

Campus Secrets Revealed In Scandal Show

D.A.E. Pledges Disclose Gossip, Scandal, Private Lives, Love Affairs

Having the intimate and hitherto hushed-up, undisclosed details in the life of the campus play girls and boys, the pledges of Delta Alpha Epsilon presented the annual Scandal Show in the Education auditorium this morning.

Divided into a Shakespearian burlesque and six other scenes, the Scandal Show made public the real "dirty" which has heretofore been merely rumored about.

Love Affairs Decided Selected for publicity was the Student Affairs Committee, which held a court of inquiry into the private lives of campus celebrities. The case of Frances Barnes versus Madariaga, a charge of seduction, was thrown out of court because of insufficient evidence.

Due to the unrelenting fire of young love, the charge against Jack Hill and Abigail Hackett of being a public nuisance was dismissed. The charge against Kappa Alpha Theta for trespassing on the premises of Gamma Phi Beta and Delta Delta Delta, naming Frances Smith, Mary McCulloch, and Mary Williams as correspondents, was referred to a higher court for a decision.

The Sagers were brought into court for the wholesale murder with intent to kill twenty-seven cases of inexperienced punch without a permit. Julian Epperson and George Vargas argued the case, which ended in a walkout by the former News Bureau head.

Scene five represented a pleasure palace operated by Hostess Hannah Peterson, frequented by Bryce Kincaid, Bud Davenport, Howard Rigsby, Art Graham, Lucille Dromick, Josephine Knowles, Lydia Grandi, and Director William Kelly Colman, revealing their personal habits.

The widely publicized special train to U. C. last fall was the scene of a "bull session" airing the private lives of young lovers, scandal, and escapades.

Southern Tragedy Enacted A high finance skit in which Bud Davenport was the embarrassed principal drew appreciative laughter from the audience.

Amaziah Adams, Norman Coughlin, and Bernard Hartung, portrayed by the pledges, enacted a Southern tragedy.

The customary Shakespeare burlesque was adapted from a famous scene in "Macbeth" and featured a dance of the witches around a smirking cauldron into which were thrown the "prime abominations" on the Hill.

is Annual Event The Scandal Show is an annual event presented by the pledges of Delta Alpha Epsilon, honorary English society for women, as part of their requirement for initiation.

The pledges are: Mrs. Ina Angus, Marjorie Myles, Marion Stone, Mary Trudell, Elizabeth Wallace, Helen Olmstead, Helen Peterson, Mildred De Witt, Blanche Lucas, Fredericka Lipp, Hannah, Ruth Bixby, Blythe Bulmer, Isabelle Matley, Rose Sala, Elsie Seaborn.

Phi Kappa Phi Initiates Ten

Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholarship society, initiated ten members at services held Friday in the Home Economics rooms.

The new members, who were elected last semester, are: Mrs. M. J. Webster, Mrs. Ina E. Angus, Elizabeth Johnston, Cecelia Hawkins, Lois Carman, Flora Weed, Parale Smithson, Jack Thurston, Marvin Humphrey, Francis Headley. The initiates were presented by the heads of the departments in which they are majoring.

Higginbotham Made President A. L. Higginbotham, journalism professor, was elected president for the coming year.

Prof. Jay A. Carpenter, retiring president, discussed the value of Phi Kappa Phi membership in life.

Western Number Of Wolf Appears

With a brilliant cover of yellow and black, the Desert Wolf made its appearance on the campus Thursday morning. As the editor, Bill Herbert, announced, the theme was Western and the publication carried out this idea all through.

Clark's Ballad Featured The main feature was the "Ballad of Bloody Bill," written especially for the magazine by Walt Clark. It revived shades of Dan McGrew, and was truly Western.

The art work by Hoppie Rigsby, Betty Anderson, and John Mariani, was really good, and typical of the general scheme.

Unemployed Men Wander Aimlessly As Women Work

Overrunning the campus with aimless wanderings has been the only diversion of the men members of the Sagebrush staff this week. The beloved office, and even the editor's sacred den, has been overflowing with feminine aspiring journalists. It is a pretty good sized undertaking for the women to handle the whole publication of the eight page issue, including the business end and get the issue out in time.

Managing Staff Named Lois Carman, women's editor, filled the position of editor-in-chief of the paper. Margaret Ede was assistant editor and kept a close touch on the stories assigned, while Frances Armbruster was night editor, handling the heads. Kathryn McCormack, Margaret Fuller and Luc King were news editors.

The business staff was headed by Marion Stone and Adelyn Rotholtz, who were assisted by six or seven able members.

Issue Is Campus Tradition The editing of a woman's issue once a year has become a campus tradition. It is amusing to see the "big shots" like Dondero, Jackson, and Sheerin wandering around "officeless."

We would just like to know if they really broke down and gave the profs a break by studying this week. The answer?—Never mind, we women mustn't get too inquisitive!

Fraternity Court Absorbs Work Of Student Affairs

Member of Interfrat. Council Proposes New Mode Of Penalty

Feeling the need for a better system of handling cases of misconduct on the part of fraternity men, the interfraternity council has originated a student court wherein all cases against such men will be handled and penalties will be meted out.

Reports Anonymous The court consists of the head of each fraternity and an alumnus of each house as an additional member. All cases of misconduct on the part of any fraternity man may be reported in writing by a member of the court, anonymously, to the chairman of the court. Any student wishing to report cases of misconduct which would reflect on the University may turn the names and the charges into a member of the council. The chairman then appoints a committee of three to investigate these charges.

Procedure Decided If the committee finds the charges can be substantiated it so reports to the chairman who calls a meeting of the court and the man or men concerned are on trial on these charges. No witnesses are compelled to appear on these charges. No witnesses are compelled to appear in the trial but may do so if they desire. After the trial the court decides whether the accused one is guilty or not. If guilty the court imposes a penalty appropriate to the offense. If the guilty one fails to abide by the penalty imposed the case and all the facts will then be turned over to the Student Affairs Committee for official action.

This idea is the outgrowth of a discussion originating in the interfraternity council and was proposed by one of its members. Because of this court the Student Affairs Committee will handle no cases of fraternity men. If this committee hears of any misconduct on the part of fraternity men, they may turn such cases over to the interfraternity council, as an organization, may be tried before this court if it is found to have done anything that will discredit fraternities or the University of Nevada.

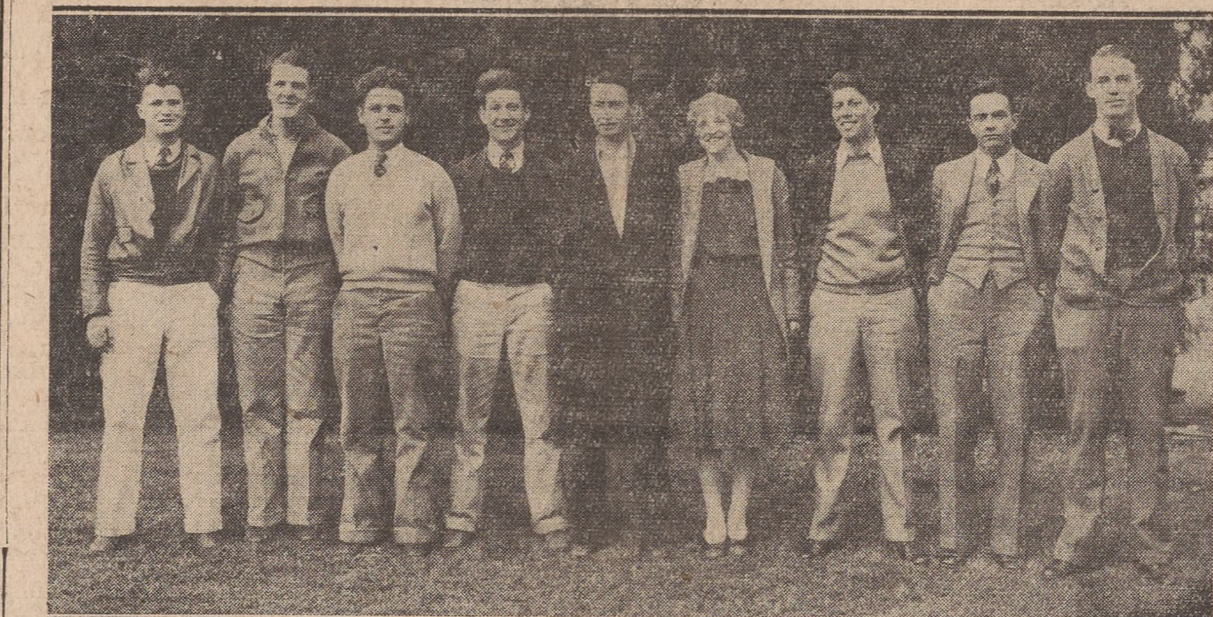

All the fraternities on this campus discussed the court before it was officially recognized and all agreed to enter into it. Because fraternities have been criticized all over the United States as being public nuisances, the court hopes to prove that just punishment will be given in all cases and there will be no reflection on this institution by men's groups as such.

