

REMODELING OF CAMPUS CAUSES SUPREME CHAOS

Miners Without Roof, $60,000 Expended for Basement

The entrance to the Mackay School of Mines has seen from the Quad appears as usual, but chaos reigns in the rear. For more than a month, work has been in progress until now the building looks like the military department had declared war upon it and commenced with heavy artillery.

At the present time the miners have no roof over the northeast part of the building but they do possess plenty of cellar, more than 1788 cubic yards of excavated dirt having been removed. The walls have been torn down and the excavations made to make way for extensive improvements to be carried out in the Mining building. When completed the building will appear with a new copper roof over the entire structure, totaling a cost of $12,000. The east side of the building will consist largely of steel and sash windows. Within, a basement is to be constructed where the mill and court formerly were; the new mill will be on the ground floor. It is to be arranged with less ground floor and more space in the balconies, the machines placed as in a modern mill.

Four new classrooms for geology are to be built upstairs and a new chem. lab. for non-metals will be constructed where the court formerly was; the old chem. lab. will move to one of the new rooms. There will be a complete rearrangement of the offices. An upstairs will be extended over the whole back of the building and floor space will be about doubled. A new locker and lounging room for the engineers will be built in the basement with cement walls, floor and ceiling; it will be handily placed in an inconspicuous location.

The cost of the improvements is to be something under $60,000; $40,000 will be spent on new equipment. All the improvements are due to Mr. Mackay's gift of $100,000 last May.

Prof. W. Palmer state, "The improvements should be done by January first, it is hoped, at least the roof will be on by then—and the mill ready by Engineer's Day."

Plans for making this year's "Desert Wolf" as good a college magazine as possible are under way, according to Norman Bell, '28, this year's editor. A meeting will be held at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon on the upper floor of Stewart hall of all students wishing to try out for the staff.

"Variety of reading matter with as many original contributions from this University as possible," will be the policy of this year's Wolf, Bell said.

Bernard White, an experienced member of last year's staff, has been named assistant editor of the publication.

BIGGER, BETTER WOLF PROMISED

PARENT OF 1925 GRAD IS MATRON

Mrs. Laura Aiken of Carson City recently arrived to take up her duties as matron of the new women's dormitory. Mrs. Aiken, who has been a resident of Nevada for the past thirty years, is the mother of Bertha Aiken who graduated with the class of '25. She recently held the position of assistant matron at the State Orphans' Home.

At present there are eighteen women under her supervision in the new hall but the number is expected to be increased materially before registration rises.

HUG VISITS NEVADA; RETURNS IN JANUARY

Proctor "Bunny" Hug, former president of the A. S. U. N., spent the week-end in Reno visiting with friends and renewing old acquaintances. He returned to Tonopah Sunday night. Hug is now engaged in the mercantile business in Tonopah but intends to return to school next semester to finish his college course.

Red, Black Used as New Color Scheme

Now the campus male may slouch along in this antique "trou" but the co-ed who walks at his side must be trim from the tip of her bright little shoes to the crown of her gay little hat. More and more the campus women are realizing that their clothes can make or mar that valuable first impression which will mean so much to them in all activities.

One of the most popular of the young college misses was lately seen in the "lib" wearing the outfit illustrated in the sketch. It is a combination of red and black which is a keynote of the new fall mode. The jolly scarf-tie which is the color note of the ensemble is tied loosely just below the shoulder line. Black patent leather pumps matching the high-crowned small hat and a cherry leather pouch bag complete the costume.

And co-eds, here is another hint. Round pearl earrings to match the costume are being worn both for sports and more elaborate occasions. Don't neglect to remember that one can only put one's best foot forward when it is well shod.

HUSKY ATHLETES TOIL WITH PICK

College athletes are not all working on ice wagons this vacation. Husky youths are noticed every day at the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia working with picks and shovels and tossing huge crates around. Jole Boland, Notre Dame line-man, tosses crates and barrels around a warehouse to keep in condition. So does Hans Boos, the University of Philadelphia All-American soccer player. Harry Sandberg and George Hansam, fullback and halfback, respectively, of Ames College, toil ten hours a day with a pick and shovel.

Curtis, an Alabama line-man, started as a day laborer and has worked his way up to foreman of a gang. A few squares away from Curtis is "Reds" Sherr, the Pennsylvania basketball centre, who is an instructor at the Exposition grounds.

CALIFORNIA HEAD GUEST OF CLARK

E. M. Rastall, head of Californians Incorporated, a gigantic advertising and promotion venture for the further upbuilding of California, backed by private capital, was the guest of President and Mrs. Walter E. Clark on his visit to Reno this week. On Wednesday Dr. Clark took Rastall on a trip to Virginia City to look into its possibilities as a drawing card for advertising purposes.

