NEW DORMITORY NAMELESS; CASH PRIZE FOR IDEA IS BRUSH OFFER

Students, Faculty Are Invited To Name
Structure

Three stories of brick and stone rise as Nevada's newest Campus building. To all appearances the finishing touches have all but been completed. But even when the last nail is driven, when the final stroke of the paintbrush is made, the new building will still be uncompleted. Something of vital importance will be lacking before the pile of masonry will be fit to join Nevada's family of halls.

Like the new-born babe, this latest addition to the Hill has yet to be named. So important does The Sagebrush consider this task of christening the new hall that it has called upon the Campus to supply the most fitting name.

Prize Given

To aid the regents in securing an appropriate appellation, one which will endure to eternity, The Sagebrush is running a "Name the Hall" contest, with a cash prize going to the originator of the winning name.

The contest is open to any student, alumnus, or faculty member of the University of Nevada, each person being allowed to submit as many names as they desire, providing each is turned out on a separate sheet, to the Sagebrush office, accompanied by the name of the originator. No names will be accepted after January 25.

The board of regents, meeting with President Walter E. Clark, at the next session will pass on the winning name after which The Sagebrush prize will be awarded.

ORCHESTRA NOW WITHOUT LEADER

Professor E. E. Williams has been forced to give up his position as director of the university orchestra which he organized last semester. Due to poor health he cannot devote the amount of time to this work that it requires, Professor Williams stated.

No successor had been found, but as the orchestra has a full enrollment this semester it is hoped by authorities that the work will be continued.

FORMER VARSITY STAR WEDS DURING HOLIDAYS

James Koehler, '24, and Elaine Baker ex-'25, were married in San Francisco during the past holiday season. Koehler was a member of Kappa Lambda fraternity and also of the Block N society, having won his letter three years as a miler on the Varsity track team. The couple will reside in San Francisco where Koehler is studying law.

SAYINGS OF SORORITY SUE--

It certainly is wonderful what an effect bobbed hair has on the faculty.

SONG LEADER IS SUGGESTED FOR COEDS BY W. A. A.

Society Will Enforce
Traditions About
School Pins

An amendment to provide for a song leader as a regular officer of the Associated Women students of the University of Nevada was proposed at the regular meeting held this morning in the auditorium of the Education building.

If this amendment passes a song leader will be elected at a regular election in March.

"Traditions for women, such as the rule against the wearing of high school pins and rings, will be enforced the same as any other traditions," said Frances Humphrey, president of the organization.

"This rule is being frantically broken, and from now on the names of any violators will be handed in to the upperclass committee and the students recommended for punishment."

President Humphrey also announced that the regular election would be held early this year in order that the president-elect may be the Nevada delegate to the Associated Women's conference to be held in Los Angeles early in April.

NUGGETS AGAIN MINED ON HILL Six Fraternities Pledge Fifteen New Men This Semester

More nuggets!—and more nuggets! One would say that a gold rush was in progress.

But, no—not a gold, but a fraternity rush. Fraternities have scrapped the ground, have fed new men, have at last hung their banners of pledge and perhaps servitude upon the coat lapel of the said "nugget."

There are exactly fifteen bright new pledge buttons upon fifteen bright new individuals. This number is divided up among six of the eight fraternities on the Hill.

Sigma Nu and Beta Kappa have each new pledges.

Russel Garcia, Fred Hammond, John Argus and Bob Hook wear the Sigma Nu button, while Charles Drake, Dorlan Peckham, Merle Frehner, and Adrian Alkin are now wearing the Beta Kappa pledge button.

Delta Sigma Lambda proudly point to three shining "nuggets"—William Cheney, Oakland, California; Alvin Brown and Allen Mori, both of Reno.

Kappa Lambda have placed their pledge button upon Bob Sears, Lone Pine, California, and Robert Blackman, Winton, California.

Both Phi Sigma Kappa and Sigma Alpha Epsilon report the pledging of one, S. A. E.'s new "nugget" being Willard McKeenan, and Phi Sig's Ray Graves.

LINCOLN MEN ARE PUT THROUGH THEIR PACES IN "WEE SMA' HOURS"

When lights were low last night, when the usual layer of frost was gently falling on the Campus, and when all small boys should have been faithfully tucked in bed, the sophomore of Lincoln Hall pounced upon eight unsuspecting and bewildered freshmen and whisked them through the dark rites of Lincoln initiation.

The induction of the new men into Lincoln Hall fellowship was done in the greatest secrecy, only the sophomore paddle wielders and the victims themselves being present.

STUDENT LOSES VISITING PARENT

Mrs. A. N. Waite of Portola, Calif., mother of Calda Waite, '29, died in Reno Tuesday where she had come to visit her daughter, who has just entered the University this semester.

JUNIOR DETAINED; TO RETURN SOON

After having recovered from an injury to an eye, Amy Goodman, '27, became ill with mumps at her home in Ely. Miss Goodman will prolong her absence from the University, but expects to register sometime next week.

NEWSPAPERMEN PLAN TO HONOR LATE GOVERNOR

Second campus meeting
Of State Press
Association

The possibilities of erecting a permanent memorial for the late ex-Governor Emmet D. Boyle will be one of the subjects to be discussed at the meeting of the Nevada State Press Association to be held in Reno on Saturday, January 16.

The Association is composed of representatives from a number of state newspapers, and was formed at the University of Nevada two years ago. Harold P. Hale, Editor of the Elko Independent, has been president for the past year.

The purpose of the association is to bring the editors of Nevada newspapers closer together so as to cooperate on the matter of getting state news and a standardization of advertising rates.