Graduate Composes Music For Festival

Advancing rapidly, the program for the annual Spring Festival to be given April 10, during the W. A. A. Convention, promises to be one of the most effective ever produced. William Colman's class in stage production is assisting the P. E. Department in making the settings as artistic as possible, and Miss Jessie Pope's class in costuming is assisting in designing the costumes, which have been definitely planned for all but one group, many being already completed. Old costumes which are being used almost entirely are being remodelled, the color having been taken out and the materials dyed.

The composer of the music for the first half of the Festival is a Nevada graduate and former faculty member, Miss Dorothy Crandall, who will be present at the Festival. She is at present music instructor at the Santa Maria Junior College and High School.

MACKAY DAY COMMITTEE

Y.W.C.A. Sponsors Extensive Pageant On Palm Sunday

Mackay Quad Will Be Scene Of Fifth Easter Play Of Crucifixion

For the fifth consecutive time the Y.W.C.A. is sponsoring the Easter Pageant, which is to take place on Palm Sunday, March 29 at 9 o'clock on the Mackay quad. The pageant is being put on by the campus Y.W.C.A., the Girl Reserves, the University of Nevada Glee clubs, the University-Community orchestra, and the Horn quartet.

A larger and more extensive pageant is being scheduled for this year and, due to the change in date from Easter Sunday to Palm Sunday, a larger crowd is expected. In the past years many of the student have been unable to attend, being out of town, and general church services have limited the crowd.

Philip deLongchamps, who will read the pageant, is to be the Voice for the fourth time in the five years in which the pageant has been given. The part of Sir Galahad will be taken by Denise Denson; the Angel will be played by Marion Nichols; the Mother, Gwen Pierson; Trumpeter, Helen Fulton; Hermit, Grace Semenza; Temptress, Beatrice Figow; and the Woman, Dorothy Johns.

The Knights are to be Nell Lozano, and Mary Dickson; the pages, Aldine Branch, Naudine Murphy, Janet Parishi, and Milka Chiatovich; the virtues, Anne Adams, Marion Metzger, Billie Moran, Peggy Gill, Sarah Swete, Thelma Koch, Barbara Johnstone, Rosylene Martinez, and Alice Sauer. In addition there will be fifty girls who play the roles of atmosphere; these will be dressed in colorful costumes and will be placed in and about the shrubbery.

Special music will be furnished by the University music organizations, under the direction of Professor Theodore Post. There will be a quartet of horns, played by Fred Nagel, Robert Palmer, Willard Van Doren, and Don Butler. There will also be numbers by the University-Community orchestra of thirty-five pieces, and chorus numbers by the University-Community orchestra. Dorothy Post, soprano, will be the soloist, with Leota Maestretti playing violin obligato, and Mary Adeline Thompson as piano accompanist. Helen Steinhilber is chairman of the music committee.

The musical numbers are to be as follows: "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee," by Bach (horn quartet); march music, "By the Sea," by Schubert (orchestra); "Prayer of Thanksgiving" (chorus and orchestra); "Ave Maria," Schubert (solo); "Response," arranged by Post (chorus); and "Pilgrim's Chorus," from Tannhauser, by Wagner (chorus and orchestra).

Happy Tomlin is chairman of the Y.W.C.A. pageant committee, and Mrs. Joan Southward is the dramatic director and general supervisor.

Queening In Libe To Be Punished By Vigilance Officers

Freshmen men who have been queening in the library, appearing on the campus without their dinks, cutting campus and breaking other traditions, will receive their punishment next week in the form of a paddling.

List Given Those listed are William Best, David Clark, Evan Fryer, Dan Harvey, Paul Hartman, Fred McElroy, Merle Acheson, Bryce Kincaid, Charles Whittehead, and Fred Wayman.

Chris Gansburg, chairman of the Soph Vigilance Committee, declares that freshmen will be carefully watched in the future, and warns them to obey all traditions.

Appropriations amounting to the sum of $20,000 were given to the State Bureau of Mines by a bill which passed the legislature in the last heated hours of the final session. This amount exceeds former appropriations by $10,000. The Bureau of Mines in conjunction with the Mackay School of Mines, will make every effort to expand the mining industry in the state.

Bob Long Critically Ill From Dangerous Throat Infection

Diagnosis Finds Streptococcus Case In Serious Condition

Bob Long, sophomore student, is critically ill in the University Hospital from streptococcus, dangerous throat infection, the origin of which is not known. Little hope was held for Long early this morning, but physicians were cheered when a turn for the better was taken about noon.

Long became ill Monday evening, but the seriousness of the infection was not realized until yesterday at 3 a.m. when the diagnosis was completed.

His mother, Mrs. J. C. Long from Los Angeles, and his brother Edward flew to Reno yesterday by airplane, when the seriousness of the condition was determined.

Doctors Dwight Hood and Earle Creveling have been attending the case regularly, calling into consultation Doctors S. K. Morrison and J. Larue Robinson. Two consultations were held today, and hope is still held for the recovery of the patient.

Medical Ethics For Pre-Medicos

At a regular meeting of the pre-medical students March 11th, Dr. Horace Brown spoke on "The Ethics of Medicine." His topic concerned the duties of a doctor toward the community, toward other doctors, and toward himself. It also concerned the duty of the community toward a doctor.

Dr. Brown is a resident of Reno and is one of its leading surgeons.

Election News Is Forecast For Brush By "Good-Guesser"

Independent Combine Puzzles Those of S.A.E. And Sigma Nu

(Special to the Sagebrush) Dear Editor: General Good-Guesser, reporting from the front line of battle, announces the position taken by the enemy forces and the preparations for maneuvers made by the Allies.

It seems a certainty that the battalion is split into three different factions popularly known as the S.A.E. combine, the Sigma Nu combine, and the Independents according to the tong leaders. As far as number goes the Independents have a strong lead on the other two, having about 450 votes, which is more than the other two together. But the trouble is, once an Independent is always an Independent, which little fact makes organization difficult, according to Walt Clark, manager of the group, not so optimistic about the results of the frequent meetings held in the last two weeks. However this majority group does not plan to run a leader in the present campaign but has both other combines thoroughly baffled about which one they are backing.

Eddie Cantlon is the figure-head of the ever-victorious combine, including notably S.A.E., A.T.O., Lambda Chi, Delta Delta Delta, and Gamma Phi. They count on an even break from the Thetas, who to date have refused to enter either combine. The aggressive Billy Woodburn is campaign manager, and is well qualified, having had considerable experience in this line already this year managing his own affairs in the treasury. Cantlon's merits advanced by his backers are mainly that he is a member of a lucky political group and a brother of Vernon Cantlon, former A.S.U.N. president. Then, too, he is just awfully friendly about waving to people clear across the campus. However, aren't we all?

Wilson Will Run Fred Wilson, prominent Sigma Nu politician, whose familiar name figures on the "also ran" list of every class election, is the adored leader of Sigma Nu, Phi Sigma Kappa, Delta Sig, and will also receive a number of Theta votes. The Beta Sigma Omicrons, who are suddenly being sought after since they went national, and the Beta Kappas are still on the fence. Campaign Manager Bob Merriman is confident about the results of this side of the battle, believing that his horse, pardon me, I mean his candidate, is easily a three to one favorite, and will get all the unattached feminine votes, due to his great reputation in this field.

About the rest of the battle, dear editor, we are more indefinite, but it is rumored the 450 Independents, as well as 200 other votes are behind Flou Trevitt for vice-president or secretary, which ever office her highness chooses (continued on page two)

Eighteenth Mackay Day To Be Staged Tomorrow

MACKAY DANCE CANCELLED

In respect to Gerald Reddy, who passed away last night, all arrangements for the Mackay Day dance tomorrow night have been cancelled, according to Al Davis and Edwin Cantlon, who were the committee in charge of the affair, which was to have culminated the celebration of the eighteenth annual Mackay Day.

