilliger, special student in the School of Mines, spent the summer getting intimate knowledge of mining in Silver City.

Harold Coffin, '26, editor of the Desert Wolf, and Thor Smith, '27, summered at the Tahoe Tavern, where they were employed.

A daughter was born to Prof. and Mrs. Silas Calvin Feemster, on August 14.

Miss Dorothy Ward, '26, popular University student and member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, was married on August 14 to Vernie K. Beamer. The ceremony was performed by Judge Bull in Reno.

Miss Margaret Mack, Dean of Women, and Miss Katharine Riegelhuth, associate professor of English, spent part of the summer holidays in San Francisco.

NEVADA ASKED TO ENTER NATIONAL UNIVERSITY UNION

(Continued from Page One) movement at present. Expansion to other groups will be made from these three bases.

May Be First Unit

After the proposition has been discussed, there is a possibility that Nevada may, if its student body be so inclined, become the first American college to form such a union which, within a very short period, will become nation wide. To this end, the Nevada committee will work.

The idea of the University Union is, briefly, to band all the students of the nation into one solid group which will then be able to handle university problems. Each year conferences among leaders will be held at which discussion of college problems would take place and plans of action decided by which student activities may be increased or bettered. At present, each university is a single organized group, but there is no cooperation with other universities for the advancement of a wider student life and activities.

Then, too, according to the proposal, each university will be kept in touch with all others, and should a student desire to transfer from one college to another, he is aided by the cooperation of the respective university unions, the one at the college to which he is transferring taking the new student under its wing and giving all aid possible to enable the newcomer to make himself at home. In this way, it is pointed out, there will be keener friendship established between the youth of the land. Each campus as it were, becomes a "fraternity" where the brother from afar is given a genuine welcome when he wanders in to unknown fields.

International End

That is a small part of the strictly national end. There is, too, another aspect—an international side. This will give each American college student an entree into the portals of any foreign university that he may care to enter.

In France there is an organization known as the Confederation International d' Etudiants (International Students' Confederation) which is world wide—or will be world wide when the United States comes in. With this international view, there is certain to rise in the minds of the American students an idea of the League of Nations, in which this is a measure to "force" the United States in such a league. Nothing could be further from the aims of the C. I. E. than this. It is not, it must be understood, a political union that the International Confederation would have us join. In fact, politics are taboo in the international discussions of the student group. The Union is merely to aid the students of other lands in receiving their education and to foster a spirit of good will between the students of today who are the leaders of nations tomorrow.

For example, this is how the Union would function with regard to the foreign college students:

Suppose, for instance, a student from the University of Nevada desires to go to Germany to study, or to Belgium or France, England, Austria—anywhere. At present, with no Union at Nevada, the student starts his trip. He lands in France, we'll say. He wanders about trying to find a hotel, trying to speak a language he scarcely knows, if at all. He is a stranger in a strange land; no one knows him, he knows no one. He tries to get along, but if he does so, it is under the greatest difficulties. If he wants to go to another European country, he has difficulty in making the necessary arrangements for visas, tickets, luggage transportation. Everything is messed up, all is a bedlam, the student is about to go crazy, perhaps. Such is the present inconvenience of foreign study.

Union Aids Travel

On the other hand, the student is a member of the proposed American University Union, he sails to Europe with a letter of introduction to the European Union, which has been informed of the student's proposed trip abroad. On arrival in the foreign country, the American student is met at the wharf by a group of European students, his baggage is checked, a lodging has been arranged, trips have been scheduled, invitations to join educational tours, and every convenient contact has been arranged for. If the student desires to travel in other countries, his passport visas are looked after and everything is arranged. Such is the tremendous value of the proposed Union. Likewise, when European students come to this country to attend univer-

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB PLANS FOR BIG YEAR

The University of Nevada's Cosmopolitan Club will start its third semester of organized activity with an open meeting which will be held during the second week in September. If present plans are carried out, at this meeting, various members of the society will speak in favor of Nevada's entering the National Student Union.

