FIRST PRESENTATION OF "KEMPY" BY CAMPUS PLAYERS SUCCESSFUL

COMEDIAN ROELS OF HILL THESPIANS PROVIDE GREAT ENJOYMENT FOR AUDIENCE

An appreciative audience was swept into gales of laughter last night when "Kempy," a three-act comedy was presented by Campus Players in the University auditorium.

Plot Told

The plot of "Kempy" centers around the Bence's desire for their daughter Katherine, played by Isabel Lorinc, '28, in her usual charming manner, to marry. She has been trying to show them for several years that she has ability, one of her ventures being the writing of a book. The long suffering family feel they have stood just about enough when she arrives home with the idea of joining a musical comedy. "Dad" Bence, characterized most cleverly by Leonard Sledge '30 has retired on a comfortable income but he is always crabbable about money affairs, and his greatest desire is to get Kate to marry.

Poor "Ma" Bence, well taken by Betty Lippincott, '31, has to agree with her husband in everything and is a typical long suffering wife and mother of an exacting family.

Kate is getting ready to go to Atlantic City to get her musical comedy contract but the family all think she wants to see "Duke" Merrill, well portrayed by Vernon Canton, '28, her old sweetheart, who is supposedly there.

A broken water pipe causes the entrance of "Kempy" James, architect and plumber, played in a capable manner by Hoyt Martin, '29, who unfortunately has read Kate's book.

"Dad" Bence is just about to show him into the kitchen after lecturing him on the wrongs of coming in the front door, when "Duke" arrives. "Dad" of course is all for "Duke" and he rushes out to greet him, leaving "Kempy" alone. Ruth, the charming youngest Bence daughter, cleverly taken by Renee Duque, '29, enters and finds "Kempy." They promptly fall in love but do not realize the fact. "Kempy" says he has always wanted to meet Kate as the author of her book, and after having a quarrel with "Duke" in which he tells her she has no talent, but that she is going to marry him, Kate and "Kempy" meet and she inveigles him into marrying her at once.

The fun begins when Kate brings "Kempy" home to her expectant family, as her husband.

There is an angry scene, with "Pa" Bence shouting his loudest and finally they all decide to retire after "Pa" has forbidden "Kempy" the house. "Duke" next comes in and is shocked to hear of the marriage. He talks to "Kempy" and gives him the Bence home which he has just bought, in exchange for some cathedral plans, from Ben Wade, Granville Leavitt, '28, the husband of Jane, Betty Sue Shaw, '28, the eldest Bence daughter.

"Kempy" asserts himself in his own home and Kate stands by him as she sees through "Duke's" plan. "Duke" and Ben go off and Jane hears they are at a roadhouse and are liable to be hurt so she and Kate go after them much against "Kempy's" will.

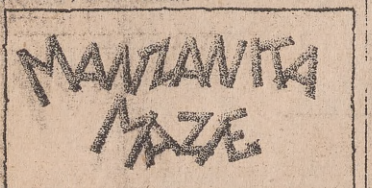

"Kempy" and Ruth in the meantime have discovered they are in love with each other and are feeling utterly miserable. "Duke" comes in, not having been at the roadhouse, and he tells "Kempy" he'll take Kate "of his hands," if he wants him. "Kempy" is delighted and says he isn't of age anyway, so the marriage can be annulled. Ruth and Kempy are, of course, very thrilled and the family all feel better, including "Pa" who has had an attack of "Anger dyspepsia."

Kate comes in and tells "Duke" she really loves him and will marry him, and the curtain goes down.

The comedy was extremely well-presented by the amateur actors and much credit is due to them as well as Instructor Edwin Duerr who coached them.

Tonight, the comedy will be presented again, and an even larger crowd is expected.

MINES SCHOOL WILL DISPLAY MORE EXHIBITS

NEW PROCESSES, M A P S, AND PICTURES TO

This year the Mackay School of Mines will exhibit more displays and processes of mining engineering than ever before. Wallace Coltrin, '28 and Angus Bethune, '28 are in charge of this part of Engineering Day program. Last year at the time of Engineers' Day the Mackay School of Mines was in the process of being repaired and reconstructed, so that the campus was not able to see a great deal there. This year there have been so many additions and improvements that it will exceed all the displays that have been shown before. Users will be to T. Dreyby '22 added this year to handle the crowds that visit the Mackay School of Mines. In the Geological Department there will be topographic maps, determinative minerals, a calorimeter tint photometer, microscopic thin sections of minerals and other interesting objects. In the museum of that school will be exhibits of all minerals and prehistoric collections.

The Department of Metallurgy promises to give many exhibits which will include a mill running full speed ahead, an alloys exhibit, a metallography microscope, and motion pictures on some processes in this field will be shown.

The Assay Laboratory and the grinding room will be open to visitors and will be exhibited by the Mining Department. This department will also display other mining processes, as drilling, compressing the ore, and the blasting equipment.

This committee has already organized and been working on its plans for Engineers' Day. There will be a meeting of the Crucible Club in the near future to arrange further for the handling of certain exhibits in the departments in the Mackay School of Mines.

SENIORS' BENCH TO "STAY PUT"

The Senior bench will remain in its present location, in front of the old library, it was decided by the senior class at a meeting yesterday afternoon. No senior bench will be built, as was the rumor on the campus. After an inspection, the bench was found to be cracked and if moved would undoubtedly be ruined. In the future the old library will be occupied, and the bench will again be used by the seniors.

Sombrero will be worn by the senior men and caps and gowns by the women in pictures that will appear in the Artemisia. The pictures of men in sombrero is a new feature that will add a different touch to the seniors' pages.

TOWLE TO DROP STUDY FOR YEAR

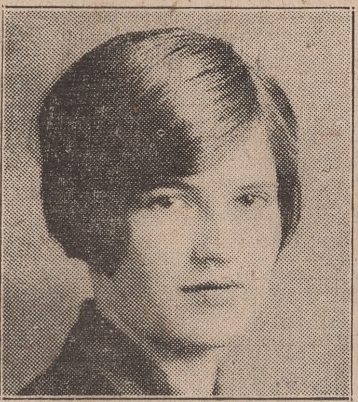

Tom Towle '29 track captain for the coming season, has been forced to give up his studies for the remaining part of this semester because of ill health. Towle has been consulting specialists on his health and has finally been forced to leave for the coast. He expects to leave Friday. Tom is one of the most popular men on the campus and is a very good athlete. He was looked upon last year as the man to fill Max Allen's place in the full-back position, but due to his condition he has been unable to report for regular practice this year.

Towle expects to return next semester if his health permits. He is the school's track captain and it is possible that he may be able to lead the Wolf Pack. He holds the official record for the high hurdles and holds an unofficial record for the low hurdles.

WOMEN'S FACULTY CLUB ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The Women's Faculty Club, meeting in the Home Economics rooms in the Agriculture Building, held their first regular meeting of the semester, last Saturday afternoon at 2:30. The new officers elected were: Mrs. Stanley Palmer, President; Mrs. John Fulton, Vice president; Miss Reubensam, Secretary and Mrs. Thomas Buckman, Treasurer. Mrs. Sears is the retiring president. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. J. R. Young, Mrs. F. Murgotten and Mrs. Sam Dousten.

RENEE DUQUE

THE PART of Ruth Bence is ably taken by Miss Duque in "Kempy."

WOLVES FROLIC COMMITTEE IS PLANNING SKITS

EVERY FRATERNITY IS REQUESTED TO PUT ON AN ACT

A committee composed of Prof. Charles Haseman, Edwin Duerr, and Vernon Canton '28 have been appointed to take charge of the Wolves' Frolic to be held Friday evening, October 28, at the Granada Theatre. The Frolic is under the management of the Blue Key fraternity and is given for the benefit of the athletic fund.

A program of about 20 numbers, including vaudeville acts, plays, and musical numbers is being arranged. Try-outs for all acts will be held Tuesday evening, October 11, at 8:15 o'clock in the Educational auditorium. Try student or group of students may at that time try out an act before the committee. Singing acts, skits, and musical numbers are desired.