In the pursuance of a campaign to "Tour the West in your own car" Rastall will extensively advertise Reno and the 1927 Highway exposition if the uncompleted stretches of the Victory highway are put into improved shape in the near future.

MEN WHO EARN WAY IN COLLEGE ARE COMMENDED

Unlimited Field Gives Much Opportunity for Success

"One cannot help admiring the young chap who so earnestly desires a university degree that he will attempt the work of two men in trying to earn his living and study along with the other work." So states an article appearing in the Dearborn Independent, entitled "The Business of Working Your Way Through College."

From observations based on the success and failures of the many ambitious students who start out to make their way in college, the author of this article has drawn two conclusions. "First—that a boy should not attempt to work his way through unless he absolutely must. Second—that if it is necessary for a boy to support himself while going to college it can be done, provided he has a strong body and a reasonably alert mental capacity."

Many Gains

If a boy must earn his way and if he is successful, there are many gains. He will be more efficient in his personal habits, he will have a knowledge of spending his own money, and he will have a thorough business training along with his theoretical school work. "A great many factors are involved in what a boy plans to work his way through shall do. He must choose something that he can do. The size of the city in which the institution is located will affect the possibilities quite seriously. All too often he must take whatever he can get, because of the demand for places. His chosen course will have an important bearing on the amount of work that he can do, for agriculture and engineering require much more time in class than courses in commerce and liberal arts and sciences. The attitude of the townspeople and their willingness or failure to cooperate with students needing work will be important."

Many Types

There are many types of work for the college student. He may work for his board in a restaurant or house. He may work for the room he occupies, either in a rooming house or in a private home, tending the furnace, mowing lawns and the like. "Odd jobs of all kinds, clerking in stores, delivering papers, are some of the commoner ways of earning money. The other ways are limited only by the ingenuity and cleverness of the students."

Selling Game

"The selling game is one which is worked to the limit. Students sell everything imaginable and make excellent profits; their sales ability and the desirability of the article which they sell might be given as about the only restrictions on the amount which they will earn in the time available outside of school hours."

The author concludes by saying: "I

Swans Prefer Life on Manzanita Lake

Two white swans which took up their abode on Manzanita Lake early in the spring, are greatly pleased with their new quarters and stated yesterday in an interview that they much prefer the Nevada waters to their former residence in New York. Mr. I. Swan voiced his appreciation to the Nevada board of regents and stated that he was grateful to them for enabling him and his young wife to make their home in Nevada.

Mrs. Swan is delighted with the dryness of the Nevada climate and observes that it is excellent for her complexion. "The swans enjoy the complacency of their surroundings and Mr. I. Swan is hoping that the disobedient frosh will not cause much of a disturbance in his lake."

The swans were also pleased when they were told of the plans being made by Mr. Joseph Lynch to import a pair of black swans from Australia. Swans of the latter variety are rare and difficult to procure.

STATE REPTILES TO BE CLASSIFIED

Professor Charles Brown of the biology department, has in view a plan whereby he will be able to make a complete classification of the reptiles of the State of Nevada. This work, which up to the present time has been of very minor character, is now coming into prominence in many of the states and much interest is being manifested.

With the aid of two texts on the classification of reptiles that Professor Brown has in his possession and the interest and aid of students, schools, and representatives of the state who will cooperate by sending in specimens to the department, Professor Brown will be able to make very valuable progress along the line of the intended work.

have known students to earn their way by driving taxicabs, preaching in small country churches, working in dairies, mining coal, serving as policemen and deputy sheriffs, pressing clothes, driving trucks, and even digging graves. The field has no limit; if the boy has the ingenuity to plan a new and different job, then he is all the more likely to succeed."

NEVADA SCHOOLS RANKED SECOND

U. S. Bureau Checks Up on Educational Systems

Nevada's school system is the second best in the United States, according to Dr. Frank M. Phillips, chief of the statistical division of the bureau of education of the department of the interior. California leads.

The "index number method" was used by Dr. Phillips to determine the standing of the states.

Things which were brought into consideration were the per cent of school population from 5 to 17 years of age, inclusive, in daily attendance; average age days attended by each child 5 to 17 years of age; average number of days in which schools were in session; per cent of the total enrollment in high schools; ratio of boys and girls in high schools; average expenditure per teacher employed; expenditure per pupil for purposes other than teachers' salaries; and expenditure per teacher for salaries.

States following closely after Nevada are New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Wyoming, Michigan, Colorado, Massachusetts, Washington, Minnesota and Arizona.

