

Sophs Weaker Than Frosh, Tests Show

Contrary to expectations, the honor of being the strongest underclassman went, not to a sophomore, but to a member of the freshman class, according to results of the recent strength tests. Furthermore, the freshmen took three out of the five first places. The highest score was made by Max Allen, with 1420 points; but he was closely pushed by "Om" Wraith, who scored 1400, and by Kinnon, whose tally was 1370. "Cob" Balaam, with 1260, was fourth and Cecil Gay was fifth highest with 1245 points.

Not only did the freshmen make the majority of the higher scores, but they made the highest scores in three of the four tests. These tests consist of leg pull, back pull, lung capacity and grip of the hand.

In the leg pull, Kinnon, a sophomore scored 510 points, thus beating Allen and Wraith, freshmen, who tied at 440.

Freshmen Superior

The results of the leg pull showed great superiority of the freshmen again, as Max Allen, Robert Friend, E. O. Wraith, Gus Rowe and Gene Walker tied at 200 points.

Gene Walker was again high point man when he scored 165 in the grip test, but Allen was not far behind with 160, while Kinnon, Knowles, Simon and W. Allen were next on the list for superiority in this respect.

Robert Friend won the test for lung capacity with 380 points, with 360 by Seibert and 330 by Inwood as second and third.

The chinning contest, more properly known as the pull up, was won by an-

NEW MODELS COMING FOR MODISTE IRENE

Many new and attractive models are being received daily for "Irene's," which is opening on Aggie Day, October 31. There are styles for the demure and the gay, the old and the young, the college girl and the business woman, and many late and chic styles in millinery.

"Pandora" promises a treasure box of novel and original ideas in art work, with models of all sorts of gifts which can easily be made for Christmas.

Both shops will be open from 9 o'clock Friday morning until 9 o'clock in the evening, and all day Saturday.

"Gold Star Book" Honors Dead World-War Heroes

Prepared under the direction of Lieutenant-Governor Maurice J. Sullivan, Nevada's "Gold Star Book" came from the press last week. The volume contains photographs and short biographies of the 198 Nevada men who gave their lives in the World War. The book is bound in green and gold leather, and contains the seal of Nevada on the frontispiece.

War poetry is also included in the book which is dedicated to the "Relatives of the Nevada Heroes who lost their lives in the World War."

The edition of the book is limited to 1200 copies, and Nevada is so far the only state in the Union to publish such a work.

Other freshman, Louis Carvalho, who scored nineteen for what is claimed to be a University record, although this may not conform with the official record. The next highest score in this was made by Kinney, a sophomore, who chinned himself seventeen times.

tests, which will be conducted by the advanced classes in livestock judging under Prof. F. W. Wilson.

Douglas County high school is sending a team, and two other teams are entered from the boys' clubs of Washoe County. Ribbons will be awarded for first and second places.

The Crescent Creamery and the Model Dairy have both entered products in the milk and butter scoring contests, the details of which are still to be worked out. The prospects are that most of the creameries of the state will participate in this feature of the show.

With late word from Joe Wilson, county agent, that Humboldt county would send a display, the list of counties that will have county exhibits includes Lyon, White Pine, Elko, Ormsby, Washoe, and Lassen county, California.

Keen Competition

The Ormsby potato growers are selecting a county exhibit of potatoes with a view of capturing the silver cup, which last year went to Lyon county. R. Stevens of Winnemucca will exhibit, for the first time, a new potato which is the result of several years of experiments on his ranch near Winnemucca.

This potato is developed to the stage where he is ready to put it before the public, and he hopes that it will bring Humboldt County to the front as a potato producer in Nevada.

Washoe Has 40 Exhibits

Washoe County alone has so far entered 40 exhibits of potatoes.

Washoe County home-makers clubs are holding their third annual show in connection with the Aggie Day shows. They have a premium list of $60, covering exhibits of cooking, canning and sewing. Last year this exhibit occupied the entire space in the reading room of the Agricultural building.

Miscellaneous exhibits include a health exhibit by Mrs. N. E. Storey, Washoe County nurse who is under the Child Welfare Division of the Nevada Public Health Service; an exhibit of Navejo rugs by L. G. Creel; a Kewaunee water supply system, by the Reno plumbing and Heating Co.; Ralph Kourtpeter of the Shearer Electric Co. will be in charge of a demonstration of radio apparatus for his company.

The premium lists have been delayed in printing, but will be in circulation Monday.

"Aristotle and Confucius Progressive," McCaughey

That Job, Aristotle, and Confucius advocated modern "progressive education," was suggested by Mr. Vaughn McCaughey, Regional Director of Boy Scouts, and formerly Superintendent of Public Instruction in the Hawaiian Islands, in an address before the education and normal school students in the Education building Friday.

Mr. McCaughey further stated that the mechanical attempt to mould all young minds by the same pattern, as advocated a few years ago, does not stand the test of recent scientific investigations.

"DARNED Good Time" Had by A.I.E.E. in First Meeting Of Year

The Student Branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers had, what is best known as a "darned good time" last Wednesday evening when they held their initial meeting of the year. The program of entertainment was exceptional in that it was out of the ordinary as club entertainments go.

A radio outfit aided largely toward the success of the evening while "cats" contributed to the "grand finale" and started everyone home comfortable and satisfied.

WOMEN DELEGATES MEET IN YERINGTON

Representatives of the A. W. S. will meet in Yerington, Nevada, with the District Convention as members of the Nevada Federation of Women's clubs, tomorrow, October 17.

