Joe DeReemer's Death Shrouds Hill With Gloom

Basketball Captain Loses In Gallant Battle With Meningitis

CAMPUS HONORS LEADER Social Functions Are Cancelled During This Week As Students Mourn

Death laid a heavy hand on the campus last Sunday afternoon when Joseph A. DeReemer, Wolf Pack basketball captain and senior student in the College of Mining Engineering, passed away at a Reno hospital after a four day fight against the ravages of spinal meningitis.

Stricken Thursday morning, apparently with influenza, DeReemer was removed to the hospital the following day. Complications set in on Friday and he sank rapidly. He died after several hours had given up hope several hours previously.

Was Student Leader

Joe DeReemer was one of the most active and popular students on the campus. Deeply interested in all forms of athletics, and laying most emphasis on basketball, he did not allow his activities to stop there. During his residence at Nevada he entered into all forms of campus life. He was post president of Cofin and Keys, treasurer of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, and a leading member of Blue Key, honorary service fraternity.

DeReemer was also a member of the upperclass committee, the interfraternity council, the Crucible club, the Block N Society, and had held class offices, being treasurer during his sophomore year. He was past president of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Held Guard Berth

He had held down the berth of varsity guard on the basketball team for three years, and was one of the best defensive men ever to play for Nevada. Always in excellent condition, his leadership was an inspiration to his teammates, and the example that he set in his play kept up the morale of the Pack when it was dangerously near the sagging point. He played freshman football and fought for a wing position on the varsity for one season. Freshman basketball was among his other activities.

Joseph DeReemer was born March 9, 1909, at Roseville, California, where his father was employed by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company. In 1921 his family moved to Sparks where he entered high school as a freshman. He was particularly outstanding in athletics, being football captain in his last year at high school. Graduating in 1925 with high honors, DeReemer entered the University of Nevada in the fall of that year, registering in the School of Mining Engineering, from which he was to have received his degree this May.

His body was accompanied Monday to Sacramento, where funeral services and cremation took place Wednesday at East Lawn cemetery.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. DeReemer of Roseville, Calif., a sister, Mrs. F. A. Denny, Jr., of Roseville, and a brother, Thomas DeReemer of Sparks.

Social Functions Cancelled

Out of respect to DeReemer, social functions scheduled for the coming week-end have been cancelled, it is understood. Whether or not the dates for next Friday and Saturday evenings will also be cancelled could not be learned, but it is the general consensus of opinion that this will not be the case.

Fears of a spinal meningitis epidemic on the campus were squelched last Tuesday when Dr. Hood, University physician, announced that the particular form of disease contracted by DeReemer was not contagious. It was unknown as to just where the disease was contracted, but it was believed that this occurred on the San Jose trip three weeks ago.

Basketball players and fraternity brothers of DeReemer were given thorough examinations last Monday to determine if any of the men had contracted the disease, but all tests were negative.

Former Student is Physician

Dr. L. A. Williams, former student of the University of Nevada who graduated from Chicago University and Rush Medical School, sailed as private physician to a retired Chicago business man on the 31st of January. The cruise is taken with the Raymond Whitcomb and will extend through the Mediterranean Sea. Time will be taken in Rome, Florence and Venice for visits to the medical schools.

Dr. Williams recently finished his internship at Presbyterian Hospital, Chicago, as well as taking the Illinois state medical examinations. During his years at the University of Nevada he was a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. He is also affiliated with the Delta Xi honor medical fraternity.

Debate Season To Open February 16

Local Speakers to Meet Weber College as Season Starts

The first debate of the season will be held on Monday, February 16th, at 8 o'clock p.m. The opposing team will represent Weber College. They will debate the University of Nevada on the question: Resolved, that the nation should adopt a policy of free trade.

The team for Nevada will be composed of Granville Fletcher and Guild Gray. These men have had considerable debating experience but none in inter-collegiate debating. They are both sophomores on the campus.

Weber College had the heaviest schedule for debating last year than any other University in the United States. They participated in 90 contests. Football in this college has been completely ousted by debating.

The question for discussion is an old one, but Nevada has a surprise in store for the visitors through a new treatment.

High School Rating Not To Be Based On Frosh Scholarships

That high schools cannot be rated by scholarship records of their graduates as freshmen in the University was affirmed by Professor F. W. Trainer, head of the department of secondary education, in a speech before the Faculty Science Club yesterday afternoon in the Agriculture building.

Professor Trainer's conclusion is based upon five years' study of freshman scholarship records in the University of Nevada. In any school, he stated, students range from honor students down to failures. This cannot be attributed to the excellence or the weaknesses of the school, because all the students receive the same training, he said.

Deadline Now Past For Artemisia Shots

Except in those cases where a picture is absolutely necessary for the welfare of the 1931 Artemisia, those students who have not had their taken will not be given an opportunity to do so. For the benefit of those students who believe that they are still able to have their picture taken, Francis Smith, editor, has announced that last week was the deadline.

There are many special students, Block N men and faculty members who have not attended to this matter, and due to the fact that time is pressing on Smith's getting the photos to the engravers, the only way a student may have a picture taken who has not already done so, is by a request from him personally.

"Specials" Can't Wear Cords

The Upperclass Committee has announced that unless special students have attended college for four semesters they will be forbidden to wear cords and they will have to obey all other traditions. These new rulings will be rigidly enforced.

Blanks To Speak Of E. O'Neill At U. N. Auditorium

Has Won Reputation in Reno For Previous Excellent Lectures

With "Eugene O'Neill, Dramatist Extraordinary" as his subject, the University of Nevada committee on lectures and assemblies has announced that Dr. Anthony F. Blanks will be the next lecturer to appear here on the schedule. Dr. Blanks' lecture will be presented February 26th.

Dr. Blanks appeared at the University of Nevada last year, lecturing on O'Neill, and the excellent quality of his work won for him a reputation and a host of friends on the Nevada campus.

Able Lecturer

Professor Blanks has had a rich experience which is reflected in his offerings. Born and reared in the old South, his residence in Japan, his travels in Europe, as well as his study in his chosen field of literature, enables him to speak with authority on many subjects.

Blanks has been a member of the faculties of Ohio Wesleyan University, Otterbein University, Colgate University, the University of Southern California, Aoyama Gakuin, Tokio, Japan, and is the present associate professor of public speaking in the University of California at Berkeley.

Dr. Blanks' presentation of Eugene O'Neill will be a lecture recital, during which he will not only discuss O'Neill as a dramatist, but will give several readings which will acquaint the audience with many book characters.