Gerald Reddy Dies Of Hurts Received In Auto Accident

Peritonitis Complications Are Fatal to Senior Student

Gerald Reddy, University student and twenty-two years old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Reddy of Reno, died at 8 o'clock in a Reno hospital last night as the result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident near Wellington Sunday morning.

All hope for his recovery had been abandoned earlier in the day, when hospital attaches said he was slowly sinking. The youth's arm was amputated at the shoulder Wednesday in an effort to check the spread of a peritonitis infection.

The condition of Howard Plannery, twenty-two year old Sparks youth, who was seriously injured in the same accident, remained serious as the hospital this morning, where he has lain in a coma since the automobile in which he and Reddy were riding overturned on a loosely traveled highway.

Reddy was a senior student at the University of Nevada, and was widely known both in Sparks, where he was graduated from high school, and in Reno. He was a prominent member of his high school's football team.

His father is roadmaster for the Southern Pacific Company with headquarters at Sparks, and both he and Reddy have been active in civic affairs in the railroad city for a number of years. They recently moved to Reno.

Gerald Reddy was their youngest son. Funeral arrangements are being made by the Ross-Burke company.

Out of respect for Gerald, the campus Mackay Day dance, scheduled for tomorrow night, has been cancelled.

Three-Hour Finals May Be Given At Profs' Discretion

Faculty Club Discuss Methods Of Pre-Registration; Plans Await

Faced with the problem of giving three-hour examinations in all courses, the Faculty Club met Tuesday afternoon, and after much discussion voted down the issue, but passed another. During the last week of college each professor can, if he so desires, have an examination every recitation period which may cover all the semester's work.

Another important issue discussed was whether or not to have pre-registration. Due to the fact that it has not worked out as expected, and that it has been impossible to make a permanent registration, it was decided to discontinue it. The Faculty Registration Committee is now working out a new scheme to expedite registration but no definite plans can yet be reported.

Campus Prepares To Honor Famous Former Nevadan

General Cleanup to Start Day's Activities; Luncheon To Follow

SPEAKERS NAMED

Nominations For Student Body Officers To Be Made

Opening with a campus clean-up and closing with an informal dance in the gymnasium the celebration of the eighteenth annual Mackay Day will take place tomorrow.

Every year a day in the Spring semester is set aside for campus day on which there are no classes but only campus activities in honor of Clarence Mackay and his mother Clara Louise Mackay, benefactors of the University.

On this day there is the general clean-up at eight-thirty in the morning by all the men on the Hill. This year the activities will be centered around the baseball field, the track, the tennis courts and the borders of Manzanita Lake—a much needed correction suggested by Art Brewster.

The clean-up lasts until eleven thirty when there is the annual tree planting in honor of Mackay. This year as in the past three, the tree will be planted at the west gate of the campus near Lincoln Hall.

Luncheon at 12 A luncheon attended by all of the University will take place in the gymnasium at twelve o'clock. The speakers will include President Walter E. Clark, Dean Charles Haseman, Alumni President Joe McDonald and Walter Wilson, chairman of the Mackay Day Committee. A distinguished guest in Mr. Robert Talley will be introduced at this time.

Entertainment at the luncheon will be furnished by the Glee Club which will sing some of the new songs which are to appear in the new song book to appear in the Fall.

Awards for basketball will be given by Doc Martie, for rifle by Sergeant Hustis, Gothic N by Dora Clover, and Italic N by Harvey Dondero, Sagebrush editor.

Student Body nominations for next year will be made following the luncheon, which will probably end about two thirty.

Water Fight Abandoned The water fight begun last year will not be continued for lack of time, but the annual interfraternity track meet will take place.

The dance although neither a whistening nor a costume dance will be a so-called hard times dance in campus clothes. The committee composed of Ed Cantlon and Al Davis promises something new and different in entertainment. The tickets will be 75 cents or $1, the price to be announced tomorrow.

According to Walter Wilson, chairman of the Mackay Day Committee, this should be the best and poppiest Mackay Day so far, especially since Mackay was here last fall to renew campus acquaintance with him.

Students are all urged to attend the luncheon for which tickets are being sold in advance.

It is planned to have a loud speaker installed for the speakers but plans are not yet completed for this.

Cafe Banquet Held By Cap and Scroll

Cap and Scroll held a banquet at the Overland hotel the 19th of March. The entire meeting was spent in discussing the plans for the new and novel dinner which the organization is planning for the delegates of the W.A.A. convention. This dinner will be held April 30.

First Mackay Day Started In 1913 By Student Head

Program Enlarged To Present Size With Passage Of Years

In March, 1913, William Settlemyer, at that time president of A.S.U.N., installed and outlined plans for the first Mackay Day. He advocated the continuance of the custom in setting aside one day each year, preferably in the spring, for a general turning out of the college.

The morning of the first Mackay Day was to be taken up by work on Mackay field and track, by the men of the campus, and at noon it was planned to serve a luncheon on the quad at which all the students and faculty would gather informally. A dance in the gym finished the day's program.

Committee Named
A committee of five: Prof. Charlie Haseman, Robert Farrar, Tom Walker, William Settlemyer, and John Cazler, were the originators of Mackay Day. In later years the program was enlarged. A tree was planted on the campus in honor of Mackay. The luncheon was made a larger function with the nomination of new A.S.U.N. officers and the presentation of various awards. Afternoon entertainment was provided by the committee.

In the eighteen years that Mackay Day has been celebrated Clarence Mackay has never been here for the affair although each year committees have hoped that he might come. Last fall he paid a visit to the campus for Homecoming.

Artemisia Out Formerly
Formerly it was the custom to distribute the Artemisia on Mackay Day, but in the past few years the celebration has been put on so early in the year and there has been so many activities after that date that the book has appeared in Senior Week.

Sagers Will Elect New Members At Tuesday Meeting

The Sagers, service organization, will elect new members next Tuesday night at their regular weekly meeting. During the week they have been selling tickets for the Mackay Day Luncheon, which will be held in the gymnasium tomorrow. Judging by the sale of tickets there will be a record crowd present at the feed.

Co-operation Asked
According to Al Davis, president of the group, they will continue to round up the students for student body meetings. He also suggested that students co-operate more fully in the future so that the remaining meetings will have a greater attendance than any which have been held this year.

Fourteen Members Recently Elected To Campus Players

At a meeting held at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon House Tuesday, fourteen new members were elected to the Campus Players Society.

The new members include nearly all the participants in the recently presented play "Go Easy Babe" as well as a few who had acted in plays presented here last year.

Those elected were: May Vuleh, Hannah Peterson, Christine Crisp, Rose Mahana, Florence Frohman, Donald MacKay, Howard Riggsby, William O'Shaughnessy, Carman Rogers, Harry Crosby, Charles Nichols, Bryce Kinkead, Wyman Evans and Oscar Robinson.

Program Planned For Conference

An extensive program has been prepared by W. A. A. for the eighth sectional A. C. A. C. W. conference which will be held on the campus April 9, 10 and 11.

Party To Be Given
A "get acquainted party" will follow a dinner the first night of the conference. Round table discussions and open meetings concerning college health and athletic programs will occupy the morning hours.

The visitors will attend dinners given in their honor by various women's organizations, and will be guests at the Spring Festival given by the women's physical education department. A visit to the WaNeVa Lodge at Galena creek and Virginia City will be made Saturday afternoon, and the conference will close with a formal banquet at the Century Club.

Kappa Alpha Theta Receives Penalty For Rule Breach

1st Semester Rushing Adopted; New Rules Discussed At Meeting

New rushing rules were the main topic of discussion at the meeting of the Pan-Hellenic Council held in Manzanita Hall Wednesday night. No definite rules for the season were decided on but were left to a committee to be worked out during the rest of the semester.

New Rushing Rules Made
Among the general regulations passed were first semester rushing with a period of one week of friendly relations between sorority and freshman women before the regular season begins. There will be twelve days of rushing, each house to have four dates both afternoon and evening, with a fifth date as the preference dinner. This method is the one used at Stanford. All houses give a formal dinner on the same night and the rusher goes to the house she wishes to join.