This is the first time that the A. W. S. has been personally represented in this convention, as up to this time the University has sent a woman department head or extension worker.

The University women will also take part in the program. Lucille Blake and Adebelle Wogan will present a play; Leota Maestretti, a violin solo; and Freda Feutsch will tell of women's activities on the campus.

The entire day of Friday, October 17, will be known as University Day.

Frosh Fail to Hand in Test Papers; Repeater

Because only 194 freshmen out of a class of 389 handed in papers a few weeks ago, Professor J. R. Young will give the freshmen another intelligence test this Saturday at 8 o'clock in the Education building. Classes for that hour will be excused by professors in order that all may attend.

The highest score made by a freshman in the last test was 214 out of a possible total score of 219. The mode, or most frequent score, was between 160 and 169, slightly above the normal, which ranges between 159 and 162. Men attained the highest and the lowest individual scores. 57 was the lowest grade recorded.

The test Saturday will not be identical with the last one, but along the same general lines. Illness is the only excuse from attendance.

R. O. "Corky" Courtright, and "Pix" Pierson, former football coach and linesman at the University of Nevada, have signed a contract for three years at the Colorado School of Mines, each year stipulating a salary raise, according to a letter received here from Courtright.

He states that the Colorado eleven is weak on the offense, but is a good defensive team and is expected to be in fine shape for the November games.

Courtright says that he likes Colorado, as the climate is similar to that of this section; but he misses Mackay Field and the U. of N.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

"Knives and guns and blood and bones, and a rousing cheer for Davy Jones" sang the Gamma Phi Beta pirates when they entertained upon the good ship the "Jolly Roger" anchored near Ralston heights last Friday night.

After being kidnaped at the gate and made to walk the plank, the guests were invited at the point of a pistol to take the pirate oath of allegiance to their king. Dancers taken from plundered ships, of Spain, Hawaii and the Orient entertained with dances from their native land, and distributed favors among the guests. Four stray pirates, in a chorus, bespoke their lust for gore and crime, by the glare of their flashing knives. Then with a rousing cheer all pledged homage to the bloody cross of the pirate king. Between features a three-piece orchestra furnished music for dancing.

In a den food, significant of sea life, was served from a bar by the pirate chef. After-dinner cigars were passed, which upon being opened, disclosed a mysterious chart which told a story of hidden treasure. At the end of the search each guest found a buried gift.

Patronesses for the evening were Mesdames E. B. Yerington, L. F. Curtis, Fred Stadtmuller, S. H. Wheeler, George Taylor, A. E. Dunn and S. K. Morrison.

Nevada Alpha of Sigma Alpha Epsilon held a banquet in honor of the mothers of the members at their fraternity home on North Virginia street last Sunday afternoon.

Following the banquet the mothers and members were entertained by the pledges of the fraternity in a burlesque on the play, "Julius Caesar," and with college and fraternity songs.

Among the guests present were: Miss Louise M. Sissa, Mrs. H. G. Valleau, Mrs. Clara B. Harris, Mrs. William H. Wood, Mrs. J. H. Gray, Mrs. Robert B. Farrer, Mrs. J. Dakin, Mrs. Frank Cantlon, Mrs. Thor G. Farrer, Mrs. J. Durkee, Mrs. G. B. Thatcher, Mrs. J. B. Morrison, Mrs. M. E. Cahlan, Mrs. Bruce Connelly, Mrs. J. M. Fulton and Mrs. Ada E. Laughlin.

Press Club members enjoyed a dinner party at the Garden Gate Saturday night. Serpentine helped to allay the atmosphere of formality and made the party lively. Original jokes, stories and experiences were told by different members. Professor and Mrs. A. L. Higginbotham acted as chaperons.

Mrs. C. I. Graves of Fallon spent a few days last week with her daughter, Faye.

Leslie Lowe stopped Sunday to visit his sister, Juanita, on his way to Los Angeles.

Geraldine Harvey accompanied her father to San Francisco Saturday. While there, she expects to consult an oculist.

Gertrude Riley is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Denver Dickerson, of Carson. She expects to return this week.

Mrs. C. B. Loring of Fallon visited with her daughter, Isabel, Sunday.

Mr. M. Evansen spent a few days with his daughter, Tillie, on his way to the coast.

Six women from the Hall went on the W. A. A. hike Sunday. The party left in time to eat breakfast near the river, and some members did not return until late in the afternoon, but with thirteen points to their credit, each point representing a mile hiked.

Ann and Frances Shaunessy spent the week-end at their home in Carson.

Andrey Springmeyer went to her home in Gardnerville.

Gertrude Sauer spent the week-end at home.

Stanford Law School to Be Open to Grads Only

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 15. —(By P. I. N. S.)—The Stanford Law Schools will become a purely graduate school, and an A. B. will be required for admission, according to a ruling which goes into effect Nov. 1, 1924.

The new ruling places Stanford in the same class as Harvard and Pennsylvania, which are at present the only universities in the United States requiring an A. B. for admission to the Law School.

The change was made because it was felt that three years of general university work did not give a broad enough foundation for successful law practice.

made to order. He will show his opponents plenty of trouble as soon as he gets accustomed to the job.

Hansen Breaks Wrist

Hansen, promising aspirant for one of the tackle jobs, was removed from the game with a fractured wrist and will probably be out for at least three weeks. While "The terrible Swinn" was in the game, he gave the Fresno backs plenty to worry about, several times breaking through the line and stopping the plan before it got under way. His loss will be felt in the line to a large extent.