Forensic Tourney To Start April 16

Reno Attorneys Selected to Judge High School Contests

Prominent Reno attorneys will be selected as judges of the debates to be held on April 16, 17, and 18, when high schools throughout the state of Nevada convene here for their annual forensic and dramatic contests.

To date, seven schools have announced their intention of entering the contests. These schools are Las Vegas, Sparks, Reno, Elko, Carlin, Wells, and Manhattan. Susanville High school of California, also may enter the lists, as their is nothing in the rules of the contest prohibiting a California high school from entering.

Armena Fritz has taken over the correspondence with the various high schools writing in for information.

Mann Is Elected New Soph President

Phil Mann, the newly elected sophomore president, began his official duties by appointing the new vigilance committee for the spring semester. Chris Gansberg is the chairman, and the rest of the committee consists of Tom Landrum, Galle Parsons, Irvin Ayers, Ted Moore, John Brooks, Mason Meyer and Calvin Egan.

Their duties began with a paddling this afternoon. Those punished were: E. Wayman, Tommy Say, Herbert Clark, Ed Bath, Bill Montgomery, Dick Clevert, Dan Thomas and Fred Fuetsch. According to Chris Gansberg, there will be one or two paddlings a week from now on.

Magazine Features New Science Hall

The latest issue of the Coast Banker contains in a section devoted to Nevada news a photograph of the new Mackay Science Hall and an article concerning the inscription on the memorial plaque.

The article says: "On a bronze memorial plaque placed in the corridor of the recently complete Mackay Science Hall, University of Nevada, appear these words, written by Clarence H. Mackay, through whose generosity the building was erected: 'To provide education for the future generations in those sciences which are fundamental to mining, this building is presented to the University of Nevada by Clarence H. Mackay in loving memory of his father, John W. Mackay, a pioneer in the development of the state.'"

Fated Fridays Stalk Students With Ill Omen

Friday, the 13th, that red letter jinx day, comes twice in a row this semester. Not being satisfied with the usual bad luck that goes with such a date the student affairs committee had to add insult to injury by having one of its famed meetings on the first of these days. To be in keeping with this conglomeration of ill omens, its findings will undoubtedly be announced on the Friday 13 that comes in March.

This tough luck date coming the day before Valentine's Day makes it possible for disappointed lover to lay the cause of their broken hearts on the date instead of the true fact that they weren't the chosen ones to receive the heart shaped missiles of love. Black cats, cross-eyed people, broken mirrors, and other similar indications of misfortune fade into the background when the number 13 and the day Friday stalk down the calendar together.

Ancient Pan-Hell Constitution To Undergo Revision

Form Of New Article Unknown As Presentation To Come In Next Two Weeks

An antiquated constitution, so old that it contains reference to but two sororities, was the subject of an attack by members of Pan-Hellenic Council in their meeting last Wednesday evening, the attack brought definite results. The constitution will be revised immediately and presented for acceptance in the next two weeks.

Written in 1916, when but two houses—Pi Beta Phi and Delta Delta Delta—had formed into membership, the council regulations legally cover but these two houses and leave Gamma Phi Beta, Beta Delta, Kappa Alpha Theta and Sigma Alpha Omega out in the cold. If rumor has any foundation whatever, as far as the local constitution goes.

Just what form this revision will take could not be learned this morning, but it is believed that the revised articles will be in much the same form as in former years with the exception that the four other sororities will be included.

Possibility that new clauses and new rules would be inserted into the new constitution were expressed by some persons, however, and Pan-Hellenic Council might come forward with some brand new red tape to overshadow all other forms which are now in existence. The chance of this occurrence is believed, however, to be extremely slight.

Sorority Groups on the Campus

governed by two ruling bodies, the local Pan-Hellenic body, and the national Pan-Hellenic council. The national Pan-Hell rules cover all of the sororities, and have jurisdiction over the local.

Plans are well underway for the annual summer session of the University of Nevada, which will be held from June 15 to July 24 of this year. Professor F. W. Trainer will be director and will teach two courses in education.

Other members of the faculty of the University of Nevada who have accepted their invitation to teach are R. A. Irwin, who will offer two courses in psychology; T. H. Post, who will offer two courses in music; P. A. Harwood, who will offer three courses in English; and W. R. Blackler, who will offer one course in penmanship and one course in bookkeeping.

Others Will Teach

Other persons who have accepted invitations to teach are: Mrs. C. W. Davis, who will teach art; E. O. Vaughn, principal of Reno High school, who will teach two courses in education, and Marie Burgess of the Rockridge School of Oakland, California, who will have charge of the primary grades in demonstration.

There are several additions to be made to this faculty which will be announced in the bulletin that will be off the press some time in March.

Francis Headley '31, a student in the School of Electrical Engineering, was chosen Monday by the educational representative of the General Electric Co to the General Electric works in Schenectady, N. Y., next fall for the course in electrical engineering fostered by that company.

Headley, the highest ranking senior electrical engineer in point of scholarship, is the only student to be picked from Nevada this year, since General Electric is choosing but 150 men for its course next year in contrast to the usual 600 selected from promising electrical students throughout the United States.

Life Sketches Of Professors To Be Told By Students

Starting with this issue, the Sagebrush will present each week a short combination biography and character sketch of the members of the faculty of the University of Nevada.

These stories will be printed in the order of the longest period of service. The first is that of Dr. J. E. Church, Jr., written by Dorothy Cooper '33, to be followed by the biography of Professor Jeanne E. Weir by Neva Shav '33. The third story of the series will be that of Professor Peter Frandsen by Howard Rigby '33. All of the sketches are to be written by members of class in journalism, English 26, offered by Professor A. L. Higginbotham.

Cuts to be Used

A picture of the subject will accompany each biography. One such story will be printed each week until the close of the semester.

Dr. Hood will see any student at his office between the hours of 9 to 12 and 2 to 4 until the quarantine is removed.

Fred Anderson Has Experiences Of Great Variety

Sees Passion Show at Munich; Lives in Old French Chateau

HONORED AT NEVADA

Has Tea with Marchioness; Takes Out Girls From Many Lands

When Fred Anderson, Nevada's Rhodes Scholar for the years 1928 to 1931, donned his chaps, Levi-Strass overalls, and khaki shirt to take a morning canter through the sage of White Pine county, Nevada, he would have laughed at anyone's suggestion that he would someday be following the hounds with England's aristocracy.

Lives in Chateau

Yet fox hunting in a top hat is only a part of the experience with which Anderson is supplementing his medical studies at Oxford. He has found time to travel over a greater part of Europe and has seen many places of historical significance and contemporary interest.

