

CHEF'S COOKING RECEIVES FAVOR OF MINES STAFF

Culinary Artist Says Young Ladies Like His Cooking

George Washington Lumpkin, chef of the United States Bureau of Mines rescue car number 1, which paid Reno a visit during the past week, has already made warm friends of some of the mining staff. Whoever eats his cooking swears by him forever, say the Nevada mining professors.

Likes College Men

From a wide range of experience George says, "The young fellows attending college are some of the finest I have ever seen, and the frat fellows are all men. I tried it in Stanford a semester but they were hardly human with all that wealth. When the men work their way through the university they are much better chaps."

"I think college students should study for two years, travel for at least two, and then finish. There is nothing like travel for education."

George was born in Virginia and brought up by an old southern family.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By FANNIE
Did you notice the decrease in our population last week end, Ferdie?
Well, Fallon drew the crowd—along with our orchestra—and for one reason and another Ralston Crew, '27, Lem Allen '28, Emory Branch, '27, and Grenville Leavitt, '28 found themselves there. Elizabeth Johnson, '29, Helen Coverston, '29, and Ruth Glascock, '29, overjoyed their parents by spending the week-end with them, and Rena Semenza, '26, sang at the Rex theatre Friday evening for the benefit of the Parent-Teachers' Association. True Vencil, '29, son of Senator Vencil, reviewed the Fallon-Carson game.

But Reno claimed a few visitors herself, eleven all told. Alice Grace Yordi, '28, had two guests from Junior College, Santa Rosa, California—Isabelle Murray and Minerva Salisbury. Yet others came from farther than that to see Reno, for Mrs. Marlyn Sheik, nee Pauline Donlin, '17, drove from her home in Oregon to visit her mother. From our own state came: Edith Martin, ex-'28, Bertha Blattner, '23, Claire Sullivan, '23, Nevada Semenza, '24, and Earle Cordham, ex-'26. Mr. C. M. Coddington came from Yerington to see how his daughter, Gertrude, '28, was getting along.

Our neighbor, Sparks, boasted a few, Ruth Smith, '27, accompanying Leah Collins, '27, home for the week end, and Mrs. Ralph Finley, formerly Marcella Coates, '25, returning from Eureka, Utah, because of the fatal illness of her father.

And then let me see—seems as though the team had a little support from Grace McNeil, '28, Fred Hammond, '29, Joe Garcia, '28, Russell Garcia, '29, and John Babcock, '28. Business called Frederick Siebert, '26, to San Francisco. After an absence of three weeks, Yvonne DeGolia, '27, returned to her home, San Francisco, after seeing Doris Craven, ex-'27 and "Spud" Harrison, ex-'25, safely wedded in Honolulu.

Way down in Los Angeles we find that Clement Caffrey, '25, and Francis Martin, '23, graduates from the College of Agriculture, are professors of agriculture in the L. A. city schools. Coming up to Sacramento, we find Theo Olmsted, '28, and Ruth Olmsted, '26, giving the latest news about Nevada to their brother, H. K. Olmsted, '20, now with the Bell Telephone Co. Kathleen Malloy, '28, visited there with her parents this week-end.

Oh yes—and it snowed last week-end so Jeanette Brown, '29, Ilma Crotty, '29, Thelma Ninnis, '26, Bob Skinner, '26, Bob Hook, '29, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gilberg had to take in the sports at Truckee.

Others to find their way home over the week-end were Bernice Gruber, '28, and Roy Whitacre, '27, to Yerington; Otto Schultz, '28, to Carson City; and Homer Raycraft, '29, to Gardnerville.

And I guess that's about all I can think of now, Ferdie.

MINES WORKERS COVER BIG FIELD

"Although the result of a great deal of the work carried on at the rare and precious metals experiment station of the United States Bureau of Mines during the past year has not been prepared for publication, the following list of articles and papers by its members shows that the field of their endeavors is not a narrow one," said C. W. Davis, assistant chemist at the United States Bureau of Mines. One paper by Davis, will appear in the American Journal of Science, March 1926. It is, "The Composition and Age of Uranium Minerals from Katanga, South Dakota, and Utah."

The other articles are: "Barium Polysulfide in Sulphidizing Oxidized Ores for Flotation," by Edmund S. Leaver and Horace M. Lawrence; published by Bureau of Mines Reports of Investigation, August, 1925. "Copolymerization of Radium and Barium Sulphates," by H. A. Doerner and W. M. Hoskins; published in the Journal of the American Chemical Society, March 1925. "Floating and Leaching Copper—Molybdenum Ores," by H. A. Doerner; published in the Engineering and Mining Journal Press, June 6, 1925. "Diatomaceous Earth (With Special Reference to Nevada)," by C. W. Davis; published as Bureau of Mines Reports of Investigations, November 1925. "The Legendary White Metal and its ore," by C. W. Davis; published as Bureau of Mines Information Circular, December 1925.