"Percentage Football" Inaugurated

The fans got their first taste of "percentage" football and this was one of the main reasons for the small score. In this type of football large scores are seldom rolled up, and 16 points is as good as a million. It was easy to see that the Nevada Wolves fared the best of the two teams, and when the game was over the Fresno men were exhausted. It was a big saving on players for the Wolves, and true to form most of the ground gained was on the exchange of punts.

Coach Erb gave every man on the squad a chance in the game and several of the new men showed exceptional ability. Carnati proved to be a stone-wall on the defense, and the first three plays directed against him proved to be a large failure due to his ability to pile up the line.

Both Erb and Cranmer were satis-

Navigation Is Subject Selected by J. E. Sears

J. E. Sears, Nevada graduate of 1910, gave an interesting talk to the engineers last Tuesday evening on the subject of "Navigation." Mr. Sears is at present with the United States Reclamation Service and engaged in nautical work entirely, though he is a graduate of the Civil Engineering School of this institution. In his talk he pointed out the connection between the mariner and the civil engineer and made plain, through his analogies, how impossible it would be for men to sail the seas without a knowledge of civil engineering.

During the talk, Mr. Sears explained the use and operation of the several instruments used in navigation, and showed by the means of drawings just how bearing while out of sight of land and how the mariner found his position with nothing to guide him but the stars or sun.

Scare Over Paralysis Needless, Says Board

Infantile Disease Is Only Partially Contagious Say Statistics

"There is no occasion for undue alarm over the infantile paralysis situation in Reno," says the University Health Bulletin issued this week, following a conference of the University Health Committee, and quoted here in part.

"The disease is much less contagious than measles or scarlet fever.

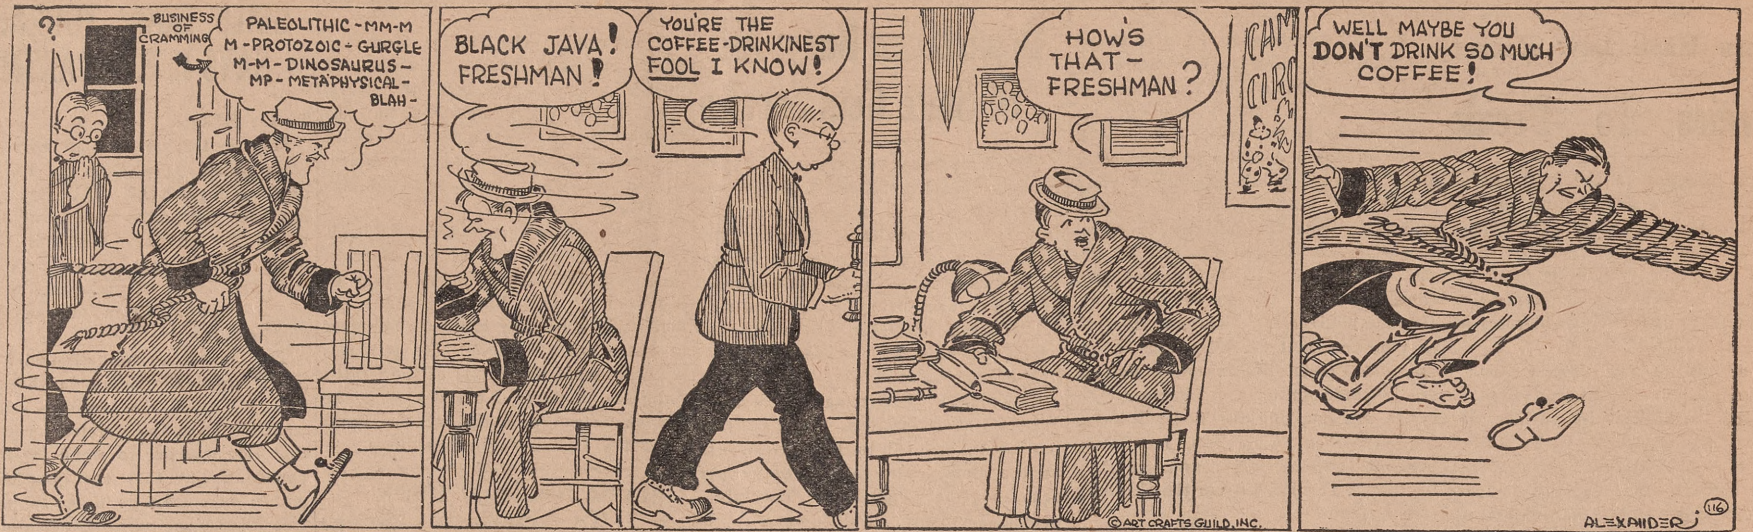

"Very few of the people exposed contract the disease. The number of cases has not exceeded one per thousand population in any epidemic, and the epidemics are usually of short duration.

"About 75 per cent of the cases have been among children under 15 years of age and about 50 per cent in children under five. Not more than 10 per cent occur in adults over 20 years of age.

"The early symptoms are similar to those of an ordinary cold. Only the experienced physician can diagnose the disease before the onset of the paralysis.

"The disease is transmitted chiefly to contacts through the mouth and nose from patients or "carriers." Carriers are persons harboring the virus without themselves becoming appreciably ill. It is the unrecognized mild cases that make it so difficult to control the source of the infectious material.

"One attack, whether mild or severe, renders the individual immune to further attacks."