The Cosmopolitan Club will carry out its plan of sending members to appear before high schools in the surrounding cities, and will try to considerably extend the range of its activities in this field. In addition, it is hoped that speeches may be made before the various clubs of Reno, Carson, and Sparks. While membership in the Cosmopolitan Club is limited to foreign students and a few American students, attendance at all public meetings is open to everyone, and an invitation to attend is extended to everybody. Much of interest is brought up at the meetings and the discussions are especially beneficial to students of history or economics.

Shaver-Elsie Wedding Ends Four-Year Romance

A University of Nevada romance of four years was culminated in June with the marriage of Miss Marienne Elsie, teacher in the Carson City high school, and Arthur J. Shaver, graduate of the University with the class of 1924.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaver will make their home in Reno, where Mr. Shaver is employed as assistant engineer by the Truckee Power company.

Mrs. Shaver during her attendance at the University was active in student activities and since her graduation in 1923 has been instructor in English at the Carson City high school.

Mr. Shaver during his last year was business manager of the Sagebrush, an associate editor of the Artemesia the year previous and generally took a prominent part in student affairs. He is a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity.

Aikens, Former Student Body Prexy, Is Married

Andrew Jackson Aikens, graduate of the University of Nevada, and Miss Bessie Louise Newman, former instructor at the Fallon schools, were married at San Mateo, California this summer.

Aikens formerly was president of the associated student body at the University and now is connected with the Bell telephone company, with headquarters at Sacramento.

Tommy Wilson Returns Accompanied by Bride

As a surprise to his fraternity brothers and friends on the Campus, Thomas Wilson, '27, arrived in Reno recently with his bride, formerly Miss Bernice Runner. The marriage took place in Oakland the early part of this month. Wilson, a member of the Kappa Lambda fraternity, is undecided whether or not he will register at the University this semester.

International student conferences are held each year in some country whose students are members of the Union. This year the conference is to be held in Moscow. Nevada's representative has been extended an invitation to visit the conference, and the invitation will be passed on to students at Nevada. At the international meetings the Union does not sanction political discussions.

Invited to Russia

Already, with the sanction of the faculty of the University of California, the movement is being pushed at that institution, and it is expected that the university of California will soon be an organized unit of the American University Union.

Robert Weede Married Fallon Girl in June

Miss Irma Bendle and Robert O. Weede, '24, were married early in June at the home of the bride in Fallon. Embert Osland, '24, served at the wedding as best man. Miss Bendle was one of the popular teachers at the Orvis Ring school, Reno, during the past year. Mr. Weede is formerly from Sterling, Kansas, and graduated with the class of 1924 at the University of Nevada. He is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, and was prominent in campus activities.

The couple motored to California, where Mr. Weede attended summer session at Berkeley. Mr. and Mrs. Weede will make their home in Fallon.

Journalism Prof Does Research at Oregon U

Prof. A. L. Higginbotham, instructor of English and head of the department of journalism, accompanied by Mrs. Higginbotham, motored in Oregon and Washington during the summer. Prof. Higginbotham studied newspaper methods and schools of journalism in the northwest and did research work into the psychological and sociological effect of newspaper stories on the reading public during the university of Oregon summer session. Mrs. Higginbotham also studied at the Eugene college summer school.

Former Students United in Carson City Wedding

Dewitt Trenam, ex-'25, a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, and Miss Zelma Kitzmeyer, ex-'25, and a member of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority, were married on August 16 in Carson City, at the home of the bride. Trenam comes from Yerington. After a brief honeymoon in Santa Cruz, the couple will make their home in Carson City, where Mr. Trenam is employed in the office of the State Highway department.

NEVADA

Today the University of Nevada begins its fifty-first year. The half-hundred years just passed that the University has been in existence have been hard years—years of struggles against overwhelming odds, years of striving to give to the State the best possible in the way of education of its sons and daughters that they may go out and serve the State and the nation as intelligent citizens. Today marks another milestone in the success of the University of Nevada.

