which course we had the greatest interest," Boomer said. "It was an interesting course and was of great benefit to us."

Thompson Gives Views

"It would probably be better to get the views of the freshmen on the subject," said Prof. R. C. Thompson. "Orientation is a new subject at Nevada, and is evidently a part of the modern trend in all colleges to orientate their freshmen, to get them used to their new surroundings. In some colleges the courses offered deal with but one side, in others they deal with all sides. We should not criticize the subject in its infancy but neither should we be too optimistic about it until we have had time to carefully estimate the amount of good that it has done, and weigh it in the balance. Certainly it is a move, one way or the other."

Jones Favors

"Theoretically, orientation is a good thing," said Prof. J. C. Jones. "There is seemingly so little relation between a college freshman's several subjects that he sees no connection between one subject bears direct reference to another and all are in some way united. Orientation will aid greatly in pointing out this interrelation to freshmen, and aid him in making use of this material early in his college career, instead of waiting two or three years to do so."

Two Courses Given

"Two orientation courses were conducted last semester, one for engineers, and one for arts and science students, wherein each professor or department head outlined or summarized his courses."

In speaking of the practical side of the question, Professor Jones said that probably the majority of the freshmen enrolled considered the subject as a great deal of bother, but that the instruction and revealing of opportunities could not help but give them no small amount of aid.

Aids Selections

Prof. A. L. Higginbotham gave another viewpoint on orientation when he said that the resume of courses gave the students an opportunity hitherto unavailable in selecting their major and minor subjects in a way which will cause them very little confusion. "I will venture that three-quarters of the entering freshmen at Nevada, or at any other college, have no idea of just what they wish to make of themselves," said Professor Higginbotham. "They are undecided, in most cases, as to just what major or minor subject they will be most interested in. Orientation gives them the opportunity to look over the courses offered, learn what their requirements are, and then make their selection."

Cecil Creel Near Recovery From Auto Accident Injury

Cecil W. Creel, director of the agricultural extension service, who was hurt several weeks ago in an auto accident, is reported to be on the road to recovery, although the nature of injuries will make this complete return to health a slow process. It is expected that he will attend an extension meeting in Elko which is scheduled for February although his arm will still be in a cast and he will have to return to the hospital in Salt Lake.

Campus News Briefs

Gus Newman has returned this issue to his old job of writing sports for the "Brush." Last Friday and Saturday he covered the two basketball games for the Campus paper. His former acquaintances will recall him as the 1928-29 sports editor of the Sagebrush. He is staying at the Lambda Chi house for a while.

The Sagebrush asks that all Campuses read this installment of "How We Love Our College," as it tells of rushing in a very interesting manner. Next week's installment will have added features. Anyone having good "dirt" should dispatch same to this office. If it is interesting it will make publication.

Some of the students who were in Truckee Sunday were: Edwin Semenza, Al Smith, Barbara Horton, John Hutchinson, Margaret Klinge, Cecelia Hawkins, and Merle Peters.

Peggy Smith seems to be getting along quite well despite the eastern absence of Bob Adamson. From all sides comes the intelligence that she has taken the S. A. E.'s to her heart.

Elizabeth M. Roff of Evanston, Ill., national marshal of Delta Delta Delta, is guest of the local chapter for the week-end.

It is the contention of Bruce Thompson that fathers, rather than sorority women, should be given praise for any and all pledges gained through rushing activities. Reason: Father pays for the gas.

The Tri Deltas were "gunning" this week for Gordon Burner, who persuaded, it is told, Lena Perri to go Theta.

To pipes, Men, to Pipes!

TRADITION has it that ye shall know the fellowship of pipes with seasoned, masculine, mellow men of every age and degree. Some try to join this brotherhood, yet fail, and are absolved as born to pipeless lives. But honest effort is required—each man's own test with good tobacco in a good pipe.

That is the formula. Both pipe and tobacco must be good. The pipe must be pure of bowl, and the tobacco must be—

Well, Edgeworth, if you'll permit—good old Edgeworth, Class of '04. Tried Edgeworth yet? Now's your chance! Use the magic coupon, and we'll rush right back to you a free-for-nothing packet of genuine Edgeworth to fill your good pipe with.

Orchestra Begins Concert Rehearsal

Preparation for a spring concert and week will be started soon by the University-Community orchestra in their regular rehearsals. Most of the 27 members, including town and University players, will be back from last semester. The orchestra furnished the instrumental accompaniment for "Anna Christie," the Campus Players' production held at the Granada last semester, and also appeared in concert with the Glee Clubs at Christmas time. Last year it played the accompaniment for the dance and music ensemble, "King Nutsacker."