Sororities and fraternities will be represented in this year's program. The acts already scheduled are: Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Phi Sigma, and Phi Sigma Lambda.

NEVADA OFFICES TO BE COMBINED

Consolidation of the business and editorial offices of the Artemisia and the Nevada Desert Wolf was brought about by the cooperation of the editors and business managers of the two publications in effecting the change.

The purpose of the consolidation, according to the heads of the magazine and year book, is to keep the office open longer hours, in order to provide members of both staffs with better working facilities. The staff heads believe that this will result in "bigger and better contributions," and they invite all members and try to take advantage of the office equipment.

NOVEL INITIATION HELD BY CLONIA

Eleven new members were initiated into Clonia at a meeting held Wednesday. The regular business meeting was held over from Tuesday night so that it would coincide with the initiation. The candidates entertained the old members with several short impromptu skits, and certain tryes gave talks on subjects of interest. Julien Sourwine spoke on "Why all eggs do not boil." Betty Lippincott told of "The Increase in the Peanut Industry of Slam," and Betty Burritt spoke on "Red Apples." Ice cream and cookies wound up the evening's entertainment. The newest members of Clonia are Evelyn Boudette '30, Elmer Lyon '29, Walter Wilson '31, Herman Kaiser '28, Julien Sourwine '31, Margaret Hartman '29 Margaret Sullivan '30, Harry Robinson '31, Elizabeth Lippincott '30, Howard Sherrin '31 and Elizabeth Burritt '31.

Frosh Get Wood For Fire Rally

Plans are being rapidly formulated by the Whelps for a huge bonfire to be held the Thursday evening before Homecoming Day, as an opening event for the series to follow. Stunts and other forms of entertainment are being planned, and a unique program will be featured for the benefit of all in attendance, according to those in charge. Boxes and wood will be collected within the remaining days by the Frosh, who will also be utilized in the other work prior to the opening of the Homecoming Day program. "Watch the Wolves," Nevada's recently adopted slogan, will continue to be posted about the campus and town streets by the Whelps.

CANTLON SETS FORTH IDEA OF ANNOUNCER FOR HILL FUNCTIONS

REVISION OF PRESENT CONSTITUTION IS CONSIDERED

GIGNOUX OUTLINES PLANS FOR HOMECOMING PROGRAM

In an endeavor to better post the students of the University of Nevada with the activities and functions which are taking place on the campus, President Vernon Cantlon proposed "A Flying Squad" will establish a personnal contact between the student government and the various organizations and groups on the hill. The members are expected to be able to make a complete canvass of the campus within a few hours and will be expected to bring about more co-operation in the rallies and events of university interest.

Pete Gignoux, '28, chairman of the Homecoming Day committee gave his report and briefly outlined the program which will be given on the 28th and 29th of this month. Elizabeth Shafer, '29, Bob Adamson, '29, and Wayne Webb '29, are the other members who have arranged the program for this year.

President Cantlon stressed the need for the revision of the present constitution which in many ways appears to be rather out of date. The matter of revision was referred to the following committee: Elmer Lyons, '29, as chairman; Mas Bernasconi, '28, Genevieve Spencer '28 and Douglas Ford, '28.

Lloyd Moon, '29, A. S. U. N. Treasurer, gave the monthly financial report and Bernard Hartung, '28, stressed the importance of Nevada spirit behind all the games. Despite the present rather gloomy football outlook, Nevada must not lose sight of its traditional spirit. A proposition whereby all the organization treasurers will be combined under one unified system was proposed, but final action was left until the next regular meeting.

"PAINTING WILD FLOWER" MADE TALK SUBJECT

ETHYL WICKES RELATES
HOW SHE PAINTED
NOVEL WORKS

Miss Ethel Wickes gave a very interesting talk on the "Painting of Wild Flowers" in the auditorium of the Education Building last Wednesday night at 8:00 o'clock. Miss Wickes studied in Paris and now does most of her painting in San Francisco where her friends send her various and often rare specimens.

Her first variable and colorful collection that we have seen in the Library consists of one hundred paintings which have traveled from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast and made friends wherever they have gone. According to Miss Wickes, it took as long as ten days to complete some paintings while others were done in three hours. She said that she found clear watercolor the most effective and lasting.

Miss Wickes, although not a botanical expert, believed Botany to be a very fascinating study, especially in the West where nature can be easily observed. She also is an ardent conservationist for the preservation of flowers. After her speech she told the audience if they would go to the library, she would be there to try to answer any question on wild flowers that they might ask.

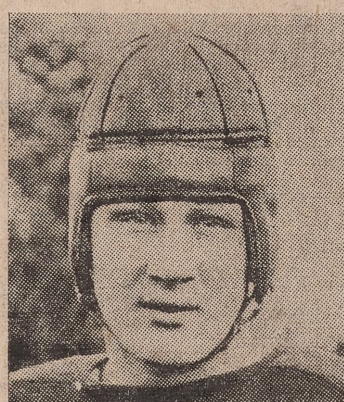

Gridgraph to be Used This Week

A banquet to be held after the Wolves Frolic was discussed by the Blue Key fraternity at their meeting held last Wednesday. It's purpose is to bring together the honorary and alumni members as well as the active members of the organization. The gridgraph will again show the "Wolf Pack" in action, this time they will be against the "Cards" at Palo Alto, when the Blue Key will set up the apparatus in the Auditorium of the Education Building, on Saturday afternoon.

W. A. A. Considers Lake Lodge Site

W. A. A. has decided to build a lodge upon the shores of Donner Lake, if a suitable site can be obtained. A plot 100x200 feet is desired and a cabin with one large room is being considered as a possible place for the women to spend week ends.

"HANS" HANSEN

CAPTAIN HANSEN will lead the Wolf Pack against the Stanford Cardinals tomorrow.

BIG PEP RALLY HELD TUESDAY BY HILL CO-EDS

NEED FOR MORE SINGING
STRESSED; PROGRAM
FEATURED

About three hundred women gathered in the gym last Tuesday evening at 7:15 to take part in the first pep rally for women ever held at the University of Nevada.

Mae Bernasconi '28, chairman of the rally committee, opened the program by explaining to the women that the lack of enthusiasm on the campus in singing was decidedly marked, and that Nevada songs should be learned by all women and sung as often as possible. Song books were passed out at the conclusion of her speech, and Mr. Post, instructor in music, lead the women in Nevada songs.

The remainder of the rally was spent with a musical program presented by Ellen Harrington '29, Alys Couch '31, Kathleen Malloy '29, Bettie Dove '28, and Katherine Curieux '28. Ethel Leonard '31, rendered a violin solo, and four high school members of the "Ukulele Club" assisted in the program by singing popular songs to the accompaniment of ukuleles. At the close of the rally it was announced by the chairman that practices in singing Nevada songs will be held in the Education building auditorium on Wednesday and Friday of this week, and Monday, Wednesday and Friday of next week from 1 to 1:15 o'clock. Roll will be called for Freshmen women, and one cut only will be allowed per week. Those who fail to appear at the song rallies will be dealt with by the Women's Upperclass Committee.

ADAMS TALKS ON DIVORCE MENACE

Reverend Brewster Adams, pastor of the Baptist church, will discuss the problems of divorce at the general Y. W. C. A. meeting to be held Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock in Manzanita parlors.

After his address, Reverend Adams will answer any questions that may be brought up concerning the problems under discussion, or relating to it.

On the following Wednesday afternoon, a discussion group will meet to talk over any of the points brought up by Rev. Adams in his address tomorrow. All campus women are urged by the Y. W. C. A. to hear this talk.

Delinks to Come Out October 19th

Dean Maxwell, Chairman of the Enrollment Committee, has announced that Delinks will be out on October 19th. The delinks are given to students who are doing unsatisfactory work in their subjects, and, while they are not final, should be taken as very serious warnings, according to Dean Adams.

October 4th was the last day in which students were allowed to drop courses without failure, and from now on a delink will have to be prescribed to the professors in whose classes the student is registered, and a statement received by him to the effect that satisfactory work is being done in the course before it may be dropped without failure.