Today enter another group of young people to the old halls of learning. It is this ever-coming group that makes the University live and succeed. Many of us, who have been here before, will regard today as the beginning of a new era in the history of the University which we honor and love and shall be pleased to call our Alma Mater in the years to come. We who are here today will, we are sure, realize that this date in the University history will be an epochal one, in which we put our best foot forward and stride on toward the second half of the century mark that will proclaim that the University of Nevada has served the State well for a hundred years.

Already do we feel that the next few years will see a steady growth in the accomplishments of this institution. The magnificent additional gift to the University by Clarence H. Mackay, in his fondest hope to see that Nevada is the ranking mining school in this country and pre-eminent in the world of mining education, is a great step onward in the University's march of progress. Already the scholarship standard has been advanced, and the type of student that will be turned out will be the kind of men and women that all nations need, that all people honor and respect. Nevada is already a college that is known and looked up to by other educational institutions, and our graduates, no matter where they are, are proud to say that they came from the institution that we are registering at today.

Nevada offers, we believe, the best advantages to the student who cares to learn. A small registration quota such as exists at Nevada, and which is held down by the Regents, is after all the greatest advantage. There is no class so large that it does not allow that "personal contact" and there is no instructor so busy that he cannot spare time to aid the student. "Flunk-outs" long ago ceased to gain entrance at Nevada, which once had a reputation for being an easy mark. Here there are no large classes in which the "flunk-out" from other colleges can sit in the back row and sleep; the "flunk-out" has long discovered that, where he flunks out by degrees elsewhere, he rolls out of Nevada's classrooms with the speed of a comet. We would like to see a "flunk-out" from some other college who is in Nevada and having an easy time of it. He is either out in the cold world in the capacity of a meagre toiler or else he has learned that college is for learning and is actually what one terms "a serious student." Nevada lays distinction to the claim of having the greatest number of "serious students" in proportion to its registration than any other such institution of learning in the country. And that is why Nevada is getting such a start on the very beginning of its fifty-first year.

"Now here's to Nevada, so staunch and so strong,
May prosperity stay with her long.
Come, drink to the health of old jolly N. U.,
Where all honor and eminence belong."

U. of N.

HO! FROSH!

Enter the Class of '28!

Welcome, '28! Come on in, and don't look so scared. We won't hurt you, even though '27 does look particularly menacing today. He just wants to impress upon you the fact that life here is just one darned old grind after the other, especially the first four years of it. After that, everything is pretty well regulated and even the Deans don't bother you—much.

You, '28, are entering upon a new life today—a different life, a fascinating life. The next few years that you spend here on the Hill, in the buildings about the Quad, are going to be the best years that you ever put in. Oh, yes, of course. Exes come up and worry you a bit, but don't start to think of them until about Christmas time. Meanwhile, light up a "smoke"—you don't have to hide it now—and listen to a few things that will put you wise to the rest of us whom you'll have to tolerate for the next few years.

Today you are what the fashion ads call a "collegian." It means you will have to affect some sort of pose and swear all the time, if you will believe the college humorous magazines. You may if you like. But what we want to say particularly concerns not only you, '28, but all of us. We want to be nice about it, so don't think we're getting nasty.

In the first place, there are the Traditions. These are most holy, '28, and we want you to regard them as such. Perhaps they do not mean anything to you now, but wait for a few years, and you will feel as the rest of us feel. Later on, when you have become more sophisticated, you will feel prickly all over every time you see anyone breaking any one of the traditions that make life on the Hill what it should be—they make it a "college life."

Before you begin to spend all your money for freak pipes, pennants, gaudy sweaters and the thousand and one things that you think should contribute to the life of a "collegian," we would suggest that you save out at least a dime and purchase a "Frosh Bible." This will give you the necessary data on the campus' traditions. Read them over, and remember, while doing so, that each tradition, no matter how petty, has some significance to thousands who have entered the Registrar's office in much the same spirit that you did today.