Walking through Stratford-on-the-Avon, witnessing the Passion Play at Munich, living in a grand French chateau formerly inhabited by Knights Templar—are only a fragment of the things Anderson has done since he graduated from Nevada in 1928.

Dines with Marchioness

During his recent holiday vacation Anderson spent his days entirely in England. He went through the London docks as guest of the Port of London authority which controls all London's shipping trade, and saw 28 miles of wire casks in their cellars, huge stacks of ivory in one warehouse, and species of all sorts from all corners of the earth in another. He went to the famous old Hatfield House where he viewed the priceless "Rainbow Portrait" of Queen Elizabeth and where he had tea with the Marchioness of Salisbury.

On five different nights of the same week Anderson took to dances girls whose homes were respectively, the Argentine, South Africa, New Zealand, Brazil, and England, and didn't make a diplomatic error with any one of them.

Was Honor Student at Nevada

While at Nevada, Anderson was very prominent in student activities. He was a member of Kappa Lambda and Phi Kappa Phi fraternities; Blue Key, Cofin and Keys, was Sagebrush editor and on the honor roll. He also was the recipient of the Fitzgerald Scholarship and the Rhodes Scholarship.

Former Student Of Nevada Announced Engaged In Chicago

The announcement of the engagement of Marvin V. (Scoop) Robinson, former student of the University of Nevada, and Miss Mildred Kamin of Chicago, was made February 3. The date for their wedding has not been set.

Robinson was for two years a special student in journalism at the University of Nevada, and was also on the staff of the Nevada State Journal and was editor for several months of a paper in a new mining town near Fallon.

About three years ago Robinson went to Chicago where he has been employed as advertising manager for the Kotex and Kleenex Company.

Frosh Glee Planned For Next Month

Dance Committee Postpones Decorating Plans For Week

Plans for the annual Glee, given by the freshman class in the State building March 21, are progressing rapidly, according to Gene Salet, committee chairman. The committee, which consists of a representative from each fraternity and sorority house, have suspended work for a week.

According to Oscar Mapes Robinson, head of the decoration committee, the decorating scheme will be the most spectacular ever used. There will also be a big surprise orchestra. Many interesting and novel features are in store for those attending.

H. G. Furguson Discusses Plans For Geological Map of Nevada

H. G. Furguson, geologist of the U. S. geological survey, stopped over in Reno for a day the first of the week. His stay was taken up with discussing plans for compiling a geological map of the state. The compilation will depend upon whether the legislature appropriates money for further Bureau of Mines work.

Three Nevada Students to Take Chemistry Civil Exam

Three University of Nevada students will take the civil service examination for junior chemist in Reno on February 11 and 12. Those taking the examinations are Thomas Jackson, Ray Griffin, and Fred Smith.

Nevada Competes In Shoot Matches

Enters Ninth Corps Area Meets With Thirteen Colleges on February 9th

Thirteen college R.O.T.C. rifle teams will inaugurate the 1931 Ninth Corps Area intercollegiate gallery rifle matches on January 26th, according to information received recently from Ninth Corps Area headquarters. Nevada will start shooting February 9th.

The Oregon State Agricultural College teams No. 1 and No. 2 in the 1930 shoot took both first and third places with aggregate scores of 5631 and 6429 respectively. The University of Washington team placed second with a total score of 5536.

One-third of the teams will participate in the national intercollegiate gallery shoot to be held later in the spring. Members of the winning teams in the Ninth Corps Area shoot will be presented with medals.

Team Picked

Tryouts for the team of fifteen men to represent Nevada have been in progress since the first of the year. Tryouts having the highest total practice scores were selected February 5 to compete in matches in the area and against other colleges. The team is composed of:

Frederick H. Caudel, Arvin E. Boerlin, Wendell H. Duplantis, James T. Hoffman, Harry M. Shedd, Grant Rice, John White, Robert Marean, Paul Fontana, William Wright, Harland Stuart, Ned Morehouse, William Hill, Irvin Ayers, Carman Rogers, Merwin White and Fred Barkow are alternates.

The first stage, of which there are three, was shot off on Monday and Wednesday of this week. Matches with the State College of Washington, University of Dayton, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and New Mexico College of A. & M. A. were shot last week.

Matches are scheduled with Cornell, Yale, and Harvard, as well as with many other institutions.

The four high score men on the Nevada teams in the corps area match will receive prizes of $20, $15, $10 and $5, awarded by the military department, according to a bulletin issued recently.

Circle Ns Given

Circle Ns are recommended as a reward to the ten high men on the team who shoot in competition with other colleges in the independent matches, according to Lieutenant Wilcox. Each of the three stages in the corps area shoot will count as a match in determining the high men. According to the bulletin issued by the lieutenant, the selections will be made as follows:

"In each match during the season, each member will be given an order number determined by the score made in the match. At the end of the season these order numbers will be totaled and averaged to determine the average for the season. The ten men having the lowest numerical average for the season will be recommended to receive the N. Where there are ties in any match, the highest standing will be given to each man so tied."

Sergeant Hustis has been training the men on Monday and Wednesday afternoons for the matches. All facilities for indoor practice are furnished by the military department.

Women Debaters To Meet Oregon

The Nevada women will meet two contestants from Oregon State College on February 27th in the Education auditorium at the University of Nevada. The question for discussion will be: "Resolved that Gandhi has been a benefit to India." The Nevada women will uphold the affirmative side of the question. The women to represent Nevada will be chosen out of the following: Viou Trevitt, Charlotte Hood, Lois Hutchinson, Lois Hansan, and Pearl Romwell.

The women have been hard at work on this question for several weeks. Those who have been most conscientious will be given the benefit of the selection. The squad met last Saturday morning. At this time Bob Griffin announced that he would post a notice of further meetings on the bulletin board.

Doctor Church Is Dubbed "Daddy" of Nevada Faculty

By DOROTHY COOPER

In 1892 the University of Nevada opened its doors to a new member of the faculty, James Edward Church, Jr., A.B., of Michigan, in search of new worlds to conquer.

He was fearful, at first, to come to Nevada because of his youth. Surely the rest of the faculty would be old fogies, difficult for a twenty-three year old boy to adapt himself to their ideas and ways of teaching. But he came in spite of his misgivings, and found, to his delight, that there was scarcely more than a year's difference between his age and that of the rest of the faculty.

There were 300 students attending the University at that time, with an almost equal number of men and women, and cooperation between students and faculty was not of the best.