Professor A. L. Higginbotham of the University, Graham Sanford, Manager of the Reno Evening Gazette, and Joe McDonald, Manager of the Nevada State Journal, will act as the entertainment committee. A banquet is planned for the members of the association to be given by the two Reno papers.

D. A. E. "RECTOR" PRESENTATION TO BE FEBRUARY 15

Some Shifts in Cast;
Other Plans Are Unchanged

"The Rector," Delta Alpha Epsilon's principal interest right now, will be presented to the campus on February fifth instead of on the fifteenth of this month, the date first decided upon. This change of plans was made necessary by a change in the cast of characters.

Mardelle Scott, who is at present in Sacramento, will not return to school this semester, so her part of "Margaret" has been transferred to Fred Humphrey. The role of "Mrs. Munsey" will be portrayed by Amy Goodman, according to the original plans, even though Miss Goodman will be delayed in returning to school.

Rehearsals are being held faithfully every other day, according to Dorothy Ward, the organization's new president.

Although the date of the presentation of the play has been changed, the plans of a joint entertainment with Caucous and Clonina remain the same, together with the admission charge of 25 cents, and the plan of holding the performance in the auditorium of the Education building.

BUSINESS GROUP DISCUSSES FRAT

Two Nationals Brought Up At Meeting Of Business Men

Discussion on the advisability of petitioning a national professional business fraternity took place at a meeting of upper classmen majoring in business administration and economics, held Wednesday evening in the business department at the Education building.

The general opinion was quite favorable to taking initial steps in securing such a fraternity chapter at the University and two organizations were considered, Delta Sigma Pi and Kappa Alpha Pi, both rating at the top among national business fraternities, were discussed, both organizations having representatives on the faculty of the business department at the University.

Since neither group considered allows women to become members it will be necessary to organize a separate body to handle the petitioning. To perfect such an organization a meeting will be called next Tuesday evening at 7 p. m. in the business department of the Education building, to which the attendance of all men majoring in business or economics is desired.

AGENT WILL INTERVIEW ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS

A representative of the General Electric company will be in Reno February 4 to interview seniors in electrical engineering regarding employment in the company's student engineering school. Usually one and sometimes two students of the university accept employment with this company each year.

CHARLESTONING SKATER CHARLESTONS TOO MANY CHARLESTONS AT ONCE

Have you seen the "ice skate version" of the "Charleston"? You might have had you looked out on Manzanita lake at just the right time on just the right day.

Red sweated arms were waving, and Oxford bags were flopping. It was a pretty sight, with the real old time darky swing and pep. The ice splintered up in fine white spray, steel runners shone as one; and then instantaneously caught and reflected the cold gleam of the sun.

An interested circle of spectators marked time to the brisk tune whistled by the talented one. Suddenly—BANG!!—More than the Oxford bags had flopped that time—and the "Charleston" was over.

SLIGHT CHANGES IN NUMBERS WHO LIVE AT HOUSES

U. Of N. Fraternities
And Sororities Give
Semester Report

A slight difference is shown in the number of men and women living in fraternity and sorority houses this semester.

Among the sororities Delta Delta Delta leads, there being 14 women in that house this semester against eight last semester. Gamma Phi Beta has 13, the same number as last semester. Kappa Alpha Theta has nine, two less than last semester; and Pi Beta Phi has 12 against 15 of last semester.

Alpha Tau Omega heads the fraternities with 23 men; Beta Kappa is next with 22; Sigma Nu has 20; Sigma Phi Sigma, 20; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 19; Kappa Lambda, 18; Delta Sigma Lambda, 17; and Phi Sigma Kappa, 14.

HUG APPOINTS COMMITTEE FOR REVISING RULES

A committee to revise the A. S. U. N. Constitution was appointed by Proctor Hug, president of the Associated Students of the University of Nevada, on Monday.

The constitution as it now stands contains several conflicting articles, and in order to remedy this defect, a committee has been chosen to reconstruct it.

Upon being revised, the constitution will be presented to the Student Body to be approved.

Bill Anderson, '26, has been appointed chairman of this committee, and Evelyn Nelson, '26, and Roy Whitacre, '26, will work with him.

Y. W. C. A. CABINET POSITION VACANT

A vacancy on the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, made by the resignation of Helen Adamson, '26, is to be filled within a week or two. The cabinet will appoint a woman who has done good work on a committee and who is interested in the Y. W. C. A. to fill the place.

The Y. W. C. A. plans to hold regular meetings this semester in Manzanita on Wednesday at 4:30 o'clock every three weeks. If any woman has suggestions for the meetings, they should be given to Esther Summerfield, president, or to any cabinet member. Any woman interested in the Y. W. C. A. is welcome to attend these meetings whether she is a member or not.

AGENT WILL INTERVIEW ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS

A representative of the General Electric company will be in Reno February 4 to interview seniors in electrical engineering regarding employment in the company's student engineering school. Usually one and sometimes two students of the university accept employment with this company each year.

COLLEGE OF PACIFIC GAME CRUCIAL MEET FOR NEVADA

Wolves and Tigers Clash in Important Game
With Widely Different Styles
Of Attack And Defense

Special to The Sagebrush.
STOCKTON, Calif., Jan. 15.—The University of Nevada basketball team arrived here this morning. The entire team is in good condition with plenty of enthusiasm over tonight's game. The overnight trip by train seems to have had no ill effects. Indications point to a record crowd for both tonight and tomorrow night. Interest here is running high.