INCREASE NOTED IN ENROLLMENT

The business administration department reports a 75 per cent increase in enrollment in the business department this semester, there being more majors in the department than ever before.

HOSPITAL STAFF HAS NEW NURSE

With a change in the hospital staff and plans for purchasing new apparatus, the University hospital is enlarging to meet the growing needs of the campus. Miss Cylde Fields, graduate nurse, arrived two weeks ago from Birmingham, Alabama, and has accepted a position on the hospital staff, replacing Mrs. Robison, the former matron.

Dr. M. A. Robison, last year's University physician, has been retained on the staff. Dr. Robison is planning to enlarge the work of the hospital to include minor operations, the setting of bones, etc. Hitherto, this work has been performed at many of the city hospitals, and Dr. Robison is now planning to carry out this work on the campus.

REPORT WRITTEN BY DOC. ALBERT

Nevada state board of health bulletin for August was written on Tularemia (rabbit disease) by Dr. Henry Albert of the State Hygienic Laboratory. This disease, Dr. Albert writes, is wide spread, having been reported in twenty-five states and was first reported to be in Nevada in July. Most of the cases have been adults and males. During the month of July the State Hygienic Laboratory of the University of Nevada gave positive reports on fourteen cases.

FROSH GLASSES AWAIT CLAIMANT

Who says freshmen won't fight? One young yearling in a frenzy of earnest zeal to enter a struggle in behalf of his classmates, tore off his glasses, only protection, and thrust them at an upperclassman. The upperclassman, soon tiring of such childish play strolled on with the glasses in his pocket. That freshman who entrusted his pair of shell-rim glasses to the mercies of the unknown upperclassman, may have them by calling at the office of the registrar.

GRAD IS RANGER IN SEQUOIA PARK

Lloyd A. Schellabarger, '25, is now on duty as park ranger in Sequoia National Park. In a letter to Professor Frandsen, he dwelt at length upon the heavy tourist travel there this season, and the difficulties incurred by forest fires in the region, necessitating at one time one hundred and twenty hours labor at one stretch. Schellabarger stated that the work was of a very satisfactory nature, and presented advantageous features of a vacation and a health tonic as well as a good practical job.

FOSTER IS NOW LAB SUPERVISOR

Reorganization of the State Hygienic Laboratory has been made necessary due to the leave of absence granted Dr. Henry Albert. During his absence his first assistant, Dorothy E. Foster, a trained and experienced laboratory technician, will assume the position of acting director of the laboratory.

Miss Foster will be assisted by the full time efforts of Marie Stausberger and Marjorie Roach, '26. Dr. Albert will not return to Nevada until July 1, 1927, at which date he expects to have his task of reorganizing the health department of Iowa completed.

ACCIDENT VICTIM NOW RECOVERED

Thomas Towle, '28, who was shot accidentally while hunting with Otto Schulz, '28, in the vicinity of Carson City last week, is almost wholly recovered. It was thought at first that a shot had penetrated Towle's eye, but investigation revealed the organ to be only badly bruised and blackened.

Varsity Tennis Artists to Play in Western Tourney

INTEREST IN NET SPORT HIGH AS RACQUET TEAMS CROWD COURTS

Much Practice Needed to Overcome Cold Handicap

CARSON MATCH Busey, Hill to Uphold Honors in Singles Matches

With a large amount of interest being shown, tennis bids fair to become one of Nevada's leading minor sports. So far this semester the University courts have been crowded daily and some likely racquet wielders discovered. A Varsity team will be organized later this fall, that will, in all probability, hold its own with any of the smaller colleges. All of the men that upheld Nevada's name on the courts last year have returned to school. With their added experience and some practice they should be improved players and for that reason Nevada may look for a better Varsity and a more successful season.

A Disadvantage
The University is at a distinct disadvantage in this phase of athletics. While our keenest competitors are enjoying sunshine and ideal playing conditions we are waddling about in snow. Tennis is similar to other sports and requires plenty of practice and training. The eye must be developed as must the muscles, and it is necessary to have plenty of stamina in the game.

State Tourney
Tennis will officially start at the University when entries will leave for Carson City to strive for the championship of western Nevada. This tournament is being played under the auspices of the Carson City tennis club and the best teams in this section will be entered. Although University players have only had two weeks in which to work, spectators have been impressed with them in practice. They are going to Carson City as the finest talent that Nevada has to offer and should emerge from the smoke of competition with a half-Nelson on the overworked bacon.

The University of Nevada's representatives are as follows:
Men's singles, Douglas Busey.
Women's singles, Margaret Hill.
Men's doubles, Subner Green and Hoyt Martin or Joe Nenzel.
Women's doubles, Vincent Alexander and Nevada Pedroll.
Mixed doubles, Elsie Mitchell and Tony Blum.