And another thing, '28—after you have started on your daily grind to the 7:45's and the succeeding classes, keep calm; don't try to rush around and get in everybody's way. A calm frosh on land is much better than an excited one in the lake. And, above all else, keep your excess words to put down in your English themes, because the Old-Timers are touchy on having to listen to innocent pratings and the profs require a good many themes. After awhile you will be allowed to air your opinions, but your opinions must be removed from the naive.

To '27, we wish to extend congratulations for the step upwards, in which the Dink has disappeared and the old chores no longer are required. In this respect, we humbly submit an appeal to use reason, gentleness and restraint for the first few weeks of the semester, until the Babes get their "land legs," as the old salt says. Remember back to the times when you were the Innocent One, and then do unto others as you would have had them do unto you last year.

After all this advice, we gracefully sit back in our grandfather chair, and watch with amusement the rivalry of the lower classes. That's all, '28. Take keer o' yourself.

U. of N.

TO THOSE WITH A NOSE FOR NEWS

The Sagebrush, official student publication of the University of Nevada, with this issue extends an invitation to all students with the journalistic characteristic, a nose for news, to try out for the staff of this newspaper. Experience is not necessary, and to those students who desire to work on The Sagebrush the editors give their solemn promise that, from the work done on the college paper, no student shall find that the experience gained thereby shall be of a minus quality.

There is no other student activity that offers the contacts with campus life that work on the University paper offers. There is no better way to meet friends, to "get in with" the leaders of college life and members of the faculty than that offered by connection with The Sagebrush. If you would know your campus, know your associates and know your "profs" better than the average student, then The Sagebrush extends the opportunity.

Under the new A. S. U. N. ruling, adopted last semester, all staff positions are put on a strictly competitive basis. No favoritism is to be shown other than that for the best and most consistent work done by the individual members of the staff. With the passing of the popular election of editors, who received their A. S. U. N. office through being a favorite on the Hill, and a popular guest at sorority teas and a handshaker among the men, the competitive system now in vogue guarantees the best man for the most difficult job of running the University paper. The new system, under the control of the Publications Board—composed of the editors and business managers of the three campus publications—allows that each outgoing editor name his successor. By this means, it is not the popular man who gets the job, but the most efficient man in the editorial line.

Work on The Sagebrush has a great appeal; it is hard work, but it is the most interesting task that is offered to members of the Student Body. The Sagebrush has a need for news-gatherers, feature writers, cartoonists and department editors. It is a chance for you to develop perhaps a latent talent in the reportorial or editorial line. Why not drop in to The Sagebrush office, in the basement of the Physics building, and try your hand at copy-slinging?

To the most promising of the staff members an Italic N, the journalistic award made by the Associated Students, is given. Each semester, five of these silver N's are awarded to both the men's and women's staffs.

If you have a hankering to tinkle a typewriter, to grind out news, to see your work in print, to enter the College Bohemia, by all means try out for The Sagebrush staff. It is well worth while.

Ships 'n Shoes

"The time has come, the Walrus said, to talk of many things, of ships and shoes and sealing wax, of cabbages and kings."

Back again to the old haunts. Back once more to the Quad, where we were first awed by a frat pin and snubbed by a sorority queen. We wipe the dust off the trusty typewriter and begin to write idiotic things that only a first class imbecile like us could write: we endeavor to grind out a Flock of Fun, but like as not, the whole wretched flock will be suffering from dementia praecox. That is the torture of trying to rear a large family of brain children—half of them are Black Sheep and the rest are good for nothing. But still, we don the Cap'n Bells and jest. If things fall flat, don't blame us, but accuse our friend Newton who discovered that if an apple bumps you on the 'ean hard enough, you will invariably develop a lump on the cranium that would make Peavine look like a dimple.

Speaking of things falling flat, and of flatness in general, we are of the candid opinion that the world is flat. You should know as well as we do, since the comptroller got yours, too.

Wonder how the frosh feel today, after their first experience with university registration; with cards and more cards; with red tape that tied them hand and foot from the moment they walked through the gates; with the cold eyes of a crool faculty cutting them through and through; with the up-in-the-airness of the ex-frosh class; with the nasty aloofness of the upper-classes; with the inquisitive glances turned on them by the soon-to-be rushers; with the tiresome business of being always herded into an unending line of pushing, giggling, mumbling, grumbling and tired registrants like themselves; with the parting of the bank roll immediately on entering college?