Playing on a foreign floor, the Nevada Varsity basketball team will go into action against the College of Pacific tonight and tomorrow at Stockton their second series of the season. Coach Martie expects the Tigers to give the Wolves plenty of stiff competition. His opinion, "They are the team to beat if the conference championship comes to Nevada," shows that it will be one of the most crucial as well as difficult games of the season.

PROMINENT MEN TO TALK BEFORE BUREAU MEETING

Nevada Farmers Will Hold Conference
At Las Vegas

Las Vegas, Nevada has been selected as the meeting place for the Nevada State Farm Bureau Conference to be held from January 25 to 29 inclusive. Eleven counties are to be represented with five delegates from each county.

Speakers from Nevada and other states will be present. Among them are: Governor James G. Shruborn of Nevada, President Carl Grey of the Union Pacific Railroad, A. C. Hartison, former president of the Farm Bureau Federation, Dr. W. A. Lloyd, Frank Evans, Mgs. Iven Gord of Utah, Cecil W. Creel director of the University of Nevada Extension Division, Dr. H. Record and Dr. S. C. Dinsmore.

The Board of Directors: J. D. Yeager from Simpson, Nevada; Mrs. C. C. Iron of Elko, first vice-president; Mrs. C. A. Boudette of Verdi, second vice-president; J. L. Hollinger of Lincoln county and Mrs. E. Carlson, secretary and treasurer.

Trips will be made to the Nevada rim of the Colorado Basin, the Buried City, Valley of Fire, and to the Virgin, Moapa and Las Vegas Valleys during the conference.

STUDENT TESTER IN LYON COUNTY

NUMBER OF NEW MEN IN LINCOLN

Among the old timers are Gus Wahlund, '28, and Walter Cox, '28, Lawrence Chaffee, '27, Norman Haight, '26, and Victor Pimentel, '27, are old students taking their first semester at the hall. The new men are Earl Warren, '29, Burnett Polhemus, '29, and Jack Tavelle, '27.

SNOW SURVEY IS TOPIC OF TALK BY DR. CHURCH

Dr. J. E. Church, professor of the classics, delivered an address before the Brotherhood club of the Presbyterian church of Carson City Monday night.

Dr. Church's subject was "Snow Survey and Mountain Memories."

BULMER SECRETARY OF HOME EC. CLUB

Barbara Bulmer, '28, was elected to the office of secretary-treasurer of the Home Economics club at a regular meeting of the Club held last Thursday evening. After the business meeting Marjorie Roach, '26, gave a report on home economics growth in foreign countries and Naomi Ayers, '27, gave a comic reading.

Pacific Has Same Men

The College of Pacific is using exactly the same line-up, man for man, that they used last year.

They have already played a number of games this season, being beaten by California to the tune of 18 to 14 and lost to the Olympic Club by a few points.

In their series with the Fresno State Teachers College they won one game and lost the other, both by very close scores.

Taking the experience gained in this season's games, plus the fact that they played last season with the same lineup as this year it is evident that Nevada in her second game is going up against a squad of veterans.

Man-for-Man Defense

For the first time this season the Nevada basketball team will oppose an enemy using a man-for-man defense. This will be a new experience for the Pack, but there is a still greater novelty in store for the Tigers in the form of Clover, guarding for Nevada.

The series will be contested on the new gymnasium at Stockton. The fact that the court has been recently completed will tend to even the inequalities resulting in games on a court, foreign to one team and familiar to another.

Squad Cut Down

Cut down in size Monday night, the Nevada basketball squad now contains only nine men to do battle against the College of the Pacific. The team consists of Goodale, Watson, Clover, Bream, Fredericks, Lawton, Connolly, Bailey, and Agrusa. Other possible changes in the lineup following the games with the Tigers were hinted by Coach Martie.

ITALY STUDIED; RAVIOLI EATEN; IN DAE MEETING

Ravioli—ravioli! Yummmmm.

Delta Alpha Epsilon had them for refreshments in connection with their regular meeting held last night at the Kappa Alpha Theta house on Fifth and Ralston streets.

Why Ravioli? Because the society studied Italy in regard to Italian literature, art, music and peoples. Thusly, the ravioli, which certainly puts one in the mood for the study of this country.

A business meeting preceded the entertainment, Ruth Olmsted, '26, acted as presiding officer due to the absence of Dorothy Ward, '26, newly elected president of the group.

Plans for this semester's work were made, perhaps the most important business being that of appointing a committee on membership which will advise the society on the eligibility of women majors and minors in English who will in the future be elected to membership.

WILSON TO TALK AT CONFERENCE

F. W. Wilson, professor of animal husbandry, expects to leave next week to attend the county agents' conference and annual farm bureau meeting to be held in Las Vegas. He will be gone a week.

At this conference he will talk on grading of hay, wool, and beef cattle in accordance with the standards set by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture.

ARTEMESIA ART Says:--

That the photographic editor has sent out a call for snapshots. All pictures gratefully received. Sport pictures, serious pictures, foolish snaps, big ones, little ones, or what have you? Remember the final date is February 1, but the first ones in will stand a better chance of getting in the book.

If you haven't taken any snapshots, why not raid the family album, your room-mates scrap book, or your best girl's memory book? Each house group should designate some member to collect pictures, and in that way be sure of their representation in the Artemesia.

Preparing the organization panels, which should have been completed today, will be delayed a few days due to the fact that a large number of students have failed to return the proofs of their pictures to the Riverside Studio. The organization editors are now engaged in a game of guess-who-belong-to-this-negative. Y O U could speed up the process by returning your proofs tomorrow. Unidentified pictures, obviously, can't find a place in the Artemesia.

But, cheer up, because this epidemic of final-dates for the Artemesia will soon be over. And then all you'll have to do between classes is to sit around and wait for Mackay Day.

