

Fourteen Students Will Say Farewell

Pease Elected President of Graduate Class

Ten Arts and Science; Four Engineers to Get Diplomas

Led by Lorán T. Pease, grand old man of the Nevada campus, who for the past seven years has been working for his B.A. degree in the College of Arts and Science, fourteen students well known to Nevada life, will pass out of the picture with the last class recitation tomorrow, when they receive their diplomas, signifying four or more years of solid work in the interests of higher education.

Extra! Extra!

OLD MAN GRADUATES

The well-known Lorán Pease, that hardy desert rat, has at last graduated from our fair and noble institution. The only man that has been an upperclassman for six consecutive years, we admire him for his perseverance and pluck. One who has seen seven classes graduate and has been in eight Wolves Frolics. All hail to our bright little lad. Anyone in the market for Fuller brushes, ice picks or buggy whips, see our little man, on or after January 1st, 1931.

"Sagens" Receive Recognition Today

Women's Service Group Is Given Place After Semester

Recognition of "Sagens," women's service organization, was given this morning at a special meeting of the A.S.U.N. Executive Committee. Since organization on October 7 of this semester, Sagens, consisting of twelve women having at least sophomore standing, have accomplished the following for the women and campus in general:

Provided transportation and otherwise encouraged attendance and assisted at athletic rallies; and ushered and distributed programs at football games.

Sold chrysanthemums at the Homecoming Day football game, the proceeds of which she established a medical fund for injured athletes.

Sold horns and pompons, the proceeds of which went toward the Student Union Building Fund.

Raised money from sororities and Manzanita Hall Association, and created a banner, thirty by seven feet, for use at the U.C.-Nevada football game, and for future use in athletic contests.

Helped at football games to sell ice cream for A.W.S. and hot dogs for W.A.A.

Helped the Sagens promote the "California Special" train among the women.

Members Number Twelve

Present members of Sagens number twelve: Lois Carman, Kathryn McCormick, Berry McAnally, Tote Patterson, Dick Ligon, Mary Ruth Seamon, Ellen Prince, Hawkins, Louise Gastanga, Virginia Cole, Maurine Strome, Frances Barnes, Doris Shaver.

This semester's officers were re-elected for next semester at a meeting of the organization held Tuesday.

They are: Lois Carman, president; Kathryn McCormick, secretary and treasurer; and Berry McAnally, historian.

Agrusa, Wilson Visit

Tom Wilson '36 of Winnemucca, and John Agrusa '26 of Dayton were visitors at the Sigma Nu house over the week-end. Wilson is at present manager of the Humboldt Star, and Agrusa is principal of the Dayton High School.

Johns Injured

Dorothy Johns, senior student from Sparks, received injuries to her right shoulder in an automobile accident which occurred on the Sparks highway late Sunday afternoon. In an attempt to pass another car she collided with one coming from the opposite direction.

Damage to the cars was slight.

Foran Undergoes Operation

Jim Foran, last year's captain of the University boxing squad, was stricken suddenly with appendicitis while at a dance Friday night and went to San Francisco where he underwent an operation Saturday noon. Reports are that he is progressing rapidly and will be able to leave the hospital soon.

Inwood Leaves

Ernest Inwood, instructor in the business department, has taken an early leave from the University and has gone to Ely in order to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

Interfraternity Council Adopts New Constitution

Tennis, Volley Ball Awards Made; Representatives Are Announced

Holding its last meeting of the semester the Interfraternity Council met Monday afternoon. Decision of the awards for interfraternity tennis and volley ball were made. There was to have been a cup for handball, but not enough interest was shown and no games were played. The tennis cup for doubles went to Walter and David Clark, who represented the Independents. The cup for singles went to Lambda Chi Alpha, represented by Russell Elliott. The volley ball cup went to the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity.

The constitution has been drawn up and presented. All fraternities have accepted it, but only four have signed so far. The document will be left with Dean Haseman. Rushing rules are to be enforced next semester. No deposit will be made for fines as was formerly done, but each house will put up its money for any violation. This will be in the order of a gentleman's agreement. Dean Haseman will do all in his power to enforce rules and any fraternity disregarding rules will be reported to the national office.

The Council is made up of representatives of each house and Dean Haseman. The members are: Walter Johnson, Alpha Tau Omega; Bill Blakely, Sigma Nu; Fred Brown, Phi Sigma Kappa; Fred Smith, Delta Sigma Lambda; Merle Smart, Beta Kappa; Pat Sanford, Sigma Phi Sigma; Bill Ligon, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; and Wally White, Lambda Chi Alpha. Wally White will continue to be president until the first meeting next semester.

The Council will not have a panel in the Artemisia.

Blue Key Initiates Six to Membership

"Hill Follies" Possibility Discussed During Meeting

Six new members were initiated into Blue Key, national honorary service organization, Wednesday night in the last banquet of the year, which was staged at the Monarch Cafe. Those initiated were:

Fred Trevitt, Art Graham, Fred Weeks, George Davis, Ray Hackett, and Edge Farnsworth. Elections to membership were based on their work in supporting the Wolves Frolic this year and in general service to the campus. Blakely was unable to be initiated at the meeting and will be taken in at the first meeting next semester.

Messages of welcome to the new members were given by Paul Harwood and Carol Cross. Plans were made for a dance to be held shortly after the opening of next semester. It was decided that Blue Key would assist in securing funds for the proposed Student Union building.

A possibility that a second "Hill Follies" will be staged for this purpose came about in a discussion that took place on this subject.

Seniors Elect Officers

Members of the senior class met Wednesday afternoon to elect officers for the coming semester. Plans were discussed for the senior picnic, a table during registration to collect three dollars from each senior for the picnic. It was decided that juniors would be allowed to attend the picnic.