SEISMOGRAPHICAL MAP GIVEN TO PROF. JONES

A complete seismographical map of Mexico was sent to J. Claude Jones, professor of geology, with an accompanying booklet, from the Mexican Bureau of Seismology. This map shows a record of every earthquake and its location, from the time when Mexico first began its records up to 1926. The earthquake regions, or belts, and their relative frequency in that country are outlined.

WOLVES DEPART FOR STANFORD TONIGHT TWENTY-TWO STRONG

DUE TO INJURIES SEVERAL NEW MEN WILL APPEAR
AGAINST CARDINALS SATURDAY

The spirit of fight, egged on by defeats in the first two grid battles of the year, will be present in the Nevada Wolf Pack when they trot out on the field at Palo Alto tomorrow afternoon at 2:15. Departing tonight on Number 21 at 9:05, 22 of the best foot ball men in Nevada, will go to avenge themselves for the defeats given them by the Gray Fog of San Francisco and the roaming Golden Bears at Berkeley, the earlier part of this season. Several new men will be seen in action in this game because of injuries that many of the varsity men suffered in the game with Cal last Saturday.

FARMERS PLAN MANY FEATURES AT HOMECOMING

HORSESHOE CONTEST
WINNERS

The Aggies plans for their part in the Homecoming day program are progressing and extra features over former years are being worked out. The official opening of their program will be at the barracks on Friday at one o'clock, where the plant exhibits will be shown. The livestock exhibits will be displayed in front of the barracks.

The members of the Aggie Club are also preparing a unique and interesting display for the parade, Friday morning, with entirely new features.

Horshoe Tournament
On Friday afternoon the Aggies will hold the preliminaries for the horshoe tournament, for which more than twenty entries have signed up. The tournament will be opened by a match between Governor Balzar and Mayor Roberts against President Clark and Dean Stewart. Two trophies will be given for the horshoe tournament. One given by the Reno Sporting Goods for the winners of the doubles and one given by Dr. Gasho for the singles. The finals will be held Saturday morning with remaining teams competing.

Friday evening the Aggie Club will entertain the Aggie Alumni at a supper before the Wolves Frolic.

The barracks have been decorated in two original colors the names of which will be withheld until the formal opening Friday. Other details of the celebration will be either a turkey shoot or a raffle, a poultry show, a dog show and the Aggie dance Saturday night which will be the culmination of Nevada's Homecoming.

HILL POSTOFFICE SHOWS INCREASE

The financial check of the campus postoffice for the September quarter, which ended September 30, has just been completed. The results of the check showed a decided increase over the June quarter. It also showed that the postoffice business is increasing as the school year progresses.

There was an increase of 10 per cent in both the money order department and in the number of insured packages handled. The C. O. D.'s handled showed an increase of 9 per cent. The registered matter handled showed a very slight increase of not more than 2 per cent. The number of boxes rented for the September quarter was double the number rented during the previous quarter.

Artemisia Being Well Supported

Instructions were given to the tyeens for the business staff of the Artemisia, at a meeting of the staff held last Monday. Carl Fuetsch '29 business manager, urged that the ads be brought in as quickly as possible. According to the business manager, downtown business houses are supporting the Artemisia liberally with their ads and with the support of the staff the year should be a successful one.

History A. E. F. Sent to Library

Major General C. P. Summerall, president of the 1st division of the A. E. F. sent as a gift from the division to the University of Nevada, a copy of the recently published history of the division and a supplementary copy containing maps, etc. The copy has been placed in the University library.

E. BOUDETTE INJURED IN FALL IN GYMNASIUM

Evelyn Boudette injured her spine Thursday afternoon in the gym while attempting to jump over a wooden horse. This was one of the tests included in the Efficiency Test given for the purpose of determining relative agility of the Freshman women. The injured woman was taken immediately to the University hospital for treatment and is resting easily according to reports Friday.

Farnsworth, though far from being a new man on the gridiron, will be back in his old place at center to- morrow. Last week he was unable to make the trip with the rest of his teammates because of internal injuries suffered in practice the week before. His presence in the game will give more pep to the team and a better fighting spirit will be shown. "Buck" will start the game and to relieve him will be McCullum, one of the fighters of last week's game. This was his first game with the varsity and he proved to the rest of the squad that he was with them win or lose.

Guards Strong

Four husky men, Inskip, Max Newton, Anderson and Walthers, who say that their position on the team is guard, will make the trip. Anderson and Newton are two letter men from last year and have been in all of the games this year, showing good form. Anderson, at right guard and Newton on the other side will begin the fight and at any time can be replaced by either of the other two. Inskip, at present is nursing a sore finger but such a small injury can not down his fighting spirit. Walthers, whose usual place is at center will be in shape and form to hold up his part of the work in this position. Kline, who played a good game as guard last week is out of the running this week because of an injured knee suffered in the Cal game.

Capt. Hansen, as hard a man as Nevada has, will lead the team. He will be seen in the same place as a tackle, and usually his main feat is his been in a football game. The same men that were with him last week will again assist him this week, namely Harold Newton, Cooley and Krack.

J. Lawlor and Gadda, two of the main ends will work for Nevada at these positions. Gadda, whose spirit cannot be downed even with his light weight, has been one of the best fighters in the Pack and holds up his end of the line in good shape. The fighting Irishman, Lawlor, has a reputation that is to be envied by many and who will be sure to perform well. Moyes and Allen will also be in the game in case that these men are injured or out of the game. Both of these men have been showing well in the scrimmage the past week and will give their best.

The same two men were seen in action in the quarter position will be back this week. These are Lawson and Overlin. Both men were in the game last week and filled the place well.

Bailey, Star

Bailey, whose kicking was one of the best lights of the Nevada-Cal game, will start as halfback Saturday. Three others who are experienced at this job are Connelly, Mike Lawlor.

STUDENTS FETED AT DINNER MON.

The county commissioners from White Pine county were hosts to all students enrolled at the University of Nevada and former residents of that county.

Mr. J. E. Wallace acted as toastmaster for the evening, calling upon former governor Scragham, Dean Leach, several members of the commission and upon various students for short talks. The talks featured the close contact between the students and the prominent men of their community and advantages Nevada offers to students. Everyone present was requested to make a personal introduction.

Lake or Rooter Hat Faces Frosh

From next Monday, (October 10), bleacher hats will prevail on the heads of all Frosh in place of the traditional "dink," up to and including Homecoming Day. The same penalty will be placed on Frosh without the bleacher hat as for not wearing the "dink."

Owing to the lack of cooperation on the part of members of the Freshmen class the Whelps have not been able to sell enough bleacher hats to pay the bill incurred by them for the hats. "This is the first term that the frosh have not voluntarily bought all the bleacher hats secured by the Whelps, so let's get busy and get that hat," states Prexy Garcia of the Whelps.

The Whelps have hats for all frosh that have not as yet bought them. Remember next Monday, frosh, as this new rule has been sanctioned by the Upperclass Committee, the Sophomore Vigilance committee and Carol Cross, president of the Sophomore class.

BALL'S CANYON IS SETTING OF FACULTY PICNIC

HOSKINS, T. BUCKMAN '21 WIN 'BARNYARD' GOLF CONTEST

Thirty members of the University faculty took their first outing on October first. About one-third of the party started for Ball's Canyon, situated just across the Nevada-California line, about twenty-five miles from Reno. Dean Hall was the first to arrive at the Canyon. After the rest had caught up to him, many of them proceeded to play "Barnyard Golf." Three courts were kept constantly busy. Doctor Hoskins and Tom Buckman, '21 emerged as the high point men of the contest. According to the Dean, he and Colonel Ryan were the prospective winners until some of the participants contrived to work them so hard that they were too fatigued to toss the shoes to the stake.

Hike to Peak

In the meantime about fifteen of the men had started on a hike to the peak at the west end of the canyon as their objective. They divided into groups, each group attempting to find the easiest route to the top, but apparently none of them found the desired path, because they turned back in time to arrive for "grab" without having succeeded. The outing was so successful that the faculty have planned another about Thanksgiving time, according to Professor A. E. Hill.