Theta Penalized
The penalties recommended by national Pan-Hellenic Council against Kappa Alpha Theta were passed. By these rules Theta cannot pledge this semester and will be denied all social privileges. No extra courtesies may be extended by the Theta to the three girls whose pledges were broken.

Duane Mack, Grant Bowen, and Ed Savage have returned home for the Easter vacation. Mack and Bowen, 1930 graduates of the University of Nevada, are taking law courses at Stanford, while Savage is an undergraduate there.

Entertainment was furnished in the form of a fashion show at the Grand Commandry Temple and Saturday night formal installation of new grand officers for the coming year were carried out by Helen Dunseath, installing officer, formerly Sigma Alpha Omega of the University of Nevada. Worthy Advisors were: Jean Sauer, Reno, and Virginia Cross, Sparks.

to accept the nomination for. As to the other officers which this group will run, nothing has been definitely announced, and many dark horses are expected to show at the luncheon tomorrow.

Waits Good Bet

Margaret Waits, present secretary of the A.S.U.N., is a very good bet for vice-president. Besides being well qualified for the office, she is reported as being one of the few people in the battalion who has no enemies. On the same ticket Nick Basta, business manager of the Sagebrush, will run for Publications Board, and it is rumored that Tank Smith is being prevailed upon to run with Basta, but it is also a prevalent opinion that Tank is pretty much fed up with that sort of work. Who their opponents will be or if they will be at all is one of the unknown quantities.

Ray Hackett and Delbert States will fight out the battle for treasurer and who will win is merely a matter of the lesser of two evils.

Ligon Runs for Secretary
"Tick" Ligon is slated to be the next secretary unless she opposes Ylou Trevitt, and Al Davis is a favorite to be men's representative to Finance Control. John Mariani is the only eligible man for yell leader, and has been recommended for the office by Bill Blakey, present yell leader and fraternity brother, which should mean a great deal to all serious voters.

This, dear editor, concludes the report of General Good-Guesser, and now may you all have happy dreams and one good night before the campaign begins in earnest tomorrow. Also, I hope that there will be as few black eyes and as little hair-pulling as is dignified during the next few weeks.

Sad as it seems, this year's campaign has caused but little excitement as compared to that of other years, and the only doubtful results seem to be in the presidency. However, fate is as usual with the combine that always wins.—G. G. G.

Pi Beta Phi Initiates Two

Pi Beta Phi held formal initiation ceremonies Saturday for Mary Donaldson and Dorothy Cooper. At noon a luncheon was held at the home of Parnell Bathasar, and a banquet took place at the Century Club in the evening, complimenting the new initiates. The table was decorated in wine and silver blue, the sorority colors. Those attending included: Jeanette Cameron Rhodes, Delle Boyd, Lillian Esden, Rena Semenza, Hilda Herz, Alice Lunsford, Jeanette Brown, Katherine Rieg-elmuth, Helen Peterson, Ellen Prince Hawkins, Helen Olmstead, Frances Fuller, Doris Thompson, Emily Gracey.

Beta Delta Gives Tea

Beta Delta sorority held a tea in honor of their new initiates Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. H. Fultone on North Virginia street. Those in the receiving line were Mrs. Edwin Powles, the Misses Verna Selmer, Grace Muran, Mary Nay, Blanche Radcliffe, and Isabel Baker. Mrs. Frank Walker, Mrs. J. H. Fultone, and Mrs. Mary Powles presided at the tea table which was decorated with yellow snapdragons and yellow candles in silver holders. During the afternoon Miss Marie Eamon gave a humorous reading and Miss Betty Ann Coppin entertained with piano selections.

Delta Mothers' Club Gave Father-Daughter Dinner

As a compliment to the fathers, the mothers of the Delta Delta Delta sorority served the annual fathers' and daughters' banquet Tuesday evening at the Federated Church. Those enjoying the affair were E. B. Coffin, Maxwell Adams, Frederick Lippman, R. O. Churchill, J. McCormack, W. J. Harris, J. G. Serugham, Mr. J. W. Althart, O. G. Johns, C. E. Beemer, G. Hughes, A. Kathryn McCormack Entertains at Lunch

The home of Mrs. C. E. Rhodes on Newlands Manor was the scene of a bridge luncheon last Tuesday afternoon when Kathryn McCormack entertained in honor of Emily Ross. The attractive home was decorated with an abundance of spring flowers. Miss McCormack was assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. J. McCormack and Mrs. Rhodes. Those receiving prizes for bridge were Natalie Lipman and Helen Adamson. Those hidden included Trina Carruth, and Marion Williams of Palo Alto, Natalie Lipman, Lucie King, Emily Ross, Betty Seeds, Tack Ligon, Margaret Ede, Elizabeth Hawkins, Marion Stone, Helen Adamson, Priscilla Sonna, Rose Mahana and the hostess.

Lambda Chi Hold Open House

On Friday evening, March 20, Lambda Chi Alpha entertained at an informal dance at the chapter house on University Terrace. The rooms were attractively decorated with blue and yellow crepe paper streamers. Any members of other fraternities were cordially invited to drop in with their dates, for a dance and a glass of punch. The music was furnished by Earl Wright's orchestra. The patrons and patronesses for the evening were Professor and Mrs. V. P. Gianella, Professors J. C. Jones, and John R. Gottardt. The guests included Anne Bartlett, Beatrice Cobb, Harland Stuart, Dorothy Cooper, Del States, Margaret Purday, Nick Basta, Inez Wells, Deal Cann, Kathryn Nichols, Walter Bell, Josephine Murphy, Carleton King, Peggy Johnson, Calvin Bannigan, Madeline O'Connell, Arthur Lucas, Betty Allen, Alex Lohse, Margaret Rawson, John Fant, Mary Tucker, Milton Young, Grace Wallin, Willard VanDoren, Helen Mortensen, Ralph Smith, Freda Tong, Bill Lloyd, Jennie Hart, John Thurston, Dortha Robertson, Melvin Hancock, Gladys Morris, Phil Mann, Lucie King, Roland Boyden, Merie Wallin, John Harlan, Rose Fodrin, Chas. MARIE LOUISE MACKAY

In 1852 a young man twenty-one years old arrived in Downieville, California. In this little mining town lived a pioneer's daughter, Marie Louise Hungerford. The two met, and formed a lasting attachment for each other.

Fifteen years later, many changes had taken place. John Mackay—for this was the man's name—had become part owner of some Virginia City mines. Marie Louise had married and become a widow, "Mrs. Bryant." In 1867 Mr. Mackay and Mrs. Bryant were married, and the now middle-aged lady took up her life in Virginia City as the wife of a miner. Before long a son, Clarence, was born.

Forty years later still a third picture was presented. John Mackay, having made a fortune in Nevada, and having established a successful cable company, had died. Clarence was a grown man. His mother was again a widow, with the Mackay fortune to handle.

The rest of the story has been told time and again—the story of the valuable donations to the University of Nevada.

But something has been neglected. The credit for the numerous gifts has gone, to date, to Clarence Mackay.

Mrs. Mackay, who passed away five years ago, deserves our gratitude as much as, if not more than, her son. She it was who instilled into the boy's nature all those characteristics which prompted the donations of which we are so proud—love of his father, love of human progress, and generosity. She, too, it was who initiated the first gift of all—in 1908, the Mackay School of Mines, and the memorial statue of her husband. And she it has been who has stood behind Clarence Mackay, financially and spiritually, in every other donation which the Mackay fortune has made possible.

Tomorrow, as we celebrate Mackay Day, let us not forget the full meaning of the day. It is not a day in honor of Clarence Mackay. It is a day set aside to honor Mrs. Marie Louise Mackay and her son, Clarence.

DANGER LIES

With regret the campus views the passage of two of its most treasured traditional events—the Mardi Gras and the Whiskerino. It would seem that those bent upon suppression might realize that there is more than one way of "cutting loose" from the bonds of convention—it might be done either under supervision or otherwise. If anything as harmless as wearing unusual costumes and growing beards satisfies this urge for the "different" why is it necessary to curb these harmless pastimes? Danger lies in thus paving the way for more immoral and vicious transgressions.

A certain senior—one who should be highly respected by other Nevada students—has insulted Nevada outrageously.