Professor Peter Fransden, chairman of the Health Committee, declared it was highly improbable that there would be any cases among University students, unless one might come in direct exposure to the malady. Prof. Fransden, however, advised that children and students affected with colds, or who are coughing or sneezing should stay home for a few days and rest in bed.

"If the symptoms are pronounced one should consult the family physician," he said.

Little Sociable Game

"Now I went and lost one of the green dragons!"

"Don't matter. Jesh have another shot of thish corn."

O! MORES!

There is nothing incredible in the report of the discovery of all the lost books of Livy, bringing our present thirty-five books up to a total of 142. At least there is nothing incredible in the report that the Roman historian composed as many as 142 books on the history of his native land. One of the extraordinary things about the writers of the classic world is the zeal which they expended in composing literature far beyond the requirements of the College Entrance Board. Julius Caesar, as one might suppose, makes the best showing. Of the seven books of Gallie Commentaries which he gave to the world, no less than six have achieved such immortality is connected with a passing mark of 60 per cent. Vergil went to the trouble of compiling twelve books about pious Aeneas when experience has shown that six books amply meet our needs. Homer devoted no less than twenty-four books to the wrath of Achilles, of which the last twenty-one might as well have been left unwritten as far as the American college freshman is concerned. But perhaps the ancient writers were anxious to pile up plenty of material for Sight reading.

Are Sororities Worth Expense Asks Writer On Independent Paper

Takes More Real Stuff to Be Somebody on Hill If a Barbarian

"Are college sororities worth all the prominence and expense?" queries Jane Fleming in the "Dearborn Independent."

"The selection of sorority and fraternity members is the annual picking of the supposed aristocracy of the university and, when it is over, a certain percentage of the students are set apart forever from the mass. They are 'Greeks'; the others are 'barbs.'"

Woman Pays

All 18 sororities at B—, where Miss Fleming made her observations, may invite a well-advertised girl to their houses, but—strange hospitality!—the rushee drops the price of her dinner at the door as she goes out.

The names of freshmen who are invited to the first function are selected chiefly by a sort of intelligence system that covers the secondary schools practically all over the United States, explains Miss Fleming. Alumnae everywhere keep their ears to the ground.

"Overlooked in the jam of the first big tea, many co-eds wonder just what is lacking in them as the weeks pass. The next half-year is spent in an endeavor to bring the Greeks to their feet by campus gymnastics or perhaps follows just plain oblivion.

Dash To Greeks

There is a dash and brilliance to the doings of the Greeks that is sadly lacking in the open student mixers and they all want to be part of it, the men just as desperately as the girls.

"Behind sorority doors the fate of many a frosh is sealed because there is something about her—you know what I mean—is said once to often. One that combines beauty, brains, and wealth is indeed rare, however, so that after a few biting remarks in chapter meeting, compromises are usually effected."

Same System Here

Bidding at Nevada is also done by the lawyer system as at B—. In the two days preceding bid-day, sorority women and rushees do not converse; grades of those who are to receive bids pour into an official; and on "Der Tag," each rushee at the lawyer's home write on a slip of paper in order of preference, the group she would like to join. Mrs. John Fulton, Panhellenic lawyer last year, will hold the same position this year.

"Possibly colleges like Vassar, Bryn Mawr, and Chicago, where sororities do not exist, are fortunate and undoubtedly more democratic."

This seems to be Miss Fleming's main criticism of the sorority system. Since

Doctor Of Philosophy Talks Of Poker, Love Prof. Schappelle Lets Out Secrets Girl Scribe Penetrates Savant's Inner Soul

By Mlle. Juliette

I dashed to the heart of my work. "C'est un mauvais sujet." Professor Schappelle told me. Too brief a comment. I had to proceed as a judge, by questions.

"Do you consider your perfect knowledge of six or more languages your best achievement?"

"No. It is only an excuse for making a 'salade russe' of my name: Schappelle, Schapele, Chapelle, Shapel, Chapele."

"Do you play bridge or Mah-Jongg?"

His eyes became darker. His mouth set, his jaws tightened. His words were sharply articulated. "No bridge. Penny poker only. Mah-Jongg? Other Manchurians, Fa, Chung, Po, confuse me a bit! I prefer my cigar."

"Do you dance?"

"Yes in front of the buffet, sometimes, when I am late for meals, at my boarding house."

"Why do you not marry then?"

"Nobody loves a poor man," he whispered mournfully. I looked at him attentively. His dark type made him quite sympathetic.—Note, women of the founding of the first sorority, the cultural effect of sorority life has perhaps been too emphasized.

Real Stuff For Barb

"It takes more real stuff to be somebody on the campus outside a frat than in one," a senior is quoted as saying. Undoubtedly this is true.

"The little gold pin so carefully-carelessly pinned to the sweater front proclaims their achievement, and anyone who has been to college and was 'in' will not mistake it for the emblem of a literary society," says Miss Fleming.

However, at large colleges like Cornell and Michigan, fine residential halls for women have raised the position of independent groups to a fine level. Admission to the dormitories is considered an honor, and these large groups of superior women, through contact with prominent visitors and wholesome surroundings, are in intimate contact with the finest things a college affords.

the Campus—He is of medium height, heavily built, extremely lively although methodic, he could have been a star in athletics, but his only inclination in sports—daring ones—is the descent, without elevator, in deep caves in search of sensations.

His hand caressing his grey hair (some men pretend it gives a fascinating charm to be grey), he added, sighing:

"It is too late. The only thing left for me is this." He was pointing to his booty, displayed on the table. Thirty black bass and eleven wild ducks, the catch of one afternoon.