IRISH FACE HARD SEASON ON GRID

Oct. 9—Notre Dame vs. Minnesota at Minnesota.
Oct. 16—Notre Dame vs. Penn State at South Bend.
Oct. 23—Notre Dame vs. Northwestern at Chicago.
Oct. 30—Notre Dame vs. Georgia Tech at South Bend.
Nov. 6—Notre Dame vs. Indiana at South Bend.
Nov. 13—Notre Dame vs. Army at New York.
Nov. 30—Notre Dame vs. Drake at South Bend.
Nov. 27—Notre Dame vs. Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh.
Dec. 4—Notre Dame vs. U. S. C. at Los Angeles.

P. E. INSTRUCTOR TALKS ON SPORT AT W. A. A. PICNIC

Coeds Swim and Dance at Bowers' Mansion Last Friday

Swimming and dancing featured the W. A. A. picnic given at Bowers' last Friday afternoon as a means of welcome to the new hill co-eds. At the picnic supper, Miss Verrel Webster, instructor in the physical education department, gave a short talk about women's sports, and the sports that would be engaged in at the University. She emphasized the need for women's sports in college and urged that each woman consider seriously making some sport her major activity.

A Scotchman fell overboard. A brother Scot tried to save him and shouted: "Here, Sandy, gie me yer haun." "Na, na," said Sandy, "it has been against ma preenciples a'ma life to gie anything; no to save my life will I break ma preenciples."

FRAT HOOP MEN WILL WORK OUT DURING WINTER

New System Calls for Preliminaries to Varsity

Basketball is still in the offing, yet there has been some discussion relative to inter-fraternity games. Last year a large amount of pep was exhibited at all the contests and a classy brand of ball maintained throughout. There were two main objects in having inter-mural sports last year—the primary one being a means of trotting out the boys for a look-over. Coaches always like to know in advance what they will have to work with, how certain boys act under fire. For that reason the league was played off prior to the regular season.

The inter-fraternity tournament was also inaugurated for the men who were some pumpkins in the balmy high school days and who would not or could not try for one of the school teams. It gave them a chance to work off some of the accumulated avoirdupois at the same time covering themselves with glory.

New System
This year there will be innovations due to increases of interest. The tournament will run throughout the entire basketball season, games being played as preliminaries to Varsity contests. Men on any of the University teams will not be allowed to compete in the tournament and by this it is hoped will bring out almost all the basketball players at Nevada. The games will all be watched by the coaching staff and a good man who has been overlooked may find himself working out with the Varsity or freshmen squads. Plans are not yet complete as to detail but a worth while trophy will again be put up for play.

LAWTON PROGRESSING
Phil Lawton, member of last year's graduating class, has been connected with the Plomb Tool company of Los Angeles for the past several months. Lawton is progressing rapidly in the concern and will leave September 7 for New Orleans where he will work with a company branch.

OLYMPIC'S GRID TEAM DOUBTFUL

Olympic Club stock promises to take a flop if the present outlook of things mean anything. The stars that were present last year are gone and in their place are untried players. Among those whose absences are conspicuous are: "Buck" Bailey, Harry Shipkey, "Rabbit" Bradshaw, "Scotch" Campbell, Norman Cleveland and Percy Lacey.

However, the clubmen's rank will contain such new men as Russel Sweet, Montana flash; Pratt, last year's fullback at Cornell; and Cliff Hey, Stanford fullback in 1924. Even with these men the coast organization can hardly hope to come up to last year's standard when they walloped the golden bear.

TRACK MEN TO START SEPT. 13

Prospective varsity cinder track artists will get their first chance to show their stuff on September 13, when coach Martie issues the call for fall track practice. The track men will work along with the football players for most of the season and the fall season will be climaxed by a meet among the men out. Everyone who has any aspirations towards a varsity berth in the spring and who is not out for football is expected to report for practice.

Free libraries are being organized throughout Turkey by the ministry of public education.

Send the 'Brush home.

PLENTY OF MEN OUT FOR CAL. FROSH TEAM

With approximately ten candidates for each berth to select from, Clint Evans, frosh football coach at U. C., is not worrying about the dearth of material for another championship Babe team this fall. A total of 104 freshmen have indicated that they will don the moleskins when the call for first practice on September 15 is issued.

With a total of 110 men out for football and with only five men missing from last year's first and second strings, the Davis Farm aggregation of pliskin artists is hard at work in preparation for a good season. The farmers had a good team last year and with practically the same bunch back this year, ought to make things interesting for the other members of the conference. The Wolves play them the week before the California frosh so both teams are bound to be in good shape.

