

Thespians Choose Managing Staff

Frosh Tryees Will Get Break, Sundeen Says

A complete reorganization of the managerial staff of the Campus Players will take place next semester, according to Stanley Sundeen, general manager. At present the staff is composed as a unit, but next semester it will be divided into several and distinct groups such as the art staff, the advertising staff, etc., to handle the various activities of the organization.

The members of the present staff are Stanley Sundeen, Fred Trevitt, Harold Taber, Wymen Evans, Chas. Nichols, Kent Ingalls, Oscar Robinson, George Shogren, George Hunter, Edgar Olsen and George Schoenberg.

The present policy of this staff is to give the upperclassmen the preference in positions of responsibility in handling plays, the freshmen doing the more menial tasks. After the reorganization everyone will be given the chance to prove his ability regardless of his class, Sundeen says.

In the past, positions on the Campus Players staff were only open to men students, but now women interested in designing sets, painting posters, etc., will be eligible for positions on the staff when the next semester opens.

New material is needed for the next play to be given after "The Racket," and Sundeen urges everyone interested in this organization to report for tryouts.

Reduced rates on tickets to students will be continued in all forthcoming plays if the response to "The Racket" is satisfactory.

Students Attracted by Dances at High School

With no campus dances the students who remained in town over the Thanksgiving holidays invaded the high school and attended the girls' reverse dance, held Friday night, and the Delt dance, a formal, held on Saturday. Both dances took place at the Century Club.

Square, Compass Plans Meet

Square and Compass, Masonic Blue Lodge on the Campus, will hold another meeting during the first or second week of December, according to Ben Solari, recorder.

The degree team has been picked and is at work in preparation for the conferring of degrees.

McElroy Transferred

G. E. McElroy, mining engineer, has been transferred from Masco, Idaho, to the Reno station of the United States Bureau of Mines, located at the University of Nevada. He will work for several months.

Vanderburg Returns

W. O. Vanderburg, associate mining engineer of the local station of the Bureau of Mines at the University, has returned from a field trip to Atolia, California.

Students at the University of Missouri pass approximately 75 bad checks at day, a recent survey revealed.

Sophomore Class Existence Doubted By Upperclassmen as Morale Relaxes

Although the Sophomores are still in school there is considerable doubt among the upperclassmen that they are functioning as they should, according to several upperclassmen who have commented on the situation as it stands.

Those who have commented say that the Vigilance Committee is in a defunct state of being. The last time that penalties were given to the freshmen who were erring in conduct was during the week of the California game, which was two weeks ago. There were some 65 names that were eligible for a paddling following the bonfire rally, due to these men not bringing boxes for the fire. Although some fifteen

The new smoke stack recently constructed at the University of Nevada heating plant is a great improvement and a fuel saving device, states J. R. Williams who is in charge of the system.

The new stack is 48 inches in diameter and about 70 feet high. It was put up in sections because of its great height. The new stack makes a draft for two 175 horsepower burners which facilitates the operation. To the present time only two of the four boilers have been

College Life Bewilders New Co-ed on Campus

She was a new co-ed, more than a little bewildered, realizing her grave error in trying to enter the University at such a late date. No one offered to help her, no one told her where classes were held, and which prof. was the easiest to red apple. No sorority woman offered to make college life just a bit easier.

She was all alone and she wandered up the campus, lost, Tuesday morning. Her day wasn't happy, the true Nevada spirit wasn't extended to her. A few laughed at her, and more than a few accused her of lowering the morale of the Nevada campus, for she staggered just a little, but it was because she was so very lost and so very tired.

Late Tuesday afternoon she called her college career a failure, and with a flutter of dragged white feathers, and a last feeble flirt of a wilted red comb, the new co-ed scuttled down the campus. She had decided

Annual Fulton Foundation Lecturer to Discuss Life in India

James H. Couzins, Irish poet, educator and orientalist, has been chosen as the seventh distinguished lecturer to speak for the annual Robert Lardin Fulton lecture foundation at the University of Nevada Education auditorium. He will deliver a series of three lectures January 20, 21, and 22, on the topic of India, its people, culture, philosophy, poetry, architecture and sculpture.