"Well," said I, "in your stay in the Balearics, in Spain, in tropical countries, fish were waiting for your hook. In your hunts in Brazil, game was proud to die by the best shot of the country. No wonder." He smiled. He is too modest to speak of his numerous travels.

"Professor, what about prohibition?"

"Song of songs! Are you trying to render me dry?"

"A last question, Tio Schap (as the children call him). Not a political one; I know nothing of it myself. How does one feel to be a bachelor?"

"Oh! La domesticite me chatouille le nez," he answered laconically. He was plucking a butter-ball. His little mustache did not protect his nostrils from the fine down.

I left him enjoyably busy. What a wonderful help for a possible wife! Maybe after all the hieroglyphics he deciphered, he is dreaming of an irresistible Atlantide, hidden in a Palace of an unknown desert.

"Et pourquoi pas?"

COLLEGE QUEEN TO SPORT $100,000 IN SPARKLERS

Wearing Jewelry valued at $100,000 including the largest diamond in America, the lucky one selected as the most beautiful college girl in America will be crowned as Queen on "All-College Day," to be held at the Dallas (Texas) State Fair, October 18. Everything is being done to make the affair the most elaborate of its kind ever held in the South.

A circus will be staged in honor of the selected beauty and will be followed by the Queen's Ball, which is hoped to be an affair of regal splendor.

Colleges and universities from all over the United States will have representatives and stunts for the circus, prizes totaling $3500 to be awarded for the best stunts.

"All-College Day" promises to be a great event, and competition will be keen for the coveted honor of being acknowledged the most beautiful college girl in America; and for the privilege of wearing the valuable jewelry and the crown of Queen of the Fair.

CREDIT FOR TRAVEL GIVEN BY COLLEGES

Credit for foreign travel is being given by an increasing number of American universities and colleges to students who spend their summer abroad. Many collegians have appreciably reduced the amount of book learning required of them before graduation by spending their summers traveling in foreign countries.

The American Council of Education, acting for the universities, is taking steps to give the educational aspects of travel a further orderly development. Special group tours are being arranged for study in Europe, and many foreign universities are offering varied courses, arranged especially for English-speaking students.

NAVAL RESERVE TRAINING OPENED AT WASHINGTON U

Upon his return from a trip to the east, President Suzzallo of the University of Washington announced recently that appropriations for a naval reserve officers' training corps similar to the army organizations in universities of America would be asked for at the next congress.

It is probable that the University of Washington will have the first Pacific unit, asserts the president, who was in conference with officers in regard to the proposed plan.

About five per cent of those taking military science in the universities will be allowed to enroll. Those men taking the course will have many of the privileges of Annapolis midshipmen on Pacific coast assignments.

Nevada Is All Set For Tough Battle With College Of Pacific Gridders

Wolves in Good Shape After Saturday's Game With Fresno and Ready to Meet Righter's Strong Team; Shriners to Give Pageant During Halves

By JOHN CAHLAN

When the College of Pacific football eleven steps out onto Mackay Field at 2 o'clock next Saturday it will mark the first game the two colleges have had since that memorable occasion when the Wolves ran amuck and treated the Pacificians to a 108-0 drubbing. That was in 1919. A lot has happened since that time, and from the pre-season dope a lot will happen on Mackay Field Saturday.

Since "Swede" Righter, former Stanford star, has taken over the reins at the Stockton institution, he has built a team which has become a power in that community and has provided plenty of opposition for some of the larger colleges.

Righter Hard Pressed For Backs From the reports received from the Pacific institution, Righter has had a tough time building a satisfactory backfield. He has been faced with a shortage of backfield men and has been forced to shift Capt. Knoles from full to a halfback position. Knoles is an experienced man having played two years at fullback. In shifting Knoles to half, Righter has given the fullback position to Paull, who alternated with Knoles last season.

Righter has also been hard pressed to develop a quarterback who can run the team. Last year's quarterback failed to report for practice this season and left Righter without a man capable of calling signals.

"Swede" has most of his linemen back this season, and his job of picking a line is comparatively easy. Baun, last year's sub center, has returned to school and so far seems to be the only candidate for the job. Stiles and Beecroft, varsity guards, are back and will be seen in action against the Wolves on Saturday. Three letter men are back for the tackle positions but at the flank position Righter has lost one of his ends.

Pointed For Nevada

Righter has his men pointed for the Nevada game and last Saturday sent a scout to watch the Wolves in action so it is easily seen that the College of Pacific will not be a set-up by any means.

The Wolves are in good shape after the game Saturday, and with the exception of Capt. Harrison nobody is packing around any serious hurts. "Spud" developed a pair of "charley horses" in his right leg, and these may slow up his playing on Saturday. "Billy" Gutteron had another operation performed on his ear Monday night and the medico says that he will be in condition to strut his stuff by Saturday. "Pots" Clarke is still limping around on his bad knee, and in all probability will not get into action before the U. S. C. game. The leg is coming along as well as could be expected, and "Pots" is rarin' to get back into a suit.

Certificates from the Athletic Conference of American College Women will be awarded to senior women for excellence in athletics upon the petition of the local Women's Athletic Association, it was decided at the meeting of the association Tuesday.

These certificates come from the National Certificate Committee of the A. C. A. C. W., who reserve the right to accept or reject petitions on their face value. They are merely notices of national recognition, the cost of which is met by the local associations.