The officers elected were: Vernon Hirst, president; Marjorie Ligon, vice president; Elizabeth Johnstone, secretary; and William VanDoren, treasurer. The outgoing officers are: George Vargas, Anne Thacker, Gladys Wittenburg, and Byron O'Hara.

Awards Offered For Aeronautic Essay Writing

Students of the University of Nevada are eligible to compete for the scholarship awards offered by W. E. Boeing, chairman of the board of Under Aircraft and Transport Corp. at the Boeing School of Aeronautics, Oakland, Calif., according to an announcement recently received by the Sagebrush.

Four scholarships will be awarded, at a total tuition value of $7190, including a $5275 Master Pilot course of 294 hours of flying and 224 hours of ground school. Other awards are the private pilot ground and flying course, master pilot ground course and master mechanic course.

Each candidate will be required to write an essay on one of several suggested subjects. Further information may be secured at the Sagebrush office.

President W. E. Clark received Christmas greetings from Dr. G. A. Cann recently. Dr. Cann, the gold medal student from Nevada in 1923, is now stationed at the U. S. Naval Hospital in Agana, Guam.

Taus, Delta Sigs, Meet in Finals Of Song Contest

A.S.U.N. Meeting Scene to Determine All Campus Singers

Eliminations in the Y.W.C.A. song contest, which was held last Saturday, left Pi Beta Phi sorority, the Women's Glee Club and Alpha Tau Omega fraternities to compete in the final contest which will be held tomorrow morning at the student body meeting.

80 Percent Required

Eighty percent of each organization entering in the contest was required to take part before that organization was eligible to compete, and each group had the choice of entering either a classical number or a musical skit, and was allowed a choice of group singing of two out of the following University songs: "Hail to Our Sturdy Men," "Hail Proud Nevada," "The Mackay Song" and "U. of N. So Gay." The winning groups, men and women respectively, in tomorrow's contest, will receive a prize of $25.

The judges for the contest, Prof. Charles Haseman, Mrs. Douglas, Don Bell, Mr. Laugh, and Miss Wall, judged the entries on the point system; 60 points was the perfect score, 30 points for the original song or the classical selection, and 30 points for the group singing.

Groups Sing

Pi Beta Phi as a group sang, "The Mackay Song," and the "Triumph Hymn," and Doris Thompson sang a classical solo "Hosanna" as the second try. The Women's Glee Club sang "Hail to Our Sturdy Men" and "Nevada, My Nevada." Mary Adeline Thompson played a piano solo for the classical selection. Alpha Tau Omega sang "Hail Proud Nevada" and the "Triumph Hymn," and Delta Sigma Lambda entered "U. of N. So Gay," and the "Mackay Song," and Dwight Leavitt sang a song in Italian as the classical selection.

Other Teams Enter

Sigma Alpha Omicron, Gamma Phi Beta, Delta Delta Delta, Manzanita Hall, and the Men's Glee Club were the other groups entered in the contest.

The Y.W.C.A., having begun the song contest hopes that the interest in it will continue and that it will become an annual affair to promote greater interest in the songs of the University of Nevada.

Suits Filed for Death of Students

McKnights, Evans Out For Damages as Result of Crash

Two damage suits for an aggregate sum of $135,054.80 were filed in the district court in Reno Saturday against the University of Nevada, Thomas Cooper, as attorney for the automobile accident on the Truckee highway early on the morning of June 22, which resulted in the death of Daniel McKnight and Elizabeth Johnston and the serious injury of Margot Evans. William McKnight asks a total of $81,054.00 for the death of his son while Miss Evans asks damages of $100,000 and $4,000 expenses during the period she was in the hospital and for later care.

McKnight and Peggy Johnston were well known at the University. Dan having been editor of the Desert Wolf and being a junior. Margot Evans has finished one year at the University and was forced to remain out this semester due to injuries received in the accident.

Overton Tells Of Experiences

At a Crucible Club meeting last night Ted Overton completed his account of his Venezuelan experiences while working for the Standard Oil Company in South America.

All week he has exhibited in Dr. J. E. Church's room in Morrill Hall blankets, hammocks, and arrows which he collected in Venezuela.

Engineers Elect

Nu Eta Epsilon, honorary engineering fraternity, recently elected Ernest Clays and Bob Geyer to membership. Clays graduates this semester.

Discussion at the meeting centered around the formation of a new constitution and a banquet to be held soon.

Infant Son of Former Wolf Grid Star Passes

A son, born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sullivan on December 5, died on December 13. Mrs. Sullivan will be remembered as Blanche Rogers. Frank Sullivan '29, was a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity and was very prominent in athletics at the University.

Philbrook Resignation to be Aired In A.S.U.N. Meeting This Morning As Block N Men Prepare Petition

Wolf Changes Its Policy; Will Play Local Interest Up

W.A.C.C. Recommendation Carried Out in Book Theme

The lid will be humorously blown off many a campus lovers' quarrel and embarrassing situations heretofore thought to be secret when the Desert Wolf appears on the campus tomorrow morning, using real names in its stories instead of fictitious ones it has previously been its custom to use.

This policy was adopted by the Western Association of College Editors at its recent meeting in Los Angeles at which Bill Herbert, editor of Nevada's humor publication, was present. It was decided that since comic magazines are put out for the students and are purely a campus publication, it should be made as interesting to them as possible.

The feature story for this issue has been written by Julian Epperson who chooses as his subject, "The Special Train to the California Game." Walter Clark is another literary contributor, while art work has been done by John Mariani, Walter Clark and Howard Riggsby.

Orientation Ends After Successful Year With Adams

Singing Features Second Semester of New Course

The freshman orientation class completed its semester's work with a true and false examination given them yesterday morning by Dean Maxwell Adams in the auditorium of the Education building.