Claude Winder has led the honor roll for several semesters. He belongs to Phi Kappa Phi and has been accorded honor upon honor for his good scholastic ability.

Several weeks ago Winder cut campus. He failed to apologize, and his student body privileges were taken from him. What should have been punishment enough, seems to have merely fed his desire for violation of rules, for numerous reports have been coming in that he is still nonchalantly cutting across the laws, confident that nothing can be done about it. For a senior honor student to thus outrage tradition, is an insult to Nevada which spirited students will not long tolerate. Effective action, even drastic, must be taken soon.

Fraternalities have taken a wise step. The new student court promises to be an improvement over the old system, in that punishment will be meted out in a more equitable way. There will be a higher regard on the part of the individual fraternity man for his fraternity and his University.

Any system which will lessen criticism against the University due to student misconduct is a worth while one, and the new interfraternity court seems to have as its aim just that thing. It is hoped that cooperation will be given the new court.—K. Mc.

Another campus tradition has appeared today in the D.A.E. Scandal Show. These performances have been appearing for the last fifteen years with the same entrance fees and with the same theme. It is one of the traditions and customs that make Nevada Nevada, and not a mechanical institution. Again all the students of Nevada have been submitted to a general spring cleaning and their scandal put out to air. Well, we enjoy laughing at each other as much as those of past years have done. Long may the D.A.E. Scandal Shows continue! It is a tradition we would not want to lose.—M.F.

Once again, in accordance with tradition, the women on the Nevada campus publish their edition of the Sagebrush. Always accepted more or less critically and reluctantly by the men on the campus, the women's edition has invariably proved to be an outstanding example of journalistic effort. We, the women, are glad of this annual opportunity to express our ideas without masculine assistance.—M. E.

Idle Fiddle-Fiddle

With but six weeks of school left for most of the students, and five for the seniors, here let it be known that the bug-a-boo of campus life, yes—you've guessed it—term themes are going to be due very, very soon.

In fact anyone who has any brains at all has started to work on them already (that let's most of us out). Weeks ago we went to classes and the prof says: "Although I've never required it before, this year you will please hand in a five thousand word term theme." After a few days you go to another class trying not to stagger under the burden of the bad news received and another member of the faculty for another course springs the same thing on you; and where once you had 5000 words to write you now have 10,000. (Thank God, for math courses.)

In zoology they tell you to write the life history of the allopsoform erectalumnator. In other words the inside dope on the tse tse fly. Never having seen one—well—profs have no sense of justice. In English the prof grins sweetly and says: "Now, children, I have a surprise for you today. The fellow in the front row is almost out of the door by that time. Yes, I thought we were going to get out of class, too. But prof continues saying: 'Instead of making you write a 5000 word theme on 'Johnson's Appreciation of Shakespeare,' you will only have to write a 4550 word theme on 'Shakespeare's disapproval of Himself,' or some such thing.' Isn't that simply ripping now, by Jove, lawncy that! In Business you write a short (10,000 or 15,000) word theme on 'How I Made My First Million,' or 'The Inside Dope on the Recent Business Depression.'

And, if this isn't enough you have 'em in physics, and psychology, and philosophy, and well—show me a prof who refuses to give them and there will be a run on his course for the rest of the year.

And after all this, trot home and start the old Waterman going—and good luck!

OUR IDEAL GIRL

And it seems only fitting and proper that because this is a women's edition we run an Ideal Girl—with boys' features! This is going to be good; men, please notice and line up for the great thrill—your best points will now be stressed in the eyes of the public:

Combine Johnny Fulmis' nose with Red Ayres' hair, and wouldn't the effect be fetching? Mickey would be a good name for her, with such a combination. Lips—well, Hoppie Riggsby's would be good. Eyes: Ted Moore's; walk, Oscar Robinson's; complexion, Harve Ashby's; ability to wear girl's clothes, Al Seeliger; legs, Helbert Ray; dimples, John Mariani; eyebrows, Edwin Cantlon; voice, Dwight Leavitt; grin, James Olivas; teeth, Al Lefebvre; shyness, John Taylor; sweetness, Al Davis; hands, Bill Woodburn; shape, Wayne VanVoorhis; feet, Jack Conlon; congeniality, Ray Hackett; dancing ability, Don Time—and line—well—who could qualify better than our big time friend, Mr. Oscar Bryan.

THEME SONG

The spiked punch song this week is dedicated to that active group of young collegians—the Sagers: "The Devil was in your ice."

And, by the way, the Sagers were seen at the fights last week and seemed very, very active, in fact—well—they were very active. Also certain members of the Block 'N' and we don't think it sporting to make fun of the "Eds" who arrive with their friends at the fights—mostly friends from the colony.

A recent estimate by Isis, an Oxford undergraduate weekly publication, that more than $1,000,000 was owing to trades people by university students, has caused the parents of a number of undergraduates to appeal to the Oxford Chamber of Trade to cut off the credit of their sons. In compliance the Chamber has circulated a list of the students concerned among members of the Chamber.

"On the whole the evidence is very striking that there is a direct relation between the high marks in college and salaries afterwards in the Bell system," according to Walter S. Gifford, president.

MUD BALLS

'Tis a veritable tragedy when the sisters force a beautiful blonde coed to move out of house and home. Anyhow Ethel had her revenge and is residing at the Johns' home in Sparks. We also hear that she has gained several pounds from good food for a change.

Buster Johnson is still on a say-it-with-flowers jag, judging from the quantities of florist's boxes decorating the Gamma Phi incinerator.

Ask Bob Bankoffier if the bird seed arrived because of poor telephone service. Warning to All Tired Outs, don't whistle through the telephone.

Piano moving is getting to be a fine business, especially when one can rate a good-looking divorcee. For further information ask Limy Tomley.

Undiscovered talent was revealed when, as a certain stage in the evening, our friend, the notorious "Peaches" Mori, felt the urge for self expression and entertained his divorcee friend with a series of silhouettes and solo dances. Strut your stuff, Mori!

Too bad that so many little freshman MEN have tried in vain to grow whiskers only to find that the Whiskerino dance has been indefinitely postponed. Pete Walthers has been using Bald-headed lotion for six weeks steady—no less.

"Howdy" Sheerin, the old gigolo, keeps himself in cigarettes by "borrowing" from young ladies who can't bear to refuse him.

A lady wrestler is the latest object of Graduate Manager Hartung's affections, according to a statement made by him the other night. Oh well, every person to his own taste!

Nomination for this week's theme song: "I'm forever blowing bubbles." Bill Herbert is the champion so far in the gentle art.

Forced into economy because of a ban against giving social functions, the Thetas are glad of an excuse to avoid assessments, according to Ede.

The prodigal son, Epperson, has returned to the fold. Cherchez la femme!

A fine state of affairs indeed when co-eds leave their clothes in profs' offices—and walk out in riding habits, see McAnally.

Misslaps College in Mississippi has adopted a plan of determining the amount of tuition to be paid by students in proportion to their scholastic standing.

Weather Man Plays Pranks On Campus

Heralds of spring in the guise of golf knickers and new spring outfits have been observed on the campus recently. The golf knickers are usually accompanied by some sort of loud socks—so loud, in fact, that they fairly scream, especially at passing women students. How much golf these knickers and golf shoes participate in, is to be questioned; but the general effect is impressive. Beautiful new suits and dresses with matching accessories are being paraded by women students—apparently to rival the spring togs of the men. Hats and even berets are becoming things of the past, for it is very soothing to minds fatigued by study to permit the early spring winds to ruffle the hair.

Classes of Minor Importance
Classes seem to be of secondary importance to strolling slowly down some beautiful and inspiring road, or driving leisurely around the country in a roadster—judging by the steadily decreasing number of dutiful students who attend classes these days.

Here's hoping that these signs of spring are not preparing an April Fool's joke on the members of the campus already afflicted by spring fever.

Dr. J. A. Larsen, research psychiatrist at the University of Chicago, has announced that students who cheat in examinations at that university will have to answer to a lie detector. According to his plan, Dr. Larsen said he would use students who cribbed on quizzes in his experiments with the machine. The purpose is to test the accuracy of the machine and demonstrate its value in a court of law.

When co-eds of Morning College, Iowa, appeared for breakfast clad in pajamas, college men waiting on the table went on strike.

"Going to college is a current fad, portance to strolling slowly down like Backgammon," said Bruce Barton.