He will also have an exhibition at the University library, a hundred oriental water color paintings which are mostly of India.

Established in 1924
The Robert Lardin Fulton lecture foundation, in memory of Robert Lardin Fulton, a constructive citizen of Nevada, by Mrs. Mary Bragg Fulton, had its beginning at the University of Nevada in 1924, the first speaker appearing at the University in April, 1925. Since then a speaker has been chosen to represent the foundation every year.

Two Weeks is Explanatory Of Students

Instead of "Three Weeks," by Elinor Glynn, the title of the book of the month will be "Two Weeks" by a University of Nevada student. The point is that there are only two weeks of school left this semester. One of these weeks is examination week and there will be little or no time for "red appling" during this period. Examination week begins on December 15, so precaution must be taken.

"Since mid-semester there has been a gradual but constant rise in the consumption of "midnight oil." Experts claim that this consumption will reach its peak some time during the next week. Professors on the campus have been recently confronted with the question of "Well, Prof., how do I stand in my classwork?" A complaint has been issued by one of the sororities because of a large decrease in the number of male bridge players during the last five days. Authorities claim that this condition will continue until the first of next semester.

One fraternity house manager fears that his house will have to float a bond issue in order to pay the electric light bill for December. He said that the only thing that may save this condition will be that the sun will stay out during the day and nights will not be needed until evening.

Tennessee Settlement School, supported by the Pi Beta Phi sorority, were on display during the afternoon, and interesting talks about the school were given by Miss Grace Burnett and Mrs. W. H. Hood.

Jones Installs New Chapter on Coast

After installing the Omega chapter of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, National mining fraternity, on the U.C. campus, Professor J. C. Jones returned home Tuesday morning. The installation took place Saturday night at the Elks Club and about 28 charter members were given recognition.

While on the campus Jones visited the geology department, composed of eight instructors who emphasize petroleum geology. This department promises to be a fine school, as both the teachers and students show much enthusiasm.

One of the things which interested Jones when he was in Los Angeles was the visit to the Venice oil field and adjacent fields.

Jones also made a visit to the Rancho LaBrea where fossils similar to those found about Lake Hahontan were discovered. A collection of the fossils found in Rancho LaBrea is on display in the museum. This selection is unusual in being very complete, according to Jones.

Reports Published By Mining Bureau

The United States Bureau of Mines, which has a station at the University of Nevada, has published three progress reports on a study of the hydro-metallurgy of manganese bearing on different phases of the problem, which have been prepared by the Rare and Precious Metals Experiment station at Reno in cooperation with the University of Nevada.

The first of these reports deals with the dissolution of manganese from ores. Another report records a study of the oxidation of hydrated oxides of manganese. The third report deals with sulphur dioxide and manganese oxides at elevated temperatures. The third report, which was prepared by C. W. Davis, associate chemist, is now ready for distribution.

Wolves End Year With Four Defeats Two Wins, Ties

Rather Unsuccessful Season Marked by Periods of Playing Slumps

By BRUCE THOMPSON Marked by alternate periods of good playing and slumps, the University of Nevada Wolf Pack completed a rather unsuccessful season last Saturday by losing to Fresno State, by a 6-0 score, and thereby finishing the year with a record of four defeats, two wins and two ties.

Nevada started out the schedule by losing a close and hard-fought contest to the Utah University Redskins 20-7 on Mackay Field. This is the lowest score the Utes have run up against any team throughout the 1930 season, and Nevada's showing against them seemed to predict a fine record for the Wolves which record, however, did not materialize.

B.Y.U. Tied Meeting the Santa Clara Broncos in their third engagement, the Wolves exhibited their best brand of ball, and held the Saints, one of the strongest aggregations on the Coast, to a scoreless tie. The defensive work of the Wolves was outstanding, with a much improved pass defense featuring their work.