MISS VAN EVERY SPEAKS TO Y. W.

A meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was held at Manzanita hall last Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at which Margaret Ernst, president of the association and Miss Van Every, secretary of the downtown girl reserves, led a very spirited discussion. The topic of conversation was "Why do we come to college?" and was suggested by Miss Winifred Wyfala's talk last week.

Miss Van Every read an article which spoke of the over-organization of college life, and stated that more than 14 percent of the college women actually took part in activities. It was brought out however, that the Nevada campus is an exception because of the small enrollment, and the fact that one girl does not often have the leadership of a large number of organizations. This is one reason why many students seek the smaller colleges.

College Discussed
Regarding the question, "Why do we go to college," the two greatest gains were decided to be that our outlook on life is broadening, and that many helpful and lasting friendships are formed during college days.

A third reason for coming to college was suggested—that of meeting desirable men, but this was not discussed fully, though it may be taken up at some later meeting.
At the closing of the meeting Miss Ernst announced that there would be a special speaker at the next Y. W. C. A. gathering. Just who the speaker would be was to be decided upon at the next cabinet meeting.

GRADS WED
Last Sunday Vera Haviland '26 became the bride of Howard Brown, '18, the ceremony being performed at Winnemucca. The bride is the daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Carl Haviland of Winnemucca. She was affiliated with Beta Delta sorority during her stay on this campus and was also a member of Commerce Club and Woman's athletic Association. The groom was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and is at present district attorney of Lander county. The couple will make their home in Austin after a honey-moon trip to the coast.

STUDENTS GET BUSY AS DELINKS APPEAR

The campus is beginning to settle down! Summer madness is gradually passing, and giving way to the everyday routine known so well to every college student. Ex's begin to crop up unpleasantly, students are diligently scanning notebooks and worried pledges and Hall freshmen inquire anxiously as to the penalty for delinks.

Everywhere, giddy collegiates are making good resolutions and turning over new leaves, while the babble of football games gossip dribbles to a faint whisper, and the hateful delinks loom darkly on the horizon. The library becomes more thickly populated and student are at last buying their textbooks for the semester's work. The chill of winter creeps into the evenings, and dead leaves line the gutters and cover the lawns. Gradually, the bright green of the shrubbery and trees gives place to yellow and brown, and brisk winds carry the smoky odor of burning leaves and autumn fires. Truly—the campus is beginning to settle down.

WOLVES DEPART

and Elston. All are competent men and can be expected to show up in good shape.

Two heavyweights, Cooke and Stockton, will show up for a place as fullback. Both men are good plungers and can usually make yards for the Silver and the Blue. Crew, whose exceptional working going through the line was noticed by all is out of the game, probably for the remainder of the season, due to a cracked shoulder received in the Cal game.

Raycraft Injured

Raycraft, end, is now on crutches due to a sprained ankle.
Hope was placed in the appearance of Tom Towle, center-path captain, when he came out for his old position of fullback, but on the eve of the Stanford game he was forced to drop his studies at the university because of his health.

Team Still Fighting

The defeat of the Wolves by the Stanford Bears did not in any way affect the spirit of them and they will go to Stanford with the idea of winning. Stanford's showing against the St. Mary's team last week has helped elevate the spirit of Nevada, and they will attempt to pull the same stunt as did the team of "Ship" Madigan last Saturday.
The attendance at this game will not be as great from the Nevada ground as was last week but those attending will carry the whole spirit of the Student Body.
The team will stay in San Francisco Sunday, returning on the seven o'clock train that night.

STUDENTS TO ADVERTISE HOME COMING FEATURES

Since it is planned to make this Homecoming Day the greatest that has ever been held in the University, the Homecoming Committee wishes that each student whenever writing or going home on a visit mention the occasion. The committee believes that if Homecoming Day is to be a great success it must be "played up" to the people of the state and surrounding states and they think there is no better way to accomplish this than to have all the students put in a word mentioning the day and date. Students are also requested to tell all alumni, friends or others who might be interested.

RALLY AROUSES NEVADA'S SPIRIT

The pep rally last Friday aroused the old Nevada fighting spirit. The speeches seemed to strike where it was necessary for the tradition of only six men at the station to see the team off was broken that night. A large portion of the student body cheering the team on their way to California.

The crowd gathered by the tracks, and as the train pulled in, it was greeted by a big NEV. The coaches and players were each given a yell as they entered the train.
The gridgraph will be operated again next Saturday in the auditorium for the big game at Stanford. A larger attendance is expected next Saturday because there will not be so many Nevada students at the Stanford game as there were at the California game.
Prior to the game and between halves entertainment will be furnished again for the benefit of the fans. The game starts at 2:15 p. m. and the admission charges will be 50c.

FANS SEE GAME ON GRIDGRAPH

Last Saturday while the "Wolves" were invading the "Bears" at Berkeley, the football fans at home were entertained in the University Auditorium by witnessing a full account of the game on the gridgraph. Led by "Red" McIlwaine, '26, the large crowd gave several Nevada yells to show the loyalty of the fans at home. Before the game and between halves the audience was entertained by a group of University musicians.
From a financial standpoint, the gridgraph last Saturday was a huge success. However, there was very little profit because of the large number of additional expenses that occurred for the first showing.

MARRIED WOMEN SHOW INCREASE

This year we find that there are more married women attending the university than in previous years, most of whom are enrolled in the College of Arts and Science. They are taking such work as art, literature and language, and are only taking a few hours each week in order that the work will fit in with their home duties. In previous years many divorcees have enrolled in the university but this year, due to the three months' divorce law the number has decreased.

Frosh Nettled By Manzanita Urge

BERRY—ERRR—and over the wire came a sweet feminine voice. "Five Frosh boys wanted to move furniture at Manzanita hall," and five Frosh rudely awakened from an afternoon nap trudged wearily down the hill.
Five Frosh bravely mounted Manzanita hall steps and rang the bell. Silence, then the door opened. Miss Mack appeared, smiled, then—horrors—and five Frosh discovered they had been duped, ruthlessly by a woman.
Five vows were made to get revenge on that woman, and five Frosh wearily found their way back to Lincoln hall.

PROFS. ALIBI FOR NOT APPEARING

Younger members of the staff of the University of Nevada have been sprinkling the campus with alibis for their non-appearance Monday—and right after the Cal game, too.
"We encountered inclement weather on the way down, caught colds, and this alibi."
"Not having gotten together before hand another informed his classes. 'We applied for a free inner tube, and put in time waiting for it.'"
"An old favorite is 'We tried to find a street car back to Reno, but the Sparks ferry doesn't run after midnight, and we weren't going to walk home.'"
"But, 'Oh it was only the girl with the green hat again!'"

Campus Society Has No Meeting

The Square and Compass society was foiled in its attempt to hold a meeting in the Aggie building last Thursday as the doors refused to be opened.
After a few moments of vain waiting the members departed, muttering and hoping for better luck next time.

BULLDOGS HOPE TO ROUT U.C.L.A.

Fresno State Teachers take the field next Saturday, when they tackle Coach Bill Spaulding's U. C. L. A. outfit on a Los Angeles field. That the game will be a close contest is expected, and it would not be a big surprise if the Teachers handed out the short end of the score to U. C. L. A.
According to football critics, the Teachers displayed a large amount of "zip" in their game with Stanford, and Coach Spaulding and his squad are looking forward to plenty of opposition.

Lake Gives Cold Greeting to '31

The latest of the class of '31 to hit the waters of Manzanita-Lake were: J. Berry, W. Hendricks, R. Griffin, J. Ballard and W. Edwards, who took the plunge last Thursday. The report that the water is becoming colder and colder. Consequently freshmen are becoming even more careful about how they keep the traditions of the campus.