SEPTEMBER 7 IS DATE FOR PREPS TO BEGIN WORK

Reno Favored to Repeat in Title Race Among High Schools

With the opening of the state high schools all over the state on September 7, the interscholastic grid season will start with as bright an outlook as has ever been presented on the state fields.

From the present outlook of things Reno's championship team of last year is due to repeat again although Fallon will also be a strong contender. Reno's main strength lies in the line with such stars as Walters at center and Huntington at tackle. Both of these men weigh over 180 pounds and are hard as iron. Although Etchbarren, Bertrand and Panelli will be missed greatly, a perfect galaxy of good second stringers will present a line almost as good as last year's. The backfield will be led by Capt. Meay who is the greatest punter in the state and who is expected to show a rare class of ball this year.

Fallon Handicapped
Fallon on the other hand is losing most of her best men in the persons of Travis at end, Crew at full, Ford at half, and Sanders at quarter. They will however have a veteran line with few exceptions, and if they have enough good subs to make up a backfield, might surprise everyone and walk off with the title.

Sparks, Yerington and Lovelocks lost most of their men due to graduation so will probably be weak sisters of the state this year. They will probably be very light, even if they succeed in mustering up a fair eleven, so that the heavy Reno and Fallon teams will not have much trouble with them.

GRID ARTISTS IN EXTENSIVE WORK FOR '26 SEASON

Large Number of New Men Out for Line Vacancies

With eighty-five men out for practice and two whole weeks of handling the ball behind them, aspirants for the Varsity are rapidly getting in shape for a strenuous grid season. A great many new men make the appearance of things much brighter than at first although the green material will take much developing before any new stars are produced.

The prospects of good wing men has been materially raised by the large number of men out for the position. Twenty men are out for the job and although Bream is the only letter man there are so many new prospects that another one ought to be found who will be able to take care of the position to perfection.

Tackle Bright
The prospects at tackle are just as bright with twelve men out for this job. There are more good looking prospects here than at the flank positions so these two places are sure to be filled in a capable manner.

At guard and center more veterans flock on the field so that a line ought to be formed which will give any team on the coast a lot of trouble. The number of good men out for each position makes it impossible to make any choice as to who will fill the positions.

In the backfield another multitude of "good lookers" will give the coaches trouble in picking a team. The only cinch here is Captain Allen's job at full back and even then he will find plenty of competition.

CAL. SWIMMERS IN GOLDEN GATE CHRONICLE RACE

Four University of California students will swim the Golden Gate in the coming annual event to be staged by the San Francisco Chronicle. Harry Lindgren, a Big "C" man from the Southern Branch, who is attending California for his second year; George Corbett, "Snooky" Mell, and Art Hargrave are the swimmers.

Hargrave, a swimmer of state-wide reputation, is favored to finish among the leaders. He is a member of the Olympic club and one of the best 220-yard men in the state. He was ineligible last year because he matriculated into college, but this year he is expected to be the mainstay of the team. Mell has been a star end on the football team for the last three years.

MANAGERS ARE PICKED BY WAA

Managers for women's sports were selected Wednesday by the officers of W. A. A., the local women's athletic association.

E. Adams, '28, will manage soccer; M. Mariani, '28, hockey; while W. Frewett, '28, will be the manager of volleyball. F. Nelson, '28, will have charge of the tennis, and E. Ericson, '29, and H. Fox, '28, will jointly conduct the hikes. M. Huber, '29, and I. Loring, '28, were selected for basketball, S. Parker, '29, for baseball, N. Ayres, '27, for rifle, and E. Baldwin, '29, for archery.

Soccer, hockey, and volleyball will be the main sports this semester with some fall tennis and as many hikes as possible. Rifle will probably also begin sometime late this semester and run over until the spring.

Basketball is the first sport scheduled for the second semester, and will be followed by baseball and archery. Hikes and tennis will also be featured the second semester.

COEDS SIGN UP IN FALL SOCCER

The first meeting of the co-eds out for soccer, the season opening women's sport, was held Thursday. Plans for the sport were discussed and tentative schedules were arranged. About 40 women were present at this meeting and signed up, although it is expected that by next week there will be at least sixty co-eds out for practice.

WOLF'S HEAD TO ADORN BLANKETS

The Varsity this year will be kept warm by the welcome addition of fifteen new blankets, donated to the University by Ray Baker, candidate for U. S. senator from Nevada. The new blankets will be blue with a white border and the fighting wolf from Nevada will be symbolized by a white wolf's head in the center. They will