"The examination," said Dean Adams, "was not difficult, as the questions were taken from the high points in the several lectures given since mid-semester."

Conducted for Fresh

The orientation class has been conducted by Dean Adams since its inauguration on the University of Nevada campus in the fall semester of 1929, and according to him, this year's class has been, in many respects, more successful than last year's and he hopes to make next year's even better.

This semester singing was encouraged and Dean Adams hopes to carry it to a greater extent next year, for he feels that it is a very good way to acquaint the students with college songs.

Dean Adams said, "President Clark at one time expressed the hope that some day he would see the University of Nevada a singing campus and we feel that this is a decisive step toward this end."

Carols Are Sung by Over One Hundred At Home of Hall's

Former Custom is Revived When Education Dean Entertains

About one hundred and twenty-five students gathered at the home of Dean and Mrs. John W. Hall on University Terrace Sunday afternoon to sing Christmas carols. For ten years it has been customary for Dean Hall and his wife to entertain the faculty and students of the School of Education as such a Christmas party.

Mr. Theodore Post, professor of music at the University of Nevada, led the songs, and during the afternoon solo were rendered by Miss Clara Tomlin, Miss Gwendolyn Piersson, Miss Adelaide Shogren, Miss Pearl Thompson, Mr. George Gottschalk, and Mr. Howard Wadden. Dean Hall and Mrs. Hall each gave Christmas readings.

Special guests of honor were President and Mrs. Walter E. Clark and Regent and Mrs. George S. Brown.

Deans Entertain At Senior Dinner

Following their annual custom, the deans of the various colleges and President Walter E. Clark entertained the graduating seniors at the Century Club Tuesday night. Those attending were the fourteen graduating seniors, the five deans and President and Mrs. Clark.

THE COACH SITUATION (Editorial)

Nevada students are tomorrow confronted with one of the greatest problems which has ever been brought before the body. The problem has been discussed from many angles and from various viewpoints since the last meeting of the coach committee until it has flamed into a stirring question. No stand on the matter is taken by the Sagebrush, but it will attempt to present each side of the case for the consideration of the students at their final assembly. The varied opinions of everyone have been brought about by rumor, hearsay and some fact. What the members of the student body need is something which will make them think in an unbiased manner.

Equally as much can be said for both sides of the question. In the first place the student body has delegated to a specially appointed committee the power of re-hiring the present coach or finding a new one. The committee has functioned, but the students disagree with its findings, and object because it came to its conclusions by a narrow margin. The student body constitution gives them the power, of course, to over rule the findings of the committee, doing its duty, investigated possibilities and discovered things which the average student does not know about? And yet, can this committee be prejudiced in any way? It shouldn't be and probably wasn't although those who disagree with it say so. If the students over rule the findings of this committee where will they be? Will this committee, confident that it is right, be willing to bother about the whole business a second time?

Was the committee right in offering the coach a one-year contract? Can anyone do anything with one more year, even if he has done something with the past two? It usually takes two years to develop a team. And why doesn't it belittle a man to offer him a one-year contract after he has had two? Can he produce the best results if he is under the impression that no one has enough confidence in him to offer him a two-year chance? And if members of the committee are antagonized, will he feel at ease whether he is here for one year or two?

And if the coach has not the one hundred per cent backing of the student body this year, is there any assurance that he will have it next year, or any other year? Just how much bearing should the opinion of the downtown merchants have on the question? Primarily students objected because they were of the opinion that Reno business men were opposed to the present coach. Now the Sagebrushers come forward with the resolution to back him. Just how should this be taken? Did they do so because they felt so or because they were swayed by student opinion? How representative of the whole group is this sentiment? No one will ever know. The same applies to the sentiment of all groups, the football men, the student body, the faculty members, and any others interested.

Among the qualifications considered by the coach committee was whether or not the coach has "delivered the goods" and has he produced the results which were expected of him? Has he won the favor of all his players? Has he made football players out of them? Certainly no one can deny that Nevada has pulled out of the rut in which it had sunk two years ago, and has been placed on a better footing.

These questions, and probably many more, will be answered if the proposed Block N petition is presented to the students for referendum at the A.S.U.N. meeting. It is the task of the student, and to his best interest, to consider all the merits of both sides of the case very carefully before he comes to a decision, and in presenting individual cases before the students, the speakers should make sure that they are not being led to talk by the emotional strain put upon them by either side.

Think these questions over!

Noted Museum Donator Visits Mackay School

Mrs. Jenny Sturdevant MacMillan, grand daughter of the late Abe Curry, of the Gould & Curry in Virginia City, visited the Mackay School of Mines during the week.

Mrs. MacMillan, formerly sent the Mackay Museum a large collection of relics and family heirlooms, that came around the Horn and across the plain in the '50s. On this trip she brought a few more pieces for the collection and she helped set the exhibit in order.

The exhibit will be on display soon, either in the Mackay Museum or the Nevada State Library Building, as the faculty of the Mackay School of Mines are desirous of having it on display where it will be to the best advantage.

Meeting Postponed

The Sigma Gamma Epsilon meeting, which was called for yesterday afternoon, was postponed until early next semester.

Athletes Irrate at Committee Action, Ask New Contract

Hot Controversy Looms for Student Body in Last Meet

PHILBROOK TO ACCEPT

Both Factions Prepared to Present Vital Arguments

With campus opinion divided on the coaching situation, one of the hottest verbal battles in recent years looms as a part of the program for the last A.S.U.N. meeting tomorrow, when members of the Block N Society are expected to present a petition signed by more than twenty-five of their number who propose to overrule the action of the coach committee and recommend that Coach Geo. W. Philbrook be presented with a new two-year contract.