Mines Students Raise Standards

That the Mackay school of mines has held a particularly high standard since its founding in 1887, in relation to other universities of the United States, was the statement of J. A. Fulton, director of the school. "In a recent discussion with Vincent P. Gianelli," he stated, "who had opportunity to study men from many different institutions, seeking post-graduate work in mining at Columbia and Yale universities, I found that the same standards exist as did 28 years ago."

"As a rule," Gianelli stated, "Geologists from other of the nation's institutions are in no way better prepared than the men from Nevada, and, as a rule, are not prepared as well." Fulton, commenting on this statement said, "The same standards existed when I was doing post-graduate work 28 years ago."

Normal Students Plan Ghost Party

Plans for a Halloween party were discussed at a meeting of the Nevada State Normal School club, held Thursday afternoon in the Education building.

November 3 was set as the date for the party. The following girls were appointed as chairman of their respective committees: Bessie McDonald '31 entertainment, Grace Uhart '30 refreshments, Thelma Guerber '30 reception, Opal Curieux '30 cleanup.

Lucille McKenney, president, announced that a section has been reserved in the next issue of the Artemisia for the Nevada State Normal School Department.

Regular meetings are to be held the first Thursday in every month, at 3:15, in room 209 in the Education building. All first and second year students are urged to attend.

SIXTEEN-INCH SKIRT CONSIDERED STYLISH

The uneven hem line, the skirt longer at back or sides as introduced as a compromise between short and longer skirts, and now has become adapted as one of the present styles. Some of the new frocks show a lengthening all across the back, some with the back lengthened on one side only. There are frocks short at front and back, and long at one side only. The skirt that is long at once side only. The skirt that is long at the front and short elsewhere does not seem to be in the picture at all.

These irregular hemlines are found for the most part in evening gowns, occasionally in the more formal sort of afternoon frocks, but almost never in frocks designed for street or sports wear.

There has not been a very great lengthening of daytime skirts. The skirt that measures fifteen to sixteen inches from the ground is considered smartest. As the season goes on you will probably see much discrepancy in that matter over lengths. You will see women who persistently ignore the dictum in favor of slightly longer skirts, and other women who, in their eagerness to follow the fashion for longer skirts have theirs made so long that they actually look dowdy.

ARTEMISIA HALL BUYS NEW PIANO

The number of girls living in Artemisia hall this year has risen to 28, which is nearly twice the number that were there last year. All the rooms on the first floor are occupied and about half the rooms on the second have been furnished and are in use.

Much to the delight of the occupants the latest additions to the furniture have been a Chesterfield set and a new piano. Except for the piano lamp, which is expected to arrive soon, the parlor is now completely furnished.

Manzanita hall association has formerly rented a piano for Artemisia, but this year, at the suggestion of Dean Mack, it was decided to buy a new piano as the one in Manzanita is now paid for. However, it was decided that a Baby Grand was too large an undertaking so a Sohmer upright was chosen and has been moved into the hall.

Gow House Adds Many New Courses

Sudden appreciation of an artistic nature in the way of covetous attitude toward the colorful asters blooming profusely about the campus, has lately manifested itself in the minds of Lincoln Hall "patronizers of the Gow-house," according to authorities, in view of the fact of the appearance of the flowers upon the coat lapels of the men, and the disappearance of said flowers from the flower-bowls upon the tables.

Other interesting happenings about the Gow-house during the past week include the installation of a new bulletin board in the shape of a weather beaten Ford, usually stationed outside the dining hall. Permission to paste notices upon the new board is revocable at any time, according to those in charge of the latest addition, and the right of removal without notice is taken for granted.

Normal Students Meet Every Monday

The Student Teachers of the Nevada State Normal Department will meet with Miss Reubens, Assistant Professor of Education, and hold regular student meetings every Monday afternoon at 2:30, in room 209 in the Education building.

At these meetings the main topics for discussion will be: "Everyday problems arising in the public schools and how to overcome them."

CARD PARTY TO BE HELD SOON BY MANZANITA

PLANS FORMULATED AT LAST MEETING OF HALL WOMEN

At the monthly meet of the Manzanita Hall Association on Thursday night, the 22nd of this month was agreed upon as the date for the annual card party to be held at Manzanita Hall. It was also decided that the Manzanita Hall Association have a panel picture in the Artemisia this year instead of a group picture as heretofore. According to President Annie Twaedle, the price will be fifty cents for each girl.

Upon Miss Mack's suggestion and some discussion a motion was made and passed that the Women's Faculty Club be allowed to have their monthly meeting at Manzanita Hall and that a date be set on which both of the halls would be open for their inspection.

Miss Mack also announced the new plans which were made concerning the dining hall. These were that hereafter on Friday evenings instead of the College Hymn, the song Hall, Proud Nevada will be sung. Furthermore, that on this particular night everyone would be requested to be at the hall at 5:55 p. m. and that all of the songs and yells would be given before the beginning of the meal. The music instructor, Mr. Post, has been requested to lead the song on this Friday.

It was decided that a formal dinner will be held in the dining hall sometime within the next two weeks, possibly on this coming Tuesday, wherein formal dress and formal manners will be in evidence.

Under old business, the Manzanita Hall piano was discussed. A means of disposal for the note on the piano which was paid off last week has not yet been decided upon, but it is hoped that there will be some fitting ceremony in the near future.

After reports were given by the inspection, Quiet, Magazine and Finance committees, the meeting adjourned in good order.

Girls Club to Have Work Soon

According to Miss Weber, instructor in physical education for women, much progress has been made in Education 56, a course for the benefit of young women who are interested in Girl Scouts, Girl Reserves and the Camp Fire Girls.

Miss Van Every, who is secretary of the Reno Girl Reserves, is expected to take an active part in the organization of the college groups. Miss Weber intends to get in touch with two groups of camp fire girls in town, who will join the college group, which should be of advantage to both.

Also, an attempt is to be made to start a group of Girl Scouts in Reno.

JOURNAL TELLS OF METAL TEST

"The Glow Test for Metals of the Platinum Group" by C. W. Davis, of the United States Bureau of Mines, is the title of an article published in the May number of the Journal of the Franklin Institute.

This test was previously applied by Curtman, and Rothberg, but has since been found to be safe only in the absence of copper and cobalt, nickel or silver. In his article Mr. Davis discusses the theory of contract catalysis and the factors which influence the glow reaction, and provides a modified procedure which makes the glow reaction a more reliable test for the detection of the platinum group metals.

"The Swelling of Bentonite, and its Control," is another article by Davis, which has been accepted for publication, and will appear in an early article of the monthly, "Industrial and Engineering Chemistry." The bentonite, which is a clay that swells when it comes in contact with water, has been the cause of much difficulty in drilling for oil.

While kerosene and oil have as a substitute for water, Davis gives the names of various saturated salt solutions which prevent the swelling, and thereby do away with such troubles, as the collapse of casements, etc., caused by the swelling of the bentonite.

School of Mines Issues Bulletin

A bulletin was issued by the Mackay school of mines this summer, with the idea of distributing it at the Nevada Transcontinental Highways Exposition, and issues will be made quarterly from now on.

The time set for the appearance of the next bulletin is not definite but according to J. A. Fulton, director of the school, it will appear about the first week of 1928.

Copies of this bulletin have been distributed to the alumnae, to other institutions, to engineers, and to various other people who would have any interest in the school. Copies were also distributed to the 175 Mississippians who visited the campus last week.

The bulletin gives a description of the school, of the surrounding country, of the University, and explains admissions, degrees, etc., in full for the benefit of anyone wishing to attend the school.

Many Enroll in Spanish Courses

Enrollment in Spanish language classes this semester is much heavier than it has been in previous years. This is especially true of courses in beginning Spanish, where several additional sections have been arranged in order to accommodate the large number of students desiring to start Spanish. With this great increase in beginning Spanish there is a noticeable decrease in other courses of that language.

This situation can probably be attributed to the dying popularity of Spanish in high schools, according to those in charge of teaching Spanish at Nevada.

