'29 Enrollment Increases Over First Semester

789 Students Finish
Registration; 812
Cards Out

The increase in enrollment this semester over that of the fall semester of 1928 will probably equal the second greatest increase in the history of the University of Nevada, says the statement issued from the president's office last Wednesday.

At that time 789 had actually enrolled, and there were 812 cards out, with a week to go before registration closes on January 29.

Enrollment for the year 1927-28 was unusually large, attaining the 1002 mark. The enrollment for the spring semester of 1928 was 133 above the fall enrollment for 1927. The average increase of the spring over the fall semester is about 100.

1886-1907—204 average.
1907-1918—300 average.
1918-1920—280.
1920-1921—449.
1921-1922—726.
1922-1923—803.
1923-1924—855; increase 106.
1924-1925—926; increase 103.
1925-1926—913; increase 74.
1926-1927—930; increase 100.
1927-1928—1002; increase 133.
1928-29—930-950 (est.) 100 plus.

Morrill Hall Bell Is Remnant of Old U. N. Days

Old Bell Used To Be
Rung By Students
For Classes

Every morning at 7:45 the old bell in Morrill Hall is rung to mark the first stir of life on the campus. It is an old, old bell; a last remnant of the little red schoolhouse culture so nearly obliterated by our modern, up-to-date efficiency program.

When our campus was first used, when Reno was a village, when 90 instead of 900 students attended classes on the hill, the old bell in Morrill Hall served duty. It was charged to students to ring the bell at the end of every period, and five minutes later, at the opening of the next class.

Bell Was Event

The bell was then an event in the lives of campus folks and town folks. Watches were set by its ring for the first bell of the day was always on the dot of 7:45; it played its part joyously in celebrations; it rang out old classes, and welcomed new.

But now only once a day is its clapper heard over the campus. At 7:45 now, as in those earlier days, the bell awakens the campus to life. Its sound calls over the quad, resounds from the hills, and dies in its own echo, drowned by the clatter of city traffic, and the crash of electric bells.

Efficiency Reigns

Efficiency must be considered and is so here, with the intricate system of electric bells in all of the campus buildings that allow no excuse of "I didn't hear the bell," from students. But sentiment cannot be downed completely by efficiency, and we have come to listen every morning for the bell that ruled the campus in its youth, but that now only greets it each new day, with a few soft notes, whispers of its former resonance.

JUNIOR PROM TO BE HELD FEB. 9th

Something new and different will be the main feature of the Junior Prom, to be held February ninth. The committee has more original ideas than they know what to do with, so the dance will in all probability outdo any formal given this year or last.

Among other things to make the evening more pleasant an eight-piece orchestra will furnish music in keeping with the aim of the committee to make everything better than what has been displayed before.

The affair will be held in the State building. This fact alone is said to be enough to draw a record crowd.

Frosh Violators To Be Punished

Frosh violators of Nevada traditions are to be punished at the next A. S. U. N. meeting. There is a plan on hand to have these offenders appear before the student body, particularly the women. If a word to the wise is sufficient, during the coming week all members of the frosh class will probably wear a very meek and humble expression, according to upperclass men.

THOMAS GREEN SELECTED FOR 1929 SPEAKER AT GRADUATION

RED CROSS HEAD ALSO OFFERS PRIZES FOR BEST ESSAY

$100 GIVEN WINNER OF
CONTEST TO BE HELD
THIS SEMESTER

Selection of Dr. Thomas E. Green, national director of the speaking service of the American Red Cross as deliverer of the 1929 commencement address at the University of Nevada on May 13; brought with it also the announcement of a prize essay contest. Dr. Green offers a prize of one hundred dollars for the best essay written by a University of Nevada student on the following subjects and using the following rules:

1. Competitors may write on either of the following two subjects:
a. "The International Red Cross as a Constructive and Harmonizing Force Between Nations."
b. "Good Will, Human Service and Cooperative Community Building Through the American National Red Cross."

2. Competition is open to any student of the University of Nevada regularly enrolled for the work of this semester.

3. Essays must not exceed 2,500 words in length.

4. Each competitor must submit three, double-spaced, typewritten copies of the essay, typing on one side of the paper only. The three copies are necessary that each of the three judges may be furnished a copy of each competing essay.

5. Essays must be brought to the president's office on or before April 10th.

6. Competitors must not put their names on their essays, since the essays, without names, will be submitted to the judges. Each competitor should give name, address, and title of essay on a separate sheet accompanying the three copies of the essay.

7. Three distinguished Nevadans have agreed to act as judges of the contest. They are Judge Frank H. Norcross of the Federal Court in Carson; Judge George Bartlett of the Washoe County District Court, and Reverend Thomas Jenkins, Bishop of the Nevada Episcopal Diocese.

8. The name of the winner will be announced and the $100 prize will be awarded at Commencement.

9. Applicants should apply at the president's office for full instructions. Unless three or more applicants enter the contest by March 1st, the contest will be annulled.

NOTE—Dr. Green has generously sent several important books and many pamphlet publications from American Red Cross Headquarters in Washington, D. C. which afford a fair bibliography to those students interested in entering this contest. Dr. Green has also submitted a bibliography including a number of additional titles. The University will purchase for competitors' use a few of these added titles. The entire bibliography list will be furnished to each applicant with instructions. The books and publications of this subject will be held in reserve in our University Library open for use of contestants only until April 10, 1929.

GLEE CLUB HAS CONCERT PLANS

The Women's Glee Club is planning a large number of activities for this semester. They have paid all bills incurred last semester, and have still some money left in the treasury. Plans are already in motion for a home concert on the 13th of April.

A social dance will probably follow at which some novel numbers will be presented. Requests have been received for a repetition of the King Nutcracker music in concert form without the dancing, but no definite arrangements have been made as yet. The secretary of the organization has written several letters to surrounding towns and several concerts will be arranged.

The club is reorganizing this semester. This move was made necessary by the changes in enrollment. Several of the better voices are being selected, and although the number of singers will be smaller than formerly, the quality of the singing will be better.

Teacher Sought In Fencing Club

The fencing club is being reorganized this semester due to the loss of its instructor, Allen Duffy, '31. Sheila Parker, '29 is writing to fencing clubs of University of California and Sacramento Junior College to get ideas on how their clubs are organized.

To continue work in fencing it will be necessary to hire a coach for a half hour each week, necessitating a small amount in dues. Frank Morris of the Y. M. C. A. is helping to find an instructor.

1929 Artemisia Feature Let Out By Dan Senseney

Deserving Students to Be Given Page In
Year Book

The feature of the 1929 Artemisia, as announced this week by Dan Senseney, editor of the year book, will be a selection by the students of the six men and women, in any class, who have done the most for their alma mater this year. This is to be the only factor to enter in the selection and students will be urged to vote accordingly.

From the fifteen gaining the most votes six will be chosen by a committee, consisting of Professor Charles Haseman, "Doc" Martie, and Mr. Edwin Duerr. The six winners will be publicly announced at a dance later on in the season.

For this recognition the winners will have full page photos in the Artemisia and also a resume of their activities.

There will not be a beauty contest this year due to the new feature.

The staff also wishes to remind any and all students who have not had their picture taken at the Riverside Studio to please do so immediately. This week the charge is fifty cents, next week it will be one dollar, and after that date any neglect on the part of the students to do this will result in the omission of his picture in any panel appearing in the Artemisia.

Fraternities are asked to inform pledges of this arrangement.

Frosh Handbook Issued to Class Last Wednesday

Many New Features
Found In Recent Publication

The new Frosh Handbook made its initial appearance on the campus on Wednesday afternoon and was distributed to the greater part of the Freshmen class. Before all the class of '29 had received copies, however, the supply ran out and when more editions are off the press the remainder will be cared for, according to Edwin Semenza '29, chairman of the committee in charge of the work.

New Angles

Resembling the old "Bibles" as to cover and appearance, the new book contains many new things which bring it up to date with respect to information contained between its covers. A new condition of the book provides space for identification of its owner, while a chart in the rear of the publication makes it possible for him to keep his class schedule for both semesters close at hand.

A map of the campus together with a cut of President Clark and the present student body officers, and scenes found at Nevada improve the general appearance of the new book.

Advice Given

Contained also in the book is to be found information dealing with every phase of campus life. This includes the revised constitution of the A. S. U. N. as it was finally passed upon last semester. Campus traditions are explained, university songs inserted for Freshmen to memorize, campus publications described, information rendered on how to register, advice given to newcomers and Frosh, and several blank pages provided for memorandum space.

The work of editing the handbook was started by a committee a year ago this semester, under the direction of John Walsh '29. Work on the book was delayed, however, through the long period of time necessary to make the revision on the constitution. When that work was completed last semester, Edwin Semenza was able to go ahead with the work of getting the book out.

ASSOCIATION TO CONVENE FEB. 2

The Nevada Press Association is scheduled to meet in the journalism rooms in the Education Building on February 2.

During this meeting talks relating to publishing and printing of newspapers will occupy the time of the delegates. Friend Richardson, former governor of California, is expected to address the meeting on "Press Association Benefits." Fred B. Hitchings, field manager for the Utah Press Association, will also talk on a subject not yet selected. Time will also be spent in informal discussion of individual problems.

The meeting will be brought to a close by a banquet at the Riverside hotel that evening, which will be attended by members of the association as well as some well-known guests.

POP OFF VALVE

To Kelly Lyon, Chairman of the Upper Class Committee!

During the A. S. U. N. meeting on Friday, January 17, it was stated that the Sophomores had failed to enforce Freshman discipline in regard to Campus traditions and that the Upper-class Committee would take the matter in their own hands if an improvement on the part of the Sophs was not shown.

The Sophomore Class can, will and desires to enforce these traditions, providing they have the support of the chairman of the Upperclass Committee.

The Sophs cannot hope to be successful if they are faced with resolutions drawn up by the chairman of the Upperclass Committee to the effect that practically a court session must be held before Frosh can be disciplined.

You stated that you were in favor of doing away with all paddings. The Frosh knowing this, became lax in obeying the demands of the Soph Vigilance Committee.

In past years the Sophs were given complete authority to enforce traditions. They had the support of the Upperclass Committee. I feel that we did not have this support last semester. In past years the Sophs had direct supervision of the Frosh. They were not hindered by resolutions making the Sophs appear as doers of an injustice to the Freshmen.

In those times the control was not mitigated by conflicting orders from those above the Sophs. As a result the influence of the Sophomores was worked to its fullest extent. Now, however, the Sophs are limited in what they would do, to further their authority, by resolutions which make them appear as giving the Frosh punishment which they do not deserve.

With the attitude in the mind of the Frosh, fullest discipline cannot be given because the Frosh think that it is not the Sophs who have the authority over them, but the Upperclass Committee, and as they think this they also reason that the Sophs should not be obeyed to the fullest extent.

Previously the Upperclass Committee entered into Frosh discipline only in cases which the Sophs found they were unable to handle. Now the Committee assumes control, not only of the flagrant violators, but also of those whom the Sophs could well take care of themselves.

At the present, the authority of the Sophs has been greatly limited by the action of the chairman of the Upperclass Committee. This action hinders the Sophs to such an extent that if discipline is found lacking through the Sophs, it is not the fault of the Sophs, but the limitations placed upon them by the Upperclass Committee.