The proposed petition comes as an aftermath of the action of the coach committee's meeting held last Monday evening at which time Philbrook tendered his resignation from the position of head coach of the Wolf Pack when he was refused a two-year contract and an increase in salary. The committee suggested a one-year contract with no increase in salary after a three-to-two vote had been taken on this action.

Petition Not Representative

A petition, signed by twenty-two football players and Block N men, which demanded that Philbrook be given a two-year contract with an increase in salary is said to have been disregarded by the committee when it was discovered that the sentiments it expressed were not representative of the true feelings carried by many of the signers of the paper.

First mutterings to the effect that supporters of Philbrook would demand a student body referendum on the action of the committee were heard in Block N meeting Tuesday afternoon. Members of the committee, many of them prominent football players, indicated that they would prepare a petition to be presented before the students after their previous petition had been given no consideration by the coach board. Several star packsters have intimated their intention of withdrawing from school next fall in the event Philbrook is not at the helm in the gridiron world.

Coach Philbrook Will Accept

Coach Philbrook yesterday stated that he would accept the two-year contract in the event that the students over-ruled the findings of the committee. He expressed himself as being deeply impressed with the support rendered by his players, and said he would be more than willing to stay at Nevada to complete the task he set himself two years ago.

Whether the petition presented to the coach selection committee would be altered greatly by the men involved before it is given over to the student body could not be learned today, although it was believed a new petition was being prepared. To pass upon the petition favorably, a two-thirds vote on the matter will be required.

Battle Looms

In the event that the petition is presented, it will be accompanied by Block N men who are prepared to give lengthy and vital arguments pro and con. It will also, in all probability, be accompanied by a letter expressing a vote of confidence in Philbrook, which was written to Graduate Manager Bernard Hartung by Lester Summerfield. Summerfield was acting in the capacity of spokesman for the "Sagebrushers," a group of downtown business men who have interested themselves to a great extent in University athletic affairs since Philbrook came to Nevada two years ago.

Summerfield says that he has discovered sentiment to be strong among these men favoring the renewal of Coach Philbrook's contract for two more years. "While it is strictly a matter for the students to decide, we feel that you should know that many of us do not think Philbrook has had a fair trial yet," the letter said. Many of the men believe that the committee which last Monday made the proposal which brought about Philbrook's resignation, had failed to voice the general sentiment of either the students or the townspeople.

Committee Speaks

Members of the committee said this morning that their action should be regarded as final in view of the fact that the student body had appointed a representative board which they should have trusted to look on the matter in a (Continued to Page Two) more impartial manner than would be possible in a mass meeting of the students themselves. In answer to the charge that the coach is a strictly student body employee, and should be hired by the students in mass meeting, one of the members said that this was not the case. "The team plays on University grounds, and uses the name of the institution to play under. Moreover, the coach is a member of the University faculty and as such, the final choice is necessarily left up to the President," this member said. Doubt was expressed as to the actual weight which would be carried by any decision the students should reach in view of these facts.

Philbrook Resignation Brings Fight

The committee which acted Monday was composed of the following members: Jack Walther, A.S.U.N. president; Douglas Calloway, Men's Representative to Finance Control; Walter Linehan, captain of the 1930 Wolf Pack; Bill Ligon, Block N. President; Professor R. C. Thompson, chairman of the faculty athletic control committee; Dr. Charles Haseman, dean of men; and President Walter E. Clark. Following the meeting, President Clark resigned his position on the committee and recommended that J. E. Martie, basketball coach and head of the men's physical education department, be appointed to fill the vacancy. Walther was member ex-officio of the committee.

Amateur Radio Club Will Hear Sandorf

Would-be technicians of the dot and dash of the Nevada Amateur Radio Association are to have Prof. I. J. Sandorf as principal speaker for the next few meetings. This radio association, of whom six University of Nevada students are members, is greatly interested in the promotion of local wireless communication.

Professor Sandorf will talk on "Fundamentals of Electricity" to the group at the home of Bill Sourwine, where meetings will be held for the next few weeks instead of in the Electrical Engineering building.

"Will you love me forever?" pleaded the young suitor. "I can not tell that," coyly replied the sweet young flapper as she gazed at the beautiful necklace he had given her, "but I love you for the present."

Grades sent To Students After Xmas

Students will receive their long awaited good news — or bad news—(let the student be his own judge as to which) some time during the week following Christmas, according to the word received from Miss Louise Sissa, registrar.

Professors and instructors must turn these "season's greetings" into the registrar's office not later than Tuesday noon, December 23.

The grades will not be put in the mail until the end of the week so that some of the students will not have to meet the mailman before Christmas.

Some students, who have not reported a change in their home address will be disappointed in the receipt of their grades, as all grades will be sent to the address that has been left at the registrar's office.

Delta Jinx A Great Success, Women Proclaim

Clever Stunts Presented by Six Sororities for Big Audience

Delta Delta Delta sorority was hostess to the entire feminine portion of the campus at their annual Delta Jinx last Thursday night. A country fair was the theme of the Jinx and members of the sorority staged a parade on the campus Thursday morning mounted on every thing from roller skates to scooters. Perhaps the cleverest stunts of the evening were presented by the Tri Deltas in the form of a chicken and horse dance. Two brightly colored chickens danced, pecked at each other and caused a general uproar among the audience in a clever skit, followed by another bandwagon pantomime by three horses accompanied by a baby horse who caused the other horses to miss their steps and kept the audience in gales of laughter.

Pi Beta Phi presented a clever stunt entitled "Prince Charming," a doleful tragedy, wherein the hero and heroine, and the father and his jester all die.

Gamma Phi Beta held an auction, the various fraternities being the parcels auctioned off at the price of shoestrings and old socks, and miscellaneous safety pins, while the Thetas offered a school room scene, wherein various members entertained the audience.

The Beta Deltas staged an apache dance, while the members of Sigma Alpha Omega presented a clever Punch and Judy show.