ELECTION HELD AT CALL ON RECALL AMENDMENT

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Feb. 16—(P. I. P.)—More than 1000 students have signed the petitions for amendment of the recall provisions of the A. S. U. C. constitution. These have been circulated on the campus, and are now in the hands of the A. S. U. C. secretary. The president of the student body must call an election on the proposed amendment within 15 days.

The petition proposes that in the future, special recall elections may be called at any time in the year by the presentation to the A. S. U. C. secretary of a petition signed by three per cent of the students. A second proposal to be voted on is that each of the councils represented on the committee be enabled to recall its member by two thirds vote.

STANFORD TRIES DIRECTING CLASS

In order to develop corps of assistant directors capable of directing student shows, a class in Theatrical Direction has been organized at Stanford.

Gordon Davis, director of dramatics, has organized the class on the elimination system with cuts to be made monthly. Students expecting to engage in Community Little Theatre work and dramatic coaching in high schools and colleges derive the most benefit from the course.

WAMPUS STAFF RESIGNS OUTSIDE MAN ELECTED

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, Feb. 19.—(P. I. P.)—Acting as a unit, the majority of the Wampus staff resigned recently. The executive committee ignored the wishes of the staff and selected an outside man as editor following a fortnight of attacks on the humor publication from the country press, faculty committees and student executives that resulted in the ousting of Grady Setzler, editor, and his associates.

When the announcement was made that the executive committee had gone outside of the regular staff to select an editor, a conference was held and a written resignation prepared without dissent.

VALUABLE ROCK SLIDES RECEIVED FOR GEOLOGY

A large number of very valuable rock slides made in Germany, of classical European localities, have just been received by Dr. J. C. Jones, professor of geology. The donor was Edward Juessen.

This collection is doubly valuable because it is accompanied by a description of each slide.

"It is a wonderful addition for the classes in petrography," Dr. Jones said.

"RED APPLES" A WORN OUT JOKE

"Red apples," according to Professor Elmer Pendell, instructor in Economics, is a worn out joke. He says that no professor, no matter how absent-minded he is, could repeat a joke so frequently as students repeat some pet quip about "Red Apples."

"Every professor and every student—everybody within hearing is supposed to be very amused," he continued. "Perhaps some students think it is other than a joke; that by little attentions to the professor, and a catering to his whims they favorably affect their grades. Those who have any such idea, give that much evidence of their own feeble-mindedness. Probably few students believe that they have helped their own grades in such a manner. If they are so dumb as to have any faith in it at all, they think it is always the other student who has gained advantage by the red apple method, particularly some students who have received high marks. Often there is great friendship between high grade students and their professors, but the friendship doesn't cause the grade—the grade rather causes the friendship.

"The trouble with 'Red Apples' is that it tends to cancel what is supposed to be one of the chief advantages of a small university—friendship and understanding between teachers and students. Some students who would like to converse with a member of the faculty will not do so lest their supposed friends hurl at them sour 'Red Apples.'"

"Students could get more out of their four-year sojourn," concluded Pendell, "if they would act naturally and permit others to do so."

After the dance ... a pipe and P. A.

WHEN you've kicked off the pumps and tossed the collar on the table, while the music is still singing in your brain and memories of one dancing deb in particular crowd your thoughts, fill your pipe with Prince Albert and light up. Make it a night of nights.

P. A. is so genuinely friendly. It hits your smoke-spot in deep center right off the bat. Doesn't bite your tongue or parch your throat, because the Prince Albert process said "nix on the rough stuff" at the very beginning. Just cool contentment in every perfect puff.

Don't put off till tomorrow what you can smoke today. Get a tidy red tin of P. A. now. Snap back the hinged lid and release that wonderful fragrance. Tamp a load into the bowl of your jimmy-pipe and light up. Now you've got it . . . that taste. Say— isn't that the goods now?

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and round crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

NEVADANS TAKE DOUBLE VICTORY FROM CARDINAL IN COAST GAMES

Stanford Men Not Able To Break Strong Defense

FREDERICK STAR Third defeat Red-Shirts Have Suffered From Wolf-Pack

Crashing through the Stanford defense with spectacular playing, the Wolf Pack sprung a surprise on the Cardinals and sent them down to a bitter defeat in the two games last Thursday and Saturday nights. Nevada started off with a bang by taking the lead in both games. Keeping up the same pace the Wolves made it impossible for the Red team to overtake them.

First Game Starting off with a five point lead when Watson and Fredericks made field goals and Bream a free throw the Varsity began to show their strength. Substituting in their lineup the Cards pepped up, but the first half ended with a score of 12 to 7 in favor of Nevada.

The Pack opened the second half with four goals, and although fighting hard and holding the lead for the remainder of the game, they tired and were unable to keep up their earlier spectacular playing. With many attempts at a final rally by the Cards, the Wolves still were able to find the vulnerable spots in their lineup, and the game ended with a final score of 24 to 17.

Stanford Short The absence of Anderson from the Stanford squad handicapped the Cards considerably, but they were also weakened by their inability to find the basket.