Mob Assembles At Slug Fest Between Rope Ring Warriors

California Wins Victory Over Nevada Pugs By One Decision

By SALLY SPORT

Gathered together by the same spirit that united them at dog fights when they were younger, a large group of students and Reno town people assembled at the gymnasium Friday night to watch seven men from California and the same number from Nevada beat each other up.

After the inevitable and inevitable Oscar Bryan had made all the socially correct introductions, a bell rang and a very little boy inappropriately named Whales, stuck out his chin for Max Thompson to pound on for several minutes. In between blows, both boxers rested in opposite corners of the ring which incidentally is quite square, while Mr. Jones, the coach from California, whose white trousers were entirely too tight for stylishness, revived the little boy named Whales, from the unknown contents of a bottle. When Whales was sufficiently dazed looking, the referee went over and raised Max Thompson's arm in the air. This was a sign for great applause from the audience leaning over the balcony as well as those sitting down below where they could get a much better view of the cuts on the boxers' faces.

The Bat Is Victorious

But Devine next flew gracefully into the ring and landed in a box of sand, which he proceeded to kick around a bit. Instead of a boxing match, this time it proved to be a dodging match, at which Cliff excelled his opponent. This pleased the referee very much and he clapped and yelled "great," or maybe it was "break" every time the dodgers got very near one another. After a while the judges decided Devine was the better dodger and so Nevada won that one, too.

The next match proved a tragedy for the Silver and Blue, when Paul Fontana was almost thoroughly annihilated by Stevens, the captain of the California team. Mr. Stevens had quite a sense of humor and pulled a cute comedy gag of falling out of the ring much to the glee of the people in whose laps he almost landed. However, in the third round, the cool, steady precision of Captain Stevens outlasted the wild whippers of Fontana, so the Nevada seconds, who resented very much the turn that things had taken, became very angry and, finding nothing better to throw, threw a towel at Fontana. This was the signal for several Continental style embraces between the two boxers who both walked out of the ring.

Harris Omits Antics

In the following match, the great Spud Harris, looking very much like a Bowery street gamer, triumphed in the welterweight division over Hargrove. This time, however, the great Spud left out the antics which he usually performs preceding the fight, which made him greatly resemble a young rooster showing off for the benefit of his adoring audience. And the fight he put up was none the worse for having omitted this previously necessary seeming grandstand play.

Another cowboy hit the dust when Austin was quite defeated by Mashburn. Cowboy Austin took an awful beating from the steady blows of his opponent, but took them gamely. One little burst of enthusiasm showed that the spirit was willing, even though the body (is that the right quotation?) was weak, but the towel was thrown in again just in time to prevent the massacre.

Ures Pleases Wallace

Apparently due to the difficulty of being a student and a boxer at the same time the best fighter of the evening was unable to accept the victory that he obviously won. The fight between Nick Ures and Sweeney of California, was really good. Dick Wallace looked like the cat that swallowed the canary, so we judged that his favorite put on a pretty good show.

With the two teams nick and tuck (maybe chin to chin, is a better expression), all depended on the outcome of the final fight. The California intercollegiate champion, or something equally terrifying, Robinson, who knocked out the beautiful Wally Rusk last year, was especially charming looking in a bright blue pair of trunks with a coy little gold ruffle effect around the top. The meeting of Ole Theis and Robinson had nothing on the meeting of two Rocks of Gibraltar. But Ole, not being used to having to fight more than one round on account of his knockout record, was pretty tired

Fundamental Hygienic Rules Formulated By Dr. Young's Class in Mental Health

"Think what effect it would have if everybody did it" is the fundamental rule, as expressed by the psychology mental hygiene class, in a compilation of rules for students to follow each day to insure the best mental health.

Rules Stated

The list of rules, formulated by the class and approved by Dr. Young follows:

1. Have a systematic program of work, play, and sleep, and follow it pretty closely.
 2. Settle your emotional conflicts promptly as soon as the facts are in, then forget them. Failure to follow this rule results in nervous breakdown and waste of nervous energy.
 3. Avoid as much as possible the company of unhappy, discontented, inefficient people. These attitudes are contagious.
 4. Maintain a balance in your living; don't go to extremes.
 5. Take up only as many activities as you can carry effectively without sacrificing your regular work.
 6. Make it a practice to look for the beautiful, the good, the humorous and healthy in order to avoid the development of morbid attitudes. You find what you look for.
- Other more specific rules brought to class by students are:
1. Early hours are worth more than late ones for study.
 2. Develop self-confidence; no one will believe in you unless you believe in yourself.
 3. Remember that no matter how bad things are, they could always be worse.
 4. Recognize faults and shortcomings, and profit by your mistakes.
 5. Don't let petty criticism and tricks upset you. Laugh it off.
 6. Don't be a Reformer.
 7. Live your own life, but do not try to reform all the other students.
 8. Plan your day; do your work systematically.
 9. Do not waste time and mental energy making and changing decisions. 9. Develop wholesome forms of recreation and outside interest. 10. Take important matters seriously, but spend less time on trivialities. 11. Do not worry about anyone else's troubles. Help them if you can, but let them do the worrying. 12. Be satisfied by working toward accomplishment, do not worry if things do not happen quickly. 13. Think of personal development, not immediate results; look for long time effects, not pleasures of the moment. 14. Read some good literature each day. 15. Avoid bull sessions if they develop into nothing but cat-fights and gossip clubs. 16. Mix with a happy crowd your own age. 17. Take time each day for a half hour or hour of quiet relaxation.

before long, and his punches were as playful as the blows of a cat and about as effective. It was a sad plight to see such examples of manly strength staggering around the ring leaning on one another's shoulders, and it was even more tragic when the judges declared the California man to be the winner, thereby giving the victory to the visiting team, 4 to 3.

P.S.—After the bloody battles, believe it or not, the two teams seemed on quite friendly terms, they were even noticed double-dating in several cases.

Alumni To Meet At Dinner Dance

Deauville Beach Club, at 1525 Ocean Front in Santa Monica, will be the scene of the annual dinner dance to be given by the University of Nevada Alumni Association of Southern California on April 11.

Clark May Me Present

Last year the affair met with such success that it was decided to give another one, and this year's plans are very elaborate. It is hoped that President Clark of the University of Nevada will be among the guests. All alumni in Southern California are urged to join in the festivities.

Reservations can be made at $1.60 each by writing to Mrs. Catharine S. Huntley, 3668 Beechwood Place, Riverside, California, not later than April 7th. A check may be enclosed if convenient.

The principal aim of the dance is to bring closer together those who have left the portals of the University.

Sports Day Will Be Held By W. A. A.; Date Set For May 2

In keeping with the precedent established three years ago, the members of the Women's Athletic Association of the University of Nevada this week were making plans for the annual Sports Day, to be held here on May 2nd.

Letters Sent

Letters have been sent to all the Nevada high schools inviting the girls to take part in the events. The program for the day will include organized games, track events, luncheon, and banquet in the evening. It is expected that many schools will be represented.

Constitution Change To Be Presented For Students' Approval

Under the direction of Professor Paul Harwood, the Constitution Revision Committee has been working for several weeks on necessary changes. They planned to have them completed for student body approval today, but it was not possible.

Francis Smith and Jack Walthers, other members of the committee, stated that there were still some minor changes to be made. Upon completion the revised constitution will be read in student body meeting and suggestions for further changes may be made at that time.

No Mackay Day dance tomorrow.

Snow Survey Will Be Taken By Prof

The annual snow survey, under the direction of Professor H. P. Boardman of the University of Nevada, will take place on or near the first of April. Data has been sent in to Prof. Boardman from Walker Lake, Tahoe City, Marlette Lake, and from points on the western side of the Sierra Nevada mountains. From this data along with the snow surveys, Prof. Boardman will forecast the runoff of the streams on this side of the mountains from April 1 on.

Men Sent On Surveys

There are several surveys under the direction of Boardman. They are at Mount Rose, Weber Lake, Twin Lakes, Truckee, Big Meadows, Crystal Peak, and the south end of Lake Tahoe. All of these trips are an average of four days in length, and there may be a man sent to Bridgeport, California, to help with the work there, and if so will require a week's time.

Byer Enjoys Date With Ina Claire

Clayton Byer, business manager of the Desert Wolf, is reported to be enjoying the fruits of his labors of the past two years in the company of Ina Claire, famed cinema star.