Oh, well. We all felt the same way once ourselves.

To those who have forgotten the experience of their first registration, we reproduce our own feelings:

We once had a black eye, broken rib,
and bruised shin.

Once we climbed into a bed where someone had playfully placed a live, cold and clammy snake.

Once we bravely took a high dive and fell flat.

A fuzzy caterpillar once jumped down
the back of our neck from a tree, where it had playfully been dangling.

We once ate a Welsh rarebit following a visit to the morgue.

We have crossed the ocean in rough weather.

ONCE we took a drink of bootleg.
Often have we been in love. . .

Add all these sensations, take the sum total, and you know how the frosh felt today in their first contact with college life.

Terrible, isn't it?

It's so gruesome to think about, that we immediately turn our thoughts to other things and burst out into song:

We don't object to blank verse,
It rhythm has and sway,
And free verse isn't dead verse

If read the proper way.
There's some we might call stray verse

That knows not where it goes,
It flits from rhyme to blank or free,
And then falls back to prose.

We like good verse that's heavy,
Enjoy good verse that's light,
But really hate the bare verse

Some modern poets write.

But we do object to worse verse,
If it is worse than that,
And if you have some worse verse,

Then keep it under your hat. . . .
But you kind reader, if you write verse,
And it's better far than this. . . .

Why, just shoot it in to us, because we are not a camel and often go dry, and can't keep up a chatter very long without succor, or an inspiration, or something like that.

Writing this kind of stuff is like talking to an dumb woman—one can't get a snappy response to his striving efforts at keeping folks amused. You know how it is, don't you?

Drip—Let's walk around the corner and get a drink.

Drap—Hell, no. Let's run.

—AEOLUS.

NEVADA SEMENZA GOLD MEDALIST OF 1924 CLASS

Thirty Scholarships Given to Hill's Deserving Student Members

The gold medal, the highest scholastic honor given by the University of Nevada, was awarded to Nevada Semenza who graduated with the Class of 1924. Miss Semenza ranked highest in scholastic standing among all other members of her class during her four years of college work. The gold medal went to a woman student for the first time in many years. Miss Semenza is a Reno girl, and a major in English literature.

Other scholarships awarded at the close of last year were as follows:

The first annual award of $25 from Dr. Henry Albert, director of the State Hygienic laboratory, to that member of the graduating class whose college record showed the most satisfactory combination of good scholarship, good character and worthy service in behalf of the University or community, went to Harold Hughes, of Reno, student body president for last year.

A second new award of $100 was made by Robert E. Tally, general manager of the United Verdi Copper company of Jerome, Arizona. The award this year was made to Frank Keesling of Riverside, California.

The four Reno Lodge of Elks Scholarships of $300 each, awarded on a basis of athletic ability, character, leadership, citizenship and scholarship were given to Albert Lowry, of Winnemucca; Ernest J. Carlson, of Arcata, Cal.; Leslie Harrison, Reno, and Clyde Balaam, of Sparks. Membership in the lodges were given to Chester Seranton, Harold Hughes, Paul Harwood and Herbert Foster.

The Alice G. Clark scholarship of $250 was awarded to Marjorie Muran of Reno, who was adjudged by the committee as the woman of the junior class most worthy of the scholarship from the point of individual ability and need.

To Laurence Mathews of Reno and Erma Jones of Overton were awarded the Rose Sigler Mathews' scholarships derived from an annual income of over $300.

Five scholarships of $50 each, awarded by the Nevada Board of Regents to regular students on basis of scholarship were given to Florence Billingshurst, '27, Reno; Gilberta Turner, '26, Sattley, Cal.; Lawton Kline, '26, Reno; Alice Norcross, '25, Reno; and Leotta Maestretti, '25, Reno.