In such affairs as they are now, I sincerely believe, that the Sophomores would be able to cope with all problems connected with the Frosh, only if they are backed up in their orders and in their discipline by the Upperclass Committee, and that they will not be able to do so unless this support is given or unless complete control is placed with the Sophomore Class.

JAKE PRIOR,
Pres. of the Soph Class Fall Semester.

Finance Control Selects Manager

Budd Stevenson To Be Succeeded By Don
Budge '30

The Finance Control Committee met Tuesday evening and appointed Don Budge '30 as acting General Athletic Manager to fill out the remainder of Budd Stevenson's term until the regular time for appointment of managers in April. His appointment takes effect immediately. Budge will also continue to hold the position of basketball manager. Budd Stevenson left Wednesday night for Salt Lake City where he has accepted a position with the Commercial Credit Company.

Jake Lawlor, Varsity basketball captain, was appointed coach of the Goof basketball team for the next two months. He has been acting in that position for the last two or three weeks.

Son of L. Tolstoy Might Speak Here

That Count Tolstoy's son may be the next lecturer to appear here through the arrangements of the Robert Fulton Foundation was learned this week when Elmer "Kelly" Lyon, student body president called the attention of President Clark to the fact that Mr. Tolstoy is now in this country lecturing on his father's works and Bolshevism in Russia.

Information relative to the lecturer was received by President Lyon through announcements obtained by the Reno Chamber of Commerce. If Dr. Clark votes his approval of Mr. Tolstoy to the committee in charging of selecting this annual speaker it is probable that an effort will be made to get him here.

Famous Editor May Lecture On Nevada Campus

Phi Kappa Phi Makes
Offer to William
Allen White

Phi Kappa Phi, national honor society at the University of Nevada, is endeavoring to secure William Allen White to speak before its winter intercollegiate according to Professor F. W. Tracer, president of the local chapter.

Mr. White will be on the Pacific Coast soon on an extended lecture tour and he has been asked to speak here before a closed meeting of the society. Only members and initiates with students who have been on the honor roll but not eligible for Phi Kappa Phi will hear Mr. White. This is the first time that anything of this kind has been attempted by Phi Kappa Phi and is designed to stimulate an interest in the society.

Noted Editor

Mr. White is the editor of the Emporia, Kansas, Gazette and the author of several novels.

During the World War, Mr. White served in the American Red Cross, later going as a delegate to the Russian Conference. Since his return from overseas, he has been connected with both the Rockefeller and Woodrow Wilson Foundations and also with the Memorial National Institute of Arts and Letters.

If it is impossible for Mr. White to be here, Phi Kappa Phi will endeavor to secure some other man of national reputation.

TOURNEY DATE IS DEFINITELY DECIDED UPON

Nine Entrants Are To Try For Honors
In Debate

The annual High School Debate Tournament sponsored by Clionia Campus Debating Society, is well under way and from present indications should be successful for both the participants and the University itself. Definite dates were set for the tournament last week, being Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 11, 12 and 13. The final debate will be held Saturday night and the various cups will be presented to the winners at that time.

Nine Schools Out

To date, nine schools have signified their intentions of entering the tournament this year, several of these being schools that have not participated before. Suitable bibliography has been forwarded them for use in preparing their debates. The debate question is, Resolved: "That American capital invested in foreign countries should be protected only by the country in which the investment is made." This has been a live topic for debate for several years and was the question debated by Nevada's varsity debaters last year.

In connection with the debates are the customary dramatic readings for men and women and extemporaneous speeches which Clionia sponsors, and the Shakespearean reading contest and the one-act play contest which are sponsored by Campus Players in conjunction with Clionia.

Alger Jacobs '29 is manager of the High School Debate Tournament this year, while Leonard Sledge '30, is in charge of the contests sponsored by Campus Players.

Cups for the winners of the respective contests are being donated by different campus organizations.

Dr. Knowles to Give Addresses

Dr. Tully C. Knowles, president of the College of Pacific at Stockton, will be in Reno tomorrow and Sunday to give addresses during his visit at the First Methodist Church. Dr. Knowles was secured through the efforts of the Reno Epworth League for the three-day mid-year institute being held at that church.

Dr. Knowles or "Tully," as he is called by students at Pacific will speak on "Belief or Practice" Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock. His subject for Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock, will be "American Religion."

Material for his topic Sunday evening, "Psychology of the Bolshevik," was gained through first-hand information and personal contact with Russia. Three years ago, Dr. Knowles, with several associates toured Europe, visiting Russia with the express aim of seeing what there was to see, rather than to be shown what there was there.

HILL THESPIANS DISCUSS PLANS FOR AUXILIARY PRODUCING UNIT

NEW PLAN IS TO BETTER
MAJOR PRODUCTIONS
OF PLAYERS

OPENS DRAMATIC FIELD
FOR MANY MORE
STUDENTS

During the present week Campus Players have been discussing the adoption of an auxiliary system of play production, such as a Campus Players Workshop, or Campus Players Forum. The step seems necessary, according to those in charge, because of the great interest in dramatics evinced during the past two years.

New Plan Proposed

The new plan will be adopted for two principal reasons: (1) To better the quality of the Campus Players major productions; and (2) to afford as many students as possible an opportunity to participate in the organization's activities. The system will also allow students in dramatics a chance to do practical work, such as directing, costume and scene design, etc.

Under such a Campus Players Workshop, all students passing the semester try-outs who are not cast for major productions will be used in workshop plays and radio plays. The latter will be presented every Monday evening over station KOH. At irregular intervals bills of one-act plays will be presented free to the general and campus public in the auditorium. Also short skits will be prepared and put in readiness for rallies, club meetings, and the like.

Workshop Group

Once this plan is inaugurated, all players for major productions for Campus Players will be chosen from the workshop group. With the added benefit of such training, the quality of the longer plays should be greatly improved. No inexperienced players will be used in the full length productions.

It is believed that under the new plan, Campus Players could give work and recreation to at least from two hundred to three hundred different students during a year, whereas at present probably only about one hundred are used.

Student Directed

All of the workshop plays would be student directed, under the supervision of Mr. Duerr, the work being just as thorough as in the major plays. In this manner members of the play production class would receive practical experience in the work. Better students of drama and better high school teachers would result.

At present, however, the plan is only in its tentative stages. Final action will soon be taken.

Four names have been added to the list of those passing last week's try-outs: Edna Kramer '31, Cecile Dotson '32, Mae Vulich '32, and William Woodburn '31.

During the week the cast for "The Old Soak" has been rehearsing nightly putting the comedy, which is to be presented on February 14, rapidly into shape. Rehearsals were also begun on the Mask and Dagger, all-star production of "Outward Bound," which is promised to be the most original drama ever seen in Nevada when it is offered early in March.

FRESHMEN PLAN SWEATER DANCE

The freshman class has planned a dance to be given on the first of February to buy sweaters for the frosh team. The dance will be given at the Wintergarden with the whole of Tony's famous orchestra furnishing the music. Tony has contributed his hall, and the dance promises to be something worthwhile.

The freshman class hopes by giving sweaters and letters to the frosh going out for first year football at the University to provide an incentive for future classes to have good teams. The class of '29 felt that such a step would help to build up winning football teams for the University.

Coach Gadda has designated those who are to receive letters and the following will get the prized awards: Bankoffler, Biz Johnson, John Griffin, Phillips, Mundy, Brown, Cooper, Horton, Stan Johnson, Lani, Handy, Wilson, Ben Johnson, Blundell, Taber, Adams, and Mitchell, captain.

FORD WILL HEAD SERVICE SOCIETY

Blue Key Fraternity held its first regular meeting of the semester at the Monarch Cafe last Wednesday. Due to the fact that Budd Stevenson '29 is leaving Nevada to take a position with the Commercial Credit Co. of Salt Lake City, Utah, Douglas Ford '29, who previously was vice-president, automatically became president for the remainder of the semester.

P. F. E. Players Will Meet Pack Tonight As Only State Opponents

Express Team Reported
Squad of High
Class Men

Wolves' Win of Last Week Gives Them
Decided Edge

The Wolves will take the floor tonight for their seventh consecutive home game, with the undefeated P.F.E. team from Carlin as their opponents. The boys from the railroad town have quite a reputation and a fast, exciting game is promised the fans.

Little Dope

Little information is forthcoming about the Carlin five. Their squad is composed of employees of the Pacific Fruit Express Company in Carlin, and the men range in age from 19 to 30 years. All have had at least one year of experience, either with high school or club teams. Two of their men were members of the high school team which held the championship of Idaho in 1926, and these men are reputed to be of high caliber. The team has won all of its games so far this season, some of them by impressive scores. Undoubtedly the best club team in the state, they should furnish the Varsity some good competition.

Varsity Good

After the brand of ball they displayed against Chico last week, the Varsity seems to be hitting its stride with a vengeance. With Gilmartin, Bailey and Whitehead ringing the hoop regularly, and Hainer and Lawlor playing the best games of their careers, it looks to be a great season.

Next Week to Tell

Next week, however, will show where Nevada stands as regards a Far Western championship, when Doc Martie takes his men over the hump to tangle with the College of Pacific quintet. Pacific has a team this year which is the best in her history, and is considered one of the best on the coast. They held a significant victory over St. Mary's by a 26-17 score, and were barely nosed out by Stanford in the closing minutes of play. Stanford's recent victory over the Olympic Club places them in about first place on the coast. But Nevada split a post-season series with Stanford, so the indications are for a tough time when the two teams get together.

IMPERSONATOR TALKS TONIGHT IN ED BUILDING

SPEAKER WILL PRESENT
"GREAT LITERARY MEN"

Sidney Landon, impersonator and entertainer, who will appear in the Education auditorium this evening at 8 o'clock, presents "Great Literary Men" so vividly with wigs and paints that those who have known the characters in life testify that they are extraordinarily realistic.

At Elmer New York, a man from the audience, after seeing Mr. Landon's portrayal of Mark Twain, said to the impersonator: "We here knew him so well that it was hard to believe Mark wasn't back. But we knew he wasn't the original when you failed to do the one last natural thing. You failed to pass around the cigars. That was one of Mark's favorite customs."

"Young man, you brought back to us tonight one of our own friends and fellow townsmen, Henry Longfellow. He was as great and good as you showed him," said an old gentleman upon approaching Mr. Landon after a recent performance in Portland, Maine.

Among those great literary men in whom Landon loses himself, assuming a new role and quoting their works are: Mark Twain, Josh Billings, Victor Hugo, Bill Nye, Longfellow, Thackeray, Tennyson, Kipling, and Holmes as well as more recent writers, F. Hopkinson Smith and James Whitcomb Riley.

Mr. Landon was personally acquainted with many of these personalities and where he has not known the characters himself he has interviewed relatives and friends and studied their lifetime surroundings.

Spring Budgets To Be Arranged

A meeting of the A. S. U. N. budget committee will be held this afternoon at 3:15. Those on the committee are: Kelly Lyon '29, chairman; Prof. Haseman and Kathryn Robison '30. They will receive the estimated budgets for the spring semester of all organizations under the centralized treasury system, and apportion the funds.

Parker Manages New Sport For W.A.A. Credit

Red Cross Certificates Given Group of Swimmers

Swimming classes are in progress on the afternoons of Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday at the Y. M. C. A. swimming pool, at 1:40.

This semester Miss Bernasconi has charge of the beginners, E. Nelson, a new instructor, the intermediate, and Sheila Parker '29 the advanced class.