A medicine man offered his wares to the audience between acts and a fortune telling booth was also an attractive feature. Pop and hot dogs were served to the guests, and dancing occurred after refreshments.

Xmas Trees Decorate Two House Lawns

One other house on the campus seems to be filled with the Christmas spirit, for the two huge pine trees in front of the Delta Delta Delta house have been adorned with strings of colored lights and lend a festive air to sorority row, if Sierra street may be called that. Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity is the other house which was pressed with the above mentioned spirit and a baby tree in front of their house on the Terrace is strung with colored electric lights.

Block N Party Given Tomorrow Night
The fifth biennial Block N Christmas party will be given tomorrow night at Moana Springs. The music will be furnished by Ray Hackett's orchestra. Stanley Johnson, chairman of the entertainment committee, promises to have several novel features for the program. The patrons and patronesses will be: Mr. and Mrs. Max Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Frost and Robert Griggin.

CHRISTMAS SENTIMENTS

Students and faculty members alike will breathe sighs of relief tomorrow, fold up their books, and desert the campus for home and fireside to spend the holidays with friends and family. The Christmas spirit, already making itself felt, will increase greatly in the next few days in expectant preparation for the advent of the mistletoe and lighted candle.

Generations of students in years past have done this selfsame thing. Overtaxed brains and weary eyes have been given a rest for two short weeks before the grind is taken up once more. And students in the years to come will probably do likewise.

In the last minute rush, and in the period of relaxation which will follow, students are all too apt to forget the true spirit of Christmas, and let it slide by unnoticed. Of course there is always the tree, with its blazing candles and its load of presents. There is the family grouped around about the branches much as in other times. There is the singing of hymns and the telling of the eternal story of the Christ.

But past events have given rise to wonder if Christmas means much to the average student any more, or if the present trend of civilization has so far overshadowed the older ways as to make the real Christmas a thing not to be attained. Questions to this effect have in fact been put point-blank recently.

Probably the newer trend of sophistication demands that the old Yuletide custom be shunted aside and stepped on, as have so many other traditions. Probably the newer school of cynicism will grin at the mere suggestion of a tree. But down underneath the hardened shell which the last generation have put on runs a strain of genuine "Pilgrim" spirit. Call it "senile sentimentality," or anything you like, but it's there just the same, and much water will have flowed beneath the bridge before that spirit is erased.

The Christmas season should mean much to the student, for to him will be entrusted the task of carrying on the true American spirit, of which Christmas is an essential part. By carrying out the old custom, by entering into the true spirit of the occasion, he will have gone a long way in preparing himself for his task.

MUD BALLS

Being the last issue, the authors of this column have the Christmas spirit and humbly beg anyone's pardon whose name has been connected falsely with any of the dirt that has been printed. But we are still of the opinion that this has not been the case. New authors will be chosen for this column next semester, so start watching your behavior in front of these unknown people in the future.

Adamson held the election of the Junior Class in the News Bureau two hours before the class met. The good old game of politics won again with the combines clicking smoothly as usual after the Tri-Delts had been called and warned to be on the spot or suffer. The Gamma Phis came out openly this time and showed just where they stood. Now if there is any one left who doubts their double cross in the last election this should remove it.

As an indication that the semester is near its end and everybody broke, the Tri-Delts have had their telephone disconnected for the past two weeks. Of course maybe the girls don't wish to be disturbed in their work, but we don't think so.

The insidious Doctor Miles, "Quack" for Adele Myers, threw a phony the other night, when he had his throat cut for a date for the house dance, and then turned around and cut somebody's throat to take Miss Myers to the show. It seems someone had put a long-distance call in from Carson for a date, came clear to Reno for it, and then found Doc Miles had taken the young lady for a ride five minutes before the Carson lad had made town. Better watch out for stuff like that.

Operative T13 got off his dime this morning and called up the Thetas to find the latest dirt. House Manager Ede answered the phone, but said there wasn't any dirt in her house as they had a nice clean bunch of girls there. T13 wasn't satisfied, however, and is going to hide under the chesterfield all the rest of his college days.

Brooks and Epperson had a race at expects to be able to make another try soon.

Operative T13 has not been able to report much lately, having decided to give the Colony a whirl. If he doesn't bring around some dirt soon we will publish his name. He collects some fine dirt for the rag when he is awake.

There being no other method of getting the inside dope on people, we hid ourselves to Colongri's the other night and had him make us up as an Andalusian Cheese Sniffer, and then went out and took some healthy sniffs, and came back and blew our nose. On examining friend handkerchief we found:

1.—Oscar Bryan has bought himself one of those fine new overcoats. He did it because someone stole his leather jacket and wore it to Los Angeles, or rather, not his but Epperson's, which he had been wearing. He bought the coat so he could keep warm, and also so he would be too broke to pay Epperson for the jacket.

2.—Armbruster has patented her sugar feeding device, and warns any one using it without her express permission that he will be persecuted.

3.—Canton, Hackett, and Wilson will probably be the next candidates for the important office of A.S.U.N. president. Politics are being talked up strong, and will get stronger after the first of the year.

4.—Doris Conway has not gotten herself into any more love affairs since the breakup with Dube. It is understood Dube intends to come back to school next semester, so maybe Conway will have herself a man after all.

5.—Heavy neckers without ears are having a tough time of it what with the cold weather and the increasing vigilance of Miss Mack. It is too frigid to sit on the tram or Manzanita porch, or even the sorority porches. Those men who hang in at sorority houses are in the fat, and the Tri-Delts are reported considering an addition to their two chesterfields, one divan, two overstuffed chairs and a love-seat. Lord knows where they'd put an extra seat, but leave it to the ingenious mind of Doris Welch to provide more comfort for the male element.