A breakage fee was charged at registration, similar to the laboratory fee of today, but this fee was to pay for windows, chairs, pictures, anything that was broken by a student. For then it was the wild West and when a member of the school became provoked, he threw something, he didn't care what, and he didn't care where it landed, but if something was broken he felt much better—until he had to pay for it.

Better Times Come

Gradually a better understanding between the students and the faculty grew and together they built the gymnasium, the first community built structure on the campus.

In 1901 James Edward Church received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Munich and then spent some time studying archeology in Italy and Greece, before returning to Nevada.

Although Dr. Church taught Latin and was deeply interested in it, the Church mind was not one of the single track variety. He was also engaged in the study of meteorology and in 1905 founded the Mount Rose Meteorological Observatory.

Snow Takes Interest

Snow surveying was an absorbing subject with Doctor Church. He has written a book entitled "Snow Surveying, Its Problems and Their Present Phases," as well as other pamphlets on winter mountaineering, snow conservation, and stream-flow forecasting. It is little wonder then, that he was placed in charge of the cooperative snow surveys for the state of Nevada.

Doctor Church is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, Fellow A.A.A.S., American Meteorological Society, and the president of the Faculty Science Club at the University of Nevada 1917-1918.

When the second Pan-American Scientific Congress met, Nevada proudly sent Dr. Church as a delegate to it, where he appeared on a program with the best scientific minds in the country.

Goes To Greenland

In 1927 Dr. Church was invited to join the Hobbs expedition to Greenland to study the weather. He accepted and spent approximately sixteen months in that country.

The company of scientists was encamped just inside the Arctic circle. Overhead, the aurora borealis flashed its lights and for ten days the sun would shine and then disappear for ten more days. This did not affect the life of the inhabitants, as they went about their activities as if the period of light and darkness was of the normal duration.

During the winter the members of the expedition lived on the ice, studying the icy winds that swept over them and trying to determine what caused them and from whence they came.

Sails on Ice Floes

Two weeks of one summer were spent in a boat out in the ice floes still endeavoring to solve the riddle of Greenland's weather. It is not all snow and ice there. A strip of land 300 miles long and 100 miles wide has no snow on it in the summer months.

Dr. Church is now back at the University of Nevada starting his thirtieth year of teaching the young idea how to shoot. He is the "Daddy" of all the other professors, being oldest in point of service, but not in point of view. His inquisitive and acquisitive mind has kept him young.

Dr. Church says he can see no difference essentially in the youth of today and that of yesterday. The girls lengthen or shorten their skirts and hair, the boys lengthen and widen their trousers, and there is more cooperation between students and faculty now than there was before. But underneath it all, the students attending the University today are just modern replicas of the students of 1892.

Perhaps Dr. Church notices little change because he has progressed each day, each year, too busy learning and doing new things, too busy keeping abreast of the times to note the transition of one generation to another.

Women Hoopsters Start Class Games

Intramural Basketball Tilts To Follow Termination Of Class Games

Class games are to be held first of next week in women's basketball with Juanita Johnson as manager. In order to be eligible to play on class teams each participant must have a record of eleven practices to her credit.

Intramural basketball will begin as soon as the class games have been played, according to Irma Parker, intramural sports manager. All teams entering from these groups are required to have medicals and six attendances at regular basketball practices. The winning group will be presented with a silver loving cup given by the Pan-Hellenic Council. As a culmination of the basketball season a banquet will be held for all members entering in for this sport.

Pruning Criticized In Lehenbauer Talk

The practice of pruning shade trees by "beheading" them was severely criticized by Dr. Phillip A. Lehenbauer, professor of biology at the University, in a talk before the Rotary club Monday, February 9.

Contrary to the popular belief that trees need pruning every year, Dr. Lehenbauer stated that only young trees need pruning in order to establish a proper balance between the root and the top. After a tree is three or four years old, it does not require to be pruned at all except to remove dead branches, he declared.

The equipment for the work in the reduction of zinc by natural gas to be carried on by the local station of the Bureau of Mines is rapidly being installed in the building at the rear of the barracks.

New Group Formed For Travel Study

Club will Meet Every Thursday Afternoon to Discuss Countries

A group of co-eds interested in travel have joined together under the sponsorship of the Y.W.C.A. and formed what will be known as the Y.W.C.A. Floating University. The group will meet every Thursday afternoon at 2:30 and will discuss affairs, customs, traditions and places in foreign countries and various sections of our own that happens to be most interesting to them. The idea of a travel club of some sort was suggestion by Miss Helen Price, the traveling student secretary of the Y.W.C.A., during her visit to the campus last week. It will be a part of the world education program of the Y.W.C.A. and its purpose is through travel talks and reading to try to better understand foreign peoples and come to friendly terms with them.

New Rules Made

Several rules were laid down which will make the club different. There will be no pin, no dues, no obligation, but sincere interest. The name of the ship on which the traveling university holds its meetings will be called S.S. Universal, the captain, as yet unnamed will keep a log of the progress of the trip.

The initial tour will be made to China and at the meeting yesterday afternoon the group discussed their findings on the present status of the foreign concessions in China. The traveling will be done through reading magazines and books and through information that can be obtained from people who have lived there or studied extensively the country which is the current one of interest.

China Chosen

China was chosen as a beginning because there is a possibility that Miss Maude Russell, who has just returned from ten years' work in China as Y.W.C.A. secretary, may visit the campus some time in March. She has been in the midst of the revolutionary uprisings and has had some thrilling experiences.

The co-eds who have already embarked on the cruise of the Y.W.C.A. floating university are: Clara Tomlin, Cora Henriksen, Pearl Romwall, Elizabeth Wallace and Betty Allen. Anyone who is interested in meeting with them is asked to see one of them. Both men and women and faculty are welcomed.

Katherine Martin Injured in Gymnasium Basketball Tilt

While practicing basketball in the gymnasium last Thursday, Katherine Martin '34, fell and seriously wrenched her ankle. Although she will be forced to use crutches for several weeks, she is attending her classes on the campus. Mr. J. A. Wolfe, assistant metallurgist at the Reno Station of the Bureau of Mines, was called to Tempe, Arizona, on account of the death of his father on February 1st.

Gamma Phi Receives Award Of District Scholarship Prize

Alpha Gamma chapter of Gamma Phi Beta at the University of Nevada, which is one of the five chapters in province seven of this sorority, was recently awarded the scholarship cup for the chapter in the province having the highest scholastic standing for the spring semester of 1930.

At the province convention held in Reno last fall it was announced that in the future a scholarship cup would be awarded to the chapter making the highest scholastic record for the semester.