Students this semester are taking the sport for W. A. A. credit or P. E. credit. Sheila Parker '29 is acting as the manager of the sport.

The advanced classes and some of the intermediates are working toward the earning of a Red Cross Life Certificate, which they will obtain one providing they pass with efficiency the swimming tests assigned to them.

Certificates Given

The following women received Red Cross Life Certificates, the Sophomores having the highest number.

G. Whitenburg '31.
O. Lee '31.
L. Carmer '31.
A. Farrington '31.
L. Parker '31.
R. Tobin '31.
P. Nash '30.
M. Weeks '30.
H. Mann '30.
F. Ambruster '30.
E. Guait '30.
V. Stewart '32.

These twelve women were given Red Cross Life certificates because of their efficiency in the tests required, and their efficiency in the tests required, and their cooperation in teaching the beginners. Classification tests are being given, which means women are eligible to enter and show ability from the very start.

"Breathing" Exercises

Beginners are just on the "breathing" exercise, while the intermediates are trying to do with efficiency the American Crawl and the advanced classes are succeeding to swim the half-mile.

Fifty points will be awarded, if this activity is taken for W. A. A.

It may be noticed that swimming contests between the different classes are not held, as in other W.A.A. activities. The reason being that the swimming technique is very difficult.

There is a probability that a swimming club sponsored by W. A. A. members will be formed this semester.

STATES LEADS IN EDUCATION WORK

BRITISH EDUCATOR AIRS VIEWS ON AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES

Los Angeles.—(U.P.)—There is no country in the world in which so large a proportion of the population enjoys a university education as in the United States. Such is the conclusion reached by a British educator after a year spent in America, during which he taught history at the University of California, both at Berkeley and Los Angeles. He is Dr. Robert Stangster Rait and his conclusion regarding the affluence of education in this country was uttered in the course of an article which he has written for English periodicals, after returning to his post at the University of Glasgow, Scotland.

Visitor Impressed

"The equipment of American universities, the numbers of their teaching staffs, the wealth of laboratories and seminar rooms, the magnificence of their libraries, the provision of facilities for the social life of their students and for their athletic training and the spaciousness of their beautiful grounds over which their buildings are scattered render the observance of the Tenth Commandment a serious effort for the conscience of the British visitor," writes Dr. Rait.

He also expressed himself as impressed by the democracy of the American student which enabled him to aid himself through college by working at such employment as waiting on table, driving trucks and similar occupations.

PROFS DISAGREE ON MAN'S ORIGIN

BELOIT, Wis.—(U.P.)—Whether mankind may be perplexed critics of flaming youth, but scientists still disagree on the origin of man.

Dr. George L. Collie, of Beloit college, conductor of numerous anthropological expeditions, contends that the northern Sahara desert, now a barren waste, was the home of the world's first real man.

Opposed to his theory is his student of 25 years ago, Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, who argues that the Gobi desert, in Asia, was the "cradle of humanity."

Expeditions headed by both men have uncovered valuable findings in far corners of Asia and Africa. Dr. Andrews found in Asia bones of the largest mammal yet discovered. In the Sahara Dr. Collie unearthed bones of a race of men whose existence was hitherto unknown.

Mine Graduates Take Positions

Serge Glyachenkoff, a Mackay School of Mines graduate, has accepted a position with the Nevada Mass. Co. at Mill City.

L. E. Fish, also a mining graduate, will soon leave for Chuquicamata, Chile, where he will accept the position of Junior engineer with the Braden Copper Co., Bolivia, S. A.

Another good way to acquire a vocabulary is to try making the old tires last through the winter.

CHEATERS SAID TO BE IN LOW MENTAL CLASS

PSYCHOLOGICAL TEST IS MADE ON COLGATE CRIBBERS

Colgate University—A study of 30 successful cribbers and cheaters during examinations at Colgate university by Herbert C. Brownell has resulted in his labeling them "a psychological type contrasted with the student body."

Information about the 30 was obtained unknowingly to them and by unofficial and underground methods, and they were used as laboratory specimens to show the mental and emotional traits of college students who cheat at examinations and get by with it. None of the 30 cheaters were officially caught even though Colgate has a severe proctoring system.

More than half of the group fell below the campus average in intelligence and the majority belonged to the psychological type known as extroverts, another name for a "good boy" and one more inclined to activity than thinking. Eighty per cent were more emotionally unstable than the campus average.

Student Couple Reveal Marriage

Unknown to their many friends and classmates, Evelyn Boudette '28 and Alan Duffy, ex-'31, were married quietly on Christmas by Rev. R. C. Thompson, professor of philosophy.

Mrs. Duffy graduated from the Nevada normal school, and has taught in one of the grade schools of Yerington for six months. Duffy is a member of Lincoln Hall Association, and active in campus affairs. He was co-founder and instructor of the fencing club on the campus.

Duffy is now working for the Blue-stone Copper Company at Blue-stone. The couple are residing in Yerington.

Officers of Law Society Elected

The Pre-Legal students of the University of Nevada elected officers for next semester at a meeting which was held Tuesday. Melville Hancock '30, was elected president, Clayton Byer '30, vice-president, Grant Bowen '30, secretary, and Bill Woodburn '31, treasurer.

The members of the club decided that Nu Phi Nu, meaning new students in law, was a fit monicker for the Pre-legal society, and from now on these Greek words will be used. Some discussion was had as to the possibility of corresponding with law schools throughout the country, and with making actual studies of the courts of Reno and of Carson City.

Clark Welcomes Nevada Meeting

The tenth annual meeting of the Nevada State Farm Bureau was held January twenty-first, second, and third. President Clark gave the address of welcome, and J. D. Yezer, president of the Nevada Farm Bureau gave the annual president's address. Other speakers were: Samuel H. Thompson, president of the American Farm Bureau Association, R. T. Evans, vice-president and manager of Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Berkeley, and E. W. Stephens, General Manager of the California Livestock and Baby Beef Show.

Students in the hotel management course took over the management of the Hotel Astor in New York for a day.

Strange College To Be Modernized

Cairo, Egypt.—The ancient Islamic university of El Azhar, the greatest in all the East, where the 14,000 students pay no fees and the professors get no pay, is to be modernized.

Now the number will be limited to 5,000. Hitherto, they have been concerned chiefly with the teaching of the Koran. To meet the demand for better qualified judges in Moslem courts, various reforms have been attempted, but later abandoned. Now the objects of the university are to produce qualified teachers of Mohammedan theology, law, and the Arabic language, and men who can be trained as judges and lawyers, also to provide missionaries for Mohammedan countries.

ENGAGEMENT OF GRAD ANNOUNCED

The announcement of the coming marriage of Charles Poppe '27 Miss Eloise Webster was made this week.

Poppe was a member of Delta Sigma Lambda, Nu Eta Epsilon, honorary engineer's society, and Square and Compass, campus Masonic society.

Miss Webster is a graduate of State College and was very active in her undergraduate work. Since graduating she has taught in Jackson schools, Fresno, will probably make his new home with his bride in Sacramento. He is employed by the State of California as a state engineer.

English Society Elects Officers

Officers for this semester were elected at a meeting of Delta Alpha Epsilon, English honor society, held Tuesday, January 22.

Helen Smith '29, was named president, Barbara Horton '30, vice-president, Mazie Ryan '30, secretary, Margaret Hartman '29, treasurer, and Eileen Baldwin '29, sergeant-at-arms.

New members who were elected to the organization will be announced sometime during the next week.

STATISTICS GIVEN ON ATHLETE VS. NON ATHLETES AS SCHOLARS

806 MEMBERS OF HARVARD CLASS ARE TESTED BEGINNING WITH ENTRANCE IN 1923

The Harvard Alumni Bulletin brings forth some interesting figures on the question of whether an athlete at Harvard is a better student than the non-athlete. A most exhaustive report and study of this question, was made by Assistant Professor Snedden of the Harvard Graduate School of Education.

The subjects of the study were the 806 members of the class of 1927, beginning with their entrance in 1923, and carrying it through 1928 when the last few members got their degrees. It was found that there were 301 athletes and 505 non-athletes.

Concerning them it was found that:

1. More athletes graduates, 81 per cent of the athletes getting their degrees, while only 68 per cent of the non-athletes acquired them.
2. The athletes averaged 8.01 semesters for the time of graduation to the 8.07 semesters required by the others.
3. Fifty per cent of the athletes at some time during their college career were on "pro" to the 49 per cent of the non-athletes who were on probation.
4. The athletes enrolled for stiffer course than did the non-athlete and also took a greater amount of work. The athlete averaged 4.45 courses per semester while the non-athletes averaged only 4.41 per semester.
5. The non-athlete gained a higher average in his studies than did the athlete.

Harvard College Will Reorganize

Cambridge, Mass.—A $3,000,000 fund, presented anonymously to Harvard university, will make possible the reorganization of the college. The new plan calls for the formation of number of small colleges within the university resembling the System of Oxford and Cambridge.

Harvard college, under this plan, would be only a name given to a collection of schools. The college would, however, award degrees and conduct uniform examinations.

College Supports Sixteen Students

Bethlehem, Pa.—Sixteen Lehigh University students were arrested by Bethlehem police following a parade when the students attempted to force their way into a theater. College authorities claimed that many of those arrested were innocent of any part in the riot, and stood firmly behind the students. The Brown and White, college newspaper, editorially took exception to the attitude of the police, and suggested an investigation of the affair.

Floating School Presents Plays Before Students Of Other Lands

Debating Team Was Organized By Members Dances Feature Part of Program for Evening

According to radio despatches received in New York, a musical comedy, "Floating Around," has just been successfully presented by students of the Floating University before an audience of students of Doshisha University in Kyoto, Japan, who enjoyed it hugely. It is a burlesque on student life aboard the Floating University. The music and lyrics were written by two undergraduates, George Buzza, Jr., and Ayres Compton, who also directed its production. It has a cast of thirty, including an attractive chorus of singing and dancing girls. It is to be presented before various other student groups in Asia and in Europe. A debating team has just been formed to debate with students of many lands on international problems. A dramatic club has already produced on shipboard an American play, and is now busy on one dealing with Oriental life. This group has been haunting the Japanese theatres, and scouring around for costumes and accessories in fascinating little Kyoto and Tokyo shops.

Language Tables
Spanish and French tables were organized almost as soon as the Dollar Liner, President Wilson, sailed from New York harbor on November 8th. At one table the wife of one of the professors, Mrs. Eunice Weaver, native South American, has been encouraging students, uncertain of their Spanish, to talk, and at another, Mrs. Russell Krauss, instructor in French, has been leading the French conversation.

En route to Japan there was a formal dance every Saturday night on shipboard and much informal dancing at meal times and evenings. Deck sports soon became very popular, and the swimming pool was much in demand. Between Panama and San Francisco were formed a small orchestra to play chamber music, and another to compete with the Chinese jazz orchestra on shipboard. Having settled down for the past three weeks in Japan to study on shore, to make field trips, and to see the sights, the Floating University is once more on its way around the world. It will next visit China, the Philippines and the Straits Settlements, including Singapore, and will then proceed to Siam, India, Suez, Egypt, Asia Minor and Europe, returning to New York in June.