W. A. A. voted to accept the offer and make petitions for certificates for this year's seniors.

faults which were apparent in the game Saturday, and by the time the team steps out onto the field of battle it will be in top form. It is probable that there will be a shift in the line to some extent, and as yet the lineup for the game has not been given out. Several of the new men gave promise of developing, and it is probable that most of the squad will again be seen in action Saturday.

Shriners Will Entertain

News has come that Saturday will be a gala day for the fans. Plenty of entertainment will be provided besides the football game. The Shriners are to meet in Reno on that date and have already laid plans to entertain the crowd at the game. A fifty-piece band from San Francisco will be on hand, as will the thirty-piece one from Sacramento. They will supply the music and between halves the crack drill team from San Francisco will go through their stunts on the field.

The game will start at 2 o'clock Saturday, fifteen minutes ahead of last Saturday's schedule.

As a preliminary, the Fresh and Goofs will tangle in the first of a series of games. This game will start at 12:45.

PUNTS AND PASSES

Runnin' true to form Charlie chewed up a box of stogies last Saturday. After football season is over the cigar manufacturers are gonna have an enforced lay-off due to the great drop in demand.

Andy Smith evidently is foolin' all the calamity howlers on the Coast by developin' a football team which bids fair to go through another victorious season. They took the Pomona Tigers into camp 28-0 and in so doin' proved that they had a lotta punch left in the old Bear paws after all.

"Pop" Warner and his Cardinals ran into the toughest proposition they have had to face and were forced to extend themselves to the utmost to win over the Olympic Club 7-0. With Erney Nevers outa the lineup the Card team looks woefully weak and all goes to prove the old adage that one man can make a football team.

"Buck" Shaw was handed his second defeat of the season by South Carolina. Too bad but then we can't all win.

Speaking of upsets did you see what happened in the East? Lehigh steps out and hands Princeton a 0-0 tie to worry about while Marquette hands the Navy the short end of a 21-3 score. How-come-nobody has been able to figure. It looks like a prosperous year ahead for the small teams.

History of the University

By S. B. DOTEN
The whole attitude of the towns of the State seems to have been that state institutions should be looked upon as spoils, to be distributed more in accordance with local political influence than the desirability of any given situation. This feeling added bitterness to the rivalries between new towns and old, and presented a very difficult problem to the Regents. Having assumed the responsibility of locating the University, they apparently decided that they might pacify existing antagonisms by the show of fairness involved in locating the new institution in the town which made the highest bid. Soon, however, the intensity of the feeling between Carson City and Reno caused the Regents to reconsider even this action, whereupon they discovered, what the law made obvious from the beginning, that the Board of Regents had no power under the law to locate the University anywhere; for the question was one which would in any case be settled by the Legislature.

which authorized the Prison Commissioners to select the site for the building. Ground to the east of Reno was chosen, but, although the construction of the walls was carried to partial completion, the Prison was ultimately kept at Carson City.

Among other provisions of the law which located the University at Elko, a requirement was made that there should be conveyed to the State a tract of land not less than twenty acres, together with a building to cost not less than $10,000, suitable for the uses of a preparatory department. The law also provided that if in the funds of the University there should not be money sufficient to pay for its maintenance, then a transfer should be made from the General School Fund to cover the deficiency. It was also stipulated that in case the University should be removed from Elko at some later date, then the title to the land and building would revert to those who had given them to the State.

Journal Plaintive
The Nevada State Journal (Reno) of April 6, 1872, says plaintively enough: "We understand that the Board of Regents have deferred locating the State University, questioning their powers under existing statutes so to do. So the matter now rests, and those who deposited money on bids for said location can take their cash and put it to other if no better use. We presume the next Legislature will give the matter their early attention."

On March 4, 1873, in the Sixth Session of the Nevada Legislature, after motions had been made and lost to amend by substituting the words "Reno" and "Winnemucca," a bill passed the Senate by a vote of 20 to 3 locating the University at Elko. It passed the Assembly on March 6 by a vote of 37 to 9, and was made a law on March 7 by the approval of Governor L. R. Bradley.

Governor Approved
On the same day the Governor approved an Act to provide for the erection of a new State Prison, an Act

Fashion Show to Feature Next Y. W. C. A. Meeting

A fashion show with the frosh women as models, will be the feature of the Y. W. C. A. meeting for all campus women to be given by the Freshmen Commission on October 23. This was decided at the party given last Thursday evening at Manzanita for the frosh women. It was announced that the list of the various committee members will be made up and read at the next meeting. Every freshman woman will be on some committee, the chairman being Julia Thein, Eva Adams, Ruth Moore, Gertrude Coddington, Margaret Ernst and Mary Rand.

The next meeting will be on October 23, at which Ruth Billingham will talk on "Vitamins," Clarence McNeese on "Combustion of petroleum hydro-carbons" and Hans Lohse on "Fused quartz."

Student body and faculty are invited to attend these meetings.

Yank Bugs Very Droll Kanucks Laugh at Fords But Admit Originality

American college men are very droll. At least, that is what Canadian college folk think of us, as witness the following from the McGill Daily, Montreal:

Fords in yellow paint, in aluminum hoods, in stripes and polka dots, laughing at themselves, with original inscriptions tacked on every conceivable portion of their tin anatomies, trek across the campus like potato bugs, or rattle flamboyantly with the joy of their own gay decorations. Students stop to laugh a minute, then continue on their way to discover other freaks, perhaps, standing on the next corner.