TAKING PART

The first "pep" rally ever held by the women students at the University of Nevada, as a separate group, was held last Thursday evening in the gymnasium. Over two hundred came together to learn Nevada songs, express Nevada loyalty, and feel Nevada spirit. Continued effort is being made to help along the new project through noon "sings" for Freshmen women during the week, at which time Nevada songs are learned and sung under competent leadership.

Nevada women are doing a real part to make the University a definite unit—with a goal of cooperative success and true loyalty in view. Group singing reacts toward group doing and group feeling. A "singing campus" has been long desired by many of those most interested in the Hill—a singing campus as a means toward an end of a spirited, awake campus.

Many expressions of appreciation are due those who put over this rally and sustained the awakened spirit through the sings. The activity necessitated distinct effort and work. Some few energetic people gathered the wood, found the matches, and set a new fire off. Just how much heat will ensue—just how long that fire will burn—just how high and wide the flames will be felt and seen, depends upon just how much fuel is added; to be concrete, just how much enthusiasm and determination for the accomplishment of that hard-found goal of Nevada spirit is applied, will be the measure of just how much benefit and worth will result.

Songs have been sung and heard. An effort has been actually started by the Hill women—whose shrill voices have been said to ruin organized yelling—toward a worthwhile goal of instilling action and spirit through Nevada songs.

Frosh women are turning out for the sings; upperclass women are eager to be a vital force in college activities; and with a continuation of effort and an appreciation of past effort sufficient enough to produce activity, the women of Nevada may take a definite part in contributing to the vigor and pep ever present on a dynamic, unified, spirited campus. —E. A.

WHAT TIME?

Two inmates of an insane asylum were looking at the asylum clock. Inmate number one was worried. "Do you think the thing is right?" he inquired. The other answered: "Right? Of course not. If it was it wouldn't be here."

The University of Nevada Library, though far removed from the category of a madhouse, is comparable to the above mentioned institution in at least one particular, the matter of clocks. For the past two weeks the hands of the Library clock have pointed unflinchingly and invariably to ten minutes after six.

Too often an Upperclassman, after having slept serenely through a vacant period, glances up at the clock and rushes madly out, fearing he has lost his supper through a too protracted nap. Too many Freshmen, gazing at the unwavering hands, wonder if "Daddy" Layman is trying to take advantage of their Freshman ignorance.

Perhaps the protracted cessation of its duties by the clock is due to neglect, perhaps to the lack of facilities for getting up to it for winding purposes. Whatever the cause, however, it is clear that "someone has blundered" and we think a suggestion is entirely in order that something be done to restore this time-piece to its normal functions.

You came to college to learn something. Don't forget to do it.

"The faculty is here to help you. How much better to accept that as an axiom than as the conclusion of four years' experience."

Don't be a joiner; that is, don't join everything in sight just for the sake of joining.

"The man who lives his own life, drinks deeply of a satisfaction never known to the man who merely follows the crowd." Teachers' College Mirror.

"Huh? The game? Oh, I never saw it."

OPTIMISTIC THOUGHT
WHENEVER A PROF GIVES US A CHINCH WE CAN GO AND TELL EVERYBODY WHAT AN AWFUL BUM HE IS.

While we're on the subject of profs and cinches, here's a little UNFALLIBLE METHOD OF PASSING A COURSE WITH HIGH GRADES:
(Compiled from the observations of our best students, including Miss Stretcher and Mr. McIlwaine.)

Always be alert and interested in what is going on in class, but don't be so anxious to listen that the prof will think you don't know anything and will call you.

IDEAL FOR PROFESSOR CITED BY STUDENTS OF FOUR CLASSES

MEN AND WOMEN DIFFER IN OPINIONS OF WHAT EVERY INSTRUCTOR SHOULD HAVE

"My Ideal Professor" sighed one demure freshman over her cup of tea, "must first of all have a pleasing voice. If there is anything which will hold the attention of a class, it is for the instructor to have at least a pleasing if not musical voice. If there is anything that pains me, it's to have to sit and listen to some one talk who either does not know how, or does not care to use his power of speech."

"Then he must have had a great deal of experience or contact with people who are notable. Contact with such a person either in or out of a classroom is valuable to one's mental development, so meeting a person of this type in a classroom certainly adds color and interest to any course. This is granting that the professor uses his experiences and talks of his experiences along with his given subject. However this does not mean he should drag out all the dust along with the family skeleton and air the family past."

Trust Student
He must also trust his students. If there is any trait which is abominable in a professor it is the attitude of constant distrust.

"Your idea of an ideal prof is alright," said a junior with a sly dimple playing at the corner of her mouth, "but give me the one who is sick all the time or on a vacation. How I love the ones who pass out the examination questions the day before an ex, and don't object to one's taking forty winks in class and refrains from making slighting remarks about cuts, tardiness, etc."

"To be serious, though," added another junior, "the ideal professor must have a rare sense of humor whether it is stingy or not. Sarcasm has been said to be the sour cream of wit, and if the professor has humor enough, he can be forgiven sarcasm, especially if it is meant for the good of a class. This professor must also be one who displays a personal interest in the class as a whole, but never in one individual."

Must Know Students
A senior shook her head sagely. "The professor who seems most ideal to me is the one who gives encouragement always, to his students. He is the type who knows students thoroughly and can understand them. He would not be sarcastic. Sarcasm only lowers an instructor in the sight of his pupils. This person would have no place in his make up for cynicism. Then too, many professors take the wrong attitude. They seem to think that by telling a student how poor he is that the student will do more and better work. If they would only realize how much good a little well directed praise will do."

"The prof of my dreams," spoke up a dark-eyed sophomore, "is the one who has an even disposition. He never loses his temper, but neither is he so body who doesn't need his course that he will give you especially high grades with a prof, but if one should make a misstatement lose no time in correcting him. This will give him a good opinion of your knowledge of the subject.

At times linger after class and exchange light badinage with the prof on the subject, say, of how much money you won from the slot machine the day before, which will convince him that you are a man of the world and worthy of his friendship. This maxim is particularly useful in Political Science classes.

Always confine your conversation with professors to the subjects you are studying from them; otherwise they will think you are trying to redapple them, in which case they will be right nine times out of ten. Study. Don't study. Look pleasant. Give it up as a bad job and quit school and go to work feeding the pigs on the home farm.

BUT WHAT A WHALE OF A DIFFERENCE A FEW POINTS IN A FOOTBALL GAME MAKE IF WE HAD WON LAST SATURDAY! WE ALL HAVE GONE AND CELEBRATED JUST BECAUSE WE LOST WE ALL WEN AND—ER—CELEBRATED.

good-natured as to let any member of his class put anything over on him. He should refrain always from telling antiquated jokes and expecting the class to laugh at them. He should always make the most of his personal appearance. That is, he should be neatly attired in not too dull clothes.

Accept Red Apples
"The ideal professor should also accept 'red apples' from women. In fact he should really see 'red apples' as more or less of an art."

"To my way of thinking the ideal prof," added another senior, "is the one who treats each student more as a guest while he is in the classroom. He is gracious and treats everyone just as he would a good friend on a visit. He is never sarcastic and treats everyone with as much respect as he demands for himself. This professor makes each student feel that he has a personal interest in him. Everyone knows that he uses that attitude toward each student and each student likes to be treated that way."

Should be Courteous
Furthermore each professor should be courteous enough to excuse tardiness and not lecture for five minutes every day on the tardy student. When a professor is late, the students are courteous enough to excuse him and he should never hold his authority as a professor over the student's heads."

And in the meantime far from all this feminine chatter another senior between drags on an odoriferous pipe, slowly spoke:

Sportsmanship Ideal
"Good sportsmanship applies to professors as to everyone else. An ideal professor must be a good sport. He'd be the kind to punctuate his lectures with 'wise cracks'. Not the kind that you're expected to laugh at, but the kind with a point to them, that'll make you laugh. An ideal instructor is not the one who talks about himself, but the kind who knows there's somebody else in the world. His type realizes that you're taking courses in other subjects besides the one he is teaching and occasionally he remembers to ask a question or two about it. The ideal professor knows the ways of the world. He's neither innocent nor a hypocrite. Nor is he a saint on earth or a rounder. He's human. This man is not too aloof. He mixes with the students, man to man, yet he must command enough respect from them to make them feel he is their instructor."