The local chapter will also receive an award of $50.00 from the Reno alumnae chapter.

The other chapter in province seven are University of Arizona, University of California, University of California in Los Angeles, and Stanford University.

Women's Rifle Team Loses To Vermont

The women's rifle team has been organized for this semester and seems to be well started on a successful season under instructor Amy Yarrington.

The Nevada team shot against the University of Vermont last week. Vermont had three 100 point and two 99 point women, winning the match by 14 points with a score of 498. Nevada made a score of 484 points. The week before last the Nevada team defeated the Keene Normal School with a score of 485 to 404. Next week Nevada meets Carnegie Tech.

The members of the Nevada team are: Amy Yarrington, Ruth Stewart, Irma Parker, Ora Lee, Blanche Radcliffe, and Frances Fuller.

Gymnasium Classes Postponed

JOE HAS LEFT US

Death laid a gentle hand on the campus of this University Sunday and called away from our ranks a real friend and noble comrade, Joe DeReemer. Joe has left this University and his many friends but he has been called to a greater and more beautiful University. He has been enrolled on the long roster by the one Great Registrar of an infinite, enlightened, and peaceful campus.

Joe has left us, but his spirit will live with us forever, and the wonderful example set by him of a clean and beneficial earthly existence, halted on the verge of entering the broad avenues of life, will guide us in basing our futures on what Joe's would have been.

He has gone on a long visit. We will miss him now that he is gone, and we'll always remember him. But his destiny is a fairer and larger University. There he will live and laugh again with his fellow students who have gone before to welcome him to the world of no sorrow, no worry, and no care. And we are going to visit Joe some day and be with him again when we too enroll in that great University far beyond.

TOO MANY GROUPS

Over-organization of the Nevada campus has long been a cry of many and the same condition continues to exist from year to year. The campus has been shown to be too small to successfully carry the huge number of organizations with which it is afflicted. It has also been pointed out that many of the members of one group are the same members of another group. Thus among both men and women there is a surprising duplication of membership in activities and campus organizations.

Aside from Greek letter fraternities there are service clubs, honorary groups, bodies which assist the A.S.U.N., departmental clubs, committees, and unclassified organizations. Many of these have taken in so many members that they have become unwieldy. Thus interest is lost and the organizations soon deteriorate.

The main objection is, however, that too many organizations have a duplication of purpose, and duty, and consequently a duplication of membership. Thus many students are taken away from their studies because they engage too enthusiastically in everything that comes along, and while they harm themselves, they keep others from taking part.

The Executive Committee has sole power to dissolve organizations should they become inactive or detrimental to the University. And organizations which have fallen into a slump recently will have the eyes of the committee carefully following their actions for some time.

TO SHORTEN REGISTRATION

A method of shortening registration at the beginning of each semester at the University is a topic which is being considered at the present time by registration authorities. The present system, which has proved quite adequate in the past, has been found wanting by both students and faculty members with the increased enrollment in recent years.

Pre-registration, as inaugurated last year, has done wonders toward facilitating one phase of registration for those students who have been here before, but the new student is yet left in a maze of long standing lines, fruitlessly searching for signatures and later inconvenient and embarrassing mix-ups in courses.

Without a doubt the main objection to the present system is that students are forced to lose much time, and although several new plans have been suggested to eliminate this shortcoming, flaws seem to creep in. At present the loss of time to students registering is evident in several places. Lining up to wait for the original enrollment certificate causes delay. Similar lineups in both the registrar's and comptroller's offices also cause delay. Searching for signatures from the various instructors takes more time than necessary, and students who are unable to determine their correct schedules are forced to lose a great portion of the two days allowed for registration.

Thus the adoption of a new system or a renovation of the old are looked upon as possibilities in the near future in doing away with the plan of registration which at present has become somewhat antiquated and complicated.

HERE AND THERE

A co-ed at Colorado University was treated to a ducking in the lake recently when law students of the institution caught her in the act of walking up the steps of the law school.

Now that final exams are at hand the Purdue Exponent is undertaking an extensive campaign to discourage cribbing by featuring prominently in its columns the various penalties that may be inflicted for dishonesty.

Harry Elmer Barnes, Ph. D., a well known college professor and writer, in a recent review in the New York Telegram on Abraham Flener's book on "Universities," praises the modern college in preference to the older classical schools.

Women play football at the Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Tex. To be eligible, the co-eds must have ten practices to their credit. Every morning would-be grid stars can be seen hard at it in front of the gym.

Eighty-one students from foreign countries and the mainland of the United States are registered as regular students at the University of Hawaii this semester, according to figures published in the faculty-student directory last week. This is an increase of 20 over figures for last year, released in June, 1930. Ten foreign countries and 24 states are represented.

All freshmen at Ohio State who are on probation, are required to take a six hour course in "How to Study."

The faculty of the University of Rochester recently voted to do away with all 8 o'clock classes, having decided it was better for the students to sleep in their own rooms instead of the classrooms.

DePauw University recently devised a new way to raise money for the maintenance of its band. Twenty automatic candy machines have been placed in various college buildings.

Co-eds are more absent-minded than men students at Boston University, according to the janitor.

Freshmen who have automobiles at Washington and Jefferson may be deprived of the privilege of operating their cars if their marks are not above par.

MASONIC TEMPLE BUILDING

Yours Truly

To the Editor:
The purpose of the University of Nevada Sagebrush is, according to a statement made by the editor himself, to print all the current news of the campus as accurately as possible.

Last week, Miss Helen Price, the traveling secretary of the National Student Y.W.C.A., was a visitor on the campus for four days, adding the Nevada student Y.W.C.A. with suggestions and criticisms of the activity it is carrying on. The Sagebrush did not see fit to run down a story on her visit so I took it on myself, having worked on the Sagebrush for three and one-quarter years, to write a story of part of her visit and for some unnecessary reason the story was not used. It was organized and to make the venture reach more people who might be interested in such a group good publicity was necessary and it can be obtained in more ways than one.

I can see Mud Balls next week with a nice juicy paragraph — "Tomlin is mad because her lousy story which nobody asked her to write was not used and anyway it was in too late." All I can say is, "Hurray for the efficiency of the Sagebrush and its estimate of news values."

Yours very truly,
CLARA CORNELL TOMLIN.

We are sorry that the little lady feels in the least slighted, but we are sure that if she had been able to see the huge amount of copy which had to be left on the hook last Thursday night she would have seen the reason why her story, greatly appreciated to be sure, had to be left out. This one story had good possibilities as a hold-over, and it is being run. Even a story from the president's office had to be left out because of the shortage of space on Thursday night.—the Editor.