6.—The Johns-Epperson affair was coming along nicely until Dot had that wreck the other night. Now it is progressing faster than even the most optimistic hoped for. Epp was seen to enter the front door of the Johns residence twenty minutes after the accident.

7.—Wilson got a break out of the ad in last week's column. Some girl called him up and talked for an hour trying to get him to go out with her. But Fickle Freddie already had garnered himself an engagement, so the gal was out of luck. It might be well to mention at this time that persons desiring dates next semester need only put in their names by Monday morning, and they will be posted conspicuously in the column.

With which remarks we will close the column for the semester, wishing once again a Merry Christmas, and warning everyone not to drink too many Tom and Jerrys over the vacation, as Frisco Al Gregory has not yet recovered from protein poisoning which he received from downing thirty-five of the delectable morsels in two days recently.

We read where one Stanford man made two letters in this year's big game. By his playing time he cinched a block "S" for himself, and by Stanford's win, he took Joe Hick- ingbotham's "C" through a bet placed earlier in the season.

John Swearington will spend the Christmas holidays in Mill Valley, Calif.

CHRISTMAS WISHES

HERE AND THERE

And now we bid all our little readers adieu until next semester and wish them all a very merry Christmas and a Happy New Year; my toil and labor is over for another semester and this reminds me of a poem I penned in class the other day.

And just one word to the fraternities for next semester's rushing, if there is anyone to rush.

- We pledged him because—
1. We needed money.
 2. He had money.
 3. He had a coonskin coat.
 4. He wore nice ties.
 5. We needed money.
 6. He played the piano.
 7. His folks were wealthy.
 8. We cater to wealthy people.
 9. He knew Clara Bow.
 10. He spent his money freely.
 11. His brother was a member.

CHRISTMAS

Once again Yuletide has come, Filling our hearts with gladness and love,
For Him, Redeemer, who dwells above,
And spreads true love.

It brings a happy light to our eye, A light of hope, joy and benignity,
For at last we put far away Our worldly cares for this holy day.

When the snow is falling,
And around the hearth we chatter,
Let's pause in our merriment,
And think of souls with sadness bent.

Extend to them a message of love,
As pure as that of a snowy dove,
Be grateful for a happy year
Of prosperity with friends sincere.

Nevadans Given Special Mention On All-American

Walther, LeFebvre Named in Selections by Famed Board

MERIT CARDS AWARDED

Recognition Comes to Pack for First Time in Grid History

Nevada's first All-American in gridiron history to warrant attention from the All-American board of football's special committee came into existence last Saturday in the sports page of the San Francisco Examiner, when Jack T. Walther, veteran star pivot man and A.S.U.N. president, and Al LeFebvre, sensational sophomore halfback, were accorded honorable mention in the selection of Knute Rockne, Tad Jones, Glen Warner, W. A. Alexander and Christy Walsh, the personnel of the board's committee.

James "Rabbit" Bradshaw is the only other Nevadan ever to rate this unique honor. He was placed on Walter Camp's fourth string All-American during his senior year here.

Walther rated among 37 centers from all parts of the United States who had been seen in action by one or more of the committee during the 1930 season. LeFebvre made his place among 84 backs.

"Cards of Merit" Awarded

The two Nevada men will receive the All-American board of football, All-American cards of merit from under whose authority the selections were made. Walther has been chosen pivot man on at least two All-Far Western conference eleven's this season, but this marks LeFebvre's first recognition from sports critics for his gridiron abilities. The All-American board's choice is generally regarded as the final authority in All-American selections, and ranks a player on a par with the judgment of Grandland Rice, whose selection will be made public in Collier's magazine within the next few weeks.

Walther's recognition as being of All-American caliber comes as a climax to a brilliant gridiron career which began when he was a freshman pivot man on the Wolf Pack. Walther missed his letter by three minutes his first season, being understudy to Buck Farnsworth. During his sophomore year he alternated at guard and center with Farnsworth and Alden McCullom. For the past two years he has held down the first string center berth and his play has been an inspiration to his teammates.

LeFebvre's First Year

LeFebvre, playing his first year on the Nevada varsity, gained recognition mainly through the smashing game he turned in against California. Showing more improvement than any man on the squad during the season, the plucky halfback reached his zenith in the game with the Bears, and furnished the big thrill of the day when he dashed 77 yards and almost put over a touchdown. A curious sidelight in LeFebvre's selection is that he did not play enough minutes in letter games to warrant his Block N award.

The All-American football team (first string) as chosen by the board is as follows: Ends, Fessler, Ohio State, and Dalrymple, Tulane; tackles, Sington, Alabama, and Hein, Washington State; guards, Beckett of California, and Linehan of Yale; center, Tieknor, Harvard; quarterback, Carlie, Notre Dame; halfbacks, Brill of Notre Dame, and Pinckert of Southern California, and fuaback, Russel of Northwestern. No second team was selected and the rest of the nation's outstanding grid men of the 1930 season were cited as "deserving of special mention."

Dan Bledsoe Returns For Basket Practice

Daniel P. Bledsoe '33, a member of last year's basketball varsity and track squad, has returned to the University to begin practice with the 1931 basketball team.

Bledsoe expects to register as a sophomore at the University at the beginning of next semester. He had been employed by the United States Geological Survey for the past four months as an assistant surveyor.

Hoop Squad Prepares For Golden Bear

Martie's Team Fight for Conference Honors This Year

SIX FOOT TEAM California Varsity Strong With Roster of Men Experienced

With Coach "Doc" Martie once again at the helm, the University of Nevada court squad is rapidly rounding into shape and promises to be in readiness for Coach Nibe Price's California varsity, whom they will meet at the gym Friday and Saturday evenings, December 26th and 27th.

Martie has been working his men hard during the past few weeks and hopes to mould a team that should prove more than an idle threat in the race for Conference honors.