"Then too, my ideal prof must be broad-minded. He should never try to interfere with the student's life outside of class hours, and never run down a man's character and above all he should not try to live the student's life for him."

Interested in Students
Another masculine voice added, "The ideal professor must be congenial. He

Book Reviews

The past year has been very prolific in the production of light fiction by the best-liked of the present-day novelists. Each author seems to have made his latest story a pattern book, one in which are shown the style and characteristics of the author. In fact this rule is so true that just knowing a book to be written by a certain author leads the reader to expect some certain type of novel. A book by Curwood is almost certain to be about the great northern regions and deal with the public takes the books from the authors, reads them greedily, and demands more. Some of the best books of this year are:

"The Understanding Heart" by Peter B. Kyne. A dramatic story of the forest service, in northern California. It deals with a lone girl ranger—the girl of the understanding heart, and the principal episode of the story is a great forest fire.

"Flapper Anne" by Cora Harris. This is a story of a modern young woman who is required to live in a certain house a year in order to fulfill the requirements for a legacy left her. During the time of her stay in the small town in which the house is located, she succeeds in severely shocking the inhabitants by her actions.

"The Pope of the Sea" by Belasco Danz. On the title pages this book is termed "An Historical Medley." It is a story of the exciting type which only Danz can produce.

"Spell Land" by Sheila Kaye-Smith. This is an entirely English book by an entirely English writer. The action takes place on a Sussex farm. It is advertised as a story which will be read over and over.

"Rubies" by Louis Morely. This is an unusually exciting story of love and adventure. The action is transferred from England to Burma, and this shows the author's knowledge of the two countries. This author is not so well known as yet, but this book threatens to bring him fame.

"Exile" by Mary Johnston. Mary Johnston again presents the book world with a novel of the historical type. It differs from her usual type of story in that it has no actual historical basis, and the characters and setting of the story are fictitious. Even knowing the author of "Exile" that it is written by Mary Johnston so much is it like her other books. Either with or without proven historical facts, Mary Johnston's books are all very similar.

must realize the value of personal contact with the student and should be as interested in the student who is poor in his subject as the student who is brilliant. This man must also be interested in other things, besides what he is teaching. Another thing which makes both an instructor and his classes most interesting is the encouragement of open discussion in class. There is nothing so broadening as coming in contact with the other fellow's viewpoint. The ideal professor, if he is interested in his work and wants to make his students interested in his man and he should have such a personality as to make students look forward with pleasure rather than dread to his classes."

"The man who knows his stuff and knows how to put it over to his classes is my ideal of the prof," stated another mighty senior. "He is the man who can see things from the student's viewpoint so he couldn't be too old, but a professor can get so old mentally that he loses the student's point of view. Neither should he be too young, however, and he should have had considerable experience in a practical way in his line or several years of teaching in a lesser institution than college. A man of this type would usually not be intolerant nor crabbed. He at least should not be and he should never be too serious with his students but should always illustrate his lectures with light material."

Liberality Desired

"My ideal professor," concluded another, with a whimsical glint in his fish eyes, "is the man who is liberal, who realizes we come to school to study, not to go to class. He is the man who encourages athletics, and also admires and encourages individuality in students. He abhors a 'yes man,' and treats each student rather as an equal, as if the student were a grown person and not in swaddling clothes. He trusts his students and expects them to trust him, he thinks and tries to make the student see that the value of a college education is not in the grades or even in the degree, but in the actual good which the student himself has gained in both mental and physical development. Of course a person who is like this would welcome open discussion and realize its value in a broader education, and in order to do and be all this, the man would have imagination himself, and encourage it in his students, for the greatest cause of class absences is due to the deplorable lack of imaginative instructors.

BREAKS PAVE WAY FOR SEVERAL OF BEARS TOUCHDOWNS

Again the heavy Cal. team defeated the Nevada Wolf Pack in their annual game at Berkeley last Saturday, the score being 54 to 0. The game was much more closely contested than the score would indicate, as the Cal grid-ders received breaks which paved the way for several touchdowns.

During the first part of the game Nevada held the Golden Bears to a 0-0 tie. The Nevada Varsity was the first on the field and separated into squads and ran through their signals, receiving a continued cheer from the crowd. There was quite a noisy crowd of Nevada rooters present and under the leadership of Bernard Hartung '28 and Laddie Miller '29, the Golden Bears heard the growl of the Wolf supporters.

Student Archers Making Progress

Excellent progress is being made by all the women considering that archery drill is being carried on under a handicap as certain supplies have not arrived which should have been here two weeks ago, according to Miss Webster the instructor of archery.

The present beginners season closes in two weeks. It is noteworthy that the scores this year are on a much higher scale than those of last year. While the beginners of the last few years were shooting scores averaging around 30 and 40, the new members this semester are shooting around 80 and 90, very remarkable exhibitions. At the end of the season there will be a contest to determine who is the best marksman of the class.

PREP SPORTS

Sparks High school at the start of the season considered one of the weak teams of the conference has turned out to be one of the strongest and threatens to put up a great fight for the conference honors. Sparks started out under quite a handicap this year as they had very few men back with any experience at all.

Coach Hug starting his first year as a coach has aroused considerable enthusiasm in the high school and promises to put out a fighting team.

Loss Veterans

Sparks high school lost several very valuable men from last year's team and consequently were considerably weakened among those lost were Tony Poloni one of the mainstays of Sparks Athletic teams for the past four years Poloni played tackle and was a hard charging lineman. Among some of the other men that were lost are the two Guerretaz brothers one at end and the other at quarter. V. Tegala at full and O. Tegala at end also Silva, the high jumper, at the other end position.

Good Material

To offset this loss, seven veterans came back who won their letters in previous years. Among these men are Guin the captain, and who calls the signals, he is a heady field general and keeps the team running at top speed all of the time. Sparks has two half backs that will make any team stay wide awake these two men are Uelle and Gaffery both of these men, though small are fast and hard drivers and it takes a good tackle to bring them to the ground. Sparks has two ends that have had a great deal of playing in Shipley and Beemer and will make the Sparks ends a poor place to try to make yardage around. Monday at full and the line is a bulwark of defense and should steady the Sparks team down a great deal. Blundell at tackle is the other veteran left but with a great deal of men out a very good man should be developed for this position. At the guard positions there are no lettermen but three hard fighters that will put up a great deal of a battle for these two jobs, the three men are: Olsen Bailey and Sbragia.

FROSH TANGLE WITH GOOFS IN SECOND BATTLE

GAME WILL BE PLAYED BEFORE GRIDGRAPH STARTS

While the Varsity are at Stanford tomorrow, the Frosh football team will battle with the Goofs for the second time this semester. Smashing under their first defeat, the Frosh will enter the game with vengeance, their sole idea.

Positions Filled

Each position on the team has at least two good players that can be depended upon. Both Mery and Lonigan are showing up well for the quarter-back position. For the halfback position, four men are capable of doing good work. Felton, Daver, Ramasao, again at his old position, full back, and should make a good man at this position. Among the other men out for positions are Cantion at quarterback, Devine at half, Woods at tackle, Peterson at center. Sparks team averages only a 145 pounds, but what they lack in weight they make up in fight.

Beat Fallon

Last week Sparks pulled the first upset of the season when they defeated the heavy Fallon team by the score of 14 to 6. This was not a conference game for Sparks but was a conference game for Fallon and thus mars Fallon's record at the outset of the present season. The Sparks townspeople are very enthusiastic about their team this year and are giving them wonderful support. Next Saturday they tangle with Reno on Mackay field and as these two teams are traditional enemies the fur is bound to fly in this game.

CAL SEES MANY NEVADA ROOTERS

The University of Nevada was well represented at the California-Nevada game last Saturday in the California Memorial stadium. Approximately 300 Nevada rooters were present. These, together with members of the Sagebrush Club, and members of the Nevada alumni, crowded themselves into the special Nevada rooting section, which was very much in evidence throughout the game.