Noticeable this year for the first time, these artistic productions vie with each other in attractions. Probably the best known of these vehicles is the one labeled "Yella Spyder" and painted brightly with arms, legs, and other biological details. Also there are quips, something like this: "The world's 4 most fut-bawl," "Four wheels, and no brakes," "Seventeenth wonder of the ancient world," "Parody on automobiles," "Galloping tarantula," "U scandal car," and "Go ahead and look, the gears are stripped."

Owners promise further competition in the fascinating business of ford decorating, work that will simply eliminate the ones now on exhibition —back them off the map, in fact.

HOOFWEAR Pitching Teams Are Signing Fast for Contest

Only eight more days remain in which to enter the state horseshoe pitching contest which is being sponsored by the Agricultural Club of the University of Nevada. All entries must be in by Oct. 24, or one week from tomorrow.

Ten teams have already entered so the prizes will not be won without overcoming much opposition. The entry list is posted on the bulletin board in the Agricultural building where entries may be made.

Children Abuse Donkey to Show College Spirit

Trying to pass a donkey off as a member of the sophomore class, the frosh brought out one of their little classmates between the halves of the Fresno-Nevada fracas Saturday. The ruse did not get by. In spite of the numeral '27 printed on the burro's shaggy sides, the little beast was easily recognized as being in the same class as the frosh.

But the brawl was a great success, although a bit tough on the little donkey. The crowd took it good naturedly, and some were even seen to laugh. When the donkey came up for air, and stuck his limp ears above the dinks of his little playmates, it was great fun—for everyone but the burro. He hated being laughed at.

"Higher education" means a lot these days. Somebody is always getting hurt in pursuing it—either his ribs are broken, or he flunks the mid-terms. And the town people, they wondered why the underclassmen had to pick on the mule. That was what the burro thought, too. And so did all the sensible people in the bleachers. The frosh hadn't thought about it.

Program to Be Issued by Business Managers

In order to halt interference with the downtown advertising that should go to the regular campus publications, the business managers of the Sagebrush, Artemesia, and Desert Wolf in conjunction, will this year publish the Home-coming Day programs and distribute them free to all students, alumni, and visitors.

The programs will be of the nature of souvenirs, and the managers are planning every detail with such an end in view.

FAIRBROTHER CHOSEN SHARPSHOOTER HEAD

George Fairbrother, who was re-elected captain of the University rifle team at a meeting last Friday afternoon declares that this year's turn-out exceeds by two or three times any he has seen for the last three years.

Captain Johnson raised the hopes of everyone by remarking, that "anyone who can see can learn to shoot." He claims the men are going to beat the women this year. He also urged everyone present to bring someone else around and sign up for the team. All those who wish to try out, but who were not present at the meeting Friday are urged to see Captain Johnson as soon as possible.

Shooting will begin next Tuesday afternoon.

The officers for the coming year were chosen from the last year members. George Fairbrother, re-elected captain; Lawrence Johnson, assistant captain; Ray Holtzman, re-elected secretary.

Home-Ec Informationists to Pilot Aggie Visitors

An information committee was appointed at the last Home Economics Club meeting to guide visitors around the Agricultural Building on Aggie Day, and explain to them the various exhibits of the Home Economics department. On previous Aggie Days visitors have been interested in the exhibits and in seeing how the girls worked, particularly in the weaving courses. This year there will be demonstrations of sewing and weaving, including loom work, dyeing, and batik.

General plans were made for a fancy work bazaar and candy sale to be held the first week of December, to raise money for a new piano which the club is planning on buying for the department rooms.

Mechanical Engineers Hear Eastern Leaders

Penrose and Hartford Told of New Developments in Engineering

In order to establish a closer bond between the eastern and western units, Messrs. Penrose and Hartford, members of the ranking committee of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers are making a tour of the western states. The two men spoke before the local student branch last Monday. Penrose discussed the two important questions before eastern engineers, power and ventilation. He told of the two great power lines recently established, the one which connects Boston and Washington, D. C., and the one connecting Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, and Alabama. The importance of ventilation is shown in the underground tunnel which will connect New York and Jersey City. Again in the recent Pittsburgh street car strike, all motor vehicles were pressed into service. In a short tunnel a traffic jam occurred: the drivers forgot to shut off their engines and several persons were asphyxiated.

He then showed twelve slides of the industrial development of the United States since 1849, and stated the important part engineers have played in it. He also told of many students attending the engineering schools today who were studying to be bankers and business men but who were taking engineering for the mental development it gives.

Hartford outlined the work of the Society. It has 17,500 members in 77 universities in 64 cities, and has the largest enrollment of any engineering society in the United States. It is starting employment service in Chicago and San Francisco. There is an information bureau and library in New York City. The library contains 150,000 volumes and 1100 technical periodicals in 26 languages.

"The spirit of the society is not to be like the grandfather clock which says 'Every forever'; but like the Ingersoll which says 'Get there, get there'."

Rooters' Train Plans Promise Crowd at Cal

Reservations on the Special Must Be Made Before November 12

"Get your tickets early for the big Nevada-California game rooting train," said Bill Clinch, organizer. Tickets are on sale this week, and reservations should be made at time of purchase. The price for the round-trip ticket to Berkeley and return is $11.25, with berth or drawing-room reservations extra.

For those who desire additional quiet, drawing room accommodations for three persons may be obtained at an additional charge of $10.50. Charges for berths will be less than $3.00 each way.