Work Closely Related
The experience of the present cruise makes it clear that the courses students like best and work most enthusiastically in, are those which closely relate what they see and do with what they learn from class, books, and field trips of observation and investigation in the countries they visit. All courses in the future will be planned on this basis and most of them will treat the world as a unit. International Relations, for instance, will illuminate the relations between nations all around the globe. Students in Sociology courses will compare sociological conditions in America, Hawaii, Japan, China, India, and elsewhere. Students of biology and geology have an almost continuous laboratory before their eyes. And so it goes. The Floating University is not a tourist cruise, but a university travelling, with the whole world its laboratory.

POP OFF VALVE

The practice of the greater part of the men students of staggling it at the dances and putting the responsibility of the success of the dance on someone else is, to say the least, an extremely selfish procedure. It seems to be the custom for many of the men to do this. They come to the dances without bringing a girl and then expect the most of the dances to be tags so that they may enjoy the evening at the expense of the other fellow.

It obviously is not fair to the fellow who brings a girl to have to give most of his dances, as tags, to the one who has not the spirit and gumption to get a date himself. Of course in a few instances it is at least excusable if one does not decide to go until the last moment or if he has made arrangements with a rare philanthropic friend for an exchange of dances. At almost every social function we see the customary group of stags crowded around the door, taking their share of the floor and waiting for an opportunity to "cop" a dance from the more enterprising fellow with that good looking date. The practice is highly unsatisfactory to three parties: the man who brings the girl; the girl herself; and the stag.

Why is it that there must always be that stag element at the dances to detract from the enjoyment of the ones who have taken the responsibility of making the dance a success by bringing a "date"?

Students Teach In Biology Lab

As usual the biology department has employed several student instructors in the various courses. Martha Huber '29, has been instructing an advanced hygiene class and assisting in the zoology course. Last semester Lucille Sanford '29, was assistant instructor in the Botany Laboratory course. Mark Menke '29 is also employed in that department.

COURSE OFFERED U. OF N. STUDENTS

McCullum and Collins Chosen by G. E. Official

Alden McCullum, E. E., '29 and Lawrence Collins, M. E., '29, were chosen by L. H. Means of Schenectady, student employment representative of the General Electric Co. to take the student engineering course at Schenectady. Mr. Means visited the University last week and interviewed students for positions with his company after graduation. Walter Herz, E. E., who graduated in Dec. 1927, was also offered a similar position.

At the present time Leslie Clover, '28, and Arnold Benson, '28 are working for the General Electric Co., Schenectady, N. Y. In a recent letter to Prof. Stanley Palmer, "Les" says that he is on the Edison Club basketball team which has not lost a game so far this season.

Lately the Electrical Engineering Department received gifts of valuable laboratory equipment from the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. in the way of laboratory apparatus, among which were telephone vacuum tubes; and from the Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co. a direct current elevator motor of a type not previously represented in the electrical laboratory.

FRESHMEN ARE READY TO PLAY TWO CONTESTS

AUBURN AND YERINGTON ON YEARLING CARD THIS EVENING

Last Saturday night in a preliminary to the Nevada-Chico game the Nevada Frosh played the Varsity Goofs. The game was very close with the Frosh finally finding the basket for 10 points, while the Goofs only tallied six markers. The game was slow and showed lack of co-operation in team work. Outstanding among the Frosh players was Bill Blakely with Stan Johnson and Salsbury doing good work. The Goofs showed no outstanding man except a few brilliant flashes of form. Scranton kept some of his best men on the bench but at no time was the outcome in doubt. To Play Yerington
Tonight the Frosh play two games, starting at six o'clock. The first game will be with the rather strong Yerington team. Yerington is coached by last year's star center, Bozo Watson, and should give a good account of themselves. Half of Scranton's men will be held for the 7 o'clock game with Auburn. Little is known of the Auburn team but it is well-known that they usually have excellent teams and should prove a very interesting contest. Coach Scranton has had one of the best freshmen teams in years but believes they should have more team work. The team composed of high school stars shows much promise.

University Prof Lauds Cramming

Tests Prove Students Who Cram Lead Over Others

Berkeley, Cal.—"Cramming is justified," declared Dr. Glenn R. Pease, of the College of the Pacific, after conducting experiments on 498 students over a period of six weeks. Dr. Pease divided the students into two groups. One was warned to prepare for a test, and asked to record the time spent in cramming. The other group was given the test as a complete surprise. The results showed the first group, which had crammed an average of 87 minutes, to have a lead of 11.1 points over the other. Six weeks later the same test was "sprung" on both groups. The first group still had a lead of 6.3 points.

ENGINEER GRADS RECEIVE HIGHER PAY THAN PROFS

INSTRUCTORS SAID NEVER TO BE AMONG WEALTHY

Cleveland, Ohio.—Graduates of engineering colleges generally receive a higher salary than the professors who taught them. President Charles S. Howe, of Case School of Applied Science, says in an article "College Teaching as a Profession," which appears in the December issue of the Case Alumni.

The median salary of teachers in engineering colleges is $4,200, while the median salary of engineering graduates is $7,500, the article states. Some teachers have an income from extra professional work bringing the median income of the professors up to $5,700.

"The professor can never expect to be wealthy, he barely makes enough to live decently and to educate his children. He rarely has enough left for his old age unless he has been so fortunate as to inherit some property," Dr. Howe writes.

Conditions, however, are improving, the article continues. During the last 20 years salaries for Case faculty members holding the rank of professor have increased from a maximum of $2,500 to a maximum of $6,000.

Saddle and Spurs Will Meet Feb. 18

The meeting of women interested in Saddle and Spurs, which was to have been held Monday afternoon was postponed indefinitely because the season does not actually begin until February 18.

Lois Carman '31 is manager of the riding club, Natalie Lippman '31 is coach. At the meeting which will be called, women interested will be asked to sign up and will be divided into beginning, intermediate and advanced sections. At the same time a convenient hour for the rides will be arranged. Anyone having any idea for a design for a pin appropriate for Saddle and Spurs is asked to get in touch with Lois Carman. Several designs have been turned in, but none have met the approval of the club.

SCHOOL 'GYPED' BY NEW STUDENT

University of Wash., Seattle, Wash.—The University of Washington was "gypped" out of $12 once.

Although between $1000 and $1500 in N. S. F. checks are turned into the comptroller's office every quarter, Herbert T. Condon, who has been the campus comptroller for 25 years, can remember only once that the school lost money.

"It was last year," he recalled. "A young man registered and then paid his $25 in fees with a $37 check on a California bank. The check was no good, and we've never seen him since, but he's certainly toured the country on different school's funds."

The University had him traced by a detective agency, and found that he "pulled the same stunt" in practically every large college in Washington and Oregon. He was last "heard from" in Arizona.

Immoral Spanish Novel Is Banned

Salt Lake City.—A Spanish class at the University of Utah recently was translating a novel when the professor discovered that one page was quite immoral.

He requested that the students skip that page, and read on thereafter. Every student in class translated the page before the next morning. At the next class the professor called each student to his desk, and heretically tore the offending page from their books.

Read it in the Brush.

Various hand-me-down reports have been coming in to the editor recently that there has been quite a bit of dissatisfaction and anger caused by recent statements in the paper and in the "Hill Hisses" especially. I am very sorry that such a state of affairs has come about, because the primary purpose of the column is not to cause hard feelings at any time but rather to help cement the students a little closer together by giving them a chance to share the jokes that come about in college life at the other fellow's expense.

I would also like to state that I am responsible for everything that appears in print in this paper and I would consider it a far more honest act if the people that have any kick coming would bring their grievances to me rather than get some trusted friend to bring them in. I'm sorry if anyone's feelings were hurt but I'm also sorry to see that some people aren't as yet able to see the wisdom in the statement that you have to give as well as take in this world. If any direct statement has been made against any person or organization it has either been the property of the whole school or else has been so far from the known truth that it should be taken as ridiculous rather than as an attack on anyone's reputation.

So remember we at least come out in the open with our remarks and we aren't trying to run down anyone's character and that we would appreciate it if we were treated in the same way. If the student's don't want the column a vote of the student body will take it out of the paper, as the primary purpose of any paper is to serve the people among which it circulates.

GOOD LUCK BUDD

The Campus was rather taken by surprise with the resignation of Budd Stevenson from his duties as Athletic manager, but we all realize that the cold world is waiting for us and that we have homes of our own to build, so, with regret that he will no longer be a familiar figure on the Campus, we wish him luck in his new position.

Budd was a well trained manager, working from the time he was a frosh on the various managerial systems of Nevada until he was made general athletic manager. He finished up all the work for the semester except for a few minor details and leaves with his work in the best of shape. We only hope there are more Budd Stevensons on the Campus.

MORE WANTED

Last week's basketball games had very small crowds but the students who were in attendance certainly showed an excellent spirit, and what yells were given certainly were given with a will. But there is no reason why the gymnasium can't be packed when one considers that there are over nine hundred students registered in the University and that Reno is widely interested in the cage sport.

A little more advertising would help a great deal and it would go a long way to help put basketball on a paying basis. Nevada has good basketball teams, what she wants now is good crowds.

INVESTIGATION WOULD HELP

Nevada got a lot of unwarranted publicity on their choice of football coach last week and had quite a bit of explaining to do to make people understand that no coach has been signed as yet. If the downtown papers would investigate the stories that they get from too freely speaking students it would help matters a lot at the University. Last semester there was some Oswald Peeper the Second, for want of a more interesting occupation, in this issue makes his first attempt to render first-class publicity to all students on our campus green who prove themselves worthy of mention in this here column. Oswald's operatives are located in all parts of the city, making sure that all Nevadans are leading clean lives. Alyce Couch, Horseshow McDonell, Question Mark Ballinger and members of the 3:15 club please take notice.

To illustrate the efficiency of these operatives, take the case of our Mr. Hoyt Martin. Although Martin is nearly blind in his right eye for a recent keyhole skimming, he is eager to continue with our work in the future, while collecting legitimate news for the column, he has been instructed to peer over the transom rather than through the more dangerous keyholes.

It was learned at a late hour last night that the mid-winter romance of Dolores Lozano, Oyster and member of the Gamma Lehigh Beta eating club, and Jack Halley, prominent local grocer, is still flourishing, with every indication of fair and warmer weather in the future. May their domestic bliss last indefinitely.

Then there is the instance of a faculty member, whose chosen profession is instructing in the usage of the English language, who has suddenly become infatuated with an eager desirer to learn more about medicine and now Mr. Harwood spends his spare moments in the University hospital. Miss Collett could not be reached for an interview late yesterday afternoon but all Reno laundries report that no stray Phi Sigma Kappa pins have been found in their establishments.

"Bushy" Graham of KOH fame, whose business is to "Keep Others Happy" by means of radio, has continued his good work outside the broadcasting studio and has made a certain Theta pledge happy by making a date via Western Union on Xmas day for the S. A. E. formal on April 26. Graham's only statement, made in the editorial rooms of the "Brush this morning," was to the effect that he never did believe in the old axiom, "Hast makes Waste." "Besides," he slyly added, "One must be prepared, you know."

The return of Oyster Turner to this institution of higher learning reminds us that her case has been neglected in this column. We have a faint remembrance of seeing her in the Southern Pacific depot on the eve of her departure for the west wearing the pledge pin of one of these here Greek-letter men. Bill McBirney, who has signed statements to the effect that the pin was his, was so thrilled by the adventure that he lost control of his powerful Essex speedster a short time afterward and succeeded in pushing over a telephone pole or a tree, the speedy car suffering a broken front wheel and lacerations about the radiator and fender.