Don't Forget "Kempy"

The game will start at one o'clock so that the fans can witness it before the gridgraph of the big game starts.

Strong Line

The ball will be snapped from center by Edwards. The guard positions will have plenty of strength in Jacobsen, Dixon, DeLongchamps and Davis. Three husky tackles in the person of Morrison, Oliver and Autins will all get a chance at this position. Baker and either Kibbe or Hopkins will start the game at the two ends of the line.

The game will start at one o'clock so that the fans can witness it before the gridgraph of the big game starts.

Coffin, '26, Tells Of Tex Rickard

Tex Rickard is described, when he was a young man in the wild and woolly west, by Harold Coffin, a graduate of the University of Nevada, and now writing for the Honolulu Star-Bulletin, Coffin was a member of the class of '26, and was editor of the Artemisia.

During the big boom in Goldfield, Nevada, in the early nineties, Rickard was a faro dealer. He was careful with his money and as a result was not generally liked, and was branded "tight," according to the story.

He managed to save considerable money, and his first chance to conduct a boxing bout was given him because of his shrewd and crafty nature. He worked up a $35,000 purse and put the fight over in good shape. It was his first fight and from that time on he promoted various fights until, today, he is the greatest of fight promoters.

Y. TO ENTERTAIN ADVISORY BOARD

The Y. W. C. A. is entertaining its advisory board at a dinner in the Home Economics rooms of the Agriculture building on Tuesday evening of next week. The dinner will be served by the regular meal service class of the Home Economics department.

This dinner is an annual affair given each year, usually in November, by the Hill Y. W. cabinet members for the Advisory Board, composed of town and campus women who act as advisors and backers for the cabinet members in the projects and work of the year. The dinner is given for the purpose of getting into close touch with the board, and interchanging ideas and suggestions between the two groups.

Budget Presented
The year's budget for Y. W. C. A. work on the campus will be presented by those in charge to the cabinet and the advisory board, and plans will be made for the meeting of funds for contributions to Student Friendship fund work, Social Service work here and in foreign countries, and the carrying on of actual service work at Christmas and throughout the year.

The traditional "Stunt" given each year by the advisory board for the entertainment of the cabinet will furnish the program for the evening.

Five Men Added To Lincoln Hall

Wednesday night, the following men were initiated into the Lincoln Hall Association: Laurence Carter, Jack McGee, Ivan Kelz, Charles Hatton, and Jack Lindley.

By special invitation, President Clark was present, and at the close of the ritual gave a few remarks on his appreciation of the ceremonies and on the work of the association as noted by him.

The meeting closed with the usual big N E V and the singing of "U of N So Gay."

This year, the new form of initiation is being used, which was inaugurated last semester, and it is working out very successfully according to Jack Corvin, hall mayor.

J. CARPENTER INSPECTS SEVEN TROUGHS TUNNEL

Jay A. Carpenter, professor of mining, visited the Seven Trough mining district north of Lovelocks last week-end. Carpenter made the trip to inspect the 8,000-foot tunnel the Seven Troughs Mining company is driving in order to re-open the Seven Troughs Mine, and to look the property over generally.

HONOR BROUGHT TO UNIVERSITY BY D. ANTHONY

E. G. SUTHERLAND, FORMER DEPARTMENT HEAD, HERE ON VISIT

A new honor has been brought to the University of Nevada by Donald E. Anthony, instructor in Economics, Business and Sociology. According to Professor Edward G. Sutherland, who has been visiting in Reno the past week, Professor Anthony has been mentioned by Mr. Harold Guest in his late book on Public Expenditures, published by the Houghton Mifflin Company. Mr. Guest gives Professor Anthony the entire credit for the last chapter in his book.

Sutherland at Cal.
Professor Sutherland, who was formerly head of the Economics Department at the University of Nevada is now teaching at the University of California in the same department. He is on a leave of absence from Nevada, and expects to be gone two years, during which time he will receive his Ph. D. degree.

The purpose of his recent visit in Reno was to arrange leaves of absence for the other professors in Economics, because it is part of the policy of the University to have the instructors receive their Ph. D. degree as soon as possible. According to present arrangements the following professors, in the order named, will have the opportunity, during the next three years, to receive their degrees: Professor Blackler, Professor Ness and Professor Semenza.

FROSH GIRLS TO PUT ON STUNTS

A meeting of the Women's Upper-class Committee was held Wednesday, October 5, in the Agricultural building. It was called for the purpose of bringing up before the committee the names of erring freshmen girls. Traditions have been broken lately such as queening on the campus, watching lakings, and Field Day offenses. The following names have been turned in: Edna Jensen, Dorothy Johns, Adeline Duque, Edna Clark, Mary Johnstone, Bernice Blair, Edith McLaughlin, Evelyn Mitchell, Blossom Holly, Emmylou Metzler, Peggy Goodwin.

A special meeting of the Uppelclass Committee will be held on next Tuesday at 3:45 in the Agricultural building for the purpose of dealing with these tradition breakers. All the above named freshmen are requested to be present. Extra measures will be taken with all those who do not appear.

A part of the punishment will be to put on several stunts before the next A. S. U. N. meeting and also a formal apology to be given to the student body.

WOMEN TESTED FOR EFFICIENCY

The women are going to have a chance to choose their activity in gym. On Wednesday and Thursday of this week and on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, efficiency tests are to be given. These tests include how straight a hall can be thrown, how winded you are after a twenty-five yard dash and similar things.

The girls will be divided into three groups: those who show a fair degree of efficiency in all the tests, those who are fair in some and poor in others, and those that are deficient in all of them. The first group will be allowed to choose their activity, the second will be given practice on the thing in which they are unable to do well, and the last group will be given general work.

AGGIES BREW CIDER

The agriculture students are now in the act of brewing cider which is to be served at the Aggie dance and will be sold during Homecoming day in gallon lots. Everyone has to bring his own jug.

Fred Herz Sends Father Message

A radio message was received last week by C. O. Herz of Reno from his son, Fred Herz, who is now on his way home from Greenland. The message, which was put on the air with an amateur set by Herz read, "On my way to Copenhagen, all well." The message was picked up by an amateur radio operator from Decatur, Texas, who forwarded it to Santa Ana, California. From Santa Ana, the message was mailed to Mr. Herz, to whom it was addressed by his son.

Herz departed last spring with Dr. J. E. Church of the University of Nevada for Greenland during the winter months.

Before sailing home Herz plans to visit relatives in Germany. He is expected to arrive in Reno the last of this month.

COPELAND MADE GLEE MANAGER

Alden Copeland '29 has been elected manager of the men's glee club for this year. This election followed the resignation of Claire Lehmkuhle '28 who had previously been elected to this position. Because of the lack of a manager thus far the club has been handicapped in making plans for its various trips, but with Copeland now a work plan are expected to progress rapidly. New music has been received and the men are working on it.

The men are planning a stunt night for themselves to be held in the near future. The purpose of this is to find out talent and material they have and to work out stunts for their regular program. Good orchestra rehearsals are being held twice weekly in the evenings.

The women have also received new music and are working hard. They have passed a new ruling assessing themselves a small tax as a guarantee of good conduct. This will cut down the number of avoidable absences and tardinesses.

NEW USE OF DOOR KEY

When a door key is hung up outside a house in Sweden it is a sign that the family is not at home, says a weekly paper. If this is done in England, it is a sign that that family is not all there.

And the answer was— "They know their groceries"

You can see how we felt. Here we had a whole new assortment of Society Brand college clothes. We thought they were good. But they were brand new models for Fall—and we weren't quite sure how college men would take to them.

So when they began coming in last week for their Fall outfits, we spread out these clothes before them. We showed them the full, straight coats with easy shoulders. We pointed out the three-button effect with long spaces between buttons. They slipped on a few coats.

"Well," we asked, "is this the right cut? Can Society Brand design college clothes?" We waited eagerly for the answer. It came with broad grins. "Say, don't worry! Those Society Brand folks know their groceries."