Byer, according to information received yesterday, secured a date with Miss Claire after seeing her at the Cal. Aggie fights.

Interclass Track Meet Mackay Day Will Open Season

Other Contests To Follow With San Francisco, Olympic Club, Fraternities

Opening the 1931 track season, Mackay Day, the annual University of Nevada interclass track meet will be held on Mackay Field tomorrow afternoon. The four classes will enter strong teams in the competition.

Sophs Were Champions
The champions of last year, the present sophomore class, is favored to retain its honors. However, the freshmen class is also strong, especially with the addition of Frank O'Brien, decathlon expert, and Fred Walls, sprint star.

Each Man Limited
The maximum limit for each man is four events and the relay. All track men are eligible to compete. Doc Martie will be the starter, Al Lombardi the clerk, Bill Blakely the announcer and Bill Ligon the chief marshal.

Other track meets will be: University of San Francisco, April 10; Olympic, April 15; and interfraternity, April 25.

Bids For Gothic N Given Mackay Day

Last week Gothic N, honorary service organization for women, held a meeting to discuss bids, sweaters and initiations. There will be several bids to the association this year, which will be announced at the luncheon tomorrow. Initiations will take place the following Sunday.

It has been decided that instead of having woolen sweaters the women will have flannel blazers. These will be more useful and less heavy than the woolen sweaters.

Another attraction is the Gothic N pin. It is a gold N set with pearls and is very attractive.

The society has decided to take over the lodge improvement for this semester's work.

Art Levy Returns To Box For Antlers

Back on the campus after an absence of several months, Art Levy, sophomore student, arrived in Reno Wednesday night where he will go into strenuous training to fight for the Antlers Club in the heavyweight division in a few weeks.

Has Been In Los Angeles

Levy has been in Los Angeles since Christmas time, and during his college days gave many of the Nevada fans a real treat for their money while he was in the boxing ring. Playing first string end on the Nevada varsity in his freshman and sophomore days, Levy proved himself as able on the gridiron as in the ring and during his first year of boxing won all his fights.

He was forced to leave school at the end of last semester, but will probably enroll at the University next August. He is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Phi Sigs Win Two Interfrat Baseball Games This Week

In a very spectacular game Friday afternoon Phi Sigma Kappa walked off with a 7-3 victory over Sigma Phi Sigma in baseball.

Monday afternoon the Independents won a very ragged game from the Delta Sigma Lambda with a score of 10-7. Powers, chucking for the Barbs, played exceptional ball but was handicapped by poor support.

The Beta Kappa-Sigma Phi Sigma game scheduled for Tuesday was called off on account of rain and darkness and will be played later.

On Thursday Lambda Chi Alpha lost a close game to the fast traveling Sigma Alpha Epsilon club to the tune of 7-8. Parsons and Hirst, S.A.E. pitchers, were off form and were nearly

Army Inspection To Be Held On Football Field Next Monday

Embryo doughboys registered in military 2 and 4 this semester are preparing for inspection to be made by Colonel W. R. Standiford on Monday and Tuesday, March 30 and 31.

All brass on the uniforms must have a high degree of polish, acquired through the liberal use of "elbow grease" and silver polish. Shoes are to be shined and the face exposed to the world through the process of shaving. Uniforms must show the effects of a recent pressing and surplus hair removed from the head by a competent barber. The rifle must be given attention in the way of an effective cleaning and oiling. In general, the young soldier and his equipment must be in tip top condition with regard to personal appearance in order to pass muster under the colonel's eye.

Winner Will Receive Prize
Care of this nature is stressed in the army life and men who are found delinquent will be heavily penalized by the inspecting officer. This inspection is in preparation for the inspection to be made by the Ninth Corps Area inspector who will be at the University some time in April. At this time also the annual competition drill will be held, the winner of which is awarded a gold medal by the military department.

Swimming Classes Learn New Strokes

The women's swimming class, which meets at Moana on Wednesday and Friday afternoons at 4 o'clock, has been progressing rapidly. Mr. W. D. Elfrink, a qualified life saving examiner, is giving thorough instructions in the crawl and side strokes.

At the present time the girls are working on the racing dive and expect to take up plain and fancy diving as soon as they are proficient enough in their present undertakings.

Anyone wishing to join the class may see Ida Rogers or Mrs. Simas.

Music Is Enjoyed In Appreciation Course

German Romanticists' songs of the nineteenth century were enjoyed by the class in history and appreciation of music Monday morning, when Professor Theodore Post sang songs by Schubert, Schumann, Brahms, and Elfrink, a qualified life saving examiner, is giving thorough instructions in the crawl and side strokes.

Next week the class will have some illustrations of Chopin music.

Famous Engineer Will Attend Mackay Day Luncheon

Robert E. Tally Nevada Grad, Will Be Introduced To Students

Robert E. Tally, president of American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, an alumnus of Nevada, arrives today on his tour of the institute section, and will be honored guest at the "Alumni and Engineers' Table" Mackay Day.

Mr. Tally is the general manager of the United Nevada Copper Company for the William Andrews Clark interests, donor of the University of Nevada library.

On Honor Roll
He was elected in 1927 to membership in the Alumni Honor Service Roll, of which there are only five chosen every five years. Having graduated from Nevada University in 1889 and receiving his M.D. degree in 1917, he is one of the most distinguished alumnus to return to the campus and will be introduced at the Mackay Day luncheon.

"Campus Cozy" Proves Success

Members of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority were hostesses at the first "campus cozy," an informal tea for all University women, which was held at the chapter house Friday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Russell Presides
Mrs. Florence M. Russell, sorority house mother, presided at the tea table. During the afternoon dancing and bridge were enjoyed by the guests.

This type of informal tea which has been successful at other universities, was introduced on the campus by the Pan-Hellenic Council to promote better relations among the women. The first of the series proved highly successful.

Delta Delta Delta and Beta Delta will entertain at "cozies" before the end of the semester.

Fresno State Asks To Exchange Radio Messages with Nev.

A radio message has been received by a radio amateur in Reno addressed to Irving Sandori, instructor in electrical engineering at the University of Nevada, from the Fresno State College, asking if amateur radio messages could be exchanged with them by April 1st. The electrical engineering department has been working on a transmitting set in order to send messages, but it will not be finished in time to exchange messages with Fresno State College.

Sourwine Sends Messages
The radio amateurs in Reno have been keeping up a communication with other radio amateurs throughout the United States. William Sourwine, a student at the University of Nevada, has been taking part in the Army-Navy programs arranged by the government for radio amateurs throughout the United States.

Four Students Ill At Campus Hospital

The hospital has had four patients already this week.

Ed Nettleship, freshman, is rapidly convalescing from pneumonia, and will return home for a few weeks after his dismissal from the hospital. Robert Long is confined with the flu, and Harvey Ashby is being treated for an infected sore throat.

Florence Frohman was taken to the hospital Monday. A nervous breakdown caused her illness, Dr. Dwight Hood believes.

The flu epidemic is still rather serious, the physician states.

PERSONALS

Carl Connelly, former student at the University, spent Sunday afternoon at the Sigma Phi Sigma house.

Dan Senseney, Delta Sigma Lambda, Nevada graduate of 1930, plans to return to Reno to attend the Delta Sigma Lambda formal April 2nd. He has a position at Clyde, California.

Helen Steinmiller, Kappa Alpha Theta active member, and Adele Clemons, alumna, attended the annual convention of District No. 6 last week end in San Francisco. Individual discussions of campus problems concerned the bettering of general conditions for the campus women.

Thomas A. Landram, popular member of Sigma Nu, who has been ill for three weeks due to an appendicitis operation, left for his home at Visalia, California, Wednesday morning. Due to his three weeks absence from school work he will not return this semester but plans to continue school in the fall.

Lawrence Kearney has been unable to attend classes for the past week, being confined to his home with a severe attack of flu.

Alice Benninghoff, '29, is teaching at Ruth, Nevada.

Mr. G. L. Oldright, supervisor of the non-ferrous metallurgical division of the United States Bureau of Mines, has returned to his headquarters at Salt Lake City after spending the week conferring with officials of the local station of the Bureau of Mines.

Charlotte and Dorothy Pope spent the week-end at their home in Virginia City.

Mr. P. R. Perry, chemist at the local station of the Bureau of Mines, has returned to work after a brief illness.