Clinton A. Smith, of Carlin, was selected by the Women's Faculty Club as the student working his way through college most worthy of the Ella S. Stubbs memorial scholarship of $100. William H. Anderson, of Reno, was the winner of the Philo S. Bennett prize of $50 for the best essay on "Principles of Free Government."

The Louis D. Folsom scholarship of $100 awarded to the worthiest member of the junior class of ability and need, not awarded any other scholarship, was given to Lloyd P. Smith of Reno.

Eleanor Mollart, of Ludwig, was awarded the $100 scholarship given by the home economics department for qualities of leadership, scholarship, appropriate dress and application of the laws of nutrition and hygiene.

Claire Williams of Fallon was for the second time awarded the $200 scholarship given by the Reno branch of the National Association of University Women.

To Robert M. Clawson, of Elko, chosen as the most worthy sophomore in the College of Agriculture, was awarded the J. H. Clemons scholarship of $50.

The Associated Women Students' award of $25 was given to Grace Muran, of Reno, who attained the highest average amongst the women students during the past year.

To Thelma Pray, of Reno, and Ernest Clays, of McGill, went the $150 Scottish Rite scholarships, given in memory of Adolphus Leigh Fitzgerald.

For the greatest improvement shown in English work during the year, Elizabeth Barndt, of Hot Creek, received the scholarship given by the late Azro E. Cheney. The award is the interest on a $5000 investment.

Women's Athletic sections awards of $100 were made to Ruth Gunter, of Reno, and Eva Norris, Las Vegas. The military scholarship of $50, given

STAFF MEETING

A meeting of the old members of the Sagebrush staff and of those new students who desire to try out for the staff, will be held next Friday afternoon, at 3:45 in the Sagebrush office, basement of the Physics building.

Important business will be discussed, and plans will be made for future issues of the Sagebrush. New staff appointments will also be announced, and department editors will be named. All those interested are asked to attend. Remember the time, Friday, August 29, at 3:45 o'clock.

GREAT GRID YEAR LOOMS AHEAD, IF SIGNS ARE RIGHT

cinch that the opposition will have little chance to get away for a long return. Both ends are sure tacklers and look sweet covering the kicks.

The quarter position is going to offer some tight competition this year as there are several men who will be fighting to oust Gutteron from the job. "Little Giant" seems to have the first call on the position at the present time but will have a tough fight on his hands. "Dick" Noonan, last year's frosh quarter, is figuring on coming back to school, and will be out there fighting to make the berth at the pilot position. Although the young fellow has not had a great deal of experience at quarterback, he seems to have the old football sense, and should blossom out as a finished pilot under the guiding influence of Charlie Erb.

Half Positions Open

Both half positions are open and here again some keen competition is scented. Styles, Agrusa and Crew from last year's frosh showed up so well that they were boosted to the varsity the latter part of the '23 season, and have the earmarks of future greats. Styles is the best-looking prospect of the three, and should give somebody a tough fight to keep him on the team. Al Harris of the "Goofs" should be better than ever this year, and should make a berth in the backfield. He is a hard hitter and tackles nicely, and can pack the old pigskin 'most anywhere.

At fullback, old "Battering Ram" Lowry will undoubtedly hold forth. Last season he blossomed out as a real threat at the fullback position and this year, unless the writer misses his guess, he will be one of the most feared line plungers on the Coast. He has been training on the end of a muck-stick the past summer, and looks to be in the old pink.

"Terrible Swede" Looms

Another man who it would do well to watch is young "Swede" Anderson. He should develop into one of the best linemen ever seen in a Nevada uniform. He has the build and will fight against any odds. Last year, when he was playing with the Frosh, he was invariably in the way of most of the Varsity plays. He has the knack of getting through the line and messing up the plays before they get started. With Crammer to coach him and his willingness to back it up, Anderson should be a big sensation this year.

Rumor has it that there will be plenty of material on hand when Erb issues his first call. It is said that there are six men coming from Bakersfield with Crammer, among them Hansen, center on the champions last year. Erb is also reported as bringing a few men with him from Woodland.