Fredericks was the outstanding star for Nevada, for his startling dribbling was the main feature of the game. Fredericks also led in scoring with Watson second. Biaggini and Clark led in the scoring for Stanford.

Second Game Fast Stanford came on the floor Saturday night determined to prevent a repeater for the Nevada quintet. The Wolves, after a rest from the previous game, entered with more fight and started scoring from the first whistle. The first half was a walk away for the Pack, for with a strong defense that the Cardinals were unable to break through, it ended with a score of 14 to 1.

In the second half Stanford was set to break through the line-up, but Nevada maintained their strong defense and held the lead. The final score of 21 to 17 made the second victory for Nevada.

The second game of the series was not as spectacular as the first. The goals in this game were made from under the basket rather than from long shots as in the previous game. Fredericks was high point man again, but with each member of the team deserving praise in making this possible.

Third Defeat This is the third time that the Wolf Pack has defeated the Cardinals, vanquishing them in '16, '20, and again in '26. All three of Nevada's victories have been won from Stanford on their own floor. This defeat of the Cards makes the remainder of the season for Nevada exceedingly bright.

Line-up of the games last week was as follows: Nevada Position Stanford Forward Price Goodale Forward Clark Bream Center Jayred Watson Guard Vincenti Fredericks Guard Vincinti Clover Blaggini

TEAM COMPETES IN NINTH CORPS RIFLE MATCHES

Men's Team Will Shoot In National Match Until April

The R. O. T. C. Rifle Gallery Team will finish shooting the Ninth Corps Area Matches, which they have been shooting for the past two weeks Saturday. The participants in the Area Matches are the majority of the universities along the Pacific Coast. The results of these matches will be published by the commanding general of the Ninth Corps Area sometime in March.

The following men composed the Nevada team that shot in this match: K. Scott, '27, R. Hansen, '28, V. Cantlon, '28, H. Bailey, '29, E. Edwards, '29, G. Leavitt, '28, M. Burge, '29, L. Robertson, '28, W. Martin, '28, N. Ericson, '28, G. Ovard, '29, M. Fehner, '29, T. Towle, '29, G. Culom, '28, and A. Chace, '28.

WOMEN SUCCEED IN PROSPECTING

"Mining offers a wide field to the ladies," says J. A. Fulton, director of the Mackay School of Mines. He cites many instances where a woman has made her way in mining.

Fulton also says there are, in the United States, many women in chemical laboratories, and much microscopical work is done by them. This work greatly appeals to women because of the marvelous iridescent colors of the slides.

He advises that if women wish to "learn from the ground up," they should go to England and work in the coal mines, for no such opportunity is offered here, due to labor laws.

"OH HAPPY DAY" SINGS JOHNNIE-WHILE CO-EDS SHRIEK AT NEAR WRECK

"Oh Happy Day. . ." Down the street he came, singing his happy ditty. "Good morning, Johnnie," chorused some co-eds. "How are you this morning?" But before Johnnie could reply in his usual happy manner, his shaggy scowl gave way to offense and showed his irritation in an unexpected manner. Horse and cart occupied too much room. A large car rounded the corner. Brakes shrieked. Horn sounded an irritable voice demanded, "Say, what do you think this is, a circus?"

"Oh, f'Petes' sake!" squealed the co-eds, and promptly fled. "Whoa there, get over here where you belong. There you are—Mister!" And all was again serene as Johnnie Hart, well-known Reno junk-man passed on down the street singing, "Oh happy day. . ."

"BULL SESSIONS" "CAT PARTIES" ARE LAUDED AS SOURCE OF BENEFIT

Well—what is a "bull session" or a "cat party" anyway? Some say they are downright discussions of gossip, or scandal, or "dirt." The popular understanding of these terms seems to be that of "dirt."

"The college 'bull session' or its 'cat parties' is the source of more benefit than many of the longest lecture courses that kind faculties ever invented for their students," declare participants in this indoor or outdoor sport, as the case and circumstances permit. "The personal touch and exchange of ideas and ideals which comes from such meetings is invaluable and one of the best things which can come from a college career."

BUNNIES USE "THUMP" SYSTEM FOR OWN STYLE OF WIRELESS MESSAGES

"Thump, thump," a dull thudding sound rolled out over the Campus from the direction of the Hatch station. Like the distant noise of an African war drum, it grew in volume as the unseen drummer got into his stride. Students paused on their way down the hill in the growing dusk to send puzzled glances in the direction of the noise. It stopped, started again, and rang out clear and uneven, like signals. One more thud and it was over. The bunny in the Hatch station pen had finished his kicking signals to the hill rabbits, and had signed off for the night.

William R. Blackler of the Economics department is instructing a few of his students in the use of modern bookkeeping machines. By the new simplified accounting plan a complete set of books may be kept on a machine. They are also used extensively in banks and mercantile concerns to post accounts to customers.

The machine has been in the department for a number of years but has not been used for bookkeeping before. Blackler has offered to assist any students who wish to learn typing. "I have several pupils now and will gladly help anyone who is interested," he said.