Victors Over Pacific In their fourth game, the Wolves eked out a one-touchdown victory over a fighting College of Pacific eleven in the last ten minutes of play. The punting, passing and ball-toting of halfback Jack Hill were prominent, and it was the Bowen's 85-yard punt to a score which started the Sagebrushers out on their winning rally.

After taking the Cal. Aggies in stride in the Homecoming Day contest by a 31-0 score, Nevada lost her next game, the last one to be played on Mackay Field, to St. Ignatius. Kleckner's long pass early in the game, caught the Wolf defense flat-footed, and spelled the margin of victory for the Saints.

Hold Cal. 8-0 A muddy field, the special train, and Nevada's defensive play marked the Cal.-Nevada game in Memorial stadium on November 15. The Wolf defense cracked just once, long enough to give the Bears a well-earned score, and the slippery ball which eluded Lefebvre's grasp, added two points, for a safety and ended the scoring for the Bears, the final result being Nevada 0, California 8.

And finally came the disastrous 6-0 defeat at the hands of Fresno State, with which the Wolves kicked away the best chance they have had to win the Far Western Conference Championship since the league's inauguration. Taken all together the Wolves' gridiron record this year does not show much advance over the showing of two wins and six defeats of the 1929 season.

Wolf Pack Loses Final Contest of Year to Teachers

Bulldogs Tally in Second Period to Win Game by 6-0 Score

LARGE CROWD AT GAME Nevada Loses Conference Title in Deciding Engagement

Losing the Far Western Conference football championship to Fresno State Teachers, Coach George W. Philbrook's Nevada Wolf Pack ended the 1930 football season Thanksgiving day at the main city. The final score was 6-0 with the Bulldogs making their lone touchdown in the second quarter, after making an 85 yard drive to a score, mainly by power and off-tackle plays.

The game was featured by the lack of fight and stoniness of the Wolves, along with mediocre playing of several first string men. John Griffin, right tackle, easily played the best game for Nevada on the line, along with the steady work of Al Lefebvre and Parsons in the backfield.

Lost on Downs Coach Philbrook's charges were in position to score twice but a stubborn Bulldog forward wall held and the Pack lost the ball on downs. Straight football was resorted to by both teams, with Fresno having a slight edge on ground gained and first downs.

December 27th Date of First Basketball Tilt California Varsity Team to Open Cage Season on Nevada Court

December 27th will see the first time in history in which a California varsity team has come to Reno to meet the Wolf Pack when the Golden Bear eagles engage the Nevada quintet on the court in the University gymnasium.

Negotiations have been carried on for some time by Graduate Manager Hartung toward scheduling another pre-season contest, since Colorado University, which had been scheduled to play here on December 30 and 31, is unable to make the trip.

California teams, under Coach Nibs Price, have been outstanding in Pacific Coast basketball competition for several years, and the game here this year is expected to draw one of the largest crowds ever assembled under the roof of the University gym.

Due to this last minute addition to the season's hoop schedule, the squad of nearly fifty varsity cage aspirants will be cut soon by Coach Doc Martie as only three weeks remain before the coming battle.

An innovation in the form of reserved seats at the coming game is planned by Manager Hartung in order to assure good seats for those townspeople who wish to attend.

Sport Sallies

By SPEC-TATER Outstanding event of the week: Nevada boxers win four championships with three men from Pacific Coast champions of last year. Poloni never boxed for the University, but played one or two games of basketball while he was here.

With the close of a football season the success of which is much to be doubted, the spotlight turns this week to the gymnasium where Doc Martie gives his prospective bucket-slingers daily workout.

The California game is a little over three weeks off, so that Doc should make the initial cut in his squad by the end of this week, if not sooner.

Martie, back from a year spent in the East, should put a strong team into the field, which may cop the conference cup if nothing happens. There are several good men on the team, but no stars, which is a good thing, because with the men about equal, there will be more of a fight for positions.

With several tough games on the schedule, and many teams which should be good drawing cards slated for home contests, gate receipts should be fair for the season.

Another outstanding event: Lefebvre and Walther rate honorable mention on Pop Warner's All-Coast eleven. Walther has been at the game four years, and has showed enough stuff to rate him a berth on almost any eleven in the country, which is not bragging, but mere statement of fact.