Why Write? Send The 'Brush

STUDENTS' UNION MAY BE FORMED THROUGH U MAN

Conference Called By Former Nevadan At Princeton

Through the instigation of Walker G. Matheson, '25, a national intercollegiate conference was called at Princeton December 11, when it was decided to form a permanent student union to be composed of all the colleges and universities in the United States whose student bodies are sufficiently wide-awake to support the objects of the organization.

The salient purpose of the proposed union is to stimulate thought not only of students, but of the nation, on questions of national and international importance. This union is not a reality yet, for the proposition of its establishment was voted on by the delegates at the conference as individuals, not as representatives of their colleges.

Matheson was the first American secretary of the national student organization and was elected to that position while he attended Nevada. He represented the University on several occasions in intercollegiate matters, and was prominent in other campus welfare work, besides being editor of last year's Sagebrush.

HISTORICAL AXE SENT TO FULTON

An old broad axe, the gift of Mr. Baker of the Comstock merger mines, has recently been received by the State Mining laboratory at the University. The axe was found in one of the old mines.

Although this axe has no definite historic value as yet, its type proves the age of the instrument. J. A. Fulton, director of the Mackay School of Mines stated that the axe was used for squaring mine timbers and was employed before saws found their way into that use.

Fulton intends to further investigate the value of the donation as a historic piece symbolizing Nevada's foundation. The axe will then be turned over to the museum of the Nevada Historical society.

The University of Utah has inaugurated a brief course in skiing, for which college credit is given.

Candy Flies When Night Staff Works

Five pounds of luscious brown and white caramels bearing the inscription "They melt in your mouth" greeted The Sagebrush night staff when they went on duty Monday evening.

A big round box it was. Red, with symmetrical rows of daintily wrapped candy staring out from between the inscription and the colored edge.

When the evening began the box was 18 inches across and contained 186 pieces of candy. When the evening ended there was a pile of copy on the hook, an empty box, and that same inscription saying "They melt in your mouth."

And they did!

RECORD SYSTEM USED BY A. & S.

All freshman entering the College of Arts and Science this semester were required to fill out personnel record blanks. These records contained such information as employers are liable to ask for after the student has left school. Space is provided for part of their high school record and for all of their record while at college.

These are the immediate result of inquiries from prospective employers for the records of certain students in the school, and it felt that with this system it will be possible to furnish just what information is wanted.

DE MOLAY OF ELKO TO RECEIVE SCHOLARSHIP

NO OIL FOUND IN ELKO SPECIMENS

Hydrocarbons in a dried-up condition, but no oil, was the report made last week by the mining laboratory on the results of tests made on fossils sent from Elko county in which it was hoped oil would be discovered.

These fossils are brachiopods, a distinctly marine animal; and although this particular species is now extinct, brachiopods inhabit present day oceans and are found in abundance near Japan, according to the report.

The rock is carbonaceous limestone and is millions of years old. It was formed during the Mississippian or Pennsylvanian age.

The fossils are exceedingly good classroom specimens and Dr. Jones, professor of geology, will keep them with his collection.

BIG FUTURE OF NON-METALLICS OF STATE SEEN

Dr. Palmer Conducting Experiments in Laboratory

Special work is being conducted by the state mining laboratory on non-metallics found in Nevada. "Members of the laboratory believe there is a greater future in non-metallics than there is in metallics," Professor E. M. Palmer, director of the laboratory, stated.

Work has been started on one of these non-metallics known as dumortierite. This mineral occurs near Rochester and has been found excellent for making Spark Plugs. The Champion Spark Plug Company of Detroit has recently purchased claims there. Up until this time they used analcime that was high in the mountains near Bishop, Calif.

As the grade of dumortierite is rather low, the laboratory and ore-dressing class of the University are to conduct tests to see if the grade can be raised to such an extent that low grade ore can be used. Material for these tests is furnished by C. D. DeLenne of Rochester.

Tests are also being conducted on cyanite and sillimanite specimens which were brought from the southern part of the state by Gov. Scruggan and Director J. A. Fulton of the Mackay School of Mines.

Some bismuth samples, also, have been secured from E. C. Watson of Mina.

The bureau of mines is cooperating in this work. It has already sent specimens to the geophysical laboratory of the Carnegie institute in Washington for special tests as to their value in porcelain making.

Other tests will probably be conducted from time to time.

GREAT FOOTBALL COACH RETURNED TO WEST COAST

Body To Be Cremated And Ashes Strewn Over Stadium

With the whole football world in mourning, the funeral services for Andrew Latham Smith will be held in the California Memorial Stadium tomorrow. His remains were shipped from Philadelphia, where he died, to Berkeley and in accordance with his wishes will be cremated and the ashes scattered over the stadium. Services were held in Philadelphia Saturday under the direction of Rev. John L. Hart, chaplain of the University of Pennsylvania, and his body was shipped that night.

Was Great Player.

"Andy" Smith was 43 years old and was regarded as one of the greatest football players ever produced at the University of Pennsylvania. He was chosen for the 1904 all-American football team by most of the sport writers throughout the country, in addition to being heralded as the greatest fullback at that time. He came to the University of California in 1915 and since 1920 has been producing championship teams. He went east to attend the Pennsylvania-Cornell game on Thanksgiving day and two days later went to New York to witness the Army-Navy contest. Exposure brought on a severe cold which later developed into pneumonia. He was taken from his hotel to the University hospital under the care of Dr. Robert G. Torrey, a team-mate of Smith's Pennsylvania days. For a time he appeared to improve, but with the development of ulcers he failed rapidly.