Oswald is looking forward with great anticipation to the first production of

by ELINOR GLINT

Would you know how to win your secret sorrow? Recover that fraternity pin? Untangle your love troubles?—Ask Elinor!

Dear Miss Glint: I consider myself a very remarkable fellow. My favorite occupation is sitting in front of a mirror admiring myself. Everybody tells me that I certainly am a devil with the women, and, judging from the number of pins that I have hung, I modestly think so myself. Last semester I made a bad break, however. I hung my hardware on a very clever young lady, and if she didn't do me dirt by going to another institution this semester! I have not been able to find out her reasons for doing so. Could you suggest possible reasons?—Very Little.

P. S.: She didn't return the pin.

Answer—Dear Very: I would suggest that probably your last date was a keen observer of human nature.—Elinor.

Dear Elinor: I am really just a good girl trying to get along in a big town. After much angling, I have found the man of my choice with plenty of spending money. I remained in Reno over the Xmas vacation in order that Santa Claus might not be put to so much trouble. The catch was fairly good, and I rated a diamond wrist watch from the B. F. I have spent all of my spare time showing it to the campus. But I am afraid that Bob no longer thinks enough of me, as he is acting very queer lately. Please tell me what trouble over a football report and now with the publication of last week's story on the selection of the coach so it looks like that in the future the papers will get in touch with the authorities before they take it upon themselves to print stories.

Flask and Stagger, new campus dramatic society. At last Zenida, Helen Mahoney of "He Who Gets Slapped," has found a way to make her "big red lion love her." John Prendeville, (King of the Beasts.) will not deny the statement and has already secured an architect for the construction of their proposed dream house.

We are in receipt of a letter from the Bell Telephone Company requesting that a campaign be started in this column against mothers' calling the Tri-Delta house after 1 a. m. for wayward sons. Attention, chamber of commerce.

A recent winter-sport party in the deep snows of Truckee has confined a certain co-ed to the University hospital with a badly wrenched knee. These Truckee winter sports are plenty rough, most of them working in the lumber mills.

While listening to the radio the other night, we heard a beautiful littleitty entitled, "The Utah Trail." The number was dedicated to Miss LaVerne Blundell, "Steamboat Red" Stevenson, the lawful heir to the Blundell fortune, has accepted an important executive position in Salt Lake City.

An extensive research of the causes underlying the athletic prowess of "Tip" Whitehead has disclosed two contributing factors. He receives his inspiration at the Tri-Delta house and his unusual brawn is the result of childhood training. "Edwin's strength," says a confidential letter from his grandmother, "comes from the Limburger cheese he ate in his youth while a member of the fighting Hayward high school tigers."

"Love's on the Tramway," a new ultra-modern novel by Margaret E. Mack, will be released as a talking-picture by Warner Brothers in the near future. Mary Margaret Thompson is the leading feminine star while Douglas Calloway plays the part of the passionate Romeo. Other characters include Prof. Higginbotham as the dashing young football star, and the authoress, herself, as the flapper grandmother.

According to "Dutch" Lemkuhl, the latest employee of the Ross-Burke Co., things are getting dead around here. Lemkuhl is noted for his part in the battle to secure a share in the Duque farm.

Lloyd Moon, big coal and furnace man, has been announced as the winner of the Artemisia "Hot Man" contest. Moon has not disclosed his methods but it is said that he manages to keep the entire Pi Phi house hot.

The Alpha Duque elimination contest has reached the semi-final play-off stage with three contestants still going strong. Following the dropping out of Russell Garcia '29, Jack Hopkins '31, Sutton Myers '32 and Claire Lemkuhl '28 are the remaining entries. The winner will be presented a hand embroidered gummy bag.

NEVADA DO OR DIE

The silvery moon rises o'er the crest Its silver beams lights the blue sky, Let's sing a song of U. of N. Nevada do or die.

The team comes crashing down the field And her opponents heave a sigh, Another score for U. of N. Nevada do or die.

The Wolf Pack howls its mournful sound All other beasts with fear do fly, The wolf still fights for U. of N. Nevada do or die.

Cheer for our team and they will fight And ever bear our Banner high, Our team is battling for U. of N. Nevada do or die.

Put Nevada first they say, Back the pack the rooters say, Watch the Wolves of U. of N. Nevada do or die.

Farm Problem

The "farm problem" which became a nation-wide catch-phrase in the recent political campaign will be reduced to its vital human essentials and thoroughly analyzed in a new book, "The Farmer's Standard of Living" by Ellis Lore Kirkpatrick. Dr. Kirkpatrick will provide a timely answer for those who would know more about the true state of affairs on our farms and in our agricultural communities. His book is based on six years of scientific study and investigation in the field of family living, and presents up-to-date information on all the elements which enter into the standard of living, such as income, housing, food, schools, religion and recreation. It considers all these elements in their human relation, as well as in their combined effect on the development of farm business resources.

From old kettle to new world

SOMEbody has to believe in the big possibilities of little things. James Watt saw the lid of his tea-kettle dance—and today our civilization is built largely on steam. In the field of communication, Bell saw the possibilities of a little vibrating diaphragm. Today from the telephone at his elbow a man talks to his next-door neighbor or across the continent, just as he chooses. Men in the telephone industry, in commercial and administrative as well as technical work, are constantly proving that little suggestions, little ideas, little changes, when smoothly fitted into the comprehensive plan, may be big in possibilities of better public service.

HOLLYWOOD SLANTS AND ADVICE

By VIRGIL M. PINKLEY

Pinkley, is the present editor of the "Daily Trojan," University of Southern California daily newspaper. He, realizing the interest that every college student has in motion pictures and the queries that they have concerning the fields and the positions that pictures have for the college student, has written a series of articles dealing with the college man and his chances in pictures. These articles are the results of personal interviews with various colleagues in the movies and they will be weekly features of the Sagebrush through the current semester.

What can you learn from a man in three minutes? Perhaps the best answer would hinge on who the man is. The writer had three minutes with Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president of the Paramount Famous Lasky Corporation, and learned a great deal.

"Know what you want, go get it, have a purpose in life, always give more than is expected, know your field, don't try to beat a master at his own game, work with a fixed purpose," and many other expressions were uttered by Jesse Lasky as he drew quick conclusions to each statement.

Mr. Lasky is a pioneer and one of the foremost motion picture producers in the world today.

Jesse Lasky attended the University of Santa Clara. His chief associate in the Hollywood studios is B. P. Schulberg from the City College of New York. The millions of dollars that are spent annually by the Paramount studios goes through the hands of these college-trained men. They place the studio's approval on the selection of a picture, or the signing of an actor or writer. Upon their judgment, the success of their company depends.

After talking with Jesse Lasky and watching him work in the studio, one can easily understand why his company has won a majority of the awards for the best picture made during each of the past five years over all studios combined. He walks through the studio with a springy, quick step. His eyes move in all directions and he makes mental notes as he surveys all that is going on. Although a young man, he has the knowledge and experience of men many years his senior.

"The trouble with the average college graduate," he said, "is that he does not know what he wants. How is anyone in a studio going to place a young man or woman when they have no idea of what they would like to do?"

"This studio is looking for young men and women. We want young blood, provided it is capable of doing the work required. Not long ago, I had a successful maker of golf clubs ask me for a position. When I asked him what he could do, he replied all he had ever done was make golf clubs. My advice to him was to continue to make golf clubs."

"That was the story Jesse Lasky told the writer when asked how a college man or woman could get into motion pictures.

He was asked about "pull," and answered, "Talk of 'pull' is common among those on the outside. Do you think we are going to spend thousands of dollars and months of work by all departments, and then let unskilled persons handle the work and make a failure of it? The rule of every studio is to place capable people in positions, because pictures must make money if a company is to continue to make them."

One of the methods used by Jesse Lasky to create interest among all those individuals employed by Paramount is the establishment of two large boards which record day by day the time schedule of new pictures and the box office success enjoyed by pictures already released.

During the year 1927, the picture "Underworld" directed by Joseph von Sternberg, featuring an all-star cast, won first place based on box office receipts. The picture elevated George Bancroft to stardom and the director was awarded $10,000.

The other board has the name of every picture being made, on what stage or location it is being filmed, the director, the star, or cast and the number of days it is ahead, or behind schedule. While the boards are only one of the many plans used by Jesse Lasky to promote economy in the studio and interest on the part of every employee, others could be given if space allowed. From Jesse L. Lasky down to the office boys, college-trained men and women are found in the Paramount studios and more such men and women are needed and wanted.

With every click of the camera in Hollywood there comes a growing realization that college men are numbered among the most successful actors in the business. A review of the Paramount studio alone discloses the fact that twelve of the leading men—a prevailing majority, are college or university men.

From where do the prominent actors come? Adolphe Menjou is a graduate of Cornell; Richard Arlen hails from the University of Pennsylvania, while Charles "Buddy" Rogers gives the University of Kansas as his Alma Mater.

Jack Luden is from Johns Hopkins and Tomes; Gary Cooper was graduated from Grinnell. Lane Chandler is from Montana Wesleyan, William Austin and Clive Brook are graduates of Dulwich College in England. Chandler played opposite Clara Bow as her leading man in "Red Hair." Austin is that pleasing English comedian who appears in so many pictures.

Fred Thomson is a graduate of Occidental College and Princeton University. Even the Naval Academy has a representative in none other than George Bancroft of "Rough Riders," "Underworld," and "The Docks of New York" fame.

Richard Dix, a popular favorite with the younger set of movie goers, attended the University of Minnesota. He says that his college experiences have been of great assistance in playing the roles he has in "Man Power," "The Quarterback," "The Gay Defender," "Sporting Goods," "Warming Up," and "Easy Come, Easy Go."

How do men get into motion pictures? It is an interesting question, but the answer is far more interesting. Most of them get in by hard work. Menjou did extra work for a number of months. Luden and Rogers got their break through the Paramount Pictures School.

Dick Arlen tried for five long years to fight his way to fame by the extra route. He had no one to inspire him and even stuck with his odd parts when friends and relatives advised against it.

William Austin was a well-known actor on the stage, as was George Bancroft before he came under the Paramount banner. Lane Chandler drove a bus in Yellowstone and was discovered when a motion picture company was making a picture there.

Fred Thomson, the riding actor who played the part of "Jesse James," worked his way into motion pictures through his all-round athletic ability, and especially his riding. In 1916 and '17 he was awarded the A. A. U. title of the best all-round athlete in the country.

The case of Buddy Rogers and his sudden rise to motion picture fame is a splendid example of men who can become motion picture actors without the oft-asserted "pull." We like to write about Buddy since he is one of the most charming chaps we have ever met. He is regarded as one of the most promising young actors today and his work in "Wings," "Get Your Man," and Anne Nichols' "Able's Irish Rose" have stamped him as one of the few really great young actors. His work opposite Mary Pickford in "My Best Girl" has won him the praise of critics because he can act and has a personality that is pleasing both on and off stage.

Few actors have enjoyed the sudden rise that has accompanied the entry of Buddy Rogers, a member of the Alpha chapter of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity at Kansas University. He says luck gave him his chance, but all the good fortune that ever came to a man is useless unless he takes the next step—hard work.