Lefebvre showed the greatest improvement of any man on the squad, and reached his peak in the California game, where he furnished the Wolf's thriller by dashing 87 yards goalwards on a wet field. He has two more years here, and may rate higher than honorable mention before he is through.

Plans for the 1931 football schedule will be completed in about two weeks. A committee is planning to attend the Pacific Coast Conference Monday to Wednesday of next week.

The following week they also will attend the Far West Conference to make a conference schedule. It is the hope of the committee to be able to have the University of Idaho here for Homecoming, and to play the University of California on the same date as we played them in our 1930 schedule.

Professors at New York University are to commute by airplane to other cities this winter in order to conduct extension courses.

Nevada Fighters Capture Boxing Championships

Olivas, Poloni and Harris Win Title at Coast Meet

Nevada played a prominent part in the Far Western Amateur Boxing championships conducted at Dreamland auditorium in San Francisco and three of the fighters, Jim Olivas, Tony Poloni and Spud Harris, are returning with four championships between them.

Jim Olivas, captain-elect of the University boxing team, took the welterweight title by knocking out his opponent in the first round.

Spud Harris garnered another title for Nevada when he put away Jack Oxen in the middleweight finals. Tony Poloni, former Sparks high school star, won two titles — the heavyweight and light-heavyweight — by defeating Charles Cates of Oakland, and Homer Brandis of the Petaluma Olympic Club.

Bobby Olivas, Jim's younger brother, fighting at 118 pounds, went through the preliminaries, and then lost a heart-breaking final.

In the 126 pound class, Joe Horton lost a close decision to Chick Rodericks of San Francisco. Fighting in the 188 pound class Cliff Devine lost the decision to Joe Lang of Lovelock, Nevada, who was fighting for the San Francisco Olympic Club.

Coach Wallace of the Nevada team reported that all of the Nevada squad had received a big hand, and that each had put up a great fight.

Hoop Practice Well Under Way

Doc Martie Gets Squad in Good Condition for First Game

Daily practice at the University of Nevada gymnasium testifies that the hoop season is well under way on the campus. On Monday, Wednesday and Friday, the squad practices at 4:30, while on Tuesday and Thursday they practice at 7:15.

Doc Martie has taken over the reigns of coach which he has held at the University for the last nine years, with the exception of last year when he was in the East on a leave of absence from the school. Chet Scranton who was coach last year will return as assistant coach this year. It will be remembered that Chet kept the boys in the running for the Far Western Conference title until the last game of the season.

Wolf Stars Given Mention on Warner Pacific Coast Team

Walther, Lefebvre Selected by Stanford Coach as Honorables

Two members of the 1930 Wolf Pack, Jack Walther, veteran center, and Al Lefebvre, star halfback, received honorable mention on Coach Pop Warner's Pacific Coast football team for this season.

Walther played a steady game throughout the season, being one of the mainstays of Nevada's line in every contest in which he played. He is a veteran of three years experience, and a three-letter man, being the oldest man in years of play at Nevada on the squad.

who will be lost from the squad due to graduation.

Lefebvre, a freshman, did not get into the earlier games of the season and did not get a good chance to show his real ability until the St. Ignatius contest. From that game throughout the season he continued to improve in every department of play. He saw action throughout almost all of the California game, being the outstanding star for Nevada in the backfield. He made the largest gain from scrimmage in that contest of any player on the field and received big write-ups from the best-known sports authorities on the Coast papers. If Lefebvre returns next year he should be a mainstay in the Nevada backfield.

Griffin Releases Debate Schedule

Tour of California to be Taken by Coach, Team

The tentative debate schedule for the season includes on the home debates: Debate with University of California the last of January, debates with Oregon State, Corvallis, Temple, Philadelphia, University of Porto Rico, University of Utah, and Utah State College in February and March.

In the last week in February the coach and team will take a trip to Southern California in which they will meet Fresno State College at Fresno, College of Pacific at Stockton, University of California at Los Angeles, University of Southern California, at Los Angeles, Southwestern University of Los Angeles, and possibly University of California at Berkeley.