Had New Contract.

Smith's contract at California had expired, but the California authorities had forwarded him a new contract, said to call for an annual salary of $12,500.

The contract arrived after the head coach was taken ill and he died without having affixed his signature.

He left his entire estate to the University of California. The estate is to be divided up into several parts, $10,000 going to two scholarships for members of the football squad, $2,000 going to the Elks' club of Berkeley, and the remainder to be divided between the Skulls and Keys, Interfraternity organization at the University, and the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, of which Smith was a member.

Varsity Captains Pallbearers.

Robert M. Smith, his only relative, arrived this week from Dubois, Pennsylvania, which is the family home. Acting as pall-bearers will be former University of California varsity football captains. This will allow Smith to be near, to the very end, those kind men that he admired and that admired him—football men.

ALLEN IS AGAIN CHAMPION CAVE MAN OF CMPUS

"Max" Wins in strength Tests With a Total Of 1550

Max Allen, '28, again proved himself the strongest man on the Campus by piling up a total of 1550 points in the strength tests. This is one hundred points better than his nearest opponent but misses his mark of last semester by 165. C. Gustin, '23, placed second with 1450 points and M. Martin, '23, third with 1445. R. Hansen, '23, and Cecil Gay, '28, made fourth and fifth respectively.

Allen did not succeed in breaking any records this year but he remains the cave-man of the Campus, since he has placed highest in the tests for two years now. He has a grip of 175 pounds in his right and left hands separately and a back lift of 250 pounds.

'28 Takes All Places

Cassius Gustin walked away with the leg-lift at 590 pounds, but could not come up to the record of 605 established by Allen last year.

Lester Spinney, '28, made a new record in the lung test, beating his own mark of last semester. He placed the machine at the 490 mark, as high as it will go, so there are not many who could better or even equal his lung capacity.

Louis Cavatho, '23, took the pull-up with 17 points.

The class of 1928 seems to have placed itself at the top of the list as far as strength is concerned if anything can be doped from individual performances. They have taken every first place in the tests and the first five positions in the ranking for the University.

HARDESTY HEIRS PRESENT BOOKS

Heirs of the late Edward Piat Hardesty, state senator from Elko county in 1889, have recently presented to the Nevada Historical Society a set of the historical works of Bancroft which was a gift of the senator's to his wife. Two portraits of Senator and Mrs. Hardesty were also given by the heirs.

UNIQUE MINERAL PUZZLES MINERS

Members of the mining laboratory of the Mackay School of Mines were greatly puzzled over a new mineral received last week.

After working a time the mineral was discovered to be a very uncommon form of gypsum with considerable impurities. The specimen was sent from southern Nevada.

The next meeting of this association will be in Philadelphia next year.

LAST CALL

DOWN IN Stockton tonight the Wolf Pack is fighting in the first conference game of the season—and then again tomorrow night. Several times this year the Pack has been away from home—and almost as many times the men whom Nevada sends have found that Nevada seemingly does not care whether they go, come, win, lose, live or die.

There is a certain amount of "rah, rah" pep stuff when the team leaves, but how many times has the Campus been there en masse to send them off right? Never has there been more than a handful to welcome them home.

Last night's rally went over very good. A sizeable crowd was present and a fine spirit was shown—Will it last over the week-end, or will the parties, the dances and joy rides crowd all thoughts of the Hill and the men out fighting for her out of mind.

We've pleaded, begged, asked and dared men and women of Nevada to sacrifice a little bit of their own pleasure for just a few minutes and meet the team, some whim postponed. It's up to you now—What will be the outcome?

NEVADA'S MUSIC

THE UNIVERSITY orchestra, according to a news report in this week's Sagebrush, has lost a very capable director. Its future looks dark.

Music has too little stress at Nevada as it is, while we are handicapped in a way by lack of funds for somethings, there should be some way at least to give the students and faculty a good share of the finer things where music tops the list. Perhaps some way will be found in time permitting Nevada to have a man who can devote his full time to these things, and who can build up that side of the Campus life.

Appreciation of music, art, literature and kindred subjects that denote a truly "higher education" is one of the distinguishing marks of a better University.

PAGE THE REASON

THE college average is considerably lower than it has been for several semesters; the honor roll is not so long, and the highest average is at least .12 per cent lower than it has been in previous years. These are the facts of the case—they give rise to a question as to the reasons.

Is it that the student body as a whole is lying down on the job? Is it that they are indulging in too many extra-curriculum activities? Or are the profs "tightening up"—handing out more work and fewer "ones"?

Happily, it is hard to think of a general relapse into laziness. If it be so, cry shame to the quitters who would make our Campus yellow. They who are guilty of "backing out" should think what it would mean if every member of the student body would do the same.

If too many activities is the solution—and it may well be, for the wealth of activities to choose from has been mentioned before—then they have ceased in their usefulness, for to every Campus organization the first and only important concern should be the University welfare.

If the blame may be laid to the profs, so much the better. A tightening up, a demand for more and better work will eventually raise the scholarship standard until a "one" means a really extraordinary accomplishment. It may be harder to achieve, and the external evidence may be derogatory, as last semester's honor roll seems to be, but it will help Nevada to insure its place as a University which stands for true scholarship and high ideals.

CALIFORNIA is mourning the loss of a great coach—"Andy" Smith. Other colleges too, however, feel the loss of this man. Smith irrespective of what kind of a team he turned out at the Berkeley institution, was a leader of men and an outstanding figure among football coaches.

Smith's loyalty to his school is a rare thing. The memory of this real sportsman should be held dear to the hearts of Californians forever and Smith's career upheld as an ideal for other coaches in other institutions.