Inter Class Meet
Ends Volley Ball

Winning Team Earns Honor of Having Numerals Engraved
On Plaque

Volley ball season ended this afternoon when the final games of the class tournament were played off. Volley ball is the first regular W. A. A. sport of the semester and will be followed by basketball. The schedule of the games played this week was as follows: Thursday at 3:45, freshman-senior and junior-sophomore; at 4:45, Freshman-junior and sophomore-senior. This afternoon the final games of the inter-class tournament were played off between the freshman and sophomores, and the juniors and seniors.

Winners Determined by Class
The winner of the interclass tournament will be determined by the class teams which win the most games. If it should chance that two classes should win the same number of games the final decision is determined by the team which has the highest number of points to its credit. The winner of the tournament will have its class numerals engraved on the bronze plaque on which all the class championships of previous years are inscribed.

At regular workout on Tuesday the class captains were chosen. Precious Nash leads the seniors, Eupemia Clark the juniors, Echo Morgan the sophomores, and Billie Merrill the freshmen.

Says Semenza

Well in advance of its schedule part of the 1930 Artemisia is being printed and the art work is complete and in the hands of the engraver. The panels are practically done and organization of the designing panels must get in touch with the editor within the next week. Campus groups are asked to hand in their lists of membership by January 29. All pictures will be taken by January 27. Seniors must fill out their questionnaires which may be obtained from Editor Semenza or Alice LaMaire so that the panels may be finished. The editor is planning a large snap section and wants as many group pictures of fraternities and sororities as possible. They should be handed in before the end of next week.

Editor Semenza reports a number of tries out for the staff but says there is still a chance for others who may be interested.

Rifle Matches To Be Shot By Women

Scores for this week have shown a general improvement in the women's target practice. The highest score made was 96, shot by Ruth Stewart of the sophomore class. There are only about twenty women out for rifle this year, a marked decrease from those who have tried out in previous years. In the past it has been one of the most popular sports.

Class matches will be shot off next week. The seniors have the largest number out and some of the best shots. The sophomores rank next and also have some first rate marksmen. The freshman and junior classes have nothing to boast of so far. The final showdown in the interclass tournament will be between the classes of '30 and '32.

"Is Zat So?" To Be Slang Comedy

Next Campus Players Offering Attracts Attention On Broadway

Mere words can do little credit to the fame that has attached itself to the slang catch-phrase, "Is Zat So?" which is the title of the famous American comedy to be presented in February at the Grand theatre by Campus Players as their first offering of the semester.

Written by James Gleason and Richard Taber, for the unique reason that at one time, some few years ago, they were both actors out of jobs and sorely needed a play for themselves, it became overnight the theatre's sensation of sensations. Produced first in 1925 on Broadway, it ran for well over five hundred consecutive nights, establishing a new long record run for comedies. Never has a play attracted the widespread attention and enthusiastic interest of "Is Zat So?"

Prize Fighting Theme
The story centers around a prize-fighter and his manager. By a stroke of luck they are taken in as servants into the home of a Fifth avenue millionaire. The wealthy young man's brother-in-law is steadily fleeing him of the family fortune. Just what part these two happy-go-lucky children of fate play in the thwarting of his dastardly plans makes up one of the many highlights of the plot. How they each fall in love, one with the nurse and one with the secretary, disrupt the whole sedate household with their ringside slang and finally carry off the honors in the championship fistie battle are but a few of the human and delightful incidents which go to make up "Is Zat So?"

Slang is the keynote of the comedy, slang discovered by Gleason during his experiences during the World War. And from curtain to curtain the two pugilistic gentlemen converse in the jargon of the ringside, to their own benefit understanding and the complete confusion of a family of socially elect.
There is a laugh in every line of "Is Zat So?" High tension drama and suspense make up the underlying plot. And an appealing romantic element serves to bind the whole together. These ingredients, according to Campus Players, will no doubt make "Is Zat So?" a greater comedy than "The Bad Man," their record comedy success.

Band Will Play At Basketball Games

Playing at the basketball games with California Aggies tonight and tomorrow, the University band, under the direction of Walter Siegel, will make its first appearance of the semester. The band played Nevada songs during the intermissions of several games last year, and plans to be present at many of this season's conflicts.

In the "Batton," official publication of Kappa Kappa Psi, honorary band society, appears a history of the University of Nevada, and a history of the forming of the Cliffs club which petitioned in 1929, and became Alpha Alpha chapter of Kappa Kappa Psi. There is a full page picture of the band in the magazine, and a page devoted to the activities of Theodore H. Post, director.

Two New Members Added To Men's Glee Club Roll

M. C. Brown, former manager of the Whittier College Glee Club, which traveled throughout Southern California in concerts, and G. Parks of Berkeley, were admitted as members of the Nevada Men's Glee club in tryouts last week.