It is necessary to obtain at least 125 passengers to charter the train. All who wish to ride on the special train must have their tickets by November 12 so that the train may be made up correctly.

Although the exact time of departure has not yet been announced, the train will leave some time during Friday night, November 14, arriving in Berkeley early next morning. The return trip will begin Sunday evening, terminating in Reno early Monday morning.

Those who desire tickets and berth or drawing room reservations should make it a point to see Bill Clinch at the earliest possible moment.

ROTARIANS SELL FLOWERS TO HELP NEEDY STUDENTS

To give financial assistance to some worthy and needy student on the football team, members of the Rotary Club sold white chrysanthemums at the athletic field Saturday, with the letter N embossed in blue in the center of the flower.

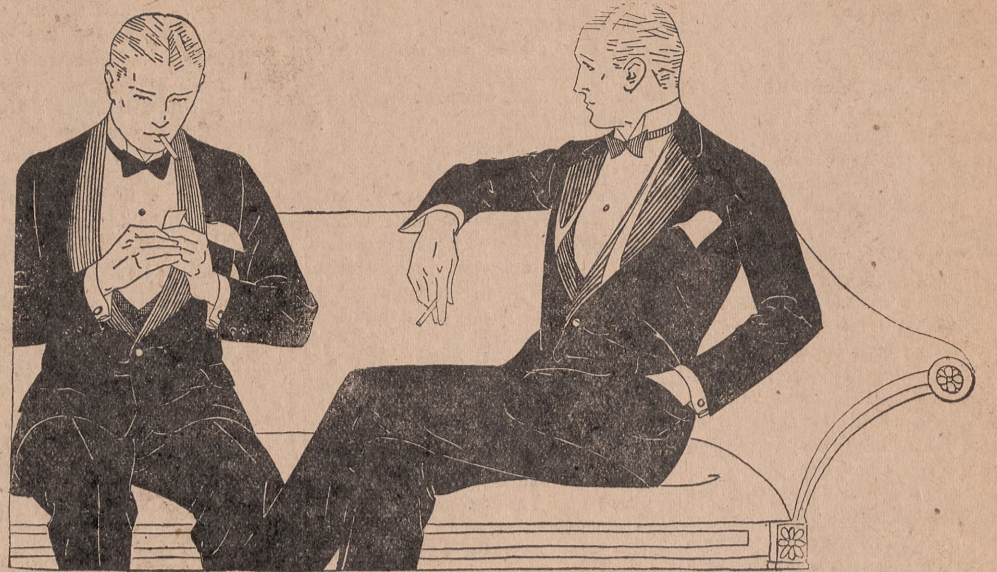

The flowers were donated by Mr. Cooper of the Reno Florist Shop. The entire proceeds, together with those to be derived from the selling of flowers at subsequent football games, will be used to give financial aid to deserving students.

ROAD BEHIND HALL GRADED

Monday morning a force of men equipped with heavy grading machinery began tearing up the dirt road back of Lincoln Hall preparatory to hard-surfacing this approach to Lincoln Hall and Mackay field.

The intention is also to smooth and gravel the parking grounds immediately behind Lincoln Hall.

First Football Rally Stirs Nevada's Spirit

Songs, yells, and general enthusiasm were predominate features of the year's first football rally, staged last Friday night. As a primer for the Fresno game, over 300 men students left Manzanita Hall for a march through town.

Led by the seniors, the parade moved over to University avenue, where a halt was called to give "three" for the varsity men. Cheered on by the yell leaders, the football fans headed for town. At Virginia and Second streets a huge circle was formed while the men aired their vocal attainments and the yell leaders swung their "dukes."

The traffic was tied up but they woke up Reno. Swinging around to the Golden Hotel a halt was called to give the Fresno team a yell. Here "Prexy" Keating said a few words in praising the men for their display of spirit and cautioning them against letting it lag. In front of the Postoffice the rally

Sociology Class Hibrow; Shows It in Book Voting

Charles Dickens proved to be the most popular author of the Rural Sociology class in the contest held by Professor R. G. Foster. Each member made a list of the 10 best books read, and from these Professor Foster tallied his information, 29 of the 37 members preferred Dickens' works.

The total number of books listed was 370, of which 212 were different books. "The Tale of Two Cities" by Dickens lead the list by a total choice of 13 while "The Virginian" by Owen Wester was a close second. The "Bible" was chosen twice.

"The Crisis," "Silas Marner," "The House of Seven Gables," "David Copperfield," and "When a Man's A Man" were found to be about equally well read and liked.

disbanded after the singing of the college hymn. This is but the first of several rallies to be staged this fall for the purpose of maintaining a fighting spirit in the bleachers to back up the Wolf Pack.

PENCIL DRAWING METHOD HERE CAUSES ATTENTION

Professor Katherine Lewers' system of fixing pencil drawings has been complimented by Prof. Dawson, head of the art department at Columbia University. This system was called to his notice by the drawings presented by Willis Church, '23, who is studying architecture there. All his drawings were accepted, and he was given advanced standing.

In looking over the drawings, many of which are pencil, Dawson noticed that none of them were blurred. Pencil is the most difficult medium to instruct and to preserve. He asked Church how Prof. Lewers kept them from blurring and had him demonstrate how it was done. Prof. Dawson was most interested and expects to introduce and use it at Columbia.

The technique used by Professor Lewers and originated by her is very simple. Kerosene, gasoline or turpentine is applied to the material on which the drawing is to be made. The sheet of paper is wet only on the back and then laid on a cloth during drawing.