Some of the most perilous thrills ever filmed are promised in "The Timber Wolf," playing at the Wigwam Theater tonight and tomorrow night. In this picture, Buck Jones, who takes the lead, is given every opportunity to display his ability as a champion horseman.

If an unparalleled cast of comedians makes an exceedingly funny picture, the reason for the great success of Reginald Denny's "Where Was I?" which is coming to the Wigwam Theater Sunday, January 17, for four days, is explained.

It could not be anything but a rip-roaring comedy-drama full of the most joyous laughs that ever greeted the screen's funniest actor. He got away to a flying start with the clever "Leather Pusher" series several years ago and since has been steadily progressing through bigger and funnier movies.

The Book Mart

In the "Red Lamp," Mary Roberts Rinehart has returned to the field of her early successes, "The Circular Staircase," "The Man in Lower Ten," and "The After House," but she has added some interesting machinery in the form of seances, supernatural visitants, and experimentation with the occult that provides the reader with a variety of complex shivers due to the presence of crime and to the constant hovering about of "things that go bump in the night."

In playing the game of cat and mouse Mrs. Rinehart has few equals. Her book is a little like poker, the author's success consists in preserving a "poker face" and the reader's in "calling his bluff."

WOLF PACK MEETS FIRST DEFEAT AT HANDS OF OKLAHOMA SAVAGES

Southerners Have Precision And Smoothness But Have to Fight For Every Point

The Wolf Pack met their two first defeats of the season last Friday and Saturday nights when they were forced to bow to the strong Oklahoma Teachers quintet. The Southerners moved with a precision and smoothness that was good to watch and it was certainly no disgrace to be defeated by such an exceptional team. They were easily the smoothest working team that has stepped on the Nevada court since the Los Angeles Blues made their appearance here.

Wolves Outclassed But Good
Despite the fact that they were outclassed, the Wolves fought with a stubborn determination that has seldom been equaled on the Hill and in doing so turned what might have been a walkaway for the visitors into fast games. The two teams played in direct contrast to each other; the Savages working with a rhythm and teamwork and the Wolves fighting with a grim determination but little team work.

The first game started with what seemed to be a perfect walkaway for the visitors. On the first tipoff the Savages went straight through for a score and hope sank in the Wolf supporters but the Wolves began to fight.

If the fans had any fears brought about by "Spud" Harrison's graduation, they were soon dispelled when "Les" Clover got into action. It is seldom that a standing guard gets into the limelight but if anyone deserves the right to be called star it should be Clover. Right on Clover's heels came Bill Goodale and he deserves plenty credit as he was playing with an injured leg.

In both games the Nevadans were unfortunate in their shooting and could not seem to keep up their percentage of shots. The Southerners, on the other hand, placed them in, almost at will.

The half of the first game ended with the score 16-5 against the Pack but in the second half the Wolves got in their ticks and actually outscored the Southerners although they did not outplay them. The Pack had an unquenchable determination to get the ball to the basket from where some miraculous overhead shots resulted. The final whistle stopped the rush when the Wolves were but three baskets from victory. Had the game continued for another five minutes the Pack might have won as they were overhauling the Savages in a hurry.

Line-up For Games
Bream was high point man for the Wolves while Cartwright was first in scoring for the Teachers, the former gathering 8 points while the big center from the south was responsible for 9. The lineup for both teams was as follows:

NEVADA	OKLAHOMA
Lawson.....Forward	Currin
Bream.....Forward	Bryce
Watson.....Center	Cartwright
Fredericks.....Guard	Summerall
Clover.....Guard	Laughlin

Second Game Slower
In the second game the playing was much the same except that both teams showed the effects of the hard game the night previous. The Wolves were the first to score when Bream snagged a pass from Fredericks and rang the hoop for two points. Nevada's lead was short lived for soon after Cartwright looped the ring for the Southerners. They kept their lead and added points until they stood 12-7 at the half.

Nevada was having the same difficulties that they had had the previous night in regard to their shooting with Fredericks having especially hard luck. In the second half the Wolves played the same fighting game but the Savages continued to score points and the final whistle blew with the visitors in the lead 28-17.

Clover again played a marvelous game at guard while the forwards worked together much better than they had the previous night. Watson found his shooting eye and accounted for 6 points after a wild minute which had the Savages wondering what it was all about. Bream also gathered 6 points, being Watson for high point honors of the Wolves while Bryce and

NOTICE

"Any track men who have varsity ambitions must first live up to the conference rules. If the hope to participate in any major meets this spring," said "Doc" Martie yesterday.

The ruling, as brought about last fall, specifies the requirement that the athletes must have passed in two-thirds of the hours the term previous and must also be passing in two-thirds of their hours two weeks before the first conference meet. Martie gives this warning so that the trackmen will be able to see what they must do if they hope to represent Nevada on the track or field.

FROSH CLEAN UP CLUB FIVE 20-7 IN ROUGH GAME

First Year Men Good After They Get Started

As a preliminary to the second Oklahoma-Varsity scuffle, the freshman partially redeemed themselves by taking over the Southwestern Athletic Club quintet by a 20-7 score. The game started off with rough playing on both sides, the playing on the frosh's side being extremely erratic.

The clubmen seldom came close enough to their opponent's goal to even shoot at the basket and the only reason that the frosh did not run up an impressive score in the first half was due to the inability of the freshmen forwards to hit the hoop.

After the game warmed up the frosh settled down and proceeded to run their opponents ragged until the second half. The second stringers kept pace with the first squad until near the end when the regulars again went in and finished the matter. Lombardi starred for the frosh with six points, while Taylor, Laylor and Pedder followed him with four points. The starting team was Lombardi and Taylor as forwards; Leavitt at center, and Lawlor and Raycraft at guards.