Dear Editor:
It looks as though the Sagers are coming up out of their temporary slump of the few weeks past. Last week they threw a rally that would gladden the heart of the poorest-spirited Nevanian. The entire campus is looking forward to more such activities and undoubtedly will give its support to anything worth while.

A.S.U.N. meetings are not advertised as they have been in the past. Perhaps a little work in there might strengthen the claim of the Sagers that they are the peppiest group on the campus.

Yours truly,
NEVADA NED.

MUD BALLS

By ANANIAS

We wonder just what effect the election last Wednesday will have on the general A.S.U.N. one coming up in a couple of months. At least those that were stuck to their combs, whether there were very many or not. Neither side could have made a mistake, however, for both Davis and Sidwell are capable and broad-minded. For once an office was contested by two worthy men.

Following the noble precedent set by her sisters, Imogene Walker was the first of the new pledges to garner a pin. The unlucky purchaser of the five pound box of chocolates, Al Peterson, S.A.E., produced the forfeit the day after.

The saying around the campus for the past week has been—"I'll meet you in Dean Haseman's office"—Sagers, take note.

News Bureau heads have come into special prominence over the last two semesters. Figure this out for yourself. Before this, the bureau wasn't noticed on the campus, and managers had to go out with a lasso and rope their helpers into the fold. Now, however, due to art work, personality, and what not, there are droves of tryees about the doors each day.

Possibly this prominence is caused by the two managers getting into such prominence with a certain board which has much to say about how the campus in general shall govern its conduct.

Herbert, Desert Wolf editor, takes Lister's place as big love man for the week. A Delta Gamma from Arizona is the victim, and baby talk appears to be much in evidence.

Now that Bushy Graham and Hopple Kigsby have decided to quit saving money and move back into the fraternity house, maybe the colony will be able to get a rest.

Oscar Bryan waxed heavy the other night and got himself a date for a far distant dance. Can it be that the former Big Campus Sheik wishes to make a comeback? Also, an heretofore unheard of quantity, in the form of the junior class treasurer, Jackson by name, will make himself prominent if reports to the contrary have anything to do with the forecast of future events.

The Desert Wolf will probably vie with the Artemisia in coming out late this year. Smith hopes to have his yearly chronicle complete by the middle of July, while Byer and Herbert say that their humorous publication might be just a bit behind the February deadline which has been set.

A prominent student on the campus, Julian Epperson by name, was seen fishing about in grecian urns and gutters the other day, obviously snipe hunting. When questioned, he said he was looking for the most popular brand of smoke to write a feature about popular cigarettes for one of Higgle's classes, but the authenticity of this statement is much to be doubted.

"How much is two and two?"

"Three." "Why?" the prof will snap back at you? Now, if the student wishes to stay in class for any reason whatsoever, he must watch his step.

For example, suppose he should flash back at the prof: "Oh the hell with it." The prof, being a prof will say, "Well, so that's the way you regard the course. Get out if you don't like it."

Or if the student should say, "I don't know," the prof would say: "What, no ideas? Where are you're brains? If you can't think, get out." And if the student should try to give a reason for his answers (I've known students who try to bluff), the prof will call him an anarchist for wasting the class time and kick him out. Or if one answers correctly, the professor would feel that he was trying to put one over on him and out you go.

So just try changing the subject. Reply thusly—"Once I kicked a bum out of my house, and he bounced twice." The prof's face will light up.

"Ha," he says, "that's nothing. When I was just learning to kick, they bounced at least three times. And in less than a year, I added a few more bounces by using Fisher's Punnett's Strength Salve." (Pd. adv't.)

"Well," you must answer, "I suppose you did have genius, but your training must have been intensive."

"Perhaps," he will admit, "but then consider my achievements. How many people are able, even after a lifetime of training, to kick someone downstairs and by a simple swist of the ankle, have them turn corners at landings?" "Yes, but were you ever able to cultivate a boomerang twist, so that they will come back again?"

The prof will say, "Hell, I've had them go out, come in and go out again."

But the question is, which is the lesser of the two evils; to be kicked out, or to stay in the full house? All leading up to an ideal classroom: No profs, and round table discussion on anything but studies, or better yet, let's not have any classes.

Out of Bounds

A FLAG FLIES high above the campus on the flag pole in front of Morrill Hall, but it is about the most distressful, dilapidated flag which was ever to extend its length to the breeze. This poor old flag, long the possession of the University of Nevada, has outlived its days of usefulness and no longer should be allowed to take its majestic place at the top of the flag pole. The top part of the flag has been destroyed completely by the wind and the rest of it is badly torn and shredded. Yet it waves its crippled self into the sky as a friendly gust of wind removes its folds. This decrepit flag was allowed to assume its position even on Lincoln's birthday, the one day at least on which a beautiful, new flag should announce that a college campus is commemorating the birthday of a great American.

JUST HOW MUCH work the historian of the associated students has been doing since her appointment last semester is unknown. There is no evidence of the compiling of statistics in regard to campus activities and traditions in the A.S.U.N. office, and the file of publications which is asked for in the constitution is not seen. The office of A.S.U.N. historian was provided so that when publications or any one interested may want to find data and history filed away he may do so without long hours of searching through files. It has been a long time since such an adequate service to the students has been performed and the work was well started last year. However, it is not known whether the work is being carried on this semester.

Pack Ruins Fresno Chances for Cup In Two Fast Games

Bulldogs Beaten Both Nights As Wilves Hit Stride, Sink Many Hoops

NEVADA STANDS AT 500 Team Offsets Five Losses By Thrilling Defeat Of League Leaders

Drubbing the highly touted Fresno State Teachers' basketball quintet to the tune of 31-27 and 29-19, the University of Nevada Wolves ruined the Bulldogs' chances for the Far Western conference championship last week-end in the local gymnasium.

Six Wins This Season
By this double win Coach Doc Martie's charges have a record of six games won this season to offset five losses. Also Nevada's rating in conference circles was raised considerably due to its handling of the Fresno aggregation which heretofore had been reckoned as possible conference champions.

The first game of the series was all Nevada from the opening whistle, when the new Nevada combination, Dakin and Fulmis, forwards; Weaver, center; Griffin and Bankofer, guards, clicked to advantage, keeping the Fresno players from scoring and running up a lead of 29-6 at half time. Dakin and Weaver starred during this period for the Pack making near impossible shots at the bucket for points.