Squad Stronger
Although the loss of Jake Lawlor at guard, "Tip" Whitehead and Don Dakin at forward, will be keenly felt, the rest of the squad is back stronger than ever with the addition of several new men who, it is hoped, will be able to take the places of last year's seniors.

The California varsity were runners up in the Pacific Coast Conference race last year, as was Nevada in the Far Western league. Price has last Perry Ten Eyck, captain at center, Kent Pirsell and Wilson "Pip" Pipers, and several reserves, but his club is well fortified with talented substitutes.

Bear Team Fast
Gottfield, captain of the Bear squad, is considered as one of the best guards on the Coast, and his running mate, Vendi, is also a guard of high caliber. Warhurst at center is tall and fast, while Kintana and Granger, forwards, are also heady players. Kintana having been high point man in all the California practice tilts to date.

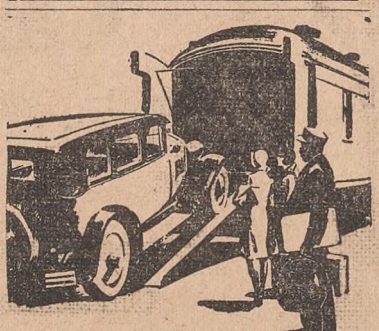

The Wolf Pack that will start will also be rangy, with "Goon" Gilmarlin, center, being the smallest man of the team. Weaver and Johnson, forwards, are developing fast and are dead-eye shots at the hoop. At guard, Captain DeRoemer and Griffin have been working up to a smooth combination. This starting team averages 180 pounds to the man and in height registers close to six feet two inches. The Bear team is somewhat lighter but is a little more rangy.

The Pack reserve includes many promising players; notably Lombardi, Bledsoe, Prilling, Farnsworth, and Hill, forwards; Dakin, Roy Bankoffier, centers; Bob Bankoffier, Salsbury, Hackett, Pulmils, guards. All of these men are due to see action throughout the season.

Stubb Doubravac is going to Picoche the end of the week to work with Paul Gemmel '30.

By SPEC-TATER

Nevada rates All-American mention! Jack Walther and Al LeFebvre, by their stellar playing this season, have helped put this school on the football map. Jim Bradshaw rated Walter Camp's fourth string All-American and Walter Ecker's first string some years ago, but since that time no Wolf Pack men have been noticed. This should be an inspiration to next year's Pack. Congratulations.

Coach Philbrook's resignation comes as one of the important steps of the week in gridiron circles. The Nevada mentor has had a hard row to hoe and should rate a big hand for his efforts in the past two years. Three years ago the Pack went through the season without a single win. Then Philbrook introduced his system, and pulled the Pack out of the slump to win two clashes. This season two games were won, two tied, and four lost. Next year the season's record might have shown a great deal more success, because Philbrook's system was just beginning to click, and he would have been working with a group of men who had played under him for two or more years. The task of the coach was doubly hard because he never got any real backing from the student body, and had to try to concentrate on his task while listening to the advice of all and sundry who thought they knew more about how the team should be run than he did. Playing a lone hand, Philbrook deserves a lot of credit for his work.

Spec-Tater wishes him his personal congratulations on the job and wishes him all kinds of success wherever he may be next year.

Speculation is rife at the present time as to who will be the coach next year. No names have been mentioned, and the selection of the coach committee will not be final until well along in the next semester. Not much credence should be given to the article appearing in the Chronicle recently to the effect that offers are being made Nibe Price. An Army man has been suggested, and this looks to be a good solution of the problem provided the War Department is willing to send out a capable man.

That article in the Chronicle also said Nevada was contemplating withdrawal from the Far Western Conference, and would seek to form a conference with St. Mary's, Santa

Wallace is Hired As Boxing Coach

Finance Control Approves Basketball Budget For 1931

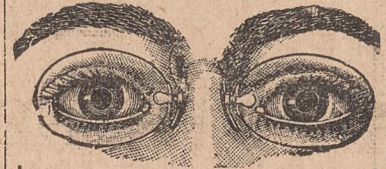

Dick Wallace, boxing coach of last year, was given a vote of confidence by the Finance Control Committee in its last meeting of the year Tuesday evening when he was appointed to direct the activities of Nevada's 1931 pugilists by a unanimous vote of the committee. Wallace's boxing budget was also approved, and expense money was also forwarded him for his trip to the Coast last night, where he will schedule meets for the coming season.

Graduate Manager Hartung presented a basketball budget at the meeting, and this was accepted. Plans were made to investigate the possibilities of the publication of a new A.S.U.N. song book, and it was decided to allow the Block N the balance of its 1930 budget for a Christmas party, which will be staged by this organization tomorrow evening.

Hartung announced that Stanford University had offered Nevada the choice of a $2000 guarantee or fifty per cent of the gate receipts when the Wolf Pack meets the Cardinals next fall in a football game. He also said that the University of California basketball team would appear here two nights instead of one as had previously been planned. The dates for the games were announced as Friday and Saturday, December 26 and 27.

Football Manager, Four Assistants Chosen Last Week

Football managers for the next year were elected last week at a meeting of the committee called for that purpose. John Chism will be the next football manager, and the four men who were selected to be sophomore managers are Rector Fumian, Fred Stienen, Edward Martinez, and Jack Dolan.

The committee in charge of selecting the managers consisted of Professor R. C. Thompson, Coach Geo. W. Philbrook, Captain Walt Linehan, and Al Lombardi, general athletic manager.

say about this in his Punks, Fokes, Poutons column. Also his correspondents from up here?

Nevada will not seek to withdraw from the present conference for at least a year or two yet, and if she does pull out, will seek to re-membership in the Pacific Coast league. Also University of San Francisco has her basketball team entered in the Coast conference, and the rest of her sports will probably follow this lead, so that puts this school out of the question. And from the looks of things, St. Mary's wishes to remain a barnstorming team much after the manner of her mother institution, Notre Dame.