W. A. A. DISCUSSES DELEGATE PLANS FOR CONVENTION

Adams and Pasquali to Have Charge Of Banquet

The question of sending delegates to the national convention of Womens Athletic Association to be held in Washington in April was one of the most important subjects discussed at the W. A. A. meeting Tuesday afternoon. Nevada has been delegated as recording secretary of the convention. Questions pertaining to the high school tournament to be held the first week in March were discussed. W. A. A. is to have charge of the women's end of the tournament and probably of the concessions.

The questions of sweaters again arose, and it was decided that coeds earning their sweaters should have a choice between the coat or slip-over sweater. E. Adams and T. Pasquale were appointed chairmen for the basketball banquet to be held on February 26. A committee has been appointed to look into the matter of an appropriate award for senior women who have won their sweaters and then secured more points. It was suggested that they be given blankets but a ruling of the National Womens Athletic Association forbids this.

RENO HIGH WINS WITH BIG SCORE

With a fast, flashy offensive and a strong back wall, the Reno high basketball team easily defeated the Gardnerville quintet in the home gymnasium Saturday night, by a score of 43 to 19.

Reno led the visitors through the entire game, but the Gardnerville squad kept up a steady and plucky fight which made the game interesting despite the score. Mack, guard for Gardnerville, made under-the-basket shooting so difficult that the Reno boys were forced to show their stuff in long shots, some of which were uncanny.

WOMEN TO HIKE INTO MOUNTAINS

Senior Women Should Make Strong Bid For Honors

With seventy-two coeds out for basketball, intensive practice is being held for four sections in preparation for the color tournament and the interclass tournament to determine the championship.

Although early in the season to predict the champions, from the number of seasoned senior women out, they have an excellent chance for carrying away the honors.

The present juniors have held the championship for the past two years, but their prospects are not bright owing to the number of their former players who are not enrolled this semester.

Frosh Not Organized
The sophs have many of their last year players out and with strenuous practice might upset all "dope." The frosh have not yet begun to show up in good form, but as soon as their team becomes organized, and they start playing together they may easily prove the winning team.

Coed basketball season will continue until March. It was decided not feasible to start a new sport before the high school tournament.

The color tournament will be played off the first two weeks in February and the interclass tournament will follow immediately.

Track and baseball will be run together in March in order to allow sufficient time for tennis and archery in April.

WOMEN TO HIKE INTO MOUNTAINS

According to an announcement made by M. Bernasconi, 25, head of hikes, three trips have already been planned for this semester.

January 17 W. A. A. members will journey to Allen Creek, going part of the way in cars, and hiking the remainder of the distance.

For the evening of January 29 a steak fry has been planned and for February 14 there will be a hike up the Truckee River.

There will be two sections on Monday and Wednesday with a period in between for free practice. All women will be required to work for some Red Cross emblem in the beginning, intermediate or advanced class, for which tests will be given.

A fee for the expense of heating the water will be charged according to the number enrolled.

COEDS REFEREE PREP CONTESTS

Coed members of P. E. 60 are obtaining experience in refereeing in preparation for the high school tournament by refereeing high school games.

Friday night the Sparks-Carson game played on the Sparks court was refereed by V. Alexander and M. Mills, the game Saturday night between Sparks and Tonopah by V. Alexander and I. Loring.

M. Mills refereed the Lovelock-Fallon game at Lovelock Saturday night. Monday night the Fallon-Tonopah game, played at Fallon, was refereed by M. Mills and E. Mitchell.

Members of this class will officiate at the Sparks-Gardnerville game at Sparks Friday night, and the Stewart Indians have asked for a referee for Saturday night.

Of the number of high school teams that have been seen in action by these women, the Sparks team, coached by Miss Helen Duffy, 25, they say is the fastest and the most open in playing.

Cartwright shared honors for the visitors with 12 points apiece. The teams that started the second game were the same as the night before with the exception of Connelly who started in place of Lawson.

ASSOCIATION FOR COW TESTING IS WORK OF SCOTT

Mason, Smith Valleys Benefit Through Campaign

Professor V. E. Scott of the dairy department, reports that the organizing of a cow-testing association in Mason and Smith valleys under the new short-time, high-pressure campaign was very successful. The purpose of this campaign was to demonstrate the value of completely laid plans and high-pressure methods in putting over extension projects.

This campaign was worked out according to previously laid plans which included articles written for the local papers for nearly a month before the visit of extension workers on January 7, 8 and 9. These articles described the methods and advantages of a cow testing association, and advertised the meeting to be held on January 4.

The first day of the campaign was devoted to plans by the committee. The second day two automobiles, each containing two solicitors, worked from house to house. Out of forty-two visits to prospects, the solicitors succeeded in signing up the owners of twenty-six herds which contained 575 cows.

On the afternoon of the third day the organization meeting was held. Scott expressed himself as being very much pleased with the results of this plan.

THE PERILS OF PANDORA

CHAPTER II
(Wherein the Battle Begins and Our Heroine Gives Up Hope).

When the captain of the submarine F-63 recovered consciousness a few minutes later, he was surprised to find that the vessel was not sinking as he expected and feared that it would be. Springing to the dial which registered the depth at which the submarine was cruising he read "275 feet," the same depth as it had been before Pandora had banged the "sinking" button with her fist.

He was puzzled and worried, fearful that the instruments were recording the wrong depth, but a hasty examination of the electrical connections linking the controls for lowering the vessel, and the push buttons grouped on the control board, showed that a wire had been broken off close to the button. Lack of a thorough inspection before the submarine left the base had saved all their lives.