Fresno Picks Up
In the second half Nevada got away to a flying start and ran the score up to 25-6 before the Fresno team became organized. Then the Bulldogs, led by Captain Walt Senior and Moore, fled by sophomore forward, sank five field goals in succession following up with four fouled shots to make the score 25-20 with two minutes to play.

At this stage of the game John Griffin was taken out of the game on fouls, his place being taken by Johnson. Fulmis and Johnson accounted for six points for Nevada, bringing the score to 31-20. Moore of the Bulldogs started a barrage of shots at the hoop, registering three field goals and Senior made a foul shot, making the score 31-27 at the final whistle.

Second Game Told
The second game of the series was played Saturday night, featuring a close guarding combination by both quintets. Due mainly to the sensational one-handed shots by Moore, Fresno led 11-9 at half time. In the second half Nevada fought a winning battle, emerging with a 20-19 win when Freltag made a spectacular shot from the double lines with half a minute to play.

Martie's revamped line-up with Dakin and Fulmis as key men, demonstrated to the followers of the Pack that they were a hard-fighting aggregation which is capable of handling the loss of the two important series to Cal. Aggies and San Jose State.

Erb May Get Job Helping Bill Ingram
Former U. N. Coach To Assist Mentor Of California Bears Next Season

Charley Erb, head coach of the Wolf Pack in 1924, has been named assistant to Navy Bill Ingram, who will coach the University of California Bears for the next year at least, according to information appearing in the "Daily California" of last Tuesday. The California said that the information was not official.

In the event that Erb really is named assistant coach he will be returning to the great pastime after an absence of two seasons. He was coach at the University of Idaho in '27-'28 and '29, and in his first year there tied for the conference championship.

Charley Erb, one of the smartest field generals ever turned out by Andy Smith, was a quarterback on the California "wonder teams" for three years. Following his graduation he held a coaching position at Wodland high school in California, and then came to Nevada, where he stayed for one year, taking the place left vacant by the resignation of Corky Courtwright.

Scientific Work Done By U. of Nevada Grad

Recent technical publications received by the Electrical Engineering Department have contained an advertisement of a small vacuum tube capable of measuring extremely minute currents of electricity. The ad was of especial interest to the University of Nevada, for Dr. Lloyd Smith, a graduate of the Electrical Engineering School with the class of 1925, took an important part in the development of the tube while on the research staff of the General Electric Company at Schenectady, New York.

This tube can be used in conjunction with a photo electric tube, which is used to measure light from stars, centuries of light years away. The amount of current taken by this tube bears the same relation to the current taken by a fifty watt incandescent lamp that two drops of water bears to the water passing over Niagara Falls in one year.

Reno Men Prepare Work On Metallurgy

At the meeting of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers to be held in New York February 16-19, a paper prepared by Mr. E. S. Leaver and Mr. J. A. Wolfe of the Reno station of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, will be read. The paper is entitled, "Flotation of Minor Gold in Large-Scale Copper Concentrators."

The experiments discussed in this paper indicate that there is a ten million gold value in ores of the United States now being concentrated for copper. The gold value is usually under $1 per ton which accounts for the present large gold loss. A large percentage of this loss may be recovered through the use of this new process.

BRUSH SPORTS

Sport Sallies

By SPEC-TATER HARDEST BLOW

The grim referee of death stalked on the Nevada campus last Sunday morning and blew his whistle to end the great game of life for Joe DeReemer, one of Nevada's stellar athletes. It is the first instance to the reaper's call for any Nevada captain for some years and the blow struck with telling effect into the ranks of the Pack.

DeReemer's play was at all times an inspiration to his team mates. He followed training rules ardently and faithfully, and was a real captain in every sense of the word. But more than this, and the best that can be said of anyone—Joe was a regular fellow and a MAN.

All efforts to honor the memory of the departed captain will be futile. Cancellation of social functions for this purpose will be but half successful, and all utterance will wind up in these few simple words—"Joe was a good boy."

BOXERS BEATEN

Nevada's boxers took rather a trouncing at Stanford, but showed much promise for the future. They meet St. Mary's here next week, and may reverse the tables if the experience of a kayo has taught the men who took the sleeping powders anything. The men all showed plenty of stuff, but seemed to be battling in the wrong weight divisions.

This is especially true of Devine and Horton. These two young men stepped up just one notch apiece, and fought heavier men than they ever should have. And Spud Harris weakened himself so much in trying to train down to the welter division from the middleweight that he almost lost his fight, and came out on top because of his gameness and his terrific punch, which he was able to land occasionally.

TRACK MEN WORK

Philbrook's tracksters have been slowly rounding into condition, and will be ready for a fair track season by next March or April. Arthur looks like a good bet in the hurdles again, and it is understood that Frank O'Brien might be able to turn in a few points here and there during the season. He hurdles, vaults, runs, jumps—or what have you?

THIS RARE NEVADA AIR

The Foghorn from St. Ignatius said it was tired of this old altitude gag. So is St. Mary's. Every time a Coast team comes up here and goes home minus the bacon, some sports writer, on some Coast paper, school or not, makes no difference, inserts the following phrase in his story—"The (Blank) team suffered greatly in the high altitude, and the (Blank) backs could not show their usual form in the rare Nevada air."

Surprising, isn't it, that Nevada teams turn in as many, if not more, wins on foreign fields than they do on the home court?

U. of S.F. Accepts Game Cancellation

Wires of condolence and regret have been received from members of the Far Western conference, of which Nevada is a member, including San Jose State Teachers College, Fresno State Teachers College and the California Aggies, expressing their deep regret over Nevada's loss of its basketball leader and true sportsman.

In a wire received from Coach Jimmy Needles of the University of San Francisco he also accepted the cancellation of the basketball games that were scheduled between the University of San Francisco and the University of Nevada for this week-end.

Round Robin Tournament Will Decide Interfraternity Championship

A definite decision to have an interfraternity baseball tournament this spring was arrived at last Monday afternoon by the interfraternity council. This is the only competition between the different fraternities that will be held this year, according to a ruling made by Dr. J. E. Martie, head of the physical education department for men. No definite date was set for the tournament, but games will begin about the middle of March. The tournament will be held on a round robin basis in two divisions, and the winner of each division will play a series of games to determine the championship.

Each house will be assessed approximately $30 in order to pay for the balls and the cup. The cup will be one of good quality and will cost around $75.00.

A great deal of enthusiasm has been shown by all of the fraternities and every house has high hopes of being the proud possessor of the cup.