Those interested in basketball should stick around until December 27. They will probably see a couple of good games when the University of California comes up to battle the Wolf in his own stronghold. This is the first time that the two schools have met on the local court, and the Pack should give the Bear a good time, because it might be the last, although it is to be hoped that such will not be the case.

Nevada Omitted As Scholars Are Named to Oxford

529 Candidates Make Try for Annual Rhodes Scholarship

Nevada will have no Rhodes scholar entering the University of Oxford in October of 1931, according to selections of the winners in the several newly created districts, which were made known by Dr. Frank Aydellotte, president of Swarthmore College and American secretary of the trustees, early this week.

Claude Winder, University of Nevada representative to the district meet, was ranked by D. R. French of Pomona College and Joe Higgingbotham of the University of California. Out of a large number of competing colleges only nine institutions will be represented. The colleges and institutions represented were Pomona, California, Colorado, Nebraska, Reed, Oregon, Washington, and two from the United States Military Academy. Five hundred and ninety-two candidates tried out, which was the largest number ever to try for Rhodes scholarships in any year in the history of the scheme.

Elections Revised

Elections this year were conducted according to a newly revised plan whereby there was competition in every state in the Union instead of only in two-thirds of the states as has previously been the case. Each state recommended its two best men to the district committee, and from the twelve nominated in each district the committee chose the four who seemed best qualified to represent the district at Oxford. State lines were totally disregarded in the selections.

Under this method there are thirty-two scholarship appointments available in normal years. This year an extra appointment was made available in the Northwest to replace the deficiency caused by the death of the Idaho scholar, which occurred last summer.

Winder from Nevada

Claude Winder, senior student of the University of Nevada, and holder of the highest scholarship record ever obtained at the University, represented Nevada at the district meeting of the Rhodes Scholarship committee at San Francisco Saturday.

A luncheon was held in the red room of the Bohemian Club for the eight candidates chosen to represent the district. Immediately following the luncheon a private conference was held by the committee with each representative. The selection for the scholarship was based on the person and personality; scholastically, physically, and socially, and his ability to discuss the topics of the day. What the person had accomplished in college and what he expected to accomplish at Oxford was also taken into consideration.

"The young men chosen for this scholarship were all very deserving and capable men," stated Mr. Winder.

Aggies Plan for Picnic and Dance

Regular meeting of the Aggie Club was held Wednesday night. The usual business was dispensed with and the treasurer, Arnold Wessitsh, gave a report on the trip of the judging teams that went to the livestock show at Portland, Oregon.

Plans were made for the club to have a dance and a picnic which will take place sometime during the next semester.

The Aggies have received a great deal of publicity through their efforts in bringing the future farmers to the campus and have done much to stimulate interest in the University of Nevada.

Announcements

Dean Margaret B. Mack wishes to remind the heads of the various campus organizations that the social calendar for next semester must be considered. The calendar committee will meet with representatives of the several groups who desire dates for social affairs and an attempt will be made to arrange it satisfactorily for all. This meeting will be held at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Tuesday, January 13, in room 109 of the Agriculture building.

Zoebel Talks on Mining Camps in British Columbia

At a final fall meeting held yesterday, members of the student branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers of the University of Nevada had for their speaker Lawrence Zoebel, junior student of the Electrical Department. Zoebel talked about his experiences while working at the famous Kicking Horse mine, near Banff and Lake Louise, British Columbia, Canada. He spent fifteen months at the mine, doing various kinds of electrical work and operating a Diesel type electric plant. He told of the difficulties incurred in operating the Diesel plant in such a remote wilderness.

Zoebel also mentioned the fact that the mine is off the beaten path of motorists who tour the great Northwest, where "God's Country" blossoms forth with acre after acre of giant timber to silently guard the rushing streams and crystal lakes, presenting one of the most picturesque scenes depicted by nature.

Student Shack Stealers Fight $200 Damages

George Adamson and Fritz Wilson, prominent University activity men, and members of Sagers, campus service organization, are being sued for damages to the extent of two hundred dollars as the result of an excessive display of homescoming spirit which led them to bodily carry off a house belonging to Mr. Lague of Sparks, it was learned recently.

The two men, in their quest for fuel to feed the bonfire entered the western city limits of Sparks and saw a doorless, windowless, tumble-down shack. It had been used as a chicken roost for a number of years and the men came to the conclusion that it could do much more good by being sacrificed to the spirit of Homecoming.

Truck Carries House

Accordingly they hoisted it onto a truck and consigned it to flames the same night. It blazed gloriously as a tribute to the Wolf Pack, and a thousand returning graduates gazed on the light made by the shack, along with several tons of other fuel.

Recently, however, Mr. Lague, who thought he owned the old building, decided to make it over into some kind of a sleeping quarters for himself. He searched for it all over his property, and made immediate investigation when he could not find the missing shack.

Adamson and Wilson have engaged the services of an attorney, to defend them, although the date of the trial has not yet been announced.

Griffin to Hold Oratory Contest

Conducts Class For This Purpose During Two Semesters

Introducing an entirely new feature in campus public speaking activities, Professor Robert Griffin, head debate coach, announced this week that he will conduct a local oratorical contest at Nevada some time this semester, and will send the winner to represent this University in the Pacific Coast Oratorical contest at Los Angeles next spring.

Griffin is this year instructing one class in oratory and students are at the present time preparing speeches. The contest originally was planned for members of this class alone, but Griffin says that other students may enter if they desire.

Commenting on the new feature, Griffin said that he has felt for some time the need of such a department among Nevada student activities, and that he thinks there is a great deal of potential oratorical material here.