The questions for discussion are: Resolved that the 18th Amendment to the Constitution should be repealed; Resolved that the 20th century emancipation of women is detrimental to the best interests of our civilization; Resolved that the tendency to make divorce easy should be decried; Resolved that the U.S. should adopt a policy of free trade.

Bob Griffin, debate coach, has attended the convention of Teachers of Speech in San Francisco over the Thanksgiving holidays where the arrangements for the season's debates were completed.

It is expected that at least one or two home debates will be conducted before some of the downtown civic organizations, such as the Century Club.

Coach Philbrook Goes to Coast

Coach George W. Philbrook is leaving tonight to attend the Pacific Coast Football Conference at Los Angeles. Philbrook will attempt to establish affiliations with at least two Pacific Coast members to assure football games next year. The University of California, the University of Oregon and Oregon State will be considered, according to Hartung.

Engineers Install Wind Tunnel Test

Mechanical engineering students, directed by Professor Wayne Bauerer, are again working on the wind tunnel which is used to test model aeroplane fuselage, wings, propellers, landing gear, and model planes complete. Calibrating consists of attaching scales at advantageous points where wind velocity may be measured as to its effective strain on the models.

The wind tunnel, located in the Mechanical Engineering building, was constructed two years ago. Steadily has the interest of the students been aroused, until now it is one of the most important projects of the department.

The department will publish a bulletin next spring on calibration of wind tunnels. It is quite a development in the safeguarding of aviation and is important in that regard as well as in the mechanical field of engineering.

Delta Jinx on Thursday Nite

Tri Delt Entertain all the Women on Campus at Country Fair

This year's Delta Jinx, long established custom of Delta Delta Delta sorority, will be given on Thursday evening, December 11, in the gymnasium.

This custom was started in 1904 by the local sorority of Theta Epsilon, which in 1913 became the Theta Theta chapter of Delta Delta Delta. It has been staged every year since then by the Tri Delt who invite all the women on the campus to be their guests in an evening of mirth and merriment. Every sorority is asked to put on a stunt, the theme of which is worked out by the Tri Delt themselves.

This year the theme will be a country fair, and there will be a medicine man and his shows, as well as many other side shows; a fortune telling booth and many other novel and interesting features.

Money Cleared on Game Despite Rain

Despite adverse weather conditions which held the crowd at the California-Nevada game to a few shivering handfuls, the amount cleared by Nevada was exceeded only by the Homecoming game with the Cal Aggies. A week before the game the University opened negotiations with California authorities, which changed the usual gate percentage quota received by the Wolves to a $1500 guarantee.

Approximately $500 was cleared after all expenses had been deducted. Fresno has given Nevada an $800 guarantee.

Bas-Relief Panels Replaced on Mackay Statue During Week

Panels Returned from Los Angeles After Being Refinished

The three bas-relief panels on the Mackay statue, which were sent to the California Art Bronze Foundry in Los Angeles several weeks ago on the request of Clarence H. Mackay, have been returned and are being replaced.

The panels were washed and refinished in the same manner which was given the Mackay statue this summer. The cost of the cleaning will be somewhere around one hundred dollars.

There is a different design found on each panel, one being a general view of Virginia City, including mills, homes, etc. Another is a sculpture of one of the famous Virginia City mines, and the last is a work of North and South America, showing the widespread distribution of the wires of the Postal-Telegraph Company, of which Clarence H. Mackay is connected, and of which he was at one time the president.

Chesterfield Co. Sends Cigarettes

At a time when cigarette money is scarce, the Chesterfield company has decided on a good advertising scheme. They have sent out to all the colleges in the West, packages of cigarettes adorned with the colors of the college and its initial.

Students of the University of Nevada received their gifts last week. They were sent to fraternity and sorority houses, to heads of the various publications, and other active members of the student body. A personal touch is given to the package by the strip of blue and silver with a silver "N" on it.

The Faculty Science Club will hold a meeting Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.