Conference Hoop Ratings Given As Season Nears End

San Jose, Cal. Aggies Now Are Tied for Championship Honors

With the University of Nevada's defeat of Fresno State College last week the Far Western conference basketball conflict has now resolved itself into a hand-to-hand skirmish between the California Aggie and San Jose. These two teams will meet in a two-game series at the end of this week, which will decide the championship.

Two More Games
The University of Nevada has but two remaining conference games, both of which are against the College of Pacific. Nevada is given a slight edge over the Pacific boys, as Fresno State defeated them and Nevada in turn defeated Fresno State.

The Wolves have not had a very successful conference season, due to the loss of many stellar players early in the year. They have won four games, two from Fresno and two from Chico, and they lost four, two to the California Aggies and two to San Jose State. This leaves the Wolf Pack with a .500 standing.

Wins Out of Conference
Outside of the Far Western conference race Nevada did very well by dividing honors in two games with the strong University of California basketesters and then by taking the hoopsters from the University of Montana into camp.

Interest Increases In Intramural Golf

With the increasing number of University of Nevada students making daily rounds at the Reno Golf Club comes the possibility of an intramural golf tournament.

No definite date has been set for such a contest, but it is very likely to be held about the middle of March. Although the course is a little rough at present, due to the recent storms, several good scores were turned in last week and as soon as the course becomes green better scores are expected.

Tournament To Be Held March 4 to 7

Open To All The High School Basketball Teams In The State

The Block N Society has completed plans for the annual interscholastic basketball tournament, which it is sponsoring March 4, 5, 6, and 7. Due to suggestions made by the honorary board of visitors which met on the campus last spring, the tournament will be open to all state high school teams. The Block N Society did away with the zone system of team selection when high school representatives advised that it was unsatisfactory.

The fraternities and Lincoln Hall have agreed to cooperate with the Block N Society in affording rooming facilities for the contestants. The teams will be given their meals at the University dining hall, the Block N canteen for nine men and a coach. A free throw contest will be sponsored on one of the tournament days.

Two Fast Fighters Aspire For Titles In Oregon Bouts

Harris and Rusk Compete With Best Pacific Coast Amateurs

To exchange fistcuffs with the very best amateur pugilists on the Pacific Coast, two members of the University of Nevada boxing team, accompanied by Coach Richard "Ted" Wallace, left Reno last Wednesday morning and arrived in Portland, Oregon, Thursday morning, where they are participating in the Pacific Amateur Athletic association's tournament, which is being held today and tomorrow. These aspirants of titles are Wally Rusk, lightweight, and Robert "Spud" Harris, middleweight.

Competition Keen
The P.A.A. championship bouts are held annually by the Multnomah Athletic Club of Portland. The best amateur boxers of all weights on the Pacific Coast have been invited to take part in these contests, so the competition will be very thick.

Harris holds the middleweight championship of the Far Western Amateur association and he is one of the favorites to win in his weight. Rusk has not had quite as much experience but he is very fast and shifty and has lost but one fight in two seasons.

They will return to Reno next Thursday morning.

All-American Track Honors Conferred On Ken Robinson

Kenneth Robinson, former student at the University of Nevada, a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity and track captain for 1930, was one of the several men who recently received a place on the National College Athletic Association Track and Field Rules Honor Roll of college track and field athletes.

Robinson's time for the 300 yard dash was 21.3 seconds, and for the 100 yard dash, 9.7 seconds. There were 66 colleges represented on the honor roll for 1930.

Robinson, who was at once time known as one of the greatest sprinters in the United States, is now a member of the Los Angeles Athletic School and is sprinting with four of the fastest men in the United States, Frank Wykoff, George Simpson, Charles Paddock and Hector Dyer, who have all held world's records for the 100 yard dash.

The members of the Track and Field Rules committee were said to have exercised care and caution in giving recognition to records which were such to entitle the maker of the record to a place on the honor roll.

Pi Beta Phi Crawl Will Be Next Week

Ray Hackett's Orchestra Will Furnish Music For Informal Dance

"Ten cents a dance" should be the theme song of the annual Pi Beta Phi Crawl, to be given at the Twentieth Century Club February 21, for that is the charge to be made for each "struggle."

Ray Hackett's orchestra will furnish the music for the "crawl" which will begin promptly at 9:30, after the end of the basketball game scheduled for that date.

Everyone has been invited to attend, with or without dates, according to individual preferences. Stags, male or female, will be as welcome as couples.

The committee in charge of the affair is composed of Farrell Smithson, chairman; Ann Bartlett, and Helen Olmstead.

The dance will be informal.

Glee Clubs to Sing 'Carmen' at Concert

Spring Concert to Feature Orchestra and Glee Members

"Carmen" in concert form will be presented by the glee clubs at the Spring Concert this year.

In this feature there will not be acting or scenery although Mrs. Theodore Post will probably sing in the role of Carmen. The well-known Toreador song will also be included in the songs to be sung by the glee club, accompanied by the University-Community Orchestra.

"Carmen" however, will be just the last third of the program, which will be made up of other orchestra and glee club numbers. The place for the concert is not certain, but Professor T. H. Post, music instructor, stated that it would probably be in the auditorium.

The glee clubs are also planning to go to Carson City some time in March. They made this trip successfully last year, according to Professor Post.

The Only Cleaning Plant in Nevada Belonging to the

The Truth About Price Bargaining in the Dry Cleaning Industry

EVERYTHING you purchase is obtained with a money consideration . . . AT A PRICE. There are three fundamentals which govern this price, namely . . . The cost to produce, the selling cost, and a fair net profit. Add these three together, and you have the sum which you are expected to pay for a given commodity.

There are many factors such as season, weather, fashion, bankruptcy, fire and over-stocking, which often times result in genuine "bargains" that are not predetermined at the time are articles were manufactured.

"BARGAINING" is not in the category of the dry cleaning business because there are certain fundamental processes which must be done through the aid of well trained and skilled operators in work that quality workmanship may result. In truth, it is a highly specialized business.

To deviate from those routines essential to accomplish the thorough cleansing of garments and household effects, would mean to sacrifice Quality. Each step in the process of dry cleaning involves a fixed cost, and "Bargaining" means reducing something from its natural level to an unnatural one! Cheap prices may therefore be offered you because costs have been forced to an abnormally low level, perhaps accomplished by eliminating a process . . . by the use of untrained labor . . . by supplanting good materials with poor . . . all of which actually gives you less value for your money.

There has never been a place for superficial methods in Society's sanitary and modernly equipped plant. Quality begets confidence, and confidence begets patronage. Society has never violated the trust placed in them by this community. It has never been guilty of "Price Juggling." Quality governs the cost, and price determines the quality you receive.