Twenty-three former members of the Glee club, with Robert Geyer as president, have returned from last semester's personnel. Rehearsals have begun and plans are under way for the season's activities.

Players Participate In Church Drama League

Campus Players are this year to participate in the Church and Drama League "National Drama Week," Feb. 9-15. The week is celebrated annually for the purposes of awakening the public to the importance of drama, of encouraging the production of artistic plays, and of providing for a better future of the theatre.

The calendar of activities is tentatively as follows: Sunday, Feb. 9—Drama and the Church. Monday, Feb. 10—Professional Theatre Day. Tuesday, Feb. 11—Drama and the Clubs and Organizations. Wednesday, Feb. 12—Drama and the Radio. Thursday, Feb. 13—Drama in the Community. Friday, Feb. 14—Drama in Education. Saturday, Feb. 15—Drama in Print.

Licenses Are Given For Non-resident Cars

Non-resident licenses were given out to those students from other states than Nevada who are operating cars here, by Dan Renear, chief police inspector, last Tuesday morning between the hours of 11:30 and 12:30.
A notice was posted on the bulletin board informing these students to meet the officer at the corner of University avenue and Ninth street, where he presented them with stickers for their windshield which serve as Nevada license for the school year. The purpose of this law is to enable those students who are paying tuition at the University and who are therefore not considered residents of the state proper to buy their licenses in the state from which they come.

Y.W.C.A. Cabinet Changes Meeting

Due to unfavorable weather and the bad condition of the roads the Y. W. C. A. cabinet will not have their retreat at the W. A. A. lodge at Galena Creek as was planned several weeks ago. Instead a meeting will be held Sunday afternoon at Manzanita, at which new cabinet members will be chosen, plans made for the rest of the semester and the whole organization reorganized to fit the needs of the Campus.

The cabinet meeting place has been changed from the downtown Y. W. C. A. to Manzanita. In former years the cabinet met at Manzanita and it has decided again that it is the most convenient place.

Fraternity Honors Sorority Pledges

For the first time in the history of the University a fraternity will honor the new sorority pledges when Alpha Tau Omega holds an afternoon tea tomorrow afternoon complimenting those pledges who accepted bids last Monday.

Invitations were received during the week by the pledges and the presidents of the various houses. Tea will be poured by two prominent faculty wives and the guests will be entertained between the hours of four and six. The fraternity is planning to make this affair an annual event.

Professor Jones Attends Annual Meet in Berkeley

Prof. J. C. Jones, of the Mackay School of Mines, spent the week-end in Berkeley, attending the annual meeting of the Olive Growers association. During his visit, he met Ernest Inwood, former editor of the Sagebrush, who is connected with the economics department at the University of California. Mr. Inwood is at present completing work for his doctor's degree.

Faculty Science Club Changes Dates of Meetings

The Faculty Science Club wishes to announce that its regular meetings in the future will be held on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month, to which the faculty and students are invited.

These meetings are generally composed of lectures, lantern slides and flashes of different subjects presented by various members of the club.
At a meeting of the club held yesterday, the program included an illustrated lecture on Australia by Dr. Longwell.

each year and all committees will function as formerly.

(3) The membership of the district committee, a committee new to the selection scheme, will be such that no one can serve both on it and on the state committee in the same year.

(4) The Rhodes trustees will pay the railway fares of all the candidates who are recommended by the state selection committees to appear before the district committees from the places of residence in the states in which the nominees apply.

(5) The scholarship is tenable for two years, or for one extra year with two choices open: (a) The scholar may postpone his third year and return some later time after being in his own country, or (b) he may take the third year immediately for post-graduate work at some university in England, or possibly at any university in Europe, the Overseas Dominions, or the United States, provided that it is not an institution of his home country and his study plans are approved by the trustees and the university or college from which he was appointed originally.

Wolf Swordsmen to Resume Activities

At a short business meeting held last Tuesday, the Wolf Swordsmen resumed work. It was decided that as long as basketball season lasts they would meet in the little gym. The fencing, meet Tuesday and Thursday at seven o'clock. The women, who receive W. A. A. credit, meet on Thursday at the same time.

Tommy Tompkins who has fenced with the California team is the instructor for the semester. He has given the new members some of the preliminaries, such as the hold of the foil, on-guard position, and the lunge.

States, provided that it is not an institution of his home country and his study plans are approved by the trustees and the university or college from which he was appointed originally.

Chamfield's opinion of the plan is that it very likely an improvement over the old scheme, and that it is not meant to discourage the increasing number of candidates who have been applying in