Mr. A. P. Towne, mechanic at the Reno Station of the United States Bureau of Mines, has returned from the Tucson station of the Bureau of Mines.

Mr. C. W. Davis, formerly associate chemist at the Reno station of the Bureau of Mines, is now working at the Berkeley station.

Mr. C. C. Maiyer, superintendent of the Berkeley station of the United States Bureau of Mines, spent the past week in Reno conferring with the officials of the Reno station of the Bureau of Mines.

Dale Smith, formerly a Sigma Nu at the University of Nevada, and now a freshman at West Point, has made the first string in the heavyweight division of the freshman boxing team and has not lost a match.

Jean Sauer '34 will be confined to her home for the remainder of the week on account of the flu.

Christine Crisp, Florence Frohman, Roy Bankoffier, and Ted Moore felt the call of spring Sunday and motored to Dog Valley Grade near Verdi for a picnic.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis G. Vierra, members of the class of 1925, are living in Long Beach, California, where Mr. Vierra is geologist for the Richfield Oil Company.

B.Y.U. Wins Last Debate Of Year

Debating in the last encounter of Tuesday night, Vincent Casey and Kenneth Johnson lost to Brigham Young University by a two to one decision.

The Nevada representatives upheld the negative side of the question: "Resolved, that the nations of the world should adopt a policy of free trade." John Clark and Wright Welker, from B. Y. U. supported the affirmative side of this issue.

The affirmative demonstrated the evils of the protective policy and showed that they were directly responsible for the unemployment situation.

The negative then asked for a plan for free trade which the affirmative answered by saying that this was not necessary if they could prove that free trade was better than protection. During the discussion Wright Welker asked the negative to explain the economic condition of the country at the present time.

Would Cure Depression
Vincent Casey replied that if he could explain the economic conditions of the country, he would quit school and show the nations how to come out of the depression.

Wright Welker then said that he also would quit school if he could devise a plan of putting free trade into operation and go to the Hague Conference to become famous.

Vernon Lovridge served as chairman for the evening.

Film Production Will Be Presented

"Manufacturing and Testing Smokeless Powder" is the subject of the film production to be given by the Chemistry Club Wednesday, April first. It is to be held at eight o'clock in the auditorium of the Educational Building, and the public is cordially invited. This film is loaned for the use of the University of Nevada through the courtesy of the Du Pont Company.

Immediately before this production the Chemistry Club will hold their regular monthly meeting and will elect their officers for next year.

Smith Lectures To Crucible Club On Comstock Lode

Interesting Facts Revealed Of Benefactor's Life As Famous Miner

By KATHERINE WRIGHT
Grant H. Smith, mining lawyer of San Francisco and pioneer of the Comstock, was the principal speaker at a joint meeting of the Crucible Club and the A. I. M. & M. E. last Wednesday night. His subject was "The Development of the Comstock Lode and the Discovery of the Big Bonanza." He told of the first discoveries on the Comstock, of the frenzied rush from California, and of the financial crash.

Pioneers There
The lecture was well attended by students, faculty and Reno townspeople. Several pioneers of the old Comstock honored the club by their presence, including Bob Gracey, H. H. Bailey and Panny Hazlett. The talk was illustrated by two large maps, one of a vertical section of the Lode showing the location of ore bodies, shafts and company claims and the other showing just a vertical section of the C. & C. shaft.

Speaks of Mackay
After outlining briefly the history of the Virginia City mines, Smith paused to pay due respect to John W. Mackay, who during the '70s and '80s, was probably the best known man in the West and throughout the world. He has been almost forgotten during the last 60 years, possibly because of his personal modesty. "During his lifetime he was the hero of every boy and man on the Comstock lode; a noble minded, generous-hearted man, an empire builder, self-made, self-educated, a plain democratic American citizen."

Life Sketched
"John W. Mackay was born November 28, 1831, in Dublin, Ireland, of Scotch-Irish parents. At the age of nine he came to New York with his parents. His father died two years after their arrival in this country and John became the chief support of the family. He was apprenticed to W. H. Willis, the ship builder, and it is believed that he came to San Francisco in 1849.

"Upon arriving in California, he went to Sierra county, where he worked in the mines for eight years. Mackay differed from other miners, in that he was more industrious and more reserved. In 1858, he was admitted to the Porrest City Masonry, a very influential order at that time. By June and July, 1859, news reached California of the great Washoe County, Utah, silver mines. John Mackay and James O'Brien rolled their blankets and packed them on their backs across the Sierras, arriving at the Comstock in August, 1859. Everything was pretty well staked out and they prospected two weeks without staking a claim. Mackay went to work, however, and county records show that he acquired many mining interests by working for the owners. By 1863, Mackay had interests in four mines. At this time the mining companies were all incorporating, so Mackay was prevailed upon to go into partnership with J. M. Walker, in the Bullion.

Marries A Widow
"In 1867, Mackay married the widow of Dr. Bryant. This is said to be the only time in his life that he ever became enthusiastic. He celebrated by sending a case of champagne to the Gold Hill News, and one to the Virginia City Enterprise.

"1869 found Mackay as superintendent of the Hale and Norcross. That year Mackay, Fair, Flood and O'Brien made a verbal agreement which held till 1881, during which time they handled over one hundred million dollars. They were known as the Bonanza Firm eventually succeeding William Sharron as controllers of the Comstock Lode.

"With the aid of engineering genius, they made the greatest discovery that has ever been made on the lode, when they struck the Big Bonanza, in 1873. All the mines in the neighborhood increased from 2-10 times in their worth. Consequently by 1875 there was not enough money on the Coast to carry the market which speculators had created; the appalling crash arrived.

Capitalist in 1870
"John W. Mackay was not well known until 1870, at the time of the Hale and Norcross success. His name was in the register as "John W. Mackay, capitalist," presumably worth one million dollars. In 1873-74 he became the outstanding man of the Comstock Lode, not only because of his great wealth, but more because of his character. Mr. Mackay owed much of his success to the straightforward manner of dealing with men. Everybody liked him; he was honest, modest, and sincere. He chartered a bank, in opposition to the Bank of California, owned by the Sharron crowd. But in spite of all this, Mackay was too reserved to take any credit, always temperate, hard working, and doing good deeds through a third party.

Wife Lived in Paris
"Mrs. Mackay moved to Paris with her two sons, and John W. spent much of his time between the United States and Europe. From 1884-1872 he was responsible for the laying of two all-American cables to Europe, in competition with the Gould monopoly. He also took over the struggling Postal Telegraph Company, running opposition to the Western Union. The war of '98 showed the United States' need of a Pacific cable; Mackay answered President Roosevelt's plea and undertook to fill this need without any government security. John W. Mackay died on the 21st of July, 1902. Within six months after his death the cable was started and it was completed within the year. "Mackay's good deeds live after him. His life should be an inspiration to all young men; as he always held his head up and his chin high. John W. Mackay is one of the greatest, most romantic figures ever produced by the West—an empire builder."

Clever Decorations Make Frosh Glee Distinctive Success

Dancers Frolic Under Sea Amid Coral, Fish, And Sea Shells

Named one of the most artistic dances that has ever been held on the campus, the Frosh Glee was the outstanding success of the semester. The event not only showed the painstaking work of a great many students, but also exemplified the enthusiasm and energy of the Freshman class. One of the best crowds of the year attended.

Congratulations were heartily extended to all members of the committee which was composed of Gene Salet, Emyne Goodin, Margaret Martin, Jean McIntyre, Margaret McClummont, Holyee Scruggs, Hazel Davis, Ina Johnson, Clara Galvin, Dorothy Rose, Oscar Robinson, George Hunter, Leo Furman, George Zeigler, Bruce Gould, Harold West, Jessie Christenson, and John Stock.

The hall was elaborately decorated to represent a scene under the sea. Light green paper hangings—dim and colored lights cast a mysterious glow over the whole. Here and there about the hangings were hung fishes and sea crustaceans, realistically formed and designed.

The stage accommodating the orchestra, represented the mother of pearl interior of a huge shell. No conventional outlines of the stage's construction were visible.

At the base of this huge shell was a realistic coral reef. Projecting from the hangings, shell and reef were fronds of artificial sea weeds.

The programs for the evening represented sea shells. Music was furnished by Ray Hackett's orchestra.