It was during Buddy's third year at Kansas that Paramount established its school in New York to train promising actors and actresses. Theater managers who booked Paramount pictures were told to report the names of any individuals that might screen well.

The manager of the little theater in Olathe, Kansas, where Buddy attended grammar, grades and high school, thought of Buddy, since he had played the lead in the high school play and was extremely good-looking. Buddy was requested to come to Kansas City and have screen tests made.

For three days he made those tests. Buddy says when talking to them: "They smeared my face all up with greasy stuff which I didn't like. They made me jump, run, show anger, and every thing you could think of. My orchestra was playing for farewell fraternity and sorority dances, finals were on and I was trying to take screen tests at the same time. It's a wonder I ever made it. They must have been hard up for actors when they took me."

Just after Buddy Rogers had taken the screen tests, Cornell selected eleven musicians from various schools to play in their orchestra during a summer tour of Europe. Buddy was selected as the trombone player. While in high school, he played the French horn, drums and trombone. He worked all his way through three years of university life by playing for dances.

When it was learned that Rogers had made good and was one of the fortunate ones to attend the Paramount school, which was to start immediately, Buddy told Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president, of his chance to go to Europe. Mr. Lasky advised Buddy to enter the school, and forget the trip. Buddy had been to Spain the summer before anyway, working his way on a mule ship.

The mayor, minister, school master and prominent citizens of Olathe wrote letters to Jesse Lasky when it was announced that Charles Rogers had been selected for the Paramount school. Buddy feels it helped him make good. He says that his success has been through the backing of friends and kindness of studio officials. But he's wrong. You would like Buddy, just as we do, if you knew him.

Buddy feels that his fraternity life has made it easy for him to meet people. It has broadened and refined his likable personality. He advises every young fellow to attend college and work his way if possible.

In the last year and a half he has appeared as the leading man in "Wings," "Get Your Man," playing opposite Clara Bow, and the part of Able in "Able's Irish Rose." The latter is one of the biggest films made in Hollywood, this year.

Charles "Buddy" Rogers is modest. He carries the mark and breeding of a college man. His sense of frankness and modesty are as engrained as are his acting and good looks—outstanding. He's just on the edge of a scintillating career in the cinema world, and he is the least conscious individual in Hollywood of this fact.

ROUGH HAZING IS HELD TO BE INSANE SYSTEM

N. Y. INTER-FRAT GROUP DECLARES TORTURE OUT OF DATE

Use of the present-day system of rough-house initiation as practiced by some college fraternities was classified as but an outburst of sadistic temperament at an inter-fraternity conference held in New York recently. It was held that all too often the members of fraternities using the rougher tactics permitted themselves to be so swayed by the actual delight they received out of inflicting punishment that the initiation procedure was turned into a scene of Freudian perversity. The emotions of the youths who were handling the pledges were described as too often a series of pleasurable reactions at the torment of the neophytes.

Use of the paddle and other "weapons" on the freshmen is a form of torture that is endured in no other civilized land, it was brought out, and the whole thing smacks of a chapter out of Kraft-Ebbing's book on perversion.

Putting a neophyte through the initiation is considered a test to prove his manhood; a test to prove his manhood; a test to see if he is able to survive the combat. The entire system is in many one speaker held, and of no practical use. It proved that even the so-called cultured college man has not yet learned to control his outbursts.

A tradition at an English college requires all entering students to climb a 500 foot hill.

Charge of Telephone Company Embarrasses Students

Easton, Pa.—The coin slot in the public pay telephone at Lafayette college recently was left open when the phone was installed, and as a result all money used in making calls was returned. Not a few students took advantage of this as soon as it became generally known, and the telephone did a thriving business in long distance calls. The boys called home and the girl friends, all over the country, for nothing.

When they returned from Thanksgiving vacation, however, they were somewhat chagrined to learn that the telephone company had traced their calls, and had taken advantage of the vacation to distribute bills for payment. "Not a few students are broke."

Great Tooth Is Prize of School

A tooth eleven feet in length and weighing over 800 pounds has come to the Harvard Dental School. It came from the jaw of a mastodon, and scientists estimate that it is more than 50,000 years old. The tusk was found in the bank of the Porcupine river, a tributary of the Yukon, in Alaska, by Adelbert Fermaid. Before the tusk was found, the largest specimen was that of the Carnegie Museum, Pittsburgh, measuring 9 feet in length.

Pres. Tells Why He Joined Frat

Madison, Wis.—President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin revealed why he joined a fraternity, during a discussion of fraternities at a meeting of the Board of Regents here recently. While he was in New York a representative of his father's fraternity came to him and asked why he had joined the group. Upon being told by the reporter that he expected a truthful answer, President Frank said, "I joined a fraternity because I was short of money, and I found that I could run a boarding bill longer in a fraternity than in a boarding house." The interview never appeared.

WOLF QUINTET SCORES DOUBLE VICTORY OVER VISITING TEAM

CAGERS WIN SECOND TILT FROM CHICO STATE BY 33 TO 15

PACK DEFENSE PREVENTS LARGE SCORING BY INVADERS

By BILL HERBERT

In a two game series with the Chico State Teachers College last week-end, the Nevada hoopers at last succeeded in breaking the game jim which has dogged them in their previous starts of the season by taking the Teachers 26-21 on Friday evening and repeating Saturday night to the tune of 33-15.

The score of the fish day brawl is no indication of the closeness of the contest, for the Wolves got away to a good lead and held it throughout the game. The outcome was never in doubt and it was by looping through a few long ones in the closing minutes of the game that the Teachers saved the score from being the pale shade of whitewash.

For the opening minutes of the encounter, the Teachers looked dangerous but the Wolf defense tightened and the visitors were forced to do their shooting from away out on the floor.

"Goon" Gilmartin, Wolf center, was high point man for the evening with twelve points after his name, eight of them coming from free throws.

The importance of making the free throws good was shown in this game, for the losers made more points from the floor than the winners.

The Chico defense looked good on the first night and the Wolves were kept well out of the danger zone.

In the second encounter the Wolf defense got working right and the visitors were held to three lonely buckets from the hardwood.

In this game "Butch" Lawlor found his shooting eye, and took high point honors with ten marks in the column. Brother Mike was runner up with nine points, of which only one was a gift shot.

Many Fouls

In this contest, the referee was a bit more Scotch with the free throws. He called only 23 personal fouls against 28 during the Friday evening entertainment.

"Goon" Gilmartin was the only gentleman requested to witness the finale from the bench because of four infractions.

With the game on ice, "Doc" sent in several reserves in the last minute of the Saturday contest. These boys filled in well, and made the Wolf chances look better and better. The old handicap of nothing on the bench doesn't look at all formidable during the current season.

PAJAMA TEAMS TOSS BASKETS IN CLOSE GAME

GAME ENDS IN DISPUTED TIE; RETURN CONTEST IS LIKELY

The Barnyards, champions of 1896, and the Spooks Painters, discoverers of the great American pastime of basket throwing, invaded the local court last Friday evening, and after twenty minutes of furious puffing and panting ten warriors left the floor with the Publication Boards championship teams deadlocked.

The Barnyards were the first to take the floor. Gayly clad in pajamas of every hue, the men warmed up to their task quite naturally and it was early evident that the game was to be fast. The Spooks Painters came in disguise and through their masks were concealing their form, was a dead give-away. Rather ragged on the short shots, the Painters showed high class in the passing department.

Long Sneak

Gustafus Newshut, star of the Barnyard aggregation, on a fast Statue of Liberty play, pulled a long sneak in the opening minutes of the play, scoring a goal from right end. Thereafter, the five man defense of each team guarded more closely and heavy penalties were called on the long, tall boys from Switzsholm.

"Riegels" plays were executed galore, long passes were hurled fearlessly, and drop kicks from the foul line were good for scores. The entire contest was a wonderful advertising scheme for men's nightwear and undergarments.

Though the score was deadlocked the press understands from a good authority in Okayville, that the men finished in such excellent condition that a return encounter will be staged as soon as a contest can be arranged.

Count Witnesses First Grid Game

Atlanta. — Football is incorrectly named, according to Count Folke Bernadotte, nephew of King Gustav V, of Sweden, who was initiated into the game at the contest between Georgia and Georgia Tech.

"The game is played with the hands," he said. "But it's a nice, pleasant sport, and not so rough."

His bride of a few days, the former Estelle Romaine Manville, of Pleasantville, N. Y., and President M. L. Brittain, of Georgia Tech, explained the technicalities of the game to him.

Oxford and Cambridge universities, in England, have entered into an agreement setting the age limit of 22 years on competitors in dual meets.

"Jack" Gilmartin, Nevada's sharp-shooting center, found his eye in the games with Chico last week and piled up 19 points in the two games, to bring his total to 35. In so doing Gilmartin moved into first place in the score column and set "Jim" Bailey back into second place. "Jim" was able to collect but one point in both nights of play but still clings in second place with 23 counters. Bailey played a whale of a defensive game both nights last week but had very little chance for trials at the basket.

The two Lawlor brothers proceeded to go on a rampage at Chico's expense, "Mike" netting a total of 14 points and "Jake" stacking up 10 markers. "Lin" Hainer was watched pretty closely in both games but managed to slip in seven points which assure him of third place. Robertson, substituting at center, broke into the score column by getting two fouls the first night and a pair of field goals the second.

Grid Rating of U.S.C. Is Stated

Under the Dickinson rating system, Coach Howard Jones' University of Southern California football eleven is the national football champion for 1928. The team standings just announced under the ratings established by Frank G. Dickinson of the economics department of the University of Illinois give Southern California a leg on the Jack F. Rissman National Intercollegiate football trophy.

The Dickinson ratings gave Notre Dame the championship in 1924, Dartmouth in 1925, Stanford in 1926 and Illinois in 1927. The standings for 1928 were given out as follows:

Team	Points
Southern California	24.13
California	22.50
Georgia Tech	20.00
Wisconsin	19.17
Stanford	19.17
Carnegie Tech	18.33
Iowa	18.33
Illinois	18.33

Track Prospect Looks Good For Coming Season

Kellog and Robinson Will Battle For Sprint Honors

If the sprint and relay prospects for this year were good and bright last semester with so many track artists back for the year, they fairly gleam now with another artist back, and a real one. Ordinarily, and to those who were here two years ago, he is known as Ken Robinson.

Robinson Back

What the outcome will be when Robinson and Kellogg go streaking out of their holes and down the sprint stretches it is hard to say, for when Jack and Ken ran together, Ken always had the edge, but now since Jack has broken the former's record in the hundred, all the fans can do is to stand expectantly by and wait.

As far as a relay team goes, if those two boys are in on it, then it will be some job for anyone to get the baton home first, and the chances for smashing the relay record that was hung up last year are better than just good.

Kinnon a Star

It is in the weight and field events that the 1929 Pack will be weak, and it is not out of place to say "as usual." Kinnon, shot and discus man, kept the situation from looking too dark by coming back this semester, for he is no slouch when it comes to tossing the avoirdupois. There are good chances for hard working aspirants in the javelin event to help Jim Bailey out at his job of holding down his share of three field events.

Brockbank, hurdle slicker of two seasons ago, will be back in the game after laying off a year from a strained heart as a result of the 1928 cross-country race. He and Tommy Towle, together with little-but-hard-to-beat

Sixty Enrolled For Volley Ball

Although Volley Ball isn't considered as one of the major sports of W. A. A. it is off to a good start this season with a sign-up of about sixty women. With this many out, there is sure to be strong competition among classes as well as for places on class teams. There are five practice periods a week, Tuesday at 3:45 and 4:30, Thursday at 3:45 and 4:30, and all Friday afternoon. Three practice periods a week are required of all those out for the sport.