Our Heroine Is Revived

Heaving a sigh of relief the captain turned to the prostrate Pandora and proceeded to restore her to consciousness.

"We're saved," he shouted even before she was fully aware of things. "The control wire was broken and the boat will not sink after all."

"Saved—saved," she murmured. "But now we must rescue Dickie from those awful bootleggers."

"Surest thing you know," retorted the captain, and turning, he signaled full speed ahead through the engine room telegraph.

An hour's rapid cruising brought the F-63 out to the 12 mile limit, beyond which several vessels could be seen lying to but none of them was the "Volstead," the "flagship" of the bootleg king, and the one on which Pandora felt sure that Dick Randall was confined.

Hot On The Trail of Rum

"The 'Volstead' isn't anchored at her usual berth, captain Pandora said, "we must go up and down until we can speak to a fishing vessel and find out the whereabouts of the 'Volstead'."

A few minutes later the F-63 signalled a small boat to stop and the Italian fisherman told the sailor on deck that he had seen the "Volstead" heading almost due west some hours before.

"That'll take him to the Farallones," sobbed Pandora. "That's their headquarters. I hate to think what they'll do to Dickie when they get him there."

"There, there, that's all right," soothed the captain, stroking her tousled hair, "we'll get there in time to rescue him."

A few minutes later the F-63 nosed around the rocks on the end of the first Farallone island, and there before them lay the "Volstead" and two other vessels tied up at a small dock with a number of men lounging on the decks.

"Volstead" Shows Signs of Fight

Activity sprang out all over the decks of the rum runners, several men grouping themselves about the six inch gun mounted on the forward deck of the "Volstead."

"Boom—crash" echoed back from the houses on shore, and a shell plopped dangerously near the submarine.

"Man the rifle," roared the captain,

THE PERILS OF PANDORA

and almost at once the deck gun of the F-63 began to speak, while the torpedo tubes were hastily prepared to release their deadly messengers.

The rounded sides of the deck made most of the shells from the "Volstead" ricochet harmlessly off, but seeing this, the rum runners changed from high explosion shells to percussion shrapnel and the first burst of this terrible load killed two of the gun crew on board the submarine and wounded the rest so that a new crew had to be ordered up from below to serve the piece.

Sub's Shots Fail to Show

Shells from the submarine had been taking effect on the bootleggers' vessel, but the plate protected their gun crew.

The continued firing of the navy gun was soon made impossible by the accurate and deadly fire from the rum runners' ship.

Just as the captain ordered the gun crew below a shell from the "Volstead" struck the conning tower, jamming the hatch so that it could not be closed and making it impossible to submerge.

"Give 'em Mike and Ike," ordered the captain.

"Yes, sir!" came the answer over the phone as the gunners prepared a brace of torpedoes. "Oh Captain," pleaded Pandora, "Please don't. Dickie may be on board that ship, and he must not be killed!"

"Can't help it," the captain replied. "We got to get rid of that boat with the tubes. We can't submerge and she can travel faster on the surface than we can. Fire away."

Demon Boat Blown High

Twin streaks of foam broke away from the bow of the submarine and tore straight toward the "Volstead." A muffled roar, shrieks and cries were all mingled and the rum runner disappeared in a cloud of white foam, water and debris.

"That will put a stop to them," the captain boasted.

"Dickie," sobbed Pandora, "I hope that you weren't on board that ship."

"Captain," the excited voice of a sailor broke in, "the rudder is jammed and two of the plates in the last compartment have started spitting the water in coming in faster than the pumps can handle it."

"We'll never make port now," the captain said. "We'll have to try to reach the shore and trust to the mercy of those bootleggers."

Sub's Crew Faces Death

"Oh they'll kill us all," thought Pandora, but her nerve never for a moment forsook her outwardly.

"They won't dare. This is a navy boat. But they may leave us here to drown or at the mercy of the sharks," and smiling grimly the captain led the way up the conning tower, the whole crew following to abandon the rapidly sinking submarine to its fate and themselves to the mercies of the crew of vengeful rum runners.

"Got a watch? No? Better get Axt-on's alarm clock and carry it around the Campus with you. Everytime you see one of those rushees comin', set the darn thing (clock) to go off in three minutes!"

"My, aren't you bright! Now lemme give you a tip. Be careful about spendin' your cash at any tea shop. They usually soak you mor'n the customary two bits and you know that isn't etiquette, accordin' to Pan Hell."

"And don't forget to bring up the customary argument about the 'Big Four,' 'Five' or whatever it is. Be sure and say that we're the first."

"Yeh!—and be sure to get the Manzanita inmates back before eight."

"There's the bell—gotta go—don't forget what I told you—"

So rushing has again stormed the Campus. Sororities are again vying with each other. Looking over the possible new women rushees on the Hill, dating the several new "nuggets" for every available date. The rush will terminate in less than two weeks. # "MELLERDRAMA" TREND PREVAILS

A mixture of jungle thrills, desert sunsets, and western stuff, is the diet that the modern collegian wants to read if the short stories that Miss Lovell's art class wrote for illustration purposes are any indication.

Murders, palm trees, dusky Africans and hard-riding western cowboys, with a few Indians and one Chinaman thrown in for good measure, figured in the stories. Sage-clad hills and sunsets were prevalent, and half of a class of twelve cast death in some part in the sequence of events.

Two campus incidents figured in the lot, but the hidden desire of youth for romance and the expression of it seemed to come to the front with the assurance that no names would be attached to the stories.