Possible Star Additions

It has also been rumored that Fitzke and Stivers, from Idaho, will be seen in the Nevada uniforms this year. Fitzke was chosen on the All-Pacific Coast team and is one of the best punters on the Coast. If he comes to Nevada, it will fix the team ideally. It will leave Harrison on the end where he can do the most damage and still bless the backfield with a triple threat Active and alumnae members of the Delta Delta Delta returned this morning, August 25, from a week's vacation spent at their camp at Homewood, Calif.

D. of N.

man, something Nevada has been lacking since Bradshaw left.

McArthur, former Olympic Club tackle, is also said to be on his way to Nevada and will help out immensely. Several other stars are rumored to be coming to Reno to school, among them one of the big guns from the Salma America Legion team. Balaam has this young fellow in tow, and it is said that he was the whole Selma team.

From the looks of things, and discounting these pre-season finds who are said to be on the way, things shape up pretty well and it looks like "Nevada's Biggest Year."

ONE great advantage of gas over all other kinds of fuel is that it gives heat the instant you want it, where it is wanted, and only as long as it is wanted. (Continued from Page One) shall be applied in every instance to the purchase of new equipment for the departments of mining, metallurgy or geology in the Mackay School of Mines.

Further Gifts Probable

"If, at the end of this five year period, I am fully satisfied with the progress that has been made, I will bestow upon the Mackay School of Mines securities, the annual income of which will thereafter yield to the school the sum of $18,000.

"I also desire that, after painstaking study of the plans of the best plants in the universities of the country for the teaching of chemistry, physics and mathematics has been made, that you shall have detailed plans drawn for a new building for chemistry, physics and mathematics adequate in every respect to meet the needs of the best possible instruction in these three basic subjects for the Mackay School of Mines work. If these plans, after submission to me, meet with my approval, I will then provide the funds for the erection of a building for chemistry, physics and mathematics on the campus of the University of Nevada, it being understood that the time and payments shall be left to my discretion.

"My sole desire is to make the School of Mines first in this country and pre-eminent in the world of mining education, and I trust that the realization of this desire may be fulfilled.

"Godspeed to you all on your journey of the next half century.

(Signed)

"CLARENCE H. MACKAY."

Plans for the new science hall will be drawn up this semester, under the supervision of President Walter E. Clark and Dr. Leon W. Hartman, head of the department of physics. Dr. Hartman, after arranging the details of his department for the semester, will tour the United States to study the building plans for the science halls of the various universities. It is expected that work will begin on the new building the first of next year, and the site selected will on the location of the present Physics building.

400 NEW BOOKS

Placed on Library Shelves During Summer Vacation

New books received at the Library this summer, numbering more than 400, bring the grand total of books to over 40,000. Every department of the University has been borne in mind in selecting the new volumes. Agricultural and education students will be especially benefited by the recent arrivals.

Perhaps the most interesting and valuable book from the standpoint of the general University public is Elie Faure's "History of Art." This four volume work, is the most recent in its field. The University library's copy is an excellent translation of the original.

Over 100 bound volumes of magazines are included in the new works received this summer. The binding was done by the students of Carson high school. For the first time, the Library now has a complete bound file of the Student Record-predecessor of the present student paper and of the Sagebrush.

Eastern Nevada has not had a representative on the University board since the time C. B. Henderson was a member of the Board of Regents.

DANCE TONIGHT

The first college dance of the year will be held tonight at Pan's Garden, corner of University avenue and Second street.

Walt Reimers' college orchestra will provide the music.

U. of N.

C. Bishop Kinney, '27, divided his summer between the Russian River and classes at the California summer session.

New Fall Models

In this issue of The Sagebrush we want to express our appreciation of the patronage of the gang from the University. Our establishment has since its opening, been a sort of headquarters for the fellows and with our enlarged stock and newest models in men's wearing apparel, we will strive to give you a more perfected service during 1924.

You will find in our new line of STETSON HATS and EAGLE SHIRTS the snappiest styles

The fall stock will include corduroys, knickers, sport suits, caps, neckwear, in fact every type of men's wearing apparel that will appeal to the college man.