Frank Bristol should hold down the high and low stick berths effectively.

Many Out

A dearth of new material will turn out for the middle distance races and those who get on the squad in these events will have to be plenty good or they just won't be there. Ferguson, quarter miler is not back, so the new ones will have to compete with Stodiek, while the 880 men will have to keep right along with Schnoor to get in on the real running.

Lohse Distance Man

While there will be some very good competition in the distances, especially the mile, there is plenty of chance for someone to work into a varsity berth in these events, for there are only two letter men back in these events. It will probably be Lohse upon whom the burden will fall to run both the mile and two mile as he did last season in the conference meet, and H. Bailey will perform in the mile. Unless the unforeseen happens, one or both of the distance records is fairly sure to fall this spring. The time that was made by Lohse in his record cross-country run is not far from the two mile record, so the chances for a record in the latter event are good.

San Jose will be the greatest threat for the championship this year, but with sixteen letter men back and some

Nash to Manage Coed Basketball

Precious Nash '29 announces that basketball season will begin about the middle of February, immediately following volleyball.

A good Freshman team ought to be turned out this season as a number of high school stars will be participating. Among these are Roxena Bonham of Sparks, Dorothy Ernst of Fallon, Virginia Kirkley, Nancy Mitchell and Leona Sellman of Reno.

Roxena Bonham has seen three years of basketball as forward for Sparks. She is fast and will be a threat for any guard. Dorothy Ernst is known throughout the state as an A-1 guard, holding the position on the All-State for two years of her three years on the Fallon championship team. Virginia Kirkley, Reno's crack center, was one admittedly good material to fill in if need be. San Jose will have to strut this year, for they have won the Track Championship from the Nevada Pack of field and track artists.

of the outstanding players on her team. She and Nancy Mitchell made it a hard job for any team to get a pass through center. Leona Sellman is another reason why a good Fresh team is looked forward to, playing two years for Reno as sidcenter. She is steady and hard to beat when it comes to floor work and speed.

It looks like it will be pretty hard going for the other classes with all this new material; however a good fast class tournament is looked forward to.

When the Most Honorable Tourist enters a Japanese shop, experienced travelers tell us, he is instantly struck by the elegant bareness of the shelves. The astute Eastern merchant discloses his wares one piece at a time, working down from the choicest to an eventual sale.

If our local tobacco shops were conducted on the Japanese system, we venture to predict that Chesterfield would be the first cigarette offered — and about eight times out of ten there'd be a sale on the spot!

At least that's what the sales figures indicate — over six million smokers keep asking for Chesterfield and the salesmen all know it.

And no wonder, you smokers. You who have tried 'em know there's no need to sell Chesterfields — that mild different flavor just puts itself over.

Fast Games In Frosh Program Promise Several Unusual Battles

Yearlings Will Meet Yerington's Team Tonight

Cage Quintet Has Won Four Out of Five Contests

With a high class team composed of former all state high school men, the U. of N. Frosh this year present one of the classic aggregations of cast-iron players ever to grace freshman uniforms. Coach Scranton has a wealth of material to work with, and should finish up the season with a long string of victories.

The yearlings have won four out of the five games played so far by nice margins, and lost the remaining game to the powerful Wilson Cubs by but one point.

Games to Be Hard

Of the remaining games on the schedule, however, none promise to furnish easy competition. Tonight the Yerington quintet will furnish their opposition and promise to provide plenty of basketshooting while tomorrow night the flashy hoopsters from Auburn, California, will appear on the local court for the first time. The boys from California have a reputation of defeating most of the champions in their own state, and will give the yearlings a hard struggle. The game will no doubt be well worth witnessing, as both teams will display classy basketball, and the struggle should be very fast.

To Play Gardnerville

The Gardnerville basketesters will meet the yearlings on February first. This game should not prove so hard, because Gardnerville lost most of her men through graduation, but the boys from the bay center have a habit of springing surprises, so the game ought to be interesting.

On the following night, the babes will journey to Portola, where they will engage the Portola Athletic Club. This aggregation has not been seen in action in this part of the country, but rumor has it that they know their basketball, and may send the babes home on the short end of the score.

The contest with Wellington the following week should go to the yearlings. Wellington has very little material, and inadequate practice facilities, so that the superior experience and ability of the Frosh should show to good advantage.

Return Game

February 9 the Portola Athletic Club plays a return game here and fans will have an opportunity to see how the northerners handle themselves.

The ensuing weekend, two tough contenders appear in the form of Dayton and Stewart. Little is known of the Dayton team except that they are improving with every game, but the Stewart Indians can be depended upon to furnish first class competition.

The yearlings wind up their season Washington's birthday with the Sparks "Railroaders." Judging from their performances in past games, the "Railroaders" will be hard to beat by them, and the Frosh should expect a tough game.

Frosh Basketball Schedule:

December:
28 Carson 14 Frosh 28
29 Virginia City 10 Frosh 11

January:
11 Wilson Cubs 20 Frosh 19
12 N. A. C. 17 Frosh 33
19 Goots 6 Frosh 10

The remaining games to be played are:
January:
25 Yerington at U. of N. Gym.
26 Auburn (Cal.)

February:
1 Gardnerville.
2 Portola Athletic Club at Portola.
3 Wellington at U. of N. Gym.
9 Portola A. C. at U. of N. Gym.
15 Dayton at U. of N. Gym.
16 Stewart at U. of N. Gym.
22 Sparks at U. of N. Gym.

UNUSUAL RIFLE SCORING MADE

Highest Fifteen Are To Be Chosen For Varsity Team

Rifle classes are being held on Monday and Wednesday from 1:00 to 4:30 with E. Ericson '29 as manager. So far the highest scores have been accomplished by the following:

E. Ericson '29	98 points
J. Hartley '32	93 points
G. Green '30	92 points

Due to the high scores that were produced this week, the rifle classes showed remarkable improvement from last week.

According to E. Ericson, the manager, there has been an increase of 10 in the enrollment this semester.

Last semester shooting was practiced in lying down position; now the sitting position is practiced.

N's to Be Given

The first fifteen who have the highest scores will be chosen for the varsity and will be awarded rifle N's besides taking part in intercollegiate matches. The manager has accepted challenges from colleges all over the United States including California, Maine and Idaho.

As for the class teams those above a score of 80 will be on the first team and earn 100 points. Those who have a score from 70 to 80 will make the second team and receive 50 points. Those who have gone out for the sport for the whole season will receive 25 points.

The following record has been kept of the Rifle Championship Class Teams:

1926 Class of '26	126
1927 Class of '28	125

E. Ericson wishes to announce that the members of the U. of Nevada Rifle Club pay their semester dues of 25c to Irma Parker '31, treasurer.

QUAKE RECORDED BY SEISMOGRAPH

The seismograph in the Mackay School of Mines is still working accurately, according to Dr. J. C. Jones. An earthquake in Kamchatka, which is on the northeast coast of Asia, was recorded at about 1 a. m. on January 13. It was probably quite a serious quake, and would have done damage had there been more inhabitants there.

A very slight quake was recorded at 2:37 a. m. on January 21. It occurred at Fairbanks, Alaska. It was very slight, and just big enough to be recorded on the seismograph.

Virginia City Is Most Promising Team For Hoop Tourney Honors

Winnemucca, Sparks Promise To Be Topnotchers

State Teams Display Unusual Cage Ability

The Nevada high school cagers have been displaying a classy brand of ball this year surpassing teams of other seasons in every department of the game.

Foremost among the contenders for championship honors at the present time are Sparks, Virginia City and Winnemucca. These three teams seem to be outstanding in their floorwork and basketshooting ability. The railroaders' team was one of the main contenders last year and have practically the same players again this season. They have dropped but two games so far this season, one to Virginia City by one point, and one to Winnemucca by five points. They meet the frosh, and the yearlings should expect a plenty tough time of it.

Virginia City Strong

Virginia City's team, composed of five exceptionally rangy men who have been playing together for about six years, seems to be the logical contender for the coveted cup. They show up well in every department of the game, especially in team work. Having dropped but one game so far this season they are anxious to keep a clean slate. The game in question was the Frosh contest, preliminary to the Nevada-Stanford encounter, when Virginia City was nosed out by one point.

Through her successful invasion of western territory Winnemucca has earned the right to high consideration in the rating of state high school teams. Boasting like Virginia City, of a rangy and experienced aggregation, she has not lost a game so far and seems well on the way to regain her basketball prestige, lost in former years.

Reno a Slow Starter

While Reno usually gets off to a poor start and ends up the season with a bang she seems unusually slow in getting under way this year and has not even come close to taking a game so far. This does not seem to be a source for worry to Coach Foster however and it is probable that Reno will be in the upper division when the tournament comes off next March.

Carson City has met a number of setbacks this year and is handicapped in the way of material and the same situation is being faced in Dayton, Wellington, and Gardnerville.

CAGE CHATTER

Now that the Varsity has disposed of the highly touted Chico State College in a masterful style great things may be expected of them. Chico came here with the reputation of being a better team than the one from San Jose State College.

Jack Stars

Jack Gilmartin proved himself a consistent player by being one of the outstanding stars in both games against Chico. Jack has yet to meet the man that can keep him from getting the tip off at center.

Captain Jake Lawlor seems to have gotten his eye fixed on the basket so that when he gets tired guarding he can go down and sink a long shot for a little variety.

Defensive Strong

Too much credit can not be given to Jake Lawlor and Lee Hainor for the strong defense which they present. The rest of the team is quick to get back on defense, but Jake and Lee are always there to bust up any combination which the opposition may have to offer.

Mike Lawlor made a strong bid for a regular berth on the Varsity in the second game with Chico. Mike was high point man as well as being one of the mainstays of the offense.

"Tip" Flashy

"Tip" Whitehead played his usual flashy game and gave the Chico boys something to think about.

Jim Bailey played his usual strong consistent game at guard. Besides playing a good floor game Jim is always a threat to the opposition on Coach "Whitey" Lawson's Mellon Pickers from Fallon are making progress this year and may yet be in the running while the Pomona "Muckers" are going great guns among the teams from the south.

Not much has been heard from the teams in the eastern part of the state but they can usually be counted on to present a strong lineup.

Champion Shell Receives Honor

California's "Golden Gate", the shell in which the crew of 1928 won the championship of the world and undying fame, is to be used for one more season before it is taken out of duty and hung up in a place of honor.

The freshman crew will use it in the Washington race, April 13, after which it will be retired from further use, unless taken east for the Poughkeepsie regatta.

The opposition has piled up 125 centers. In the six games that the Pack has played it has averaged 24.7 points per game, as against 20.3 accounted for by the opponents.

It looks like Nevada is up with the best of the coast teams. The Pack split games with Stanford. Stanford defeated U. S. C. and the Olympic Club. Pacific bowed to Stanford and split games with St. Mary's. Stanford downed Santa Clara. What does that make Nevada.

The Lawlor brothers scored 10 points between them in the last game against Chico.

