Marks First Special Train To Coast Meets In Three Years

The first special train to follow a University of Nevada football team for three years will leave Reno Fri-November 14, for Berkeley, where Nevada plays the University of California the following day. Rates announced by the Southern Pacific vary according to the number taking the trip. The Sagers, campus service group, who have charge of the student preparations for the trip are making every effort to guarantee the largest number of students possible. Should 300 make the trip the rate will be only $5.85 for the round trip. With two hundred the rate will be $7.00 and 100 will raise the price to $8.45. Pullman rates for a one way trip are, upper berth $2.40, lower berth $3.00, compartment $9.00, and drawing

Gray Fog Slated To Oppose Pack In Closing Game

Improving with every game, and as yet undefeated by a Far Western Conference team, the Nevada Wolf Pack faces one of its toughest scheduled games here tomorrow when they will clash with the University of San Francisco, formerly St. Ignatius College. It will be the last home game of the season.

Handing nothing to any team except the great Saint Mary's Gaels the Grey Fog has come through the season Rose Polytechnic Institute at Terre so far with but one defeat, and rates among the headliners in Pacific Coaost football. Coach Jimmie Needles of the ost-season game this fall.

Gonzaga fell before this fast moving outfit by a single score in a great game played three weeks ago, while last Saturday the Fog took Loyola into camp 12-0, using a second string line and a third string backfield. In a preseason encounter the Ignatians beat the West Coast army Jar Heads by a substantial score.

Kleckner and Barelies, both halves, are outstanding on the San Francisco team, and most of the plays are built around these two men. Kleckner is a bit slow, but is almost unbeatable in his pass defense. Barelies, on the other hand, is one of the fastest men on the coast. Paul Harwood supervised the Wolves Frolic in Dean Charles Haseman's absence and deserves a great deal of credit for the smooth running of the performance. It was a large undertaking well handled. The Frolic was staged by William Collonan who continued his good work. He gave his usual whole-hearted support and heaped more laurels on his brow.

A new plan was tried very successfully this year in order to do away with undue back stage confusion. The people in the acts re mained in the Elks' building until The Frolickers, directed by Ray the act before their's was on, then Hackett, gave a good account of passes were issued and they went themselves. Their entrance was back stage. As soon as their act was very clever and their music, alover they were required to leave the though the audience was getting building.

The Desert Wolf, interesting campus humor magazine, appeared last week with an outright attack on the editorial and Professors Jones. Blackler and column of the Sagebrush entitled the "Glad Hatter." The Harwood are unworthy of the title article called the "Glad Hatter" "insipid," and said that of them crudely uses the word it painted an "Eutopia where everything is milk and "buddies." I have never claimed honor." The worldown all the said that the said that of them crudely uses the word the said that honey." The writer calls the column constructive but them to be buddles of the stubuilt on a foundation of sand. And so on the article after whom a lot of us might pattern rambled.

However, the purpose of the Sagebrush is far from paint- the Glad Hatter described all orging the beautiful picture that has been credited to it by thirty-four organizations on the the Desert Wolf contributor. The truth of the matter is campus, excluding the Greeks, that the Sagebrush is convinced that the great number of proach being faultless when comthings that are wrong on the campus greatly exceed the pared to other organizations and good qualities to be found hidden away among the chaff; Blue Key has done a lot of work of which the majority of the campus that the campus is at present and has been in the past, is ignorant. mired down deep in dirty politics, cutthroat fraternity Six students have been complimented in the column to date rivalry, sorority hatred and bitter envy, class prejudices, Walther and Linehan undeniably are soreheads as the results of elections, people who are "gun- "worthy." The Sagers put on the bonfire.

FOR POSTERITY

Last week Clarence H. Mackay, in dedicating his build- work. The bonfire lasted through ing, sealed important documents in a small metalic box in the cornerstone. Among the documents were copies of the thanks them for taking charge of Sagebrush, Reno newspapers, and historical pamphlets.

When the splendid building is torn down three hundred who showed up Sunday morning to years hence, mute testimony to the ravages of time, posterity will view the findings, and wonder about the present generations of students, and of people in general, as we now wonder about them.

GO TO BERKELEY

For the first time in three years, a special train has been chartered for the trip down to the California-Nevada game. More than two hundred students have signified their intentions of attending, and the chart which the Sagers have prepared is rapidly being filled.

It is very desirable, this year, that Nevada should have a strong representation in the Cal. stadium when the Wolves fight it out with the Golden Bears on their own grounds. Nevada has a chance for a win, or at least a tie, and with the whole strength of this student body behind her, may well turn the trick.

In past years, many students have gone down, mainly for the trip. With special rates in effect this time, and a special train which they will have turned over to them for their own personal use, there is even more incentive. Aside from the game itself, there is the chance to visit in San Francisco over the week-end, and attend the shows. Then there is the chance to get away from town for two or three days, in congenial company.

Rates for the special are seven dollars for the round trip. Sagers are selling the tickets, and all students going must sign up by next Tuesday, and the money will be collected

The slogan the Sagers have adopted for their ticketselling campaign is: "Take the Special! You Can't Beat

VOTE

Students next Tuesday will have the opportunity of selecting the governor who is to rule this state for the next four years. It is not only their right, but their duty, as citizens, to exercise their right of franchise. The Campus should be well represented at the polls.