Semester's Plans Are Made by WAA

Swimming and Fencing Will Be Sponsored By Association

The first regular meeting of the Women's Athletic Association for the spring semester was held last Tuesday afternoon. Plans for raising money for the W. A. A. lodge were discussed and it was decided to sell "hop" and candy at the remaining basketball games played on the Nevada court. A lengthy discussion took place over whether Frosh women should be forced to make the candy sales. No decision was reached and it was put into the hands of a committee. It was also decided that a program of folk songs and dances be given on April 15, immediately after the annual spring festival.

New Swimming Club

A swimming club is being organized by advanced swimming students who have won their senior Red Cross life saving certificates. At the meeting it was decided that W. A. A. would sponsor such a club.

Fencing is associated with the regular W. A. A. sports in the system of awarding points. One hundred points will be given to women who remain out for fencing the entire semester with not more than two unexcused absences, with five points deducted for each unexcused absence thereafter. It was also resolved that one hundred points be deducted from the total number if dues were not paid. This included the newly initiated members of the Women's Athletic Association.

Truckee Excursions To Be Feature of Season

The furnishing of a comfortable women's rest room, plans for vesper services, the reorganization of handicraft and other interest groups, and pleasure excursions to Truckee, were among the activities discussed by the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, at its regular meeting on Wednesday evening.

Women's Rest Room

Working in cooperation with A. W. S., the Y. W. C. A. plans, as a semester's project, to refurbish the women's rest room in the basement of Stewart Hall. According to plans, the room will be completely redecorated in an attractive manner, including new curtains and drapes. An abundance of sofa cushions will also be provided, upon which the weary co-ed may rest between classes. Each cabinet member will donate some article to the furnishings. The rest room will in no way be restricted to Y. W. C. A. members. All women students will be welcomed there, and any contributions from anyone who is interested and would like to help will be gladly received.

Regular Y. W. C. A. vesper services will be held from 4 to 4:45 p. m. on next Wednesday afternoon, January 30, at the Episcopal Chapel on University Avenue. There will be music and a brief talk by Reverend A. J. Case. Everyone is invited to attend.

The handicraft group met on Friday afternoon to reorganize for the semester. Many useful and attractive articles were made last year. Anyone who is interested is urged to watch the bulletin board for meeting announcements of the group.

Winter sports at Truckee are still in vogue for Saturday afternoons. Anyone who wishes to go should sign up on the bulletin board. The party will leave at one o'clock, Saturday afternoon, from the downtown Y. W. C. A. headquarters.

Dean Claims Sex Appeal Accounts For Good Grades

Intelligence Tests Do Not Agree With Prof's Marks

Columbus, Ohio—The dirt is out, according to the Ohio State Lantern. The professors at Ohio State University are being "vamped," which is to say they are being "worked." When a high mark is needed to qualify scholastically for a sorority then the heavy intellects of the masculine sex are lubricated with a little feminine personality or "it," and all is well, according to Dean Loreta Rose, of George Washington University in a recent article in Plain Talk.

Dean Rose has been making special study of intelligence scores and grading and she contends that various tests taken in widely different regions shows that the young women of co-educational institutions have no trouble at all in obtaining relatively high marks in their grades, although their intelligence scores vary strangely. She says that the two just won't correlate! Dean Rose specifies Ohio State University as a good illustration.

Convicts Desire Texts for Study

French books, Spanish books, English grammars and other text books are what the prisoners at the Nevada State Penitentiary are asking for, according to a letter received this week by J. D. Layman, university librarian, from Joseph Sears, an inmate of the prison.

Sears states that many men are desirous of bettering their minds while at the prison and as several inmates are capable of teaching French and Spanish as well as other modern languages, it is possible to study these subjects, except for the one handicap; that of not having text books. He suggests that there are undoubtedly many text books stowed away in attics where they will never be used, but which would be of great help to the prisoners and which would be much appreciated by them.

The prisoners have from time to time borrowed books from the library at the University of Nevada but they have never before asked for donations. The State Penitentiary has, explained Sears, acquired through donations a collection of fiction of considerable size and are hoping to add to it from time to time so that the men may have something with which to occupy their leisure time.

DEAN ADDRESSES CHURCH MEETING

Dean Leach of the University of Nevada gave a talk at the Federated Church last Sunday night on his recent attendance at the meeting of the Field Council of the Presbyterian church, which was held at the Whitecomb hotel in San Francisco.

The talk dealt mostly with the subject of Christian education which was discussed at the recent council. The Dean is a member of the committee of the Board of Christian Education and is also the Nevada representative to the California Synod of the Presbyterian churches of the United States.

COEDS AIM TO HIT, AS BEDLEM SCORES

"OH! I can't hold this steady!" "But I see two targets. I really do!" "Don't count that one, that's a mistake. I did not!" "Well, maybe I did shoot six? Let's only count these good ones." "I can't close my left eye, honest I can't. No I can't wink!" "But Sergeant—don't make me count that score. Ple-o-o-ase?"

The Bedlam continues from one till five. They come and go, leaving despair, disgust, or occasionally small hope after them. They blunder and wonder and forget. They miss and miscalculate, and hit and scold. They aim and evade, aim again and gossip, close their eyes and pull the trigger. They should get high scores anyway because they "did their best."

"You would hold that if you would just listen to me and hold your strap correctly." "Shut your right eye—now your left. No! not both. OH—!" "There are seven shots here. We'll have to count the worst! Slight just a little lower now. Steady—Shoot slowly!" "Sign up, please." "Yes? No, not that way. Both knees apart. Lean your elbows on them. That's it. Are you steady? Then shoot slowly. Not bad!"

GRID TRAINING PROVES WORTH IN ENCOUNTER

FOOTBALL STAR WINS SMILE FROM STAID LIBRARIAN

King Football abdicated at Nevada last November but his worthy knights still train! And woe befell the Golden Bear, when he faces the Wolf Pack in 1929, if the little demonstration in the library Thursday morning can be taken as an indication of pre-season form. Besides it was a Lone Wolf who performed the feat which brought down—the house—but the door!

Perhaps the valiant warrior of the grid was a bit sleepy—the hour of the morning being somewhat early—perhaps the husky "end" suffered a hallucination. The library door may have been a mere obstacle to progress or it may have assumed a brawny form with the elusive piskin tucked neatly under its arm.

At any rate the psychological reaction was swift. Habit had long since perfected the manly art of tackling. Our hero did! The library door had never before been subjected to such a terrific strain. Literally, it was taken off its hinges!

Ha! Ha! sneered the masculine spectators into their sleeves—jealous of the gracefulness of that sudden departure. "OOOoooooh!", breathed the fairer sex. "Isn't he str—ong!"

San Francisco, California, August 8, 1928

Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va.

Dear Friends: I have been a very heavy pipe smoker for the last thirty years, and have always used Edgeworth Tobacco (Plug Slice) and find there is no other tobacco like it for a cool and well flavored taste.

I am in the vaudeville business, and have traveled all over the world with my brother, and always have had very great pleasure in recommending your tobacco; and many a time I have had to pay double the price in different countries for it, but I would sooner do that than smoke anything else, as I have tried all different brands. I generally buy a one-pound tin and roll it up; and believe me, gentlemen, it is real tobacco.

With best wishes from Yours sincerely, Sam La Mert

MARRIAGE SAID DYING CUSTOM DUE TO CHANGE IN MORAL LIFE

PROF DECLARES CHANGE IN SOCIAL LIFE INEVITABLE

SAYS COMPANIONATE IS REALLY PREDOMINATE IDEA TODAY

"Marriage seems to be going out of style, and religion and morals are changing as radically as the institution of matrimony," declares William L. Bailey, professor of sociology at Northwestern.

"Complete reorganization of social life is inevitable. There is more so-called companionate marriages now than most people will admit," he declared. Thus does Professor Bailey attempt to solve the new problem of decreasing marriages in the second largest city in the United States. Chicago, he declares, has always been a "stagnant" city, and in recent years there have been more women "stags" than men.

Desire for economic independence, and a general feeling of unrest between men and women probably contributes much to the change in marriage records in Chicago, he declares. Business men take a different view on the subject. The decrease in matrimonial ventures in Chicago, according to Dean Ralph E. Heilman, of the Northwestern school of commerce, is due to the standards of life in the city. Such standards are not conducive to taking the added responsibility of rearing a family, he believes.

Physicians have another phase of decreasing marriages to consider, according to Prof. Ernest H. Mohrer, who advocates a sort of hospital for "marital disorders."

Family clinics, organized along the same lines as medical clinics with a staff of specialists to investigate.

Degree Work Is Planned By Club

Members of Square and Compass have not definitely outlined their program for this semester but they plan to have Prof. "Charlie" Haseman coach them in the degrees of masonry. The club will later put on these degrees for the lodges in Reno, and they intend to take several trips to nearby towns for this same purpose.

Officers for this semester are: Pres. George Pettigrew, Vice-Pres. Carol Westfall, Secretary Lewis Kehoe.

Columbus, Ohio—A male beauty contest was held at Ohio State last week, the winner of which goes about the campus unheralded because his name has not been revealed.

CLUB PETITIONS NATIONAL GROUP

At a meeting which was held Tuesday evening, the Cosmopolitan Club made plans for sending in a petition for membership to the National Cosmopolitan Club.

As it is customary for the different chapters of this club to send articles to the national monthly magazine an article from the Nevada chapter will probably appear in its next issue. The club also discussed new members, and the question of allowing Americans to join.

COED IS HIT BY TRAIN TO WIN SITTING WAGER

SUFFERS BROKEN BONES AS RESULT OF DARE

Oberlin, O.—Miss Lillian Ramsey, 18, of Struthers, O., a freshman at Oberlin College, lies in Allen hospital here, seriously injured, because she won a bet Monday night that she could sit on a railroad-track longer than William B. Robinson of West Newton, Pa., a sophomore in the college.

Because Miss Ramsey sat the longer, she has a broken collar bone, several fractured ribs and severe bruises on her body, received when she was struck by a train while she remained voluntarily on the track to win the bet.

Details of the unusual wager, which has set the whole college talking, were learned today after officials conducted the investigation.

According to the story told by Robinson, the two were returning from a college dance and stopped at the New York Central Railroad crossing on E. College street when they saw a train approaching.

CAMPUS OFFICER IMPROVES DAILY DREAMS CLUE TO MENTAL DEFECTS

Captain L. N. Johnson, University R. O. T. C. officer, who was injured last week in a taxi-train collision and who is now at Letterman hospital in San Francisco, is reported to be improving steadily.

Captain Johnson was removed to the California hospital when it was found that his skull was fractured in three places. Following his recovery he is expected to return to active service at the university.

In a spirit of jest, Robinson said, the two entered into a bet as to who while the train passed the longest.

Robinson jumped first and attempted to pull the girl away with him, he said, but he was not quick enough to prevent her from being struck by the engine.

Psycho-analysis is a valuable method for discovering mental abnormality, especially in cases of hysteria, according to Dr. J. R. Young, head of the psychology department of the University of Nevada. "Analysis of dreams is the method of finding the causes of mental conflict of which the patient himself may not be aware," Dr. Young states. "The psycho-analyst uses the free association method whereby the individual is given words as cues, and he tells everything that comes into his mind at mention of these words."

Dr. Young went on to say that the chief criticism of psycho-analysis is that it merely diagnoses a mental abnormality, and does not attempt to correct it. Oftentimes, however, the mental defect disappears when the individual realizes it and becomes ashamed of himself.
